(2) A cooperative marketing association of producers shall be eligible for a loan or purchase agreement on eligible honey received from and produced by members of the association: Provided, That (i) the producer members are bound by contract to deliver their eligible honey to the association free from all liens and encumbrances; (ii) the proceeds of the eligible honey marketed by the association are shared proportionately among the producers-members according to the grade and quantity of such honey each delivers to the association; (iii) the association has authority to obtain a loan on the security of the honey and to give a lien thereon as well as authority to sell such honey. Only honey received from producers under such conditions may be delivered to CCC under a loan or purchase agreement. All determinations with respect to whether or not a given organization is a cooperative marketing association of producers pursuant to this section shall be made by or under the direction of the State Committee.

§ 434.603 Eligible honey. Any honey other than that described in § 434.604 which meets the following requirements is eligible for price support.

(a) The honey must be of the 1955 crop, produced and extracted in continental United States by an eligible producer.

(b) The honey shall be packed in containers of a capacity of not less than 5 gallons nor greater than 70 gallons, and of a style used in normal commercial practice in the honey industry. Five-gallon containers shall be filled with 60 pounds net of honey. Larger containers shall be filled to their rated capacities.

(1) The 5-gallon containers shall be new, clean, sound, uncased and free from appreciable dents and rust. The handle of each container shall be firm and strong enough to permit carrying the filled can. The can closures shall be complete, including the cap liner prescribed for the particular style of can. The threads on both the cap and the can opening shall not be damaged in any way that will prevent a tight seal. Cans which are punctured, or which have been punctured and resealed by soldering, will not be acceptable.

(2) Steel drums shall be new drums, or used drums which have been reconditioned both inside and outside. Steel drums must be clean, and treated to prevent rusting. The drums must be fitted with gaskets which will provide a tight seal when closed.

(3) Other commercial containers, such as wooden barrels or kegs, which are new or which have been reconditioned, are acceptable if sound, clean and leakproof. Such containers must be closed with bungs or other appropriate leakproof closures.

(c) The beneficial interest in the honey must be in the producer tendering the honey for a loan, or for delivery under a purchase agreement, and must always have been in him, or must have been in him and a former producer whom, before the honey was extracted, he succeeded as owner of the bees producing the honey. In the case of a cooperative marketing association these stipulations as to beneficial interest shall apply to each producer delivering to the association.

(d) The honey must be equal to or better than Grade C of the United States Standards for Grades of Extracted Honey, effective April 16, 1951: Provided, however, That in areas in which the State Committee determines that existing conditions make fermentation of high moisture honey probable during the period of storage, the maximum moisture content allowable may be reduced by such committee from 20 percent to 18.6 percent for any or all floral sources.

(e) Honey offered for a farm-storage loan must have been stored, in containers specified in paragraph (b) of this section, for at least 15 days prior to drawing the inspection samples. The containers shall be stacked upright in a manner which will prevent damage to the containers in the stacks, and so arranged that the containers in the stacks are easily accessible for inspection.

§ 434.604 Ineligible honey. Athel, Avocado, Bitterweed, Broomweed, Carrot, Chinquapin, Dog Fennel, Desert Hollyhock, Eucalyptus, Gumweed, Mescal, Onion, Prickly Pear, Prune, Queen's Delight, Snowbrush (Ceanothus), Snow-on-the-Mountain, Tarweed, and similar objectionably-flavored honeys or objectionably-flavored blends of honey as determined by the Director, Sugar Division, CSS, will not be eligible for price support regardless of whether they meet other eligibility requirements.

§ 434.605 Disbursement of loans. Disbursement of loans will be made to producers by county officers by means of sight drafts drawn on CCC or by approved lending agencies under agreement with CCC. No disbursement shall be made later than 15 days after the final date of the availability of loans, unless recommended by the State committee and approved by the Executive Vice President, CCC. Payment in cash, credit to the producer's account, or the drawing of a check or draft, shall constitute disbursement. The producer shall not present the loan documents for disbursement of funds unless the honey is in existence, in approved storage, and in good condition. If the commodity was not in existence, in approved storage, or in good condition at the time the producer received the disbursement, the proceeds shall be promptly refunded by the producer.

§ 434.606 Approved lending agencies. An approved lending agency shall be any bank, corporation, partnership, individual or legal entity with which CCC has entered into a lending agency agreement (CCC Form 322 or other form prescribed by CCC).

§ 434.607 Approved storage. Loans will be made only on honey in approved storage. Purchase agreements may be executed without regard to whether the honey is in approved storage.

(a) Farm storage. Approved farm storage shall consist of storage structures located on or off the farm (excluding public warehouses) which are determined by the county office to be so located and of such substantial and permanent construction as to afford safe storage of the honey. In carrying out its responsibility the county office should consider the extent to which the storage structures for honey are clean, dry, weatherproof and can be locked. Where such structure is used to house honey other than that which is covered by a single price support loan, a suitable partition should be used to preserve the identity of the honey covered by each price support loan and segregate it from any other honey in the storage structure.

(b) Cooperative storage. Approved storage for cooperative marketing associations shall meet the requirements stated in paragraph (a) of this section. Preservation will not be required of the identity of each producer's honey in the lot covered by the mortgage.

§ 434.608 Applicable forms. The approved forms consist of the loan and purchase agreement forms and such other forms and documents as are specified in this subpart which, together with the provisions of this subpart, govern the rights and responsibilities of the producer. Note and supplemental loan agreements, chattel mortgages, and purchase agreements, must be dated, signed by the producer, and delivered to the county office on or before the final date of availability of loans or purchase agreements. Note and supplemental loan agreements, and chattel mortgages, must have State and documentary revenue stamps affixed thereto where required by law. Loan and purchase agreement documents executed by an Administrator, executor or trustee will be acceptable only where legally valid.

(a) Farm-storage loans. Approved forms shall consist of Commodity Loan Form A, Producer's Note and Supplemental Loan Agreement, secured by Commodity Loan Form AA, Commodity Chattel Mortgage, and such other forms and documents as may be required by CCC. These forms shall also be used for honey stored by cooperative marketing associations of producers in warehouses under their control.

(b) Purchase agreement documents. The purchase agreement forms shall consist of the Purchase Agreement (Commodity Purchase Form 1) and Purchase Agreement Settlement (Commodity Purchase Form 4) signed by the producer and approved by the county office, and such other forms and documents as may be required by CCC.

§ 434.609 Liens. If there are any liens or encumbrances on honey placed under loan or delivered under purchase agreement, waivers acceptable to the county committee must be obtained.

§ 434.610 Service charges. Producers shall pay the following service charges on the quantity of honey placed under loan or specified in the purchase agreement. An additional service charge shall be paid on any additional quantity delivered to and accepted by CCC under a loan.

(a) Rates:

Method of price support	Rate (per 100 pounds net)	Minimum charge
	Cents
Farm-storage loan	5	$3.00
Purchase agreement	2½	1.50

(b) State committees are authorized to require prepayment of $3.00 of the service charge on a farm-storage loan.

(c) No refund of service charges will be made.

§ 434.611 Determination of quantity. (a) Determination of quantity of honey in connection with applications for farm-storage loans, shall be computed on the basis of 55 pounds for each 5 gallon can and 11 pounds for each gallon of rated capacity for containers larger than 5 gallon.

(b) Determination of quantity, at time of delivery to CCC, of honey under loan or purchase agreement shall be made by or under the direction of the State committee. The quantity determination of honey delivered in 5-gallon cans shall be based upon the number of 5-gallon cans times the average per can net weight of honey rounded to the next lowest whole pound, or 60 pounds per can net weight of honey, whichever is lower. The weight determination of honey delivered in larger containers shall be based upon the actual net weight of honey.

§ 434.612 Determination of grade and color. (a) Determination of grade and color in connection with applications for farm-storage loans shall be made on the basis of samples drawn by the county office and transmitted prepaid to an office of the Processed Products Standardization and Inspection Branch, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service. Samples shall be provided by the producer at no cost to CCC. The cost of inspection shall be collected for the account of the Processed Products Standardization and Inspection Branch by the county office from the producer at the time samples are drawn.

(b) Determination of grade and color, at time of delivery to CCC, of honey under loan or purchase agreement, including the drawing of the samples, shall be by representatives of the Processed Products Standardization and Inspection Branch, Fruit and Vegetable Division, AMS. Samples shall be provided by the producer at no cost to CCC. The cost of such sampling, and of grade, and color determination at time of delivery, shall be paid by CCC.

(c) Table honey should be so segregated according to color that the color for the lot as a whole is within the tolerances for color variations as outlined in the United States Standards for Grades of Extracted Honey, effective April 16, 1951. If a lot of honey is not segregated so that it can be certified in accordance with the foregoing, the loan, settlement for the loan, or purchase under purchase agreement, shall be made on the basis of the darkest color shown on the inspection certificate.

(d) Table honey should be so segregated from nontable honey that it can be certified for loan, settlement under loan, or purchase under purchase agreement, in accordance with the categories outlined in § 434.625. If a lot of honey is not segregated so that it can be given a single classification as either table or nontable honey, the loan, settlement for the loan, or purchase under purchase agreement, shall be made on the basis of nontable honey.

(e) In the case of blends of table and nontable honeys, the loan, settlement under loan, or purchase under purchase agreement, shall be made on the basis of nontable honey. If any blends of honey contain ineligible honey, the lot as a whole is ineligible.

§ 434.613 Maturity of loans. Loans mature on demand, but not later than March 31, 1956, in all States.

§ 434.614 Set-offs. If the producer is indebted to CCC on any accrued obligation, or if any installment or installments on any loan made available by CCC on farm-storage facilities or mobile drying equipment are past due, or payable or prepayable under the provisions of the note evidencing such loan out of the proceeds of the price support loan or purchase, he must designate CCC or the lending agency holding such note as the payee of the proceeds of the price support purchase or loan to the extent of such indebtedness or installments, but not to exceed that portion of the proceeds remaining after deduction of loan service charges and amounts due prior lienholders. If the producer is indebted to any other agency of the United States, and such indebtedness is listed on the county debt register, he must designate such agency as the payee of the proceeds as provided in this section. Indebtedness owing to CCC or to a lending agency as provided in this section shall be given first consideration after claims of prior lienholders. Compliance with the provisions of this section shall not constitute a waiver of any right of the producer to contest the justness of the indebtedness involved either by administrative appeal or legal action.

§ 434.615 Interest rate. Loans shall bear interest at the rate of 3½ percent per annum from the date of disbursement of the loan, except that where there is a default in satisfaction of the loan the amount of the deficiency shall bear interest at the rate of 6 percent per annum from the date of default.

§ 434.616 Transfer of producer's interest—(a) Farm-storage loans. The producer shall not transfer either his remaining interest in, or his right to redeem, honey mortgaged as security for a farm-storage loan. A producer who wishes to liquidate all or part of his loan by contracting for the sale of the honey, must obtain written prior approval of the county office on Commodity Loan Form 12 to remove the honey from storage when the proceeds of the sale are needed to repay all or any part of the loan. Any such approval shall be subject to the terms and conditions set out in Commodity Loan Form 12, copies of which may be obtained by producers or prospective purchasers at the county office.

(b) Purchase agreements. The producer may not assign his interest in a purchase agreement.

§ 434.617 Safeguarding the honey. The producer obtaining a farm-storage loan is obligated to maintain the storage structure in good repair and to keep the honey in good condition, until the loan is liquidated.

§ 434.618 Insurance. CCC will not require the producer to insure the honey placed under loan; however, if the producer insures such honey and indemnity is paid thereon, such indemnity shall inure to the benefit of CCC to the extent of its interest, after first satisfying the producer's equity in the honey involved in the loss.

§ 434.619 Loss or damage to honey. If the honey is going out of condition, or is in danger of going out of condition, the producer shall notify the county office. The producer is responsible for any loss in quantity or quality of the honey placed under farm-storage loan, except that, subject to the provisions of § 434.618, physical loss or damage occurring after disbursement of the loan funds to the producer, without fault, negligence, or conversion on the part of the producer, resulting solely from external causes other than insect infestation, vermin, rodents, or wild animals, will be assumed by CCC to the extent of the settlement value of the quantity of the honey lost, stolen, or destroyed, or to the extent of the damage as determined by CCC, provided the producer has given the county office immediate notice, confirmed in writing, of such loss or damage, and provided there has been no fraudulent representation made by the producer in the loan documents or in obtaining the loan. No physical loss or damage occurring prior to disbursement of the loan funds to the producer shall be assumed by CCC. Where disbursement of funds is made by sight draft or check, the date of the draft or check shall constitute the date of disbursement of the funds.

§ 434.620 Personal liability of the producer for the honey. The making of any fraudulent representation by the producer in the loan documents, or in obtaining the loan, or the conversion or unlawful disposition of any portion of the honey by him, may render the producer subject to criminal prosecution under Federal law and will render him personally liable for the amount of the loan (including interest), and for any resulting expense incurred by any holder of the note.

§ 434.621 Release of the honey under loan. A producer may at any time obtain release of the honey remaining under loan by paying to the holder of the note and supplemental loan agreement, the principal amount thereof, plus charges and accrued interest. All charges in connection with the collection of the note shall be paid by the producer. Upon presentation of the paid note, the county office shall arrange for the release of the chattel mortgage. Partial release of the honey prior to maturity may be arranged with the county office after making payment to the holder of the note for the quantity of the honey released, plus charges and accrued interest. However, in the event the quantity of the honey contained in the storage structure and covered by the chattel mortgage is greater than the quantity with respect to which the amount was computed, application may be made to the county office for release of all or part of such excess without payment on the loan.

§ 434.622 Liquidation of loans and delivery under purchase agreements—(a) Farm-storage loans. The producer is required to pay off his loan on or before maturity, or to deliver the honey in accordance with instructions of the county office. Delivery points for farm-storage loans shall be limited to those recommended by the State committee and approved by the Director, Sugar Division, CSS. If the producer desires to deliver the honey, he should, prior to maturity, give the county office notice in writing of his intention to do so. The producer may, however, pay off his loan and redeem his honey at any time prior to delivery to CCC or removal by CCC. In the event the farm is sold or there is a change of tenancy, the honey under a farm-storage loan may be delivered before the maturity date of the loan, upon prior approval by the county office, or may be delivered before the maturity date of the loan for other reasons upon prior approval of the Executive Vice President of CCC. Settlement will be made at the applicable support rate in effect at the approved point of delivery subject to the provisions of the producer's note and supplemental loan agreement and this subpart, on the basis of the quantity, floral source, color and grade at the time of delivery as determined in accordance with §§ 434.611 (b) and 434.612 (b), (c), (d) and (e). If farm-stored honey is delivered to CCC prior to March 31, 1956, upon request of the producer and with the approval of CCC, the loan settlement shall be reduced at the rate of 1/20 of a cent per pound per month or fraction thereof, from the date delivery is accomplished, or from the final date for delivery shown in the delivery instructions issued by the county office, whichever is earlier, to and including March 31, 1956. Settlement value for honey delivered which does not meet the eligibility requirements with respect to grade shall be determined at the support rate for the honey placed under loan less the estimated cost, as determined by CCC, for conditioning such honey to conform to the grade of honey described in the loan documents. The settlement value for honey delivered which does not meet eligibility requirements because of floral source, or which cannot be conditioned to meet grade requirements, shall be the actual market value of such honey, if any, as determined by CCC. The producer shall pay CCC for any deficiency in quantity, floral source, grade or color. Any payment due the producer on settlement may be made by sight draft drawn on CCC by the county office.

(b) Handling small amounts on settlement. If the settlement value of the honey delivered under a farm-storage loan exceeds the amount due on the loan (excluding interest) by more than $3.00, such amount will be paid to the producer on the basis of the settlement documents. To avoid administrative costs of making small payments, if the amount found due the producer in such settlement is $3.00 or less such amount will be paid only upon his request. If the settlement value of the honey is less than the amount due on the loan (excluding interest), the amount of the deficiency, plus interest, shall be paid to CCC, or may be set off against any payment which would otherwise be due to the producer under any agricultural program administered by the Secretary of Agriculture, or any other payments which are due or may become due to the producer from CCC or any other agency of the United States. To avoid administrative costs of handling small accounts a deficiency of $3.00 or less, including interest, may be disregarded unless demand therefor is made by CCC upon the producer.

(c) Purchase agreements. The producer who signs a purchase agreement (Commodity Purchase Form 1) shall not be obligated to sell any quantity of the honey to CCC. However, the quantity stated in the purchase agreement will be the maximum quantity he may sell to CCC. If the producer who signs a purchase agreement wishes to sell the commodity to CCC, he shall have a 30-day period prior to the loan maturity date during which he must notify the county office of his intention to sell. Deliveries shall not be accepted before March 31, 1956, or such earlier date as prescribed by the Executive Vice President, CCC. The producer may be required to retain the honey for a period of 60 days after the loan maturity date, without any cost to CCC. Delivery under purchase agreements shall be made in accordance with instructions issued by the county office. Delivery points for purchase agreements shall be limited to those recommended by the State committee and approved by the Director, Sugar Division, CSS. Honey delivered under a purchase agreement must meet the requirements for eligible honey as set forth in §§ 434.603 and 434.612 (e). Payment for eligible honey delivered to CCC under purchase agreements shall be at the applicable support rate in effect at the approved delivery point, on the basis of the quantity, floral source, color and grade at the time of delivery as determined in accordance with §§ 434.611 (b) and 434.612 (b), (c), (d), and (e). Such payment will be made to the producer by sight draft drawn on CCC by the county office.

§ 434.623 Purchase of notes. County offices will purchase notes evidencing loans from approved lending agencies in accordance with the lending agency agreement. The purchase price to be paid by CCC will be the principal sums remaining due on such notes, plus an amount computed according to the lending agency agreement to cover interest. Lending agencies are required to submit Commodity Credit Corporation Form 500, or such other form as CCC may prescribe, for all payments received on producers' notes held by them, and are required to remit to CCC a part of the interest collected, computed according to the lending agency agreement. Lending agencies shall submit notes and reports to the ASC county office where the loan documents were approved.

§ 434.624 Charges not to be assumed by CCC. CCC will not pay or assume any insurance, or storage charges, inspection charges to determine eligibility for a loan, or any handling or processing charges necessary to make the honey meet the eligibility requirements.

§ 434.625 Support rates. Loans will be made, and honey delivered under purchase agreements will be purchased, at the support rates set forth below:

For States of Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico and States west thereof:

	Rate (cents per pound)
1. White and lighter table honey	10.1
2. Extra Light Amber table honey	9.6
3. Nontable and other table honey	8.1

For all States east of Montana, Wyoming, Colorado and New Mexico:

	Rate (cents per pound)
1. White and lighter table honey	11.0
2. Extra Light Amber table honey	10.5
3. Nontable and other table honey	9.0

Loans will be made at the applicable support rate established for the State in which the honey is stored.

(a) "Table honey" means honey having the predominant flavor of not more than two floral sources, and preferably one, which can be readily marketed for table use in all parts of the country. TITLE 14—CIVIL AVIATION

Chapter I—Civil Aeronautics Board

Subchapter A—Civil Air Regulations

[Supplement 25]

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Since Civil Aeronautics Manual 4b appeared in 19 F. R. 4446–4468, on July 20, 1954, certain revisions and additions have been found necessary. This supplement contains these revisions and additions: minor revisions have been made to policies on methods for determining brake capacity for downwind takeoffs and landings (§§ 4b.133, 4b.122). New policies have been added relative to minimum quantity of anti-detonant fluid required for approval of systems on airplanes being certificated, as well as the amount required for approval of airline operating practices (§§ 4b.10, 4b.420, 4b.718), the use of automatic reset circuit breakers as circuit protective devices (§ 4b.624), and the standards and methods for showing compliance with Civil Air Regulations requirements with regard to approved materials and strength properties, certain phases of control systems and components, and external doors (§§ 4b.300, 4b.301, 4b.306, 4b.329, 4b.356). This supplement also establishes the policies of the Administrator for determining the accelerate-stop distance and landing distance for airplanes incorporating a reverse thrust propeller installation (§§ 4b.10, 4b.16, 4b.115, 4b.122, 4b.123, 4b.170, 4b.171, 4b.173, 4b.182, 4b.351, 4b.402, 4b.450, 4b.730, 4b.740).

Part 4b is amended as follows:

1. A new § 4b.10–1 is added as follows:

§ 4b.10–1 Approval of reverse thrust propellers (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.10). A reverse thrust propeller is a design feature which is not fully covered in the Civil Air Regulations. When an airplane incorporates a reverse thrust propeller installation, it will be approved in accordance with the policies set forth in § 4b.402–1, provided it has no feature or characteristic which renders its use unsafe in transport category airplanes.

2. A new § 4b.10–3 is added as follows:

§ 4b.10–3 Minimum quantity of anti-detonant fluid required (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.10). The use of anti-detonant fluid in limited quantities as a supplemental fluid for take-off power operations is a feature not specifically covered in the Civil Air Regulations. A system incorporating anti-detonant fluid will be acceptable under the provisions of § 4b.10 as providing a satisfactory level of safety from the standpoint of the quantity of fluid available if it complies with the policies contained in §§ 4b.420–1 and 4b.718–1.

3. A new § 4b.16–4 is added as follows:

§ 4b.16–4 Flight tests (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.16). The policies outlined in § 4b.402–1 (c) and (l) (3) will apply.

4. Section 4b.113–1 (c) is amended as follows:

§ 4b.113–1 Downwind takeoff (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.113). Downwind takeoff data • • •.

(c) Brakes. At present it is believed that for calculated accelerate-stop distances based on actual airplane deceleration tests, the existing brake capacity requirements are sufficient to cover accelerate-stops in downwind velocities of 10 m. p. h. measured at 50-foot height. However, in wind velocities above 10 m. p. h. and in unusual cases or special types of operation additional tests or substantiation of the adequacy of the brakes may be necessary, and a revision to the braking system may be required.

5. A new § 4b.115–3 is added as follows:

§ 4b.115–3 Reverse thrust used in accelerate-stop distance (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.115). The policies outlined in § 4b.402–1 (k) will apply.

6. Section 4b.122–1 (c) is amended as follows:

§ 4b.122–1 Downwind landings (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.122). • • •

(c) Brakes. At present it is believed that for calculated landing distance based on actual airplane deceleration tests, the existing brake capacity requirements are sufficient to cover landings in downwind velocities of 10 m. p. h. measured at 50 feet. However, in wind velocities above 10 m. p. h. and in unusual cases or special types of operation, additional tests or substantiation of the adequacy of the brakes may be necessary and a revision to the braking system may be required. In determining the landing distances under paragraph (a) of this section, normal braking as outlined in § 4b.123 "Landplanes" should not be exceeded.

7. A new § 4b.122–3 is added as follows:

§ 4b.122–3 Reverse thrust used in determination of landing distance (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.122). The policies outlined in § 4b.402–1 (1) will apply.

8. A new § 4b.123–3 is added as follows:

§ 4b.123–3 Reverse thrust used in landing distance—landplanes (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.123 (c)). The policies outlined in § 4b.402–1 (1) will apply.

9. A new § 4b.170–2 is added as follows:

§ 4b.170–2 Longitudinal stability and control with reverse thrust (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.170). The policies outlined in § 4b.402–1 (a), (d), and (e) will apply.

10. A new § 4b.171–2 is added as follows:

§ 4b.171–2 Directional stability and control with reverse thrust (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.171). The policies outlined in § 4b.402–1 (a), (d), and (e) will apply.

11. A new § 4b.173–2 is added as follows:

§ 4b.173–2 Ground handling characteristics with reverse thrust (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.173). The policies outlined in § 4b.402–1 (a) and (d) will apply.

12. A new § 4b.182–2 is added as follows:

§ 4b.182–2 Control and stability on the water with reverse thrust (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.182). The policies outlined in §§ 4b.402–1 (a), (d), (f), and (h) will apply.

13. A new § 4b.300–1 is added as follows:

§ 4b.300–1 Turnbuckle safetying (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.300). The procedure outlined in § 4b.329–2 should be followed in safetying turnbuckles.

14. A new § 4b.301–1 is added as follows:

§ 4b.301–1 Acceptability of materials (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.301). (a) Materials conforming to established industry or military specifications or to Technical Standard Orders issued by the Administrator are acceptable for use on transport category airplanes. Where new or improved materials are used or where the materials are not covered by specifications sufficient information and data should be submitted to the Administrator to enable him to assess the suitability of the material. In all cases it is the responsibility of the applicant to demonstrate the adequacy of the materials employed.

15. A new § 4b.306–1 is added as follows:

§ 4b.306–1 Material strength properties (CAA policies, which apply to § 4b.306 (c)). (a) In the case of structures where the applied loads are eventually distributed through a single member within an assembly, the failure of which would result in the loss of the structural integrity of the component involved, the guaranteed minimum design mechanical properties ("A" values) listed in ANC–5[9a] should be used for design.

(b) Redundant structures wherein failure of individual elements would result in the applied load being safely distributed to other load carrying members, may be designed on the basis of the "90 percent probability" ("B" values).

(c) When strength testing is employed to establish design allowables, such as in the case of sheet-stiffener compression tests, the test results should be reduced through use of a materials correction factor to values which would be met by material having the design allowable material properties for the part under consideration. The ANC–5 Bulletin outlines methods of accomplishing this reduction but these are by no means considered as the only methods available.

(d) Use of design values greater than the guaranteed minimums is permissible in applications where only guaranteed minimum values are normally permitted provided that the higher values are substantiated by "premium selection" of the material. These increased design allowables will be acceptable providing that a specimen or specimens of each individual item are tested prior to its use, to assure that the strength properties of the particular item will equal or exceed the properties to be used in design. Such quality control should also be exercised for the manufacture of spare parts.

16. New §§ 4b.329–1 through 4b.329–6 are added as follows:

§ 4b.329–1 Installation of turnbuckles (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.329 (a)). Fork ends of turnbuckles should not be attached directly to control surface horns or to bellcrank arms unless a positive means (such as the use of shackles, links, universal joints, spacer bushings, ball bearings, etc.) is used to prevent binding of turnbuckles relative to the horns or bellcrank arms or unless it can be shown that turnbuckles have adequate strength assuming one end fixed to the horn or arm and the design cable loads pulling off the other end at 5° to the turnbuckle axis. There should be no interference between the horns or bellcrank arms and the fork ends of turnbuckles throughout the range of motion of the control surfaces.

§ 4b.329–2 Safetying of turnbuckles (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.329). Section 4b.300 requires in part that there be no design features or details which experience has shown to be hazardous or unreliable. Experience has shown that the reliability of turnbuckles should be insured by safetying with wire as shown in figure 5. After safetying the turnbuckle, no more than three threads should be exposed on either side of the turnbuckle barrel and the ends of each safety wire should be securely fastened by at least four wraps. A turnbuckle safetying guide is given in table 1.

NOTES

1. The swaged and unswaged turnbuckle assemblies are covered by AN standard drawings.
2. Certain of the AN standard swaged terminal parts specify a safety wire hole size of 0.047 inch. This hole may be reamed sufficiently to accommodate the 0.040 and 0.051 diameter wires.
3. The double wrap procedure given in Navy Specification PO–42A, Amendment No. 1, or the safetying procedure described by Air Force-Navy Aeronautical Design Standard AND 10482, may be used in lieu of the method shown in figure 5.

1. Wire 1 is passed through the turnbuckle hole as shown, the two wire ends are passed through the right and left hand ends of the turnbuckle and are then bent back along the barrel of the turnbuckle.
2. Wire 2 is installed and wrapped (these wraps are next to the ends of the turnbuckle).
3. The two loose ends of wire 1 are then wrapped.

[9a] The ANC–5 Bulletin "Strength of Metal Aircraft Elements" specifies "A" and "B" values for allowable design properties. The "A" values are those which the material producer has indicated to be the minimum he expects for the given material. The only values considered guaranteed values are the tensile ultimate and tensile yield "A" values which have been published by the material producer for the grain direction accepted for commercial guarantees. The "B" values represent design properties which the materials producers have indicated will be met or exceeded by 90 percent of the material supplied by them. More detailed information on the derivation of related design mechanical properties can be obtained by referring to § 3.111 "Design Mechanical Properties" of the ANC–5 Bulletin.

§ 4b.329–3 Approval of control system components (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.329 (a)). The Administrator does not issue specific approvals as such for cables, cable fittings, turnbuckles, splices, pulleys, etc., for general use on aircraft. Approval is limited to its use as part of a specific airplane design. Conformance with established industry or military specifications or adequate substantiation of the manufacturer's own design, are the procedures utilized in complying with the "approved type" requirement.

§ 4b.329–4 Cable terminals (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.329 (a)). The selection of cable terminal locations and their proximities should minimize the possibility of interferences with structure, fairleads, other terminals, etc., and the possibility of pairing wrong cables during maintenance or overhaul.

§ 4b.329–5 Bellcrank and idler installation (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.329 (b)). The design of such items as bellcrank arms, tab drums, idlers, etc., should minimize the possibility of inadvertent installation in the reversed direction, or, as an alternative, to preclude the possibility of jamming or interference that might result from such reversed installation.

§ 4b.329–6 Ball and roller bearings (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.329 (b) (3)). The "approved ratings" of ball and roller bearings referred to are the ratings established in ANC–5, "Strength of Metal Aircraft Elements".

17. A new § 4b.351–2 is added as follows:

§ 4b.351–2 Vision with reverse thrust (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.351). The policies outlined in § 4b.402–1 (g) and (h) will apply.

18. New §§ 4b.356–1 through 4b.356–6 are added as follows:

§ 4b.356–1 External doors (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.356). The provisions of § 4b.356 should be applied to all cabin and crew compartment external doors usable for entrance or egress. It is not restricted to the main cabin door. Cargo and service doors not suitable for emergency egress need only comply with § 4b.356 (e) and safeguarding against opening in flight as a result of mechanical failure.

§ 4b.356–2 Auxiliary latching devices (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.356 (b)). (a) The use of auxiliary latching devices is permitted. Such devices would include dual locking handles, other types of locking and safetying devices, and two position handles, and where one operation such as pushing or pulling on the handle unlocks the latching mechanism and the second operation of turning the handle unlatches the door for opening. Auxiliary safetying devices should be used only as an additional safety factor and should not be used as a means of correcting an inadequate design of the primary locking or latching means. The advantages to be gained from the installation of auxiliary or dual safety devices (safety chains and dual handle main locking means) should be weighed against the need to easily and rapidly open the door in case of emergencies so that the overall level of safety is as high as practicable.

(b) All locking or safety means, including safety chains and latches of any kind, should be so positioned and designed that their presence, location and means of operation are obvious to one not familiar with door designs.

(1) The means of fastening safety devices should be sufficiently simple to make removal easy.

(2) Any emergency release mechanism installed to release the safety device should operate with a simple motion and upon the application of relatively small forces.

(3) All locking devices should be readily operable from both inside and outside of the airplane and be appropriately marked both inside and outside.

(c) Auxiliary safety devices meeting the standards of (b) may be fastened in place during the entire flight. It will not be necessary to have such devices unlatched during takeoff and landing. Auxiliary safety devices such as safety chains or bars that do not meet the standards of paragraph (b) of this section may be used provided operating instructions are installed at or near the device and a placard is installed requiring the removal of such devices prior to takeoff and landing.

§ 4b.356–3 Power operated external doors (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.356 (b)). Power operated doors should be so designed that the door can be opened by manual means even when power is inactivated. The loss of power should not cause the door to become unlatched.[10a]

§ 4b.356–4 Means for safeguarding against inadvertent opening in flight (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.356 (b)). Auxiliary latching devices may be used to reduce the probability of inadvertent opening in flight provided they meet the standards and conditions covered in § 4b.356–2.

(a) It is acceptable to create a limited access zone in front of the door to eliminate the possibility of a passenger using the door handle as a steadying means and thereby inadvertently opening the door. Although providing a restricted zone by means of a barrier may appear to conflict with the requirements of § 4b.362 (g) for an unobstructed passageway to Type I and II emergency exits, it is considered that it would contribute sufficiently to the overall safety of the aircraft occupants to be permitted. This device may be a rope, chain, rigid bar or gate. Such installations should be waist high to provide the maximum benefits for an adult and the end fastenings should be simple to make removal easy. It is not considered acceptable to install full-length auxiliary doors, but waist-high rigid gates would be acceptable provided they open toward the door and will not block the opening of the cabin door in any way. The locking means should be one which could be easily overridden such as a spring-loaded ball type latch.

(b) Flexible gates such as those made from webbing are not acceptable on the basis that persons may become entangled during an emergency egress. The use of a barrier to prevent persons from inadvertently opening the door in flight does not eliminate the need for a safety means to provide for possible malfunctioning of the primary locking mechanism; however, the auxiliary safetying means of § 4b.356–2 may eliminate the need for a restricted zone.

§ 4b.356–5 Direct visual inspection (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.356 (e)). The means of complying with § 4b.356 (e) will depend upon the type of door and locking mechanism used. It should be determined in all cases that means are provided to ascertain that an unsatisfactory condition does not exist after closing the door. In some instances a central window for viewing the position of the mechanism may be sufficient while other cases may require one or more windows in the door frame to permit inspection of the bayonet location relative to that portion of the lock in the door frame. The need for and/or the number and location of inspection openings or windows will depend on the type of door and locking mechanism used.

§ 4b.356–6 Visual indicating system (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.356 (e)).[10b] (a) The visual indicating system may consist of an indicator for each individual door, or a system connecting all doors in series. If the latter system is used, it need not necessarily show which door is not fully locked.

(b) It is not necessary that more than one crew member be able to ascertain by a visual signal that all external doors, normally used by the crew in supplying the airplane, or in loading and unloading passengers and cargo, are fully closed and locked. The visual signal should be located so that it may easily be seen by the appropriate crew member from his station.

19. A new § 402–1 is added as follows:

§ 4b.402–1 Reverse thrust propeller installations (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.402). The Administrator may approve reverse thrust propeller installations which comply with the following:

(a) Exceptional pilot skill should not be required in taxying or any condition in which reverse thrust is to be used.

(b) Necessary operating procedures, operating limitations and placards should be established.

(c) The airplane control characteristics should be satisfactory with regard to control forces encountered, and buffeting should not be likely to cause structural damage.

[10a] Since emergency landings, such as in the wheels-up condition, may reasonably result in the severance of electrical wires or rupture of hydraulic and pneumatic lines, the power which may be needed for operation of the doors or exits may be lost. Similarly, it is conceivable that under emergency conditions, the electrical power source may be purposely interrupted to reduce the possibility of fire.

[10b] The objective herein is to be able to ascertain by visual means that the door and/or locking means is sufficiently engaged to eliminate hazards emanating from an improperly closed door. Outward opening doors present a different problem from inward opening doors.

(d) The directional control should be adequate using normal piloting skill.

(e) It should be determined that no dangerous condition is encountered in the event of sudden failure of one engine in any likely operating condition.

(f) The operating procedures and airplane configuration should be such as to provide reasonable safeguards against serious structural damage to parts of the airplane due to the reverse airflow.

(g) It should be determined that the pilot's vision is not dangerously obscured under normal operating conditions on dusty or wet runways and where light snow is on the runway.

(h) It should be determined that the pilot's vision is not dangerously obscured by spray due to reverse airflow under normal water operating conditions with seaplanes.

(i) The procedure and mechanisms for reversing should provide a reverse idle setting such that without requiring exceptional piloting skill at least the following conditions are met:

(1) Sufficient power is maintained to keep the engine running at an adequate speed to prevent engine stalling during and after the propeller reversing operation.

(2) The propeller does not overspeed during and after the propeller reversing operation.

(3) This idle setting does not exceed 25 percent of the maximum continuous rating.

(j) The engine cooling characteristics should be satisfactory in any likely operating condition.

(k) The use of reverse thrust will be permitted, in combination with the brakes installed, in establishing the accelerate-stop distance, if it is shown that such use provides a level of safety equivalent to that when wheel brakes alone are used, taking into consideration pilot skill required and the likelihood of attaining the necessary performance under conditions of simulated engine failure. Either of the following conditions and limitations should be used:

(1) Symmetrical reverse thrust on (n–2) engines with power not to exceed the maximum continuous rating, where n is equal to the number of engines.

(2) Asymmetrical reverse thrust on (n–1) engines in reverse idle setting. This operation should be permitted only where it can be shown that with use of this asymmetrical reverse thrust the airplane can be satisfactorily controlled on a wet runway.

(l) On four engine aircraft the use of reverse thrust will be permitted in combination with the brakes installed in establishing the landing distance if it is shown that such use provides a level of safety equivalent to that when wheel brakes alone are used taking into consideration pilot skill required and the likelihood of attaining the necessary performance under conditions of simulated engine failure. Determination of landing distance should be conducted in accordance with §§ 4b.122 and 4b.123 with the following additional provisions:

(1) A steady gliding approach should be made on an ILS flight path corresponding to the average value of 2½ degrees, except that this prescribed approach will not be required if the application of reverse thrust credit is limited to operations on dry and ice free runways under VFR conditions.

(2) The two most critical symmetrical engines may be placed in the reverse idle position not sooner than four seconds after the aircraft is firmly on the ground.

(3) An accelerated service test should be conducted in accordance with § 4b.16 (b) to establish reliability of the installation which should include not less than 25 landings, covering a range of power settings during the approach and a range of altitudes for which approval is desired.

20. A new § 4b.420–1 is added as follows:

§ 4b.420–1 Minimum quantity of anti-detonant fluid required (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.420 (e)). (a) Airplanes equipped with a common tank for two engines. The usable capacity of the tank should be sufficient for operation of the engines served by that tank for a duration equal to that determined by Case A, B, or C, whichever is applicable and results in the greater value (see table 2). The capacity should be based on the flow rate approved during engine type certification.

TABLE 2—ANTI-DETONANT TANK CAPACITY

	Case A		Case B		Case C
	Engine No. 1	Engine No. 2	Engine No. 1	Engine No. 2	Engine No. 1	Engine No. 2
Takeoff	X [1]	X	X	X	X	X
Approach [2]			X		X	X
Landing [3]	X/2 [4]	X/2 [4]
Reserve	X/2 [4]	X/2 [4]	X		X	X

[1] Whenever "X" appears in the table, it denotes a duration equal to the maximum time for which the use of wet takeoff power is used for determination of the takeoff flight path of the airplane. However, in no case should the value of either "X" or "X/2" be considered to be less than one minute.

[2] Applies as indicated by "X" only if wet takeoff power is used to demonstrate compliance with the approach climb requirement of § 4b.120 (d).

[3] Applies as indicated by "X" only if wet takeoff power is used to demonstrate compliance with the landing climb requirement of § 4b.119 (b).

[4] "X/2" is specified for the reserve in the all-engine operating case rather than "X" because this type of operation, is considered less critical than operation with one engine inoperative and the reserve need not therefore be as large.

21. A new § 4b.450–1 is added as follows:

§ 4b.450–1 Cooling with reverse thrust (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.450). The policies outlined in § 4b.402–1 (j) will apply.

22. Section 4b.612–1 (a) is amended by inserting the word "calibrated" as the third word in the first sentence so that the sentence reads as follows: "(a) Unless a calibrated referenced airspeed system is provided, the airplane's system should be calibrated throughout as wide a range as necessary to cover the intended flight tests."

The last sentence reading, "The airspeed indicating system should be calibrated in accordance with the following methods:" is deleted.

23. A new § 4b.624–1 is added as follows:

§ 4b.624–1 Automatic reset circuit breaker (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.624). Automatic reset circuit breakers (which automatically reset themselves periodically) should not be applied as circuit protective devices.[11]

[11] Circuit protective devices are normally installed to limt the hazardous consequences of overloaded or faulted circuits. These devices are resettable (circuit breakers) or replaceable (fuses) to permit the crew to restore service when nuisance trips occur or when the abnormal circuit condition can be corrected in flight. If the abnormal circuit condition can not be corrected in flight, the decision to restore power to the circuit involves a careful analysis of the flight situation. It is necessary to weigh the essentiality of the circuit for continued safe flight against the hazards of resetting on a possibly faulted circuit. Such evaluation is properly an aircraft crew function which can not be performed by automatic reset circuit breakers. To assure crew supervision over the reset operation, circuit protective devices should be of such design that a manual operation is required to restore service after tripping.

They may be used as integral protectors for electrical equipment (e. g., thermal cut-outs) provided that circuit protection is also installed to protect the cable to the equipment.

24. A new § 4b.718–1 is added as follows:

§ 4b.718–1 Power plant limitations governing minimum quantity of anti-detonant fluid required for takeoff (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.718). The Airplane Flight Manual should include a limitation indicating that the minimum quantity of anti-detonant fluid required is that determined from § 4b.420–1 (a) or (b). If the performance characteristics of the airplane are such that wet power is required for takeoff but may or may not be required for landing, depending upon airport location or characteristics, the Airplane Flight Manual may include information covering minimum allowable quantities under both conditions.

25. A new § 4b.730–1 is added as follows:

§ 4b.730–1 Reverse thrust placards (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.730). The policies outlined in § 4b.402–1 (b) will apply.

26. A new § 4b.740–2 is added as follows:

§ 4b.740–2 Reverse thrust operating limitations and procedures (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.740). The policies outlined in § 4b.402–1 (b) will apply.

These policies shall become effective April 30, 1955.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,
[SEAL] MARY JANE MORRIS,
Secretary.

1. Immediately after § 1.750 a new section is added reading as follows:

§ 1.751 Limitation on length of pleadings in adjudicatory proceedings. No pleading filed with the Commission or Motions Commissioner by any party to any adjudicatory proceeding which has been designated for hearing which relates to an appeal from an interlocutory ruling of an examiner, or the Motions Commissioner, or to matters covered by section 0.222 of the rules, or to petitions for reconsideration and grant without hearing of applications previously designated for hearing, will be accepted for filing if the pleadings exceed 15 double spaced typewritten pages: Provided, That parties may, in a separate pleading, request permission to file pleadings on matters covered by this section of more than 15 pages, which permission will be granted upon good cause shown. Such requests must be filed in the case of the petition for reconsideration and grant without hearing within ten days of the mailing of the notice of designation for hearing by the Commission, and in all other matters covered by this section, within two days of the ruling in question. The two-day requirement of § 1.750 shall be operative only after disposal of the request for permission to file a pleading exceeding the limit here specified.

2. Section 1.854 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) Each exception to an initial decision or to any part of the record or proceeding in any case, including rules upon motions or objections, shall point out with particularity alleged errors in the decision or ruling and shall contain specific references to the page or pages of the transcript of hearing, exhibit or order on which the exception is based. Any objection not saved by exception, filed pursuant to this section, is waived. The exceptions should be concise and they will not be accepted if they contain argumentative matters or discussions of law. Excerpts of testimony, as may be desired, must not be contained in the exceptions but they may be set forth in an appendix to a brief or memorandum of law filed in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section.

3. Section 1.854 (c) of the Commission's rules and regulations is amended to read as follows:

(c) Exceptions or supporting statements may be accompanied by a separate brief or memorandum of law in support thereof, and may contain a request for oral argument before the Commission. Except by special permission such brief or memorandum of law will not be accepted if they exceed 50 double spaced typewritten pages in length. After the filing of exceptions to a decision, any other party or the Bureau Counsel, or the General Counsel of the Commission, as the case may be, may file a reply brief for which the same limitation in length applies and a request for oral argument, (1) within 10 days after expiration of the time for filing exceptions, or (2) within 10 days after all parties have filed exceptions whichever period expires earliest. A request by an exceptor for oral argument shall be made within the time allowed for filing exceptions except, if such request has not been so made and a reply brief is filed, an exceptor may request such argument within five days after the filing of the reply brief. If no request for oral argument is filed within the time allowed herein, the parties will be deemed to have waived the right to oral argument.

4. Section 1.854 (d) of the Commission's rules and regulations is amended to read as follows:

(d) Within 10 days after any party or the Bureau Counsel or the General Counsel, as the case may be, has filed a request for oral argument, notice of intention to appear and participate therein shall be filed by the other parties and the Bureau Counsel or General Counsel. If the Commission on its initiative designates an initial decision for oral argument, all parties who wish to participate, including the Bureau Counsel or the General Counsel shall, within 5 days thereafter, file written notice of intention to appear and participate in oral argument. Failure to file the written notice shall constitute a waiver of the right to participate in oral argument. The notice of hearing will contain the allotment of time for oral argument before the Commission for each party. The Commission will grant, in its discretion, upon good cause shown, an extension of such time upon petition by a party, which petition must be filed within 5 days after issuance of said notice of hearing.

APPLE BUTTER

U. S. STANDARDS FOR GRADES [1]

Department of Agriculture is considering the revision of United States Standards for Grades of Apple Butter pursuant to the authority contained in the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946 (60 Stat. 1087 et seq.; 7 U. S. C. 1621 et seq.). This revision, if made effective, will be the second issue by the Department of grade standards for this product.

All persons who desire to submit written data, views or arguments for consideration in connection with the proposed standards should file the same with the Chief, Processed Products Standardization and Inspection Branch, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., not later than 90 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The proposed revision is as follows:

IDENTITY, AND GRADES

§ 52.2801 Identity. Apple butter is a fruit butter prepared from clean, sound, wholesome, mature apples, (either fresh, frozen, canned and/or dried) and other ingredients as defined in the amended Standards of Identity for Fruit Butter (17 F. R. 2596) issued pursuant to the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

§ 52.2802 Grades of apple butter. (a) "U. S. Grade A" or "U. S. Fancy" is the quality of apple butter that possesses a good color; that possesses a good consistency; that possesses a good finish; that is practically free from defects; that possesses a good flavor, and that scores not less than 85 points when scored in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this subpart.

(b) "U. S. Grade C" or "U. S. Standard" is the quality of apple butter that possesses a fairly good color; that possesses a fairly good consistency; that possesses a fairly good finish; that is fairly free from defects; that possesses a fairly good flavor, and that scores not less than 70 points when scored in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this subpart.

(c) "Substandard" is the quality of apple butter that fails to meet the requirements of U. S. Grade C or U. S. Standard.

FILL OF CONTAINER

§ 52.2803 Recommended fill of container. The recommended fill of container is not incorporated in the grades of the finished product since fill of container, as such, is not a factor of quality for the purposes of these grades. It is recommended that each container of apple butter be filled as full as practicable without impairment of quality and that the product occupy not less than 90 percent of the capacity of the container.

§ 52.2804 Ascertaining the grade. (a) The grade of apple butter is ascertained by considering the factors of quality which are scored. The relative importance of each such factor is expressed numerically on the scale of 100. The maximum number of points that may be given such factors are:

Factors:	Points
Color	20
Consistency	20
Finish	20
Defects	20
Flavor	20
Total score	100

§ 52.2805 Ascertaining the rating for the factors which are scored. The essential variations within each factor which is scored are so described that the value may be ascertained for each factor and expressed numerically. The numerical range within each factor which is scored is inclusive. (For example, "17 to 20 points" means 17, 18, 19, or 20 points.)

(b) (C) classification. If the apple butter possesses a fairly good color a score of 14 to 16 points may be given. Apple butter that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade C or U. S. Standard regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Fairly good color" means a fairly uniform, fairly bright color characteristic of apple butter. Such color may be lacking in red, may be dark brown or have a slight greenish cast but is neither excessively dark nor excessively pale or off colored.

(c) (SStd.) classification. Apple butter that fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (b) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 13 points and shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

§ 52.2807 Consistency—(a) General. The factor of consistency refers to the viscosity of the product and to the degree of separation of free liquor.

(b) (A) classification. Apple butter that possesses a good consistency may be given a score of 17 to 20 points. "Good consistency" means that the apple butter after stirring and emptying from the container to a dry flat surface forms a moderately mounded mass and that at the end of two minutes there is practically no separation of free liquor.

(c) (C) classification. Apple butter that possesses a fairly good consistency may be given a score of 14 to 16 points. Apple butter that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade C or U. S. Standard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Fairly good consistency" means that the apple butter after stirring may possess a thick consistency so that it does not pour readily from the container or after emptying from the container to a dry flat surface may form only a slightly mounded mass and at the end of two minutes there is no more than a slight separation of free liquor.

(d) (SStd.) classification. Apple butter that fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (c) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 13 points and shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

§ 52.2808 Finish—(a) General. The factor of finish refers to the size and texture of the apple particles.

(b) (A) classification. Apple butter that possesses a good finish may be given a score of 17 to 20 points. "Good finish" means that the apple particles are evenly divided; that the product is fine grained and smooth.

(c) (C) classification. If the apple butter possesses only a fairly good finish a score of 14 to 16 points may be given. Apple butter that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade C or U. S. Standard regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Fairly good finish" means that the apple particles are evenly divided; that the product may be slightly coarse; but the apple particles are neither hard nor excessively grainy.

(d) (SStd.) classification. Apple butter that fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (c) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 13 points and shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

§ 52.2809 Defects. The factor of defects refers to the degree of freedom from such defects as black specks, dark scale-like particles, particles of carpel tissue, peel, stem, seed-coat, and blossom-end material. This factor is evaluated by observing a layer of the product on a smooth white surface. Such a layer is prepared by drawing a scraper with a clearance of 3/32 inch high by 7 inches long rapidly through the product in two horizontal planes so as to form an approximate square.

(a) (A) classification. Apple butter that is practically free from defects may be given a score of 17 to 20 points. "Practically free from defects" means that any defects present do not more than slightly affect the appearance or edibility of the product.

(b) (C) classification. If the apple butter is fairly free from defects a score of 14 to 16 points may be given. Apple butter that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade C or U. S. Standard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Fairly free from defects" means that any defects present may be noticeable but are not so large, so numerous, or of such contrasting color as to seriously affect the appearance or edibility of the product.

(c) (SStd.) classification. Apple butter that fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (b) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 13 points and shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

§ 52.2810 Flavor. The score for the factor of flavor of apple butter is ascertained by considering the flavor and aroma of the apple butter with particular consideration being given to the prominence and excellence of the flavor of the apple ingredient.

(a) (A) classification. Apple butter that possesses a good flavor may be given a score of 17 to 20 points. "Good flavor" means a good and distinct flavor and aroma characteristic of properly prepared and properly processed apple butter prepared from good quality ingredients.

(b) (C) classification. If the apple butter possesses a fairly good flavor a score of 14 to 16 points may be given. Apple butter that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade C or U. S. Standard regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Fairly good flavor" means a characteristic apple butter flavor and odor that may be excessively sweet or excessively tart, may be excessively spiced or lacking in proper spicing, or may be excessively carmelized but is not seriously objectionable for any reason.

LOT CERTIFICATION TOLERANCES

§ 52.2811 Tolerances for certification of officially drawn samples. (a) When certifying samples that have been officially drawn and which represent a specific lot of apple butter, the grade for such lot will be determined by averaging the total scores of the containers comprising the sample, if, (1) all containers comprising the sample meet all applicable standards of quality promulgated under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act and in effect at the time of the aforesaid certification; and (2) with respect to those factors which are scored:

(i) Not more than one-sixth of the containers fails to meet the grade indicated by the average of such total scores;

(ii) None of the containers falls more than 4 points below the minimum score for the grade indicated by the average of such total scores;

(iii) None of the containers falls more than one grade below the grade indicated by the average of such total scores; and

(iv) The average score of all containers for any factor subject to a limiting rule is within the score range of that factor for the grade indicated by the average of the total scores of the containers comprising the sample.

[Docket No. 11330; FCC 55–403]

TABLE OF ASSIGNMENTS

1. Notice is hereby given that the Commission has received a proposal for rule making in the above-entitled matter.

2. The Commission has before it for consideration a petition filed on February 11, 1955, by the State of Louisiana, acting through its duly authorized State Superintendent of Education, Shelby M. Jackson, and now made part of this docket, requesting an amendment of § 3.606 Table of assignments, rules governing television broadcast stations, so as to reserve Channel 13 at Monroe, Louisiana, presently available for commercial use, for non-commercial educational use.

3. In support of the requested amendment, petitioner urges that there is a need for the reservation of Channel 13 at Monroe for non-commercial educational use to serve the educational needs of a large area and population and the many educational institutions in the area; that no applications have been filed for the commercial use of Channel 13 at Monroe and there appears little likelihood of any demand being made for the commercial use of Channel 13 at Monroe in the future; that the Legislature of Louisiana has empowered the State Board of Education, the Louisiana State University, and the State Department of Education to build, operate and maintain educational television facilities and has appropriated $150,000 for such purposes; and that, in the event the proposed amendment is adopted, petitioner will file an application for a construction permit for a non-commercial educational station on Channel 13.

4. The Commission is of the view that rule-making proceedings should be instituted in this matter in order that all interested parties may submit their views to the Commission, and the Commission may be apprised of such views prior to taking final action.

5. Authority for the adoption of the proposed amendment is contained in sections 4 (i), 301, 303 (c), (d), (f), and (r), and 307 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

6. Any interested party who is of the opinion that the amendment proposed by petitioner should not be adopted or should not be adopted in the form set forth herein may file with the Commission on or before April 29, 1955, a written statement or brief setting forth his comments. Comments in support of the proposed amendment may also be filed on or before the same date. Comments or briefs in reply to the original comments may be filed within 10 days from the last day for filing said original comments or briefs. No additional comments may be filed unless (1) specifically requested by the Commission or (2) good cause for the filing of such additional comments is established. The Commission will consider all such comments that are submitted before taking action in this matter, and if any comments appear to warrant the holding of a hearing or oral argument, notice of the time and place of such hearing or oral argument will be given.

7. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.764 of the Commission's rules and regulations, an original and 14 copies of all statements, briefs, or comments shall be furnished the Commission.

Adopted: March 30, 1955.

Released: April 1, 1955.

TEXAS STAR BROADCASTING CO. AND KTRH BROADCASTING CO. (KTRH)

ORDER AMENDING ISSUES

In re applications of Roy Hofheinz and W. N. Hooper, d/b as Texas Star Broadcasting Company, Dallas, Texas, Docket No. 8258, File No. BP–5820; KTRH Broadcasting Company (KTRH), Houston, Texas, Docket No. 8753, File No. BP–6525; for construction permits.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 31st day of March 1955;

The Commission having under consideration a petition filed on December 31, 1954 by Chief, Broadcast Bureau, to modify issues and add a party to the above-entitled proceeding, in which Texas Star Broadcasting Company is seeking a construction permit to establish a new standard broadcast station in Dallas, Texas, and KTRH Broadcasting Company is seeking a construction permit to modify its daytime directional antenna;

It appearing that the Broadcast Bureau states in said petition that an amendment to the proposal of KTRH Broadcasting Company, accepted by the Hearing Examiner on September 13, 1954, results in a change of the daytime directional antenna pattern; that the amendment affects the proposed coverage; that the evidence in the record with respect to coverage is based on former Fig. 3 of the Standards (ground conductivity map) and the "decibel" method of computing signal attenuation over propagation paths traversing more than one ground conductivity, both of which have been superseded by amendments to the Standards; and that, for proper comparison of the two proposals, new engineering showings of coverage under both proposals should be made, taking cognizance of the changes in the Rules and Standards as well as the 1950 Census figures;

It further appearing that the Broadcast Bureau further states that the amended proposal of KTRH Broadcasting Company involves adjacent channel daytime interference with the operation of Station WARB, Covington, Louisiana, and fails to protect Station CMAB, Pinar Del Rio, Cuba, in accordance with the provisions of § 3.28 (b) of the rules; and

It further appearing that another amendment filed by KTRH Broadcasting Company, on January 31, 1955, and accepted by the Hearing Examiner, on February 8, 1955, resolves the questions of interference here raised between KTRH and WARB and CMAB; and

It further appearing that the request contained in the Broadcast Bureau petition for new engineering showings of coverage under the proposals of the Texas Star Broadcasting Company and KTRH Broadcasting Company are desirable and appropriate for comparative coverage purposes;

It is ordered, That the petition of the Chief, Broadcast Bureau, is granted insofar as engineering showings are required to be made under the current rules and standards and that the petition in all other respects is dismissed as moot; and

It is further ordered, That the issues in the above-entitled proceeding are amended to read as follows:

1. To determine the areas and populations which may be expected to gain or lose primary service from the operation of the proposed stations, and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

2. To determine the extent of objectionable interference which the proposed operation of Texas Star Broadcasting Company will cause to Station KSEO, Durant, Oklahoma, the areas and populations in the interference area, and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

3. To determine the type and character of program service rendered by Station KSEO to the area in which KSEO would receive objectionable interference from the proposed operation of Texas Star Broadcasting Company.

4. To determine whether the installation and operation of the station proposed by Texas Star Broadcasting Company would be in compliance with the Commission's Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Standard Broadcast Stations relating to "blanket area" interference and, if not, whether the public interest warrants a departure from such standards.

5. To determine if the operation proposed in the above-entitled application of KTRH Broadcasting Company would involve radiations in excess of those permitted In re Proposed Agreement between United States and Canada respecting Assignment of Class II Standard Broadcast Stations to clear channels (Docket No. 10453).

6. To determine whether Texas Star Broadcasting Company's qualifications to operate its proposed station are affected and, if so, in what manner, by changed circumstances with reference to the ability of Mr. Hofheinz to devote as much time to the proposed operation as was contemplated at the time of the original hearing.

7. To determine to what extent, if any; changes in broadcast authorizations for the service areas involved existing at the time of the original decision herein have occurred.

8. To determine, on the basis of the additional evidence to be adduced under the above issues, and the hearing record heretofore made in these proceedings, which, if either, of the above-entitled applications should be granted.

Released: April 4, 1955.

ORDER CONTINUING PREHEARING CONFERENCE

In re applications of Roy Hofheinz and W. N. Hooper, d/b as Texas Star Broadcasting Company, Dallas, Texas, Docket No. 8258, File No. BP–5820; KTRH Broadcasting Company (KTRH) Houston, Texas, Docket No. 8753, File No. BP–6525; for construction permits.

The Hearing Examiner having under consideration a joint petition filed on March 31, 1955, on behalf of Roy Hofheinz and W. N. Hooper, d/b as Texas Star Broadcasting Company and KTRH Broadcasting Company, Applicants, and Democrat Printing Company, (KSEO), Intervenor, in the above-entitled proceeding, requesting that the prehearing conference now scheduled to be held on April 4, 1955, be postponed until April 15, 1955; and

It appearing that counsel for the Chief of the Broadcast Bureau, the only other party to the said proceeding, has consented to a grant of the above petition and to a waiver of § 1.745 of the Commission's rules relating to the timely filing of motions; and

It further appearing that sufficient good cause has been alleged to warrant a grant of the relief requested herein;

It is ordered, This 1st day of April 1955, that the said petition be, and it is hereby, granted, and that the prehearing conference in the above-entitled proceeding is hereby continued until 10:00 o'clock a. m., on April 15, 1955, in the offices of this Commission at Washington, D. C.

GREENWICH BROADCASTING CORP.

ORDER AMENDING ISSUES

In re application of Greenwich Broadcasting Corporation, Greenwich, Connecticut, Docket No. 8716, File No. BP–6315; for construction permit.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 31st day of March 1955;

The Commission having under consideration a petition of Chief, Broadcast Bureau, filed on December 10, 1954, to modify issue and add party to the above-entitled proceeding in which the applicant is seeking a construction permit to establish a new standard broadcast station in Greenwich, Connecticut, and to operate on frequency of 1490 kilocycles with 250 watts power and unlimited hours;

It appearing that the said petition of the Broadcast Bureau states that the operation of a standard broadcast station proposed by the Greenwich Broadcasting Corporation would cause objectionable interference to Station WDLC, Port Jervis, New York;

It further appearing that no opposition to the instant petition has been received by the Commission;

It is ordered, That the petition of the Chief, Broadcast Bureau, is granted and that Port Jervis Broadcasting Company, Port Jervis, New York, licensee of Station WDLC, is made a party to the above-entitled proceeding; and

It is further ordered, That, in view of the considerations set forth above, the issues specified under paragraph 10 of our Memorandum Opinion and Order in the above-entitled proceeding dated November 24, 1954, together with the ordering clause set forth in paragraph 11 of said Memorandum Opinion and Order are modified [1] to read as follows:

1. To determine whether the proposed operation of the Greenwich Broadcasting Corporation would involve objectionable interference with Station WHOM, New York, N. Y., WNLC, New London, Conn., WDLC, Port Jervis, N. Y., or with any other existing broadcast stations and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other broadcast services to such areas and populations.

2. To determine the areas and populations which may be expected to gain primary service from the operation of the proposed station by Greenwich Broadcasting Corporation and the other primary services available from existing stations to those areas and populations.

[1] The modification only affects Issues No. 1 and 5 and the ordering clause set forth under paragraph 11; Issues 2, 3, 4, 6 and 7 are merely restated for the sake of unity.

3. To determine whether the operation of the proposed station would involve objectionable interference with the service proposed in any other pending applications for broadcast facilities and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other broadcast services to such areas and populations.

4. To determine the type and character of program service proposed to be rendered by the applicant and whether it would meet the requirements of the populations and areas proposed to be served.

5. To determine the type and character of program services rendered by Stations WHOM, WNLC, and WDLC and whether these services meet the requirements of the populations and areas proposed to lose such service, if any.

6. To determine whether the installation and operation of the proposed station would be in compliance with the Commission's Rules and Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Standard Broadcast Stations.

7. To determine, in the light of the evidence adduced under the foregoing issues, whether the public interest, convenience, or necessity would be served by a grant of the subject application.

It is further ordered, That the burden of proceeding with the introduction of evidence under Issue 4 is placed upon Greenwich Broadcasting Corporation, and that the burden of proceeding with the introduction of evidence under Issue 5 is placed upon the licensee of WHOM and WDLC and, in view of WNLC's failure to appear and participate, upon Greenwich Broadcasting Corporation only insofar as such evidence may be appropriate to the latter's affirmative case.

It is further ordered, That, after the conclusion of the hearing, the Hearing Examiner shall issue an Initial Decision.

BROADCAST GROUP, INC.

In re application of Broadcast Group, Inc., St. Joseph, Missouri, Docket No. 11147, File No. BP-9264; for construction permit.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 31st day of March 1955;

The Commission having before it for consideration a (1) conditional petition to enlarge issues, filed December 29, 1954, by Broadcast Group, Inc., (2) joint response to said petition, filed January 18, 1955, by University of Kansas (KFKU), Lawrence, Kansas, and WREN Broadcasting Company (WREN), Topeka, Kansas; (3) comments on conditional petition and response thereto, filed January 20, 1955, by Chief, Broadcast Bureau; (4) reply to Broadcast Bureau's response filed January 24, 1955, by KFKU and WREN; and (5) answer to reply of KFKU and WREN and response of Broadcast Bureau, filed January 25, 1955, by Broadcast Group, Inc.;

It appearing that petitioner, an applicant for a new standard broadcast station at St. Joseph, Missouri, to be operated on 1270 kc with power of 1 kw, daytime only, requests the Commission to enlarge the issues in this proceeding to include issues with respect to (a) the type and character of program service proposed and its suitability to the populations and areas which would gain service from the proposed operation and (b) the type and character of program service rendered by Station WREN for the proposed interference area, providing it is the Commission's policy to require the introduction of programming evidence where any amount of interference is caused to an existing station; and

It further appearing that Station KFKU, Lawrence, Kansas, shares time and transmitting facilities with Station WREN, Topeka, Kansas, on 1250 kc, and that the proposed operation of Broadcast Group, Inc., would cause WREN and KFKU to lose 0.95 percent of the population and 0.34 percent of the area within its normally protected contour; and

It further appearing that WREN and KFKU, although agreeing that programming issues should be included in this proceeding, urge the Commission to include issues as to (a) the type and character of program service proposed and its suitability to the populations and areas which would gain service from the proposed operation, (b) the type and character of program service rendered by Stations KFKU and WREN in the proposed interference area, and (c) the type and character of program service rendered to the interference area, and to the area which would gain service from the proposed station, by other stations serving substantial portions of said areas; and

It further appearing that a determination of the comparative merits of the existing station and the proposed station in the area of interference is required by § 3.24 of our rules and by the mandate of the court in Democrat Printing Company v. F. C. C., 202 F. 2d 298;

It is ordered, That the issues in this proceeding be enlarged by the addition of the following issues:

1. To determine the type and character of program service proposed to be rendered by the applicant and whether it would meet the requirements of the populations and areas proposed to be served.

2. To determine the type and character of program services rendered by Stations KFKU and WREN and whether these services meet the requirements of the populations and areas proposed to lose such service, if any.

It is further ordered, That the burden of proceeding with the introduction of evidence under Issue 2 is placed upon stations KFKU and WREN.

OHIO BELL TELEPHONE CO.

ORDER CONTINUING HEARING

In the matter of Ohio Bell Telephone Company, Toledo, Ohio, Docket No. 11270, File No. 5745-F1-P-H; application for construction permit for new VHF Public Class III-B coast station.

The Hearing Examiner having under consideration the motion filed March 22, 1955, by Lorain County Radio Corporation, respondent herein, requesting that the hearing in this proceeding now scheduled for April 6, 1955, be postponed until a date later to be fixed by the Hearing Examiner, for the reason that a request to enlarge the issues is pending before the Commission which request is unlikely to be acted on by the Commission before the date for the hearing presently scheduled and for the further reason that counsel for Lorain County Radio Corporation and the executive principals thereof have commitments conflicting with the hearing date now scheduled; and

It appearing that no opposition to the motion has been filed and that Commission counsel are agreeable to a grant of the motion;

It is ordered, This 29th day of March 1955, that the motion is granted; and that the date of the hearing is postponed to a date later to be scheduled by the Hearing Examiner.

WALKER BUILDERS, INC.

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATION FOR HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re application of Walker Builders, Inc., 6339 Indianapolis Blvd., Hammond, Indiana, Docket No. 11316; for an authorization for a new Citizens Radio Station.

1. The Commission has before it (1) a petition filed December 6, 1954 by South Shore Broadcasting Corporation and South Shore Radio Telephone, Inc., who jointly petition, pursuant to section 405 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, for reconsideration of the Commission's action of November 5, 1954 granting the above-captioned application; and (2) certain correspondence relative to this petition.

2. Petitioners in their joint petition allege that South Shore Broadcasting Corporation is the licensee of Stations WJOB and WJOB-FM and South Shore Radio Telephone, Inc. is the licensee of Station KSB591 (a common carrier station rendering a two-way mobile dispatch service), located in Hammond, Indiana; that their antennas are mounted on a joint tower located at 6435 Indianapolis Boulevard, Hammond, Indiana; that after Walker Builders, Inc., was granted authority to operate a Citizens Radio station, it constructed a steel tower approximately 400 feet from the petitioners' antenna tower; and that since the construction of the Walker tower, the patterns of the petitioners' stations have been subject to distortion and there has been an increase in the antenna current as a result of this new construction. For these reasons petitioners request that the Commission vacate its grant to Walker Builders, Inc. and designate its application for hearing upon the issue relating to the effect of the Walker tower upon petitioners' operations.

3. By letter dated December 30, 1954, Walker Builders, Inc., without denying the alleged effect of its tower on the petitioners' operations, stated that it had constructed its radio station in compliance with all the state and federal laws and the rules and regulations of the Commission and requested that the joint petition be dismissed. In the meantime, an inspection of petitioners' stations by a Commission engineer revealed that the antenna current of the standard broadcast station WJOB increased from 2.79 to 2.95 amperes immediately after Walker Builders, Inc., erected its tower. This, in turn, indicated a reduction in antenna resistance from 32.4 to approximately 27.7 ohms. The operations of WJOB-FM and KSB-591 did not appear to have been affected by the contruction of the Walker tower.

4. On January 18, 1955, a letter was sent to both Walker and petitioners suggesting that they may wish to cooperate in an effort to resolve among themselves the issues raised by the joint petition. The parties subsequently informed the Commission that they were unable to reach a mutually satisfactory solution. Walker, in its letter, confirmed, however, that "it was determined, as nearly as practicable, that coincident with the erection of (its) antenna tower, the WJOB antenna current increased from 2.79 to 2.95 amperes."

5. In view of the foregoing, we find that WJOB has shown that it has been aggrieved, or its interests adversely affected by the grant of a license to Walker and sufficient reasons have been made to appear to justify reconsideration of that grant under section 405 of the act. No such findings, however, can be made with respect to WJOB-FM and KSB-591.

6. Accordingly, it is ordered, This 30th day of March 1955, that the joint petition here under consideration is granted insofar as it requests relief on behalf of WJOB and is dened insofar as it requests relief on behalf of WJOB-FM and KSB-591; and

It is further ordered, That effective immediately the grant of the above-captioned application made November 5, 1954 is vacated and the application is designated for hearing to be held at 10:00 a. m. on the 26th day of May 1955, in Washington, D. C., upon the following issues:

1. To determine the effect of the applicant's proposed antenna tower on the operation of Station WJOB; and

2. To determine whether in the light of the evidence adduced in this hearing, the public interest, convenience and necessity would be served by a grant of the above-captioned application.

It is further ordered, That the petitioner South Shore Broadcasting Corporation and the Chief of the Safety and Special Radio Services Bureau are hereby made parties to this proceeding.

Released: April 4, 1955.

B. J. PARRISH ET AL.

ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATIONS FOR CONSOLIDATED HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re applications of B. J. Parrish, Pine Bluff, Arkansas, Docket No. 11323, File No. BP-8698; Universal Broadcasting Corporation (KOTN), Brinkley, Arkansas, Docket No. 11324, File No. BP-8705; Southern Empire Broadcasting Company, Inc., Pine Bluff, Arkansas, Docket No. 11325, File No. BP-8726; James S. Rivers tr/as The Southeastern Broadcasting System, Macon, Georgia, Docket No. 11326, File No. BP-8747; James A. Noe (KNOE) Monroe, Louisiana, Docket No. 11327, File No. BP-9161; Radio Columbus, Inc. (WDAK) Columbus, Georgia, Docket No. 11328, File No. BP-9260; for construction permits.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 30th day of March 1955;

The Commission having under consideration the above-entitled applications for construction permits to operate standard broadcast stations on 540 kilocycles and move Station KOTN from Pine Bluff to Brinkley, Arkansas, contingent on a grant of the B. J. Parrish application for a new standard broadcast station on 540 kilocycles in Pine Bluff;

It appearing that each of the applicants is legally, technically, financially and otherwise qualified, except with respect to a question of multiple ownership raised in the application of Radio Columbus, Inc., as set out below; but that operation of the stations as proposed would involve progressively-interlinked objectionable and mutually destructive interference; that the simultaneous operation of the proposals of James A. Noe, Radio Columbus, Inc., B. J. Parrish and Southern Empire Broadcasting Co., Inc., or any combination thereof, would not afford adequate nighttime protection to Cuban Station CMDQ, Camaguey, Cuba (formerly located at Victoria De Las Tunas, Cuba) and to a Mexican station operating on 540 kilocycles at San Luis Potosi, Mexico; and would receive nighttime interference from said Mexican station; that the proposed operation of Station KOTN would cause interference to Station WCLD, Cleveland, Mississippi (1490 kc, 250w, Unl.); that the proposal of the Southern Empire Broadcasting Co., Inc., may not afford adequate nighttime protection to Station CBK, Watrous, Saskatchewan, Canada; that the operation proposed by Southern Empire Broadcasting Co., Inc., and B. J. Parrish may not comply with § 3.28 (c) of the Commission's rules because of interference from Canadian Station CBK and a Mexican station operating on 540 kilocycles at San Luis Potosi, Mexico; and that a grant of the application of Radio Columbus, Inc. may be in contravention of the provisions of § 3.35 of the Commission's rules on multiple ownership with regard to Station WJHO, Opelika, Alabama; and

It further appearing that pursuant to section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the subject applicants were advised by letters dated December 17, 1953 and July 23, 1954 of the aforementioned deficiencies and that the Commission was unable to conclude that a grant of any of the applications would be in the public interest; and

It further appearing that each of the subject applicants filed a timely reply; and

It further appearing that the Commission, after consideration of the replies, is of the opinion that a hearing is necessary;

It is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the said applications are designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding, at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent order, upon the following issues:

1. To determine the areas and populations which may be expected to gain or lose primary service from the proposed operations of Stations WDAK, KNOE and KOTN and the areas and populations which will be served by the proposals of Southern Empire Broadcasting Company, Inc.; B. J. Parrish and James S. Rivers, tr/as Southeastern Broadcasting System, and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

2. To determine whether the simultaneous operation of the subject proposals of KNOE, WDAK, B. J. Parrish and Southern Empire Broadcasting Company, Inc., or any combination thereof, would afford adequate nighttime protection to Station CMDQ, Camaguey, Cuba.

3. To determine whether the subject proposals of KNOE, WDAK, B. J. Parrish and Southern Empire Broadcasting Company, Inc., would cause interference to or receive interference from a Mexican station operating on 540 kilocycles at San Luis Potosi, Mexico, and if so, the nature and extent of such interference.

4. To determine whether the subject proposal of Southern Empire Broadcasting Company, Inc., would afford adequate nighttime protection to Station CBK, Watrous, Saskatchewan, Canada.

5. To determine whether the subject proposal of Station KOTN would involve objectionable interference with Station WCLD, Cleveland, Mississippi, and, if so, the nature and extent of such interference.

6. To determine, in addition to the interference questions raised in Issues 2, 3, 4 and 5, the nature and extent of the interference, if any, that each of the operations proposed in the above-entitled applications would cause to and receive from each other and all other existing standard broadcast stations, domestic and foreign, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

7. To determine whether a grant of the application of Radio Columbus, Inc. would be in contravention of the provisions of § 3.35 of the Commission's rules on duopoly with regard to Station WJHO, Opelika, Alabama.

8. To determine whether the subject proposals of B. J. Parrish and Southern Empire Broadcasting Company, Inc. are in compliance with the provisions of § 3.28 (c) of the Commission's rules with particular reference to providing the recommended minimum of interference-free service within the proposed stations' normally protected contours.

9. To determine in the light of section 307 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, which, if any, of the operations proposed in the above-entitled applications would provide the most fair, efficient and equitable distribution of radio service.

10. To determine, on a comparative basis, which of the operations proposed in the above-entitled applications would best serve the public interest, convenience or necessity in the light of the evidence adduced under the foregoing issues and the record made with respect to the significant differences between the applicants as to:

a. The background and experience of each of the above-named applicants to own and operate the proposed stations.

b. The proposals of each of the above-named applicants with respect to the management and operation of the proposed stations.

c. The programming service proposed in each of the above-mentioned applications.

It is further ordered, That the Voice of Delta, licensee of Station WCLD, Cleveland, Mississippi, is made a party to the proceeding;

It is further ordered, That the issues in the above-entitled proceeding may be enlarged by the Examiner on his own motion or on petition properly filed by a party to the proceeding and upon sufficient allegations of fact in support thereof, by the addition of the following issue: To determine whether funds available to the applicant will give reasonable assurance that the proposal set forth in the application will be effectuated.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

POTOMAC EDISON CO. ET AL.

ORDER GRANTING AND PERMITTING EFFECTIVENESS TO JOINT APPLICATION-DECLARATION REGARDING ISSUANCE BY WHOLLY-OWNED SUBSIDIARIES OF COMMON STOCK TO PARENT HOLDING COMPANY FOR CASH

APRIL 4, 1955.

In the matter of The Potomac Edison Company, Northern Virginia Power Company, Potomac Light and Power Company, South Penn Power Company; File No. 70-3347.

The Potomac Edison Company ("Potomac Edison"), a registered holding company and a subsidiary of The West Penn Electric Company ("West Penn"), also a registered holding company, and three wholly-owned subsidiaries of Potomac Edison, namely, Northern Virginia Power Company ("Northern Virginia"), Potomac Light and Power Company ("Potomac Light"), and South Penn Power Company ("South Penn") have made a joint filing with this Commission pursuant to sections 6, 7, 9, 10 and 12 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") and Rules U-43 and U-44 promulgated thereunder regarding certain proposed transactions, as follows:

Northern Virginia, Potomac Light, and South Penn (hereinafter sometimes collectively referred to as "Subsidiaries") propose to issue and sell additional shares of their authorized and unissued capital stocks, and Potomac Edison proposes to acquire such shares in each case, for a cash consideration equal to the aggregate par or stated value thereof as follows:

Subsidiary and title of issue	Presently outstanding	Proposed to be issued	Cash consideration
Northern Virginia: Common Stock, par value $100 per share	Shares 144,500	Shares 2,000	$200,000
Potomac Light: Common Stock, par value $100 per share	105,000	4,000	400,000
South Penn: Capital Stock, no par, stated value $5 per share	557,200	97,000	485,000

Potomac Edison now owns all of the outstanding capital stock of these Subsidiaries and all these shares of stock are pledged under the Indenture of Potomac Edison securing its First Mortgage and Collateral Trust Bonds. The new shares, proposed for issuance by the Subsidiaries and to be sold to Potomac Edison, are to be issued from time to time prior to December 31, 1955, as funds are needed by the Subsidiaries, and are to be pledged under Potomac Edison's Indenture. Each of the Subsidiaries proposes to use the proceeds from the sale of its stock for the construction of property additions.

Potomac Edison represents that it has in its treasury funds in excess of the aggregate purchase price of the shares of capital stocks of the Subsidiaries proposed to be acquired, and, accordingly, no financing is required by Potomac Edison in connection with the acquisition of these shares.

Orders, pursuant to applications therefore, have been issued by the State Corporation Commission of Virginia, in respect of the issuance and acquisition of the stock of Northern Virginia; by the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission in respect of the issuance of the stock by South Penn; and by the Public Service Commission of Maryland and the Public Service Commission of West Virginia, in respect of the acquisition of the stocks of the Subsidiaries by Potomac Edison.

Applicants-declarants have estimated fees and expenses as follows:

Federal stamp tax	$1,388
Miscellaneous state stock taxes	1,242
Legal fees:
James McSherry (Maryland counsel)	100
Edwin Strite (Pennsylvania counsel)	100
Clarence E. Martin, Jr. (West Virginia counsel)	200
Miscellaneous	$195

It is requested by applicants-declarants that the Commission's order become effective forthwith upon issuance.

Due notice of the filing of said joint application-declaration having been given in the manner prescribed by Rule U-23 promulgated under the act, and no hearing having been requested of or ordered by the Commission; and the Commission finding that the applicable provisions of the act and of the rules promulgated thereunder are satisfied, that the fees and expenses set forth above are not unreasonable, and that the joint application-declaration, as amended, should be granted and permitted to become effective forthwith:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 of the applicable provisions of the act that said joint application-declaration, as amended, be, and the same hereby is, granted and permitted to become effective forthwith, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24.

By the Commission.

EXECUTIVES INVESTMENT TRUSTS

ORDER MODIFYING ORDER GRANTING EXEMPTIONS

APRIL 4, 1955.

By order dated December 2, 1943 (Investment Company Act Release No. 584) the Commission, pursuant to section 6 (b) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("act"), exempted Executive Investment Trusts ("Executives"), a registered open-end investment company, from certain provisions of the act including:

Section 8 (b) to the extent that the filing with the Commission of the required number of copies of the answers to Items 35-47, inclusive, of Form N-8B-1 will be deemed to satisfy the requirements of that section; section 30 (a) to the extent that the annual filing with the Commission pursuant to Rule N-30A-1 of the required number of copies of the answers to Items 35-47, inclusive, of Form N-30A-1 will be deemed to satisfy the requirements of that section.

Items 35-47 of Form N-8B-1 were identical with Items 35-47 of Form N-30A-1. Effective June 15, 1954, Form N-30A-1 was revised which substantially eliminated Items 35-47 contained in old Form N-30A-1. Executives requests a ruling as to the proper procedure to be followed in order to comply with section 30 (a) of the act as required by said order of the Commission.

It appearing that it would be consistent with the protection of investors to modify the previous order of the Commission described above to the extent that changes in respect of the answers to Items 35-47 of Form N-8B-1 previously filed, shall be reported to the Commission:

It is hereby ordered, That the order heretofore entered on December 2, 1943, with respect to Executives Investment Trusts be modified so as to delete therefrom the following: "Section 30 (a) to the extent that the annual filing with the Commission pursuant to Rule N-30A-1 of the required number of copies of the answers to Items 35 to 47 inclusive of Form N-30A-1 will be deemed to satisfy the requirements of that section."

And to insert in lieu thereof: "Section 30 (a), except that any changes which occur with respect to the information contained in its answers to Items 35-47, inclusive, of Form N-8B-1 shall be reported to the Commission."

Chapter VII—Commodity Stabilization Service (Farm Marketing Quotas and Acreage Allotments), Department of Agriculture

PART 725—BURLEY AND FLUE-CURED TOBACCO

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Proclamation of redetermined national marketing quota for Burley tobacco for the 1955–56 marketing year and apportionment of the quota among the several States; and rescission of the earlier national marketing quota for Burley tobacco for the 1955–56 marketing year announced on November 26, 1954, and State and farm Burley tobacco acreage allotments and marketing quotas previously determined pursuant to such quota; and Amendment 2 to the Burley and flue-cured tobacco marketing quota regulations for the 1955–56 marketing year.

§ 725.604 Basis and purpose. (a) Sections 725.604 to 725.606 and 725.629 are issued (1) to announce the redetermined reserve supply level and the total supply of Burley tobacco for the marketing year beginning October 1, 1954, and to establish the redetermined amount of the national marketing quota for Burley tobacco for the marketing year beginning October 1, 1955; (2) to apportion the redetermined national marketing quota among the several States; (3) to rescind the earlier national marketing quota for Burley tobacco for the 1955–56 marketing year announced on November 26, 1954, and the State and farm acreage allotments and marketing quotas determined pursuant thereto; and (4) to amend the Burley and flue-cured tobacco marketing quota regulations, as amended, for the 1955–56 marketing year (19 F. R. 3549, 19 F. R. 7151) by providing for redetermination of Burley tobacco farm acreage allotments for the 1955–56 marketing year through application of a factor of 0.75 to the 1955 preliminary farm acreage allotments but with certain minimum provisions. The findings and determinations contained in §§ 725.604 to 725.606 have been made on the basis of the latest available statistics of the Federal Government. The amendment contained in § 725.629 is necessitated by the provisions of Public Law 21, 84th Congress.

(b) Since Burley tobacco growers have already seeded plant beds and are now purchasing fertilizer and other supplies and equipment and are preparing land for transplanting, it is imperative that they be notified as soon as possible of the acreage allotments redetermined for their farms. Further, Public Law 21, 84th Congress, requires the holding of a referendum of Burley tobacco producers within 20 days after issuance of the proclamation of the redetermined national marketing quota for Burley tobacco for the 1955–56 marketing year to determine whether such producers favor marketing quotas. Accordingly, it is hereby determined and found that compliance with the notice, public procedure, and effective date provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003) is impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and the proclamation of the redetermined quota, apportionment of the redetermined quota, and the amendment to the regulations contained herein shall become effective upon the date of filing with the Director, Division of the Federal Register.

§ 725.605 Findings and determinations with respect to redetermined national marketing quota for Burley tobacco for the marketing year beginning October 1, 1955[1]—(a) Reserve supply level. The reserve supply level for Burley tobacco is 1,606,000,000 pounds, calculated, as provided in the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, from a normal year's domestic consumption of 535,000,000 pounds and a normal year's exports of 36,000,000 pounds.

(b) Total supply. The total supply of Burley tobacco for the marketing year beginning October 1, 1954 is 1,863,000,000 pounds consisting of carryover of 1,198,000,000 pounds and estimated 1954 production of 665,000,000 pounds.

(c) Carryover. The estimated carryover of Burley tobacco at the beginning of the marketing year for such tobacco beginning October 1, 1955, is 1,328,000,000 pounds calculated by subtracting the estimated disappearance for the marketing year beginning October 1, 1954, of 535,000,000 pounds from the total supply of such tobacco.

(d) Redetermined national marketing quota. The amount of Burley tobacco which will make available during the marketing year beginning October 1, 1955, a supply of Burley tobacco equal to the reserve supply level of such tobacco is 278,000,000 pounds and a redetermined national marketing quota of such amount is hereby proclaimed. It is determined, however, that a national marketing quota in the amount of 278,000,000 pounds would result in undue restriction of marketings during the 1955–56 marketing year and such amount is hereby increased by 20 percent. Therefore, the amount of the redetermined national marketing quota for Burley tobacco in terms of the total quantity of such tobacco which may be marketed during the marketing year is 334,000,000 pounds.

(e) Apportionment of the redetermined quota. The redetermined national marketing quota proclaimed in paragraph (d) of this section is hereby apportioned among the several States pursuant to section 313 (a) of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, and converted into State acreage allotments in accordance with section 313 (g) of the act as follows:

State:	Acreage allotment
Alabama	24
Arkansas	42
Georgia	61
Illinois	4
Indiana	6,307
Kansas	83
Kentucky	165,730
Missouri	2,681

Ohio	8,153

State—Continued	Acreage allotment
Oklahoma	4
Pennsylvania	2
South Carolina	4
Tennessee	50,341
Texas	1
Virginia	8,608
West Virginia	2,210
Reserve [1]	1,266

[1] Acreage reserved for establishing allotments for farms upon which no Burley tobacco has been grown during the past five years.

§ 725.606 Recission of the earlier national marketing quota for Burley tobacco for the 1955–56 marketing year announced on November 26, 1954, and the State and farm acreage allotments and marketing quotas determined pursuant thereto. The national marketing quota announced on November 26, 1954 for the 1955-56 marketing year and the State and farm marketing quotas and acreage allotments determined pursuant thereto are hereby rescinded.

§ 725.629 Redetermination of 1955 Burley tobacco farm acreage allotments. (a) Notwithstanding the provisions of §§ 725.611 to 725.628, inclusive, the redetermined 1955 Burley tobacco acreage allotment for a farm shall be 75 percent of the 1955 preliminary acreage allotment which has been or will be determined for such farm under § 725.616 (except as required in case of violation of the regulations as described under § 725.619), plus any increase under § 725.618: Provided, That (1) a 1955 Burley tobacco farm acreage allotment of 0.7 acre or more which has been or will be determined under § 725.617 (including any adjustment under § 725.618) shall be redetermined at not less than 0.60 acre; (2) a 1955 Burley tobacco farm acreage allotment of 0.6 acre which has been or will be determined under § 725.617 (including any adjustment under § 725.618) shall be redetermined at not less than 0.50 acre; and (3) a 1955 Burley tobacco farm acreage allotment of 0.5 acre or less which has been or will be determined under § 725.617 (including any adjustment under § 725.618) shall not be reduced under this section.

(b) All Burley tobacco farm acreage allotments redetermined under this section will be in acres and hundredths of acres, and the rule of fractions will be to round upward fractions of more than five-thousandths and round downward fractions of five-thousandths or less (i. e., 0.0050 would be 0.00, and 0.0051 would be 0.01).

(c) In case of a divided farm, the allotment redetermined under this section for the original farm will be divided so that each of the tracts comprising the original farm will be assigned the same percentage of the redetermined allotment for the original farm that it received or would have received of the 1955 allotment pursuant to § 725.621: Provided, That the redetermined allotment for any tract will not be more than one-tenth acre less than the allotment which has been or would be determined for such tract under § 725.621 if determined at six-tenths or seven-tenths of an acre under § 725.621: Provided further, That, if determined under § 725.621 at five-tenths of an acre or less, the redetermined allotment will not be less than determined under § 725.621.

(d) In case of a combined farm, the allotment as determined under this section will be the smaller of (1) the sum of the allotments redetermined under this section for the tracts involved or (2) the allotment that would be redetermined under this section for the combined farm as constituted in 1955: Provided, That if the allotment for the combined farm determined under § 725.621 was six-tenths or seven-tenths of an acre the allotment determined for the combined farm under this section will not be more than one-tenth acre less than the allotment determined under § 725.621; and shall not be less than the allotment determined for the combined farm under § 725.621 if determined under § 725.621 at five-tenths acre or less.

(e) Notwithstanding the provisions of § 725.618, any adjustment made or to be made will be accomplished by adding the amount of adjustment to 75 percent of the preliminary allotment determined under § 725.616.

(f) If a 1955 Burley farm tobacco acreage allotment was or would be reduced under § 725.619 within the period specified by the State Committee pursuant to § 725.619, the 1955 allotment for the farm redetermined under this section will be reduced by the same percentage that was or would be determined under § 725.619.

(Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66; 7 U. S. C. 1375. Interpret or apply secs. 301, 312, 313, 52 Stat. 38, as amended; 69 Stat. 23; 7 U. S. C. 1301, 1312, 1313)

(Sec. 5, 38 Stat. 719; 15 U. S. C. 45) [Cease and desist order, Advertising Specialty National Association (Washington, D. C.) et al., Docket 5952, March 4, 1955]

In the matter of Advertising Specialty National Association, an incorporated trade association; its directors, officers and members; the members of its executive committee; The H. L. Moore Company, Inc., a corporation; The George F. Cram Company, Inc., a corporation; Western Plastic & Specialty Co., Inc., a corporation; Kromex Sales Co., a corporation; Messenger Corporation, a corporation; Scripto, Inc., a corporation; Sanders Manufacturing Company, a corporation; Shaw-Barton, Inc., a corporation; Novelty Advertising Company, a corporation; The Elliott Calendar Company, a corporation; The Guy S. H. Jung Co., a corporation; Kurtz Bros., a corporation; Harry K. Voelp, Inc., a corporation; Terre Haute Advertising Company, Inc., a corporation; Daniel L. Townes, an individual, doing business as Shelbyville Pencil and Novelty Company; Paul C. Johnson and Esther G. Johnson, individually, and as copartners, trading as J. E. Johnson Printing Company; Bernet B. Lewis, an individual, doing business as Advertising Specialty Company; Robert D. Phelps and John M. Phelps, individually and as copartners, trading as Phelps Manufacturing Company; Sidney S. Zentner, an individual, doing business as S. S. Zentner & Company; Perry L. Engel and Ray Thompkins, individually, and as copartners, trading as The Coshocton Novelty Company; Margaret B. Rosen, an individual, doing business as M. B. Rosen and Son Company; W. Wells Woodward, an individual, doing business as W. Wells Woodward Company; Harry C. Lisle, an individual, doing business as H. C. Lisle Company; individually, as above members, respectively, and as representatives of all of the members of respondent Advertising Specialty National Association; Russell M. Searle, R. J. Bernard, C. A. Peck, H. E. Kranhold, H. K. Atkins, H. R. LeRoy, George E. Wood, J. W. Shaw, C. N. Montanye, F. P. Spikins, and J. L. Turner, individually and as representatives of all of the members of respondent Advertising Specialty National Association and their agents.

This proceeding was heard by Frank Hier, hearing examiner, upon the complaint of the Commission which charged respondent trade association of manufacturers and jobbers of advertising specialties, its members, and certain individuals who had been active in its affairs, with combining and agreeing to restrain competition in the sale of their products, using the association as an instrumentality for the accomplishment of said purpose, through requiring respondent manufacturers to establish and maintain consumer list prices on the products they sell to jobbers and requiring the jobbers to resell their products to the consumers at the resale prices so fixed by the manufacturers, and through various other specific practices; upon respondents' answers denying the charges; and upon hearings during which testimony and documents were presented in support of and in opposition to the allegations of the complaint.

Thereafter, following the initial decision of said hearing examiner, in which he concluded, upon consideration of the case on the merits, that the record did not establish the existence of any illegal agreement or combination in restraint of trade, and the appeal from his initial decision dismissing the complaint, the matter was disposed of by "Decision of the Commission", March 4, 1955, which, for reasons set forth in its accompanying opinion, granted the appeal as to the issue of concert of action between respondent jobbers and the respondent manufacturers who supplied them to suppress price cutting through resale price maintenance; set forth its findings as to the aforesaid matter; denied the appeal in all other respects; and, in accordance with its said decision, issued its order, including order to cease and desist as to the respondents there named, and order of dismissal as to certain other respondents found not involved, and three respondent manufacturers who sold directly only and who did not, as found, participate in the joint action concerned.

Said order in said decision, which set forth that the Commission had fully considered the entire record in the matter, including the transcript of the hearings (which showed that all members of respondent association were represented by counsel), and the briefs of the parties and oral argument of counsel; that the Commission found that the proceeding was in the interest of the public and made its said decision and the accompanying opinion,[1] its findings as to the facts and conclusion;[1] and set forth, following its finding that the acts, practices, and methods of respondents as there found were all to the prejudice of the public, and had a substantial and dangerous tendency and capacity to hinder, lessen, restrict, and restrain competition in commerce in the sale of advertising specialties, its conclusion that said acts, practices, and methods constituted unfair acts and practices in commerce within the intent and meaning of section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act; is as follows:

1. It is ordered, Therefore, that the jobber respondents Rowan Printing Company, Geo. H. Jung Co., Harry K. Voelp, Inc., Terre Haute Advertising Company, Inc., Novelty Advertising Company, and each of the jobber members of the respondent Advertising Specialty National Association, as named in the 1952 Membership Roster, and their respective officers, representatives, agents, and employees, in or in connection with the offering for sale, sale and distribution of advertising specialties in commerce as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from entering into, continuing, cooperating in or carrying out any planned common course of action, understanding, agreement, combination or conspiracy between or among any two or more of said jobber respondents or between or among any one or more of said jobber respondents and other jobbers not parties hereto, to do or perform any of the following acts or practices:

(a) Demanding that a manufacturer of said products establish or maintain resale list prices for any of its said products.

(b) Threatening to boycott a manufacturer of said products which does not establish or maintain resale list prices for any of its said products.

(c) Reporting price cutting of a manufacturer's list prices established as a result of demands or threats of a group of jobbers.

(d) Eliminating, lessening or suppressing price competition between or with jobbers of any manufacturer's said products.

2. It is further ordered, That the respondent manufacturers supplying jobbers, H. L. Moore Company, Inc., George F. Cram Company, Inc., Western Plastic & Specialty Co., Inc., Kromex Industries, Inc., Paul C. Johnson and Esther G. Johnson, individually and as copartners trading as J. E. Johnson Printing Company, Bernet B. Lewis, individually, and trading as Advertising Specialty Company, Robert D. Phelps and John M. Phelps, individually and as copartners trading as Phelps Manufacturing Company, Messenger Corporation, Sanders Manufacturing Company, The Elliott Calendar Company, Perry L. Engel and Ray Thompkins, individually and as copartners trading as Coshocton Novelty Company, The Guy S. Meek Calendar Co., The J. F. Meek Company, Beach Leather Co., Inc., Francis & Lusky Company, Inc., Kingston Pencil Corporation, Daniel L. Townes, individually, and trading as Shelbyville Pencil and Novelty Company, The Chaney Manufacturing Company, Ohio Thermometer Company and Kurtz Bros., and each of the manufacturers selling to jobbers, who are named in the 1952 Membership Roster of the Advertising Specialty National Association, and their respective officers, representatives, agents, and employees, in or in connection with the offering for sale, sale or distribution of advertising specialties in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from individually or collectively:

Participating in, cooperating with, assisting in, or carrying out any planned common course of action, understanding agreement, combination or conspiracy of jobbers, prohibited by paragraph 1 of this order.

Provided, however, That nothing herein shall be interpreted as prohibiting a manufacturer from establishing and maintaining resale prices on its products in any manner exempted from the prohibitions of the Federal Trade Commission Act by the McGuire Act.

3. It is further ordered, That the respondent Advertising Specialty National Association and respondents Russell M. Searle, C. A. Peck, H. K. Atkins, H. R. LeRoy, and F. P. Spikins and the directors, officers and representatives of said respondent Association do forthwith cease and desist from, individually or collectively, participating in, cooperating with, or assisting in the carrying out of any planned common course of action, understanding, agreement, combination or conspiracy of jobbers prohibited by paragraphs 1 or 2 of this order.

4. It is further ordered, That the complaint be, and it hereby is, dismissed as to respondents Margaret B. Rosen, W. Wells Woodward, Harry C. Lisle, Sidney S. Zentner, Scripto, Inc., Shaw-Barton, Inc., The Kemper-Thomas Company, R. J. Bernard, H. E. Kranhold, George E. Wood, J. S. Shaw, J. L. Turner, C. N. Montanye and all of the direct selling manufacturer members of the respondent Association who do not sell to jobbers.

5. It is further ordered, That the respondents shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing, setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with this order.

By the Commission.[2]

TITLE 21—FOOD AND DRUGS

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

PART 3—STATEMENTS OF GENERAL POLICY OR INTERPRETATION

DECLARATION OF QUANTITY OF CONTENTS ON LABELS FOR CANNED OYSTERS

By authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 701 (a), 52 Stat. 1055; 21 U. S. C. 371 (a)) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (20 F. R. 1996), and pursuant to the provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act (sec. 3, 60 Stat. 237, 238; 5 U. S. C. 1002), the following statement of interpretation is issued:

§ 3.38 Declaration of quantity of contents on labels for canned oysters. (a) For many years packers of canned oysters in the Gulf area of the United States have labeled their output with a declaration of the drained weight of oysters in the containers. Packers in other areas have marketed canned oysters with a declaration of the total weight of the contents of the container. Investigation reveals that under present-day practice consumers generally do not discard the liquid packing medium, but use it as a part of the food. Section 403 (e) (2) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act and the regulations thereunder require food in package form to bear an accurate label statement of the quantity of food in the container.

(b) It is concluded that compliance with the label declaration of quantity of contents requirement will be met by an accurate declaration of the total weight of the contents of the can. The requirements of § 36.6 of this chapter, establishing a standard of fill of container for canned oysters and specifying the statement of substandard fill for those canned oysters failing to meet that standard remain unaffected by this interpretation.

(Sec. 701, 52 Stat. 1055; 21 U. S. C. 371. Interprets or applies sec. 403, 52 Stat. 1047; 21 U. S. C. 343)

Dated: April 4, 1955.

Commissioner of Food and Drugs.

PART 120—TOLERANCES AND EXEMPTIONS FROM TOLERANCES FOR PESTICIDE CHEMICALS IN OR ON RAW AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

FEES

By virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 408, 701; 68 Stat. 511, 52 Stat. 1055; 21 U. S. C. 348, 371) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (20 F. R. 1996), the general regulations for setting tolerances and granting exemptions from tolerances for pesticide chemicals (21 CFR Part 120; 20 F. R. 759) are amended by adding at the end of § 120.33 (d) the following new sentence: "However, such deposit is not required when, in connection with the change sought under this paragraph, a petition or request is filed for the establishment of new tolerances to take the place of those sought to be amended or repealed and a deposit is made as required by paragraph (a) or (b) of this section."

Notice and public procedure are not necessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order, and I so find, since it would be against public interest to delay providing for this amendment and since it conditionally relaxes existing requirements.

(Sec. 701, 52 Stat. 1055; 21 U. S. C. 371. Interprets or applies sec. 408, 68 Stat. 511; 21 U. S. C. Sup. 348)

SUPPLEMENTAL INDUSTRY LEARNER REGULATIONS

Pursuant to section 14 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended (section 14, 52 Stat. 1068, as amended; 29 U. S. C. 214), the Administrator has heretofore issued revised General Learner Regulations contained in 29 CFR 522.1 to 522.12.

In issuing the revised General Learner Regulations, as published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on January 29, 1955 (20 F. R. 645) and made effective February 28, 1955, it was also intended that the existing supplemental industry learner regulations for the apparel, knitted wear, glove, hosiery, shoe, cigar and independent telephone industries would be amended to include only the appropriate provisions specifically relating to each industry. These editorial changes will renumber and simplify the supplemental industry learner regulations, will coordinate them with the recently revised General Learner Regulations, and will provide the public with a better understanding of the regulations applicable to the employment of learners. The supplemental industry learner regulations, as revised and renumbered below, are hereby substituted for the following: Regulations, Part 522, §§ 522.40 to 522.46 (Hosiery Industry); §§ 522.68 to 222.79 (Knitted Wear Industry); §§ 522.82 to 522.93 (Independent Telephone Industry); §§ 522.160 to 522.168 (Single Pants, Shirts and Allied Garments, Women's Apparel, Sportswear and Other Odd Outerwear, Rainwear, Robes, and Leather and Sheep-lined Garments Divisions of the Apparel Industry); §§ 522.201 to 522.211 (Cigar Industry); §§ 522.220 to 522.231 (Glove Industry); and §§ 522.250 to 522.260 (Shoe Manufacturing Industry).

In view of the fact that these amendments of the supplemental industry learner regulations make no substantive changes, notice and public procedure, as provided in section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act, are unnecessary and contrary to the public interest. These amendments shall become effective on April 19, 1955.

(d) That where the operator owns such equipment and is required to maintain the vending stand in good repair and in an attractive condition and replace worn-out or obsolete equipment or agrees to purchase additional new equipment, service charges for such purposes shall be equitably reduced, and the method for determining such amount.

(e) That the State licensing agency shall retain a first option to repurchase such equipment, and in the event the operator dies, or for any other reason ceases to be a licensee or transfers to another vending stand, ownership of such equipment shall become vested in the licensing agency subject to an obligation on its part to pay to such operator or his estate, the fair value therein as determined in accordance with its regulations.

(f) That the operator, his personal representative or next of kin shall be entitled to an opportunity for a fair hearing with respect to the determination of the amount to be paid by the licensing agency for an operator's ownership in the equipment.

(g) The method to be used in determining the fair value of the operator's ownership in the equipment.

§ 403.6 Rules and regulations; issuance and conditions of licenses. The rules and regulations of the licensing agency shall further provide:

(a) Objective criteria for licensing qualified applicants, including a provision for giving preference to blind persons who are in need of employment and have resided for at least one year in the State in which the stand is to be located. Such criteria shall also include provisions to assure that licenses will be issued only to persons who are determind by the licensing agency to be:

(1) Blind;

(2) Citizens of the United States;

(3) At least 21 years of age; and

(4) Certified by the State vocational rehabilitation agency as qualified to operate a vending stand.

(b) For the issuance of licenses for an indefinite period but subject to termination if, after affording the operator an opportunity for a fair hearing, the licensing agency finds that the vending stand is not being operated in accordance with its rules and regulations, the terms and conditions of the permit, or the agreement with the operator.

(c) For the assignment to the operator of the income from vending machines within reasonable proximity to and in direct competition with the vending stand. (If a vending machine vends articles of a type authorized by the permit and is so located that it attracts customers who would otherwise patronize the vending stand, such machine shall be considered to be in reasonable proximity to and in direct competition with the stand.)

(d) The policies to govern the duties, supervision, transfer and financial participation of the operators.

§ 403.7 Rules and regulations; hearings. The rules and regulations shall specify the procedure whereby the licensing agency affords an opportunity for a fair hearing to each operator (or to his personal representative or next of kin in cases described in § 403.5 (f)) dissatisfied with any action arising from the operation or administration of the vending stand program.

§ 403.8 Rules and regulations; set aside of funds. The rules and regulations of the licensing agency shall specify the extent to which funds are to be set aside or caused to be set aside from the proceeds of the operation of the vending stands and that in no case will the amounts to be set aside exceed a reasonable amount as determined by the Director. Funds may be set aside only for the purposes of:

(a) Maintenance and replacement of equipment;

(b) The purchase of new equipment;

(c) Management services;

(d) Assuring a fair minimum of return to operators of vending stands; and the rules and regulations of the licensing agency shall set out the method of determining the charge for each of the above listed purposes. Such method will be designed to prevent, so far as is practicable, a greater charge for any purpose than is reasonably required for that purpose. The rules and regulations shall further provide that adequate records will be maintained to support the reasonableness of the charges for each of the purposes listed in this section.

§ 403.9 Use of servicing arrangement. (a) The licensing agency may enter into an agreement whereby another agency or organization undertakes to furnish services. Such agreement shall be in writing and contain provisions which:

(1) Clearly insure the retention by the licensing agency of full responsibility for the management and operation of all phases of the program;

(2) Specify the type and extent of the services to be provided under such agreement;

(3) Provide that no charges will be collected from operators except as specified in such agreement;

(4) Specify that such other agency or organization may not be allowed to exercise any function with respect to funds for the purchase of new equipment or for assuring a fair minimum of return to operators, except to collect and hold solely for disposition in accordance with the order of the licensing agency any charges authorized for those purposes by the licensing agency; and

(5) Specify that only the licensing agency shall have control with respect to selection, placement, financial participation and termination of the operators and the preservation, utilization and disposition of program assets.

(b) If the licensing agency permits any agency or organization other than an operator to hold any right, title to, or interest in vending stands or stock, the arrangement shall be one permitted by State law and shall specify in writing that all such right, title to, or interest is held as the nominee of the licensing agency for program purposes and subject to the paramount right of the licensing agency to direct and control the use, transfer, and disposition of such vending stands or stock.

§ 403.10 Agreements with state vocational rehabilitation agencies. In the event that the licensing agency is not also the State vocational rehabilitation agency, the licensing agency shall enter into a cooperative agreement with the State vocational rehabilitation agency with respect to providing vocational rehabilitation services to blind persons who are in need of such services.

§ 403.11 Approval of application for designation as licensing agency. When the Director determines that the application and rules and regulations (or proposed rules and regulations) indicate a plan of program operations which will stimulate and enlarge the economic opportunities for the blind and meet the other requirements of the act and of this part, he shall approve the application and shall designate the applying agency as the State licensing agency.

§ 403.12 Permit for establishment of vending stands. Prior to the establishment of each vending stand, the designated State licensing agency shall submit and have approved, in accordance with regulations of the department or agency in control of the maintenance, operation, and protection of the Federal property, (or procedures of the person in control of other property) an application for a permit setting forth the exact location, the amount of space to be occupied, the type of shelter and/or equipment, the types of items of merchandise to be offered for sale at each vending stand, including the number, location, and types of vending machines and other terms and conditions desired to be included in the permit.

§ 403.13 Maintenance and repair of vending stands. The licensing agency shall maintain (or cause to be maintained) all vending stands in good repair and in an attractive condition and shall replace or cause to be replaced worn-out and obsolete equipment as required to insure the continued successful operation of the stand.

§ 403.14 Revocation of designation as licensing agency. The Secretary shall revoke the designation of any licensing agency if he finds, after affording such agency an opportunity for a hearing, as hereinafter provided, that, in the administration of the program, there is a failure on the part of such agency to comply substantially with the provisions of the act or of this part.

§ 403.15 Revocation of designation as licensing agency; procedures. (a) If the Director has reason to believe that, in the administration of the program, there is a failure on the part of any licensing agency to comply substantially with the act and this part, he shall so inform such agency in writing, setting forth, in detail, the areas in which there is such failure and giving it a reasonable opportunity to comply.

(b) If, after the lapse of a reasonable time, the Director is of the opinion that such failure to comply still continues and that the licensing agency is not taking the necessary steps to comply, he shall offer to such agency, by reasonable notice in writing thereto and to the chief executive of the State, an opportunity for a hearing before the Secretary (or person designated by the Secretary) to determine whether there is a failure on the part of such agency to comply substantially with the provisions of the act and of this part.

(c) If it is thereupon determined that there is a failure on the part of such agency to comply substantially with the act and this part, appropriate written notice shall be given to such agency and to the chief executive of the State revoking said agency's designation as licensing agency effective 90 days from the date of such notice.

(d) If, before the expiration of such 90 days, the Secretary (or person designated by him) determines that the licensing agency is taking the necessary steps to comply, he may postpone the effective date of such revocation for such time as he deems necessary for the best interest of the program.

(e) If, prior to the effective date of such revocation, the Secretary (or person designated by him) finds that there is no longer a failure on the part of the licensing agency to comply substantially with the provisions of the act and of this part, he shall so notify the agency and the chief executive of the State, in which event the revocation of the designation shall not become effective.

§ 403.16 Revocation of designation as licensing agency; effect. (a) Effective upon the receipt of the notice of revocation of a State agency's designation as licensing agency, in accordance with § 403.15 (c), the licensing agency's authority to issue licenses to blind persons for the operation of vending stands on Federal and other property under the act and this part shall be suspended, except upon special authorization by the Director.

(b) After the effective date of the revocation of a State agency's designation as licensing agency, such agency shall have no authority to issue licenses to blind persons for the operation of vending stands under the act and this part.

(c) If, at the expiration of 60 days from the effective date of a revocation of a State agency's designation as licensing agency, no other agency in the State is designated, pursuant to the provisions of the act and this part, as licensing agency, all licenses issued by the agency whose designation has been revoked shall terminate.

§ 403.17 Transition provisions. Although the amendments to the act made by the Vocational Rehabilitation Amendments of 1954 (Public Law 565, 83d Congress; 68 Stat. 663; 20 U. S. C. 107, chapter 6A) were effective as of July 1, 1954, the following provisions are made for transition.

(a) All approvals as State licensing agency in effect immediately prior to July 1, 1954, continue in effect until whichever of the following occurs first:

(1) The designation is revoked under the act and this part as they existed immediately prior to July 1, 1954; or

(2) The application is superseded by an application approved under section 3 of the act and this part; or

(3) July 1, 1955.

TITLE 50—WILDLIFE

Chapter I—Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior

Subchapter F—Alaska Commercial Fisheries

PART 108—KODIAK AREA

KING CRABS

Basis and purpose. On the basis of sampling of the commercial king crab trawl catches in the Kodiak area, it has been determined that excessive numbers of female and soft-shell male crabs are being caught by trawls.

Therefore, effective immediately upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, § 108.32 is amended in text to read as follows:

Fishing for, or taking king crabs, except by pots, is prohibited throughout the Kodiak area from April 11 to May 25, 1955, both dates inclusive.

Since immediate action is necessary, notice and public procedure on this amendment are impracticable (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.).

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Agricultural Marketing Service

[7 CFR Part 965]

[Docket No. AO-166-A19]

HANDLING OF MILK IN CINCINNATI, OHIO, MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF RECOMMENDED DECISION AND OPPORTUNITY TO FILE WRITTEN EXCEPTIONS WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO TENTATIVE MARKETING AGREEMENT AND TO ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of the filing with the Hearing Clerk of this recommended decision of the Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, United States Department of Agriculture, with respect to proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Cincinnati, Ohio, marketing area.

Interested parties may file written exceptions to this decision with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., not later than the close of business on the 5th day after publication of this decision in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Exceptions should be filed in quadruplicate.

Preliminary statement. The hearing, on the record of which the proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, were formulated, was conducted at Cincinnati, Ohio, on January 11, 12, and 13, 1955, pursuant to notice thereof issued January 7, 1955 (20 F. R. 179).

The material issues of record relate to:

(1) Adoption of a "withholding" and "pay-back" method of distributing among producers the proceeds from the sale of their milk to handlers.

(2) Reclassification of certain milk products now included in Class II, Class III, and Class IV milk.

(3) Revision of the formulas for pricing Class III milk and Class IV milk.

(4) Modification of the Class I and Class II price differentials (over the basic formula price) to eliminate seasonal price changes; and revision of the automatic supply-demand "adjustor" (affecting Class I and Class II price levels).

(5) Revision of the location adjustments applicable at pool plants supplying milk to distributing plants (fluid milk plants) which service the marketing area.

(6) Modification of butterfat differentials to handlers as a corollary to changes in class prices.

(7) Adoption of definitions of "dairy farmer" and "producer-handler."

(8) Revision of the butterfat differential to producers for administrative purposes.

(9) The emergency nature of marketing conditions.

Revisions of the price formulas for Class III and Class IV milk on a temporary basis (for the month of March 1955 only) were adopted in a decision issued on February 17, 1955, by the Assistant Secretary of Agriculture. Such revised formulas became effective on March 1, 1955. It was determined also in such decision that all other issues, including any consideration of Class III and Class IV milk pricing on a longer-term basis, should be submitted to interested parties for exceptions prior to final consideration and issuance. Such opportunity for exceptions is provided by this decision.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions on the material issues are based on evidence presented at the hearing and the record thereof:

(1) The returns to producers should be seasonally adjusted to provide additional price incentive for increased production of milk in the fall and winter months and a lower level of production in the spring and summer months.

Producer organizations proposed that the uniform price per hundredweight to producers be decreased by deducting 20 cents in April, 35 cents in May and June, and 30 cents in July. The monies accruing from such deductions from the price would be held in reserve for payment to producers during the months from September through January next following. One-eighth of the amount held in reserve would be returned to producers by addition to the uniform price for each of the months of September and January and one-fourth of such reserve would be added to the uniform price for each of the months of October, November, and December. As a corollary change the seasonal variations in the Class I price differential which occur twice a year, in April and August, would be eliminated and a single price differential for such class would be effective throughout the year.

The purpose of the provision is to widen the seasonal variation in uniform prices to producers between the period of seasonally highest production and the months of lowest seasonal production, thus to encourage a seasonal shift in milk deliveries to accommodate the need for a relatively even market supply of milk throughout the year. The record indicates that, typically, an average of 1.46 million pounds of milk were received daily from regular producers in May 1954 but that by November such receipts had dropped to 1.09 million pounds per day. Although the seasonal variation in the supply of producer milk has narrowed considerably during recent years, the variation is still sufficient to cause serious problems in the disposition of the seasonal reserve supply during the spring and summer. Any reduction in the seasonal level of supplies during such months is desirable because it will reduce the problem of disposing of milk which is excess to the needs of the market for inspected milk. The wider seasonal variation in returns should provide further encouragement to producers for increasing their production when returns are high and to reduce production when returns are low.

In certain of the larger markets with which Cincinnati competes for supplies, systems highly similar to that adopted for Cincinnati are used for adjusting uniform prices to producers on seasonal basis. The wider seasonal variation to be effected by the plan herein adopted should result in an improved seasonal relationship throughout the year between producer prices in Cincinnati and such competing markets.

It is concluded that the amount per hundredweight of producer milk to be retained should be 30 cents in April, 35 cents in May and June, and 20 cents in July. The total amount so retained should be divided so as to return to producers one-fourth of the total amount in each of the months of August through November. These rates of withholding and disbursement do not correspond precisely with the rates suggested by proponents. However, an analysis of the supply data indicates that a greater stimulus to the desired production pattern may be effected by making the rate of deduction somewhat higher for the period just prior to the peak of the flush season and by starting payments from the reserve fund to producers somewhat in advance of the months of lowest production. It may be noted, for example, that payments for April milk are received by producers at approximately the time of the production peak. Thus, it would appear that a given rate of deduction on April milk would be more effective in discouraging high production in the spring than a similar rate applied to July milk. Also, producers do not receive payment for September milk until more than half of the month of October has passed, i. e., immediately prior to the date of lowest seasonal production. It would appear that greater stimulation to shift the seasonal production pattern of supply will be afforded by revising the rates of deduction suggested for April and July by proponents and by a somewhat earlier disposition of the fund. Under such a plan payments out of the fund should begin with respect to August deliveries for which payment is made on the 20th day of September.

(2) The classification provisions of the order should be revised.

Eight proposals, as summarized below, were presented involving the classification of various products of milk.

Producer groups proposed, in essence, that milk, skim milk, and cream disposed of as plain, or sweetened, condensed and evaporated milk, animal feed, spray process and roller process nonfat dry milk solids, milk and skim milk dumped and spilled, and inventory variations other than Class III, be reclassified to Class IV from Class III milk.

One handler proposed that (1) all milk used to produce cheddar cheese, ice cream, ice cream mix, frozen cream, and frozen desserts, be reclassified from Class III to Class IV milk.

Certain other handlers proposed that (1) all milk, skim milk, and cream disposed of as cultured sour cream be reclassified from Class II to Class III milk, and (2) all milk, skim milk, and cream disposed of as plain, or sweetened, condensed and evaporated milk, and as spray and roller process nonfat milk solids be classified as Class IV instead of Class III milk.

The Dairy Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, proposed that, in view of the above proposals by producers and handlers, the entire classification structure of the market be reviewed.

Class I milk should include all milk and butterfat disposed of (1) in fluid form as milk, skim milk, flavored milk, milk drink and buttermilk; (2) used to produce concentrated milk (except evaporated milk and condensed milk; (3) in the form of fluid sweet or cultured sour cream, whipped cream, whipped cream substitutes, eggnog, and any product containing more than 6.0 percent butterfat not specified in Class II or Class III milk; and (4) butterfat shrinkage from producers' milk in excess of 2.5 percent of such receipts. This classification differs from that currently in the order in that buttermilk and items specified in (3) above have been added to Class I.

Testimony introduced into the record states that health regulations require the use of Grade A milk for those products added to Class I when such products are sold within the city of Cincinnati. In addition, these products are sold on a year-round basis and compete for the supply of inspected milk with other items which require milk of similar quality and have been included in Class I milk in the past. In view of the above these products should be included in Class I to return to the producers a price commensurate with their use value and in order that they will carry their proportionate share of the costs of inducing an adequate supply of Grade A milk for all purposes for which this type of milk is required.

Although some opposition to the reclassification of cream to Class I milk was expressed at the hearing, it may be noted that such reclassification will increase handlers' costs only 45 cents per hundredweight of 40 percent cream, or $0.00241 per half-pint, since the price applicable to the butterfat component (through the butterfat differential) which represents the major factor in the cost of such product to handlers already is identical to that applicable to Class I milk.

This conclusion disposes also of the proposal that milk used for "cultured sour cream" be reclassified from the present Class II to present Class III milk. Attention is called to the decision of the Assistant Secretary dated June 9, 1954 which states, "Local health regulations require that sour cream be made from milk produced and handled in full compliance with these regulations—the same quality of milk as is required for cream for fluid consumption. The only available source of milk of this quality has been from producers as defined in the Cincinnati order, except in times of milk shortages when health authorities have permitted limited amounts of other milk to be used for short periods of time for this and other fluid uses. Thus, the market requirements for milk for sour cream are regularly supplied with producer milk. This use of milk should carry its share of the burden of maintaining producer milk supplies at a level sufficient to meet market requirements." Evidence presented at the hearing on January 11, 12, and 13, 1955 was essentially the same as the evidence presented at the hearing in 1954 upon which the decision of June 9, 1954, was based. The proponent handler, who is the primary processor of cultured sour cream in the market, stated that he would buy only milk of high quality for this use regardless of applicable health requirements. Although proponent indicated instances of competition with cultured sour cream originating in other markets, the testimony on this point is vague. It is concluded therefore that the record does not support the inclusion of cultured sour cream in a class lower than sweet cream.

Similar reasoning may be applied to the classification of eggnog, whipped cream, and whipped cream substitutes; therefore, these products should also be included in Class I milk.

Class II milk as revised should include all skim milk and butterfat used to produce (1) ice cream, ice cream mix, and frozen desserts; (2) cottage cheese; and (3) inventories of fluid product items. This classification differs from that currently in the order in that skim milk and butterfat used for eggnog have been reclassified from the present Class III to Class I milk as stated above, and in that milk used for condensed milk (or skim milk), frozen cream, evaporated milk, cheese (other than cottage cheese), nonfat dry milk solids, margarine, animal feed, and dumped and spilled milk have been reclassified from the present Class III to the new Class III milk.

Class II milk, as adopted, is made up of milk products that have common characteristics from the points of view of use and competitive conditions. These items, as well as Class I products, require year-round supply of inspected milk for a substantial portion of the market and are therefore different from items included in the lower-priced Class III milk. All are of a perishable nature but may be stored considerably longer than the items which make up Class I milk. The use of Grade A inspected milk is required for those products of Class II milk sold within the city limits of Cincinnati. Testimony introduced into the record indicated, however, that within the periphery of the city limits of Cincinnati, there are three municipalities, Norwood, Elmwood Place, and St. Bernard, which have separate corporate identities. Health regulations for the city of Cincinnati do not apply in these three municipalities; nor do these health regulations apply to the sales territory adjacent to Cincinnati and within the defined marketing area which is regularly covered by handlers manufacturing ice cream whose plants are located in Cincinnati.

Handlers who make ice cream or cottage cheese and who use Grade A inspected milk compete on sales made within the city limits only with other handlers who likewise purchase inspected milk for this use. With respect to such business all handlers are on a similar competitive basis in the purchase of their supplies. It is recognized, however, that such handlers have competition in other parts of the marketing area and in adjacent areas from manufacturers who are not required to use Grade A milk. Evidence introduced into the record indicated that as to ice cream this competition comes from ice cream manufacturers located in Dayton and Columbus, Ohio, and Louisville, Kentucky, among others. Official notice is taken of the fact that the 1950 population of Cincinnati was about 504,000 while that of Hamilton County (the order marketing area) for the same date was about 724,000. In addition, the ice cream sales distribution area of handlers extends considerably beyond Hamilton County. This indicates that a considerable portion of the ice cream sales by Cincinnati handlers are in areas where there is definite competition from unregulated ice cream manufacturers. One manufacturer testified, for example, that 40 percent of his sales were in the city of Cincinnati and that 60 percent were in surrounding territory.

Because of this competition from manufacturers who may use uninspected milk for their products, it would be unrealistic to include ice cream and other Class II products in the same price classifications as milk utilized for Class I purposes, even though the use of Grade A inspected milk is required for such product within Cincinnati. To do so would place Cincinnati manufacturers in an unfavorable competitive position in a large part of their sales territory and would result in the loss of a considerable market for producers' milk.

Because of the concentrated nature of cottage cheese as compared with milk supplied for fluid use, outlying plants that are qualified, from a health standpoint, to supply milk to the city of Cincinnati can ship cottage cheese into the market at a considerable saving over the cost of shipping whole milk which would otherwise be required for the processing of these products. The classification and pricing of cottage cheese should not be such as to increase the price appreciably above the level at which it could be, and sometimes is, obtained elsewhere in processed form since to do so would place undue burden upon the marketing of producer milk with possible disruptive effect upon the market.

At the same time, the products covered by Class II milk should be placed in a higher price classification than those products in Class III. Handlers require a regular supply of inspected milk for such products on a year-round basis even though a portion of the product must be disposed of in open competition with similar products made in other nearby areas. It may be noted further that cream and other milk ingredients of ice cream which would be suitable for Cincinnati handlers can be obtained from outside inspected sources only at a price considerably above the price level of manufacturing milk. There would appear to be no reason why milk from regular producers for the Cincinnati market used for this purpose should be classified strictly on a manufacturing basis.

Inventories are placed in Class II milk but should be limited to stocks on hand of bulk milk, skim milk, and cream and bottled milk and other fluid items in Class I milk. Processed products in Class I (such as cultured sour cream) and those in Class II and Class III milk should not be included in inventory since the milk used to produce such products will have been accounted for in the proper class.

Because inventories of fluid items are to be accounted for in Class II, it is necessary to provide a method for handling producer milk in inventory which is utilized in the current month for Class I purposes, but which the handler accounted for in Class II at the end of the preceding month. An additional factor to be considered is that handlers frequently use other source milk in their operations. Producer milk from inventory should have prior claim on Class I milk over current receipts of other source milk. This should be accomplished by considering the opening inventory of a month as a receipt in the same month and subtracting such receipt (under allocation procedure), in series, starting with Class II milk, following the subtraction of other source milk. To the extent that the opening inventory is allocated to Class I and there was an equivalent amount of producer milk classified in Class II in the previous month (after allocating other source milk) a reclassification charge should be made at the difference between the Class II price in the previous month and the Class I price in the current month. This will result in equity of cost of milk among handlers and returns to producers irrespective of whether or not such producer milk is from the opening inventory or is a current receipt. This change will greatly simplify the accounting procedures for handling inventory without increasing costs to handlers. The proposed system should be easier to administer and should reduce the reporting requirements on handlers.

Class III milk should include all milk and butterfat (1) used to produce plain, or sweetened, condensed milk or evaporated milk in bulk or in hermetically sealed cans, nonfat dry milk solids, and margarine; (2) used to produce cheese (not including cottage cheese), frozen cream, and butter; (3) specifically accounted for as dumped and spilled; (4) in milk, skim milk, and cream disposed of in bulk during March through August for commercial food processing; and (5) in butterfat shrinkage up to 2.5 percent of total receipts of butterfat in producer milk and shrinkage of butterfat in other source milk. Such classification differs from that currently in the order in that all such products, except butter, have been reclassified into the lowest price class of the market.

This classification structure puts into Class III all products which are essentially outlets for extra reserve supplies of milk. Within the Cincinnati milkshed milk is used for all such products at some time during the flush season. For the most part these products do not represent normal requirements of the market and do not require a supply of inspected milk. Also, there are no health regulations governing the type of milk to be used for the products of Class III milk while the milk used for products in the other classes must be Grade A inspected to the extent already described. Further, products such as butter, nonfat dry milk solids, and cheese are manufactured and sold on a nationwide basis wherever produced, and are priced on the basis of central markets. Consequently, if milk is to be utilized for these products during the season when the local milk supply is in excess of normal market needs, the pricing classification must be in line with that of manufacturing milk in other areas. It is appropriate, therefore, that such products be grouped into a separate price classification.

The inclusion of bulk condensed milk (or skim milk) and frozen cream in this class should encourage handlers to convert producer milk into these products for later use in ice cream, ice cream mix, and frozen desserts which are included in Class II milk. However, if, in a later month such Class III milk products, regardless of source, are allocated to Class II milk a "reclassification" charge should be applied to insure equity of cost among handlers for Class II milk. Such a charge is provided in the order.

(3) The price formulas for Class II and Class III milk as defined above should be revised.

Producer groups proposed that Class IV milk (as presently defined) be priced the same as present Class III milk for the months of September through February and be priced at a lower level for the months of March through August. A handler proposed a dual pricing structure for milk used to produce ice cream and related products, i. e., milk so used would be priced at one level if sold within the city of Cincinnati and at a different level if disposed of outside the city. An alternative proposal by the same proponent would price all milk used to produce ice cream at the price level of milk sold by dairy farmers to local condenseries. It was further proposed that milk used to produce Cheddar cheese be priced at the latter level. Another handler proposed that such Class III milk be priced at the higher of a butter-nonfat dry milk solids formula price or the local condensery price, and that present Class IV milk be priced at the lower of such butter-nonfat dry solids formula price or the local condensery price.

One proponent of a lower price for milk used as ice cream contended that handlers are placed at a competitive disadvantage in the sale of ice cream outside Cincinnati on the basis that they are forced to pay a higher price than their competitors who use ungraded milk for this purpose. It was further contended that because of proponent's present unfavorable competitive position in purchasing milk, ice cream sales have been lost and returns to Cincinnati producers thereby have been reduced. Testimony offered in opposition to the proposal contended that any lowering of the price of milk used to manufacture ice cream would reduce the uniform price and consequently would create added pressure on Class I prices.

Revised Class II milk, as in the case of Class I milk, represents year-round usage of producer milk. However, ice cream and cottage cheese, the principal products of Class II milk, while requiring Grade A milk for manufacture and sale within the city of Cincinnati, need not be made from such quality of milk to be sold in other parts of the marketing area and is found in competition with similar products made from ungraded milk when sold in the segment of the marketing area which lies outside the city.

Because of these factors milk used for ice cream and cottage cheese should be priced independently from the other classes of milk. Under current competitive sales conditions milk used for such products should be priced lower than milk used for Class I products; on the other hand, since they require a year-round supply of inspected milk in a major portion of the marketing area, they should be regarded as a regular rather than a distress use of milk and therefore should be priced somewhat above the prevailing price for milk for manufacturing purposes.

The suggestion that the price for milk for ice cream should be the same as the average of prices paid by local condenseries does not take recognition of the fact that, because of the city health regulations, Cincinnati handlers, must use inspected milk for ice cream sold within the city. It might well be argued that if milk used to produce ice cream for sales within the city of Cincinnati alone was to be considered, the price should be the same as that for Class I milk.

It may be noted also that proponents on inquiry agreed that the price paid to Cincinnati producers for milk used in ice cream, even when disposed of outside the city, should not be less than the cost of obtaining the required ingredients from other sources. The price formula for 3.5 percent milk adopted in this decision when adjusted by the class butterfat differential to the appropriate test is believed to be one which will result in an average cost to handlers for mix used in ice cream that is reasonably related to the prices which would be necessary to purchase the ingredients used therein if obtained from alternative sources. Such cost also will be in reasonable alignment with the respective costs of ice cream mix (at appropriate butterfat test) as computed under the provisions of other nearby Federal orders.

During the flush months of 1954 the total volume of milk going to Class II and Class III uses was, seasonally, the largest in the history of the market. Testimony introduced into the record showed that early in the flush season of 1954, substantial quantities of milk were turned back to cooperatives to be disposed of at any price the cooperatives might be able to obtain through disposal to unregulated plants. Recognition was taken of the fact that the prices then prevailing in the order were at a level that would not permit excess milk to move to normal outlets. In March 1954, the order was revised on a seasonal basis to provide a price for excess milk closely in line with the prevailing price of manufacturing milk. Production during recent months has continued at a relatively high level, indicating that volume of producer milk to be disposed of as excess milk during the flush season this year will be approximately as great as the volume so utilized in the same months of 1954. Although the pricing structure is designed to encourage a more even production pattern, a wide variation in production has been characteristic of the market.

In the interest of orderly marketing, it is concluded that the pricing structure for milk which must be used for the revised category of Class III milk should be so established as to enable such milk to move into manufacturing uses when seasonal excesses of supply exist. This may be accomplished by pricing such milk at the average price paid by local condenseries during the flush production season. It is concluded further that while the latter price should prevail during the flush season, a somewhat higher price (same as Class II price) should prevail during the remainder of the year. This price plan will promote the orderly marketing of excess milk during the flush season but also will encourage handlers to direct producer milk into higher-valued classifications during the short production season when such milk is needed for the various fluid uses, as indicated by the apparent continuing need for supplemental supplies from outside sources in such months. For the same reason the proposal to establish on a year-round basis the local condensery price as the producer price for milk used to produce Cheddar cheese should not be adopted. It is noted that proponents of the latter proposal indicated that the price problem encountered relates primarily to the flush production season.

Attention is called to the fact that basic formula price provision (§ 965.50 (a)) of the order has been changed to reduce the list of "midwest condenseries" contained therein from eighteen to thirteen plants by taking official notice of the fact that the five plants which have been eliminated from the list are no longer in operation.

(4) The Class I price provisions of the order, including the automatic supply-demand adjustor, should be revised.

Producer groups proposed that Class I milk be priced at a differential of $1.30 above the basic formula price on a year-round basis. Under the present order provisions Class I milk is priced at $1.05 above the basic formula during April through July, and $1.35 above the basic formula during August through March.

The Dairy Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, proposed that, in view of the various proposals for reclassification and pricing submitted by interested parties, the whole pricing structure should be reviewed.

The proposal for a uniform year-round Class I differential should be adopted. It does not appear that a seasonal variation of Class I prices will be necessary following adoption of the fall incentive payment plan as discussed elsewhere in this decision. The present system of seasonal pricing was adopted for the purpose of emphasizing the need for less milk in the flush production season of April, May, June, and July and of additional production during those months of the year when production is seasonally low. With the adoption of the fall incentive plan the seasonal variation in payments to producers should be appreciably greater than that provided by the present plan of seasonal variation in Class I prices.

Considerable evidence was introduced into the record on the subject of whether or not the proposed $1.30 Class I differential would constitute a net increase or decrease in the Class I price when compared to the annual weighted average of the seasonal differentials ($1.05 and $1.35) now in effect. It is concluded the proposed differential in conjunction with other changes as described below will result in a Class I price level substantially unchanged on an annual average basis. Such level of Class I differential should be adequate to bring forth a sufficient supply of milk.

The supply-demand adjustment should be revised on a seasonal basis. In the present order three schedules of adjustment rates are provided: one for the months of January, February, March, August, and September; a second schedule for April, May, June, and July; a third for October, November, and December. Under this system considerable variation in Class I prices has resulted, e. g., during 1954 the supply-demand adjustment varied from a plus $0.26 to a minus $0.26, or a total difference of $0.52 per hundredweight of milk. Part, although not all, of this difference was caused by the varying rates provided in the order.

It has been stated that a constant year-round Class I price differential has been adopted to eliminate variations in the Class I price from a seasonal standpoint in view of the alternative fall incentive payment plan discussed herein. Similar reasoning might be applied in connection with supply-demand adjustments since it is planned to accomplish appropriate seasonal variations in uniform prices to producers by the "take out" and "pay back," or fall incentive payment plan.

The supply-demand adjustments are designed to result in automatic changes in Class I prices as market supplies of producer milk change in relation to the quantity of Class I milk sold. In order to provide consistency in the data used to compute the base percentages and to simplify the computations, the disposition of items covered by § 965.41 (a) (1) and (3) is used as the measure of demand. To determine changes in the "supply-demand ratio" from a norm, the percentage of such sales to supplies in a recent two-month period is compared with a "base utilization percentage." Since plus or minus adjustments may reflect variations from seasonally established relationships of supply to demand in the base percentages, the supply-demand adjustment for a given month will be proper only so long as supply conditions and demand conditions continue in the pattern established as "normal." However, "normal" is a relative term and what may be considered appropriate as base percentages at one time may not be considered so at some later date. If either the supply pattern or the demand pattern shift from that established as normal, the supply-demand adjustments will cease to function properly from a seasonal standpoint. The fact that the supply-demand adjustment may result in unusual pluses or minuses to the price for any given month or season does not mean, necessarily, that normal relationships have changed. Such changes from the standard pattern may result from unusual conditions, such as a very late spring or extraordinary pasture for the particular season. However, when it is evident that there is a consistent change in the pattern, it may be assumed that new supply-demand relationships (on a seasonal basis) have developed and that the prior base percentages which had been considered normal no longer will give satisfactory results.

Such a situation appears to have developed in the Cincinnati market. As a result of an increased rate of production in the winter months and a relatively smaller increase in the spring and summer months (the flush season), seasonal variations in production have decreased rapidly during the past four years. This may be simply illustrated in the table below:

PRODUCER RECEIPTS: PERCENT OF VARIATION FROM ANNUAL AVERAGE (BASED UPON DAILY RECEIPTS)

May, June, July, December	Above average by	Percent 29	Percent 22	Percent 20	Percent 12
January, February	Below average by	18	15	12	8

The shifting seasonal production pattern may be shown also by the relationship of production in the month of lowest supply to the month of highest supply. During the past four years this relationship (percentage-wise) has been: 1951, 52 percent; 1952, 61 percent; 1953, 64 percent; 1954, 67 percent.

During this same four-year period Class I usage has increased substantially but at a lesser rate than producer receipts; also, Class I usage has not shifted to a significant degree on a seasonal basis. As a result of the seasonal shift in production and the relatively stable seasonal pattern of Class I usage, supply-demand relationships have changed considerably during the four-year period. On an annual basis the producer receipts—Class I usage ratio has dropped from 66 percent in 1951 to 60 percent in 1954. A somewhat different result may be shown for various seasons of the year: for the months of December, January and February, the ratio has declined from 80 percent to 69 percent; for the three flush production months of May, June, and July the ratio has remained fairly stable, declining only from 51 percent to 50 percent; and for the two months of shortest production, October and November, the ratio has declined from 79 percent to 73 percent.

Thus, the evidence in the record indicates that supply-demand relationships have changed and that the base supply-demand percentages should be revised. Moreover, without modification of such percentages it appears from operation of the formula over the past two years that plus or minus adjustments resulting from the provision could work in a manner contrary to the fall incentive payment plan. If this were to occur consistently, as the result an unrealistic seasonal pattern of base percentages, the effectiveness of the fall incentive plan would be greatly reduced. The revised schedule of percentages have been designed to prevent this occurrence.

As in the case of the present order a limitation of 50 cents per hundredweight has been placed on the amount of the supply-demand adjustment. It is concluded that further review in hearing would be appropriate if the adjustment for any month were to exceed this amount.

(5) The provision for a location differential to handlers should be modified; the rate of such location differential should not be changed.

The present order provides for a location differential which is credited to handlers with respect to each hundredweight of producer milk (a) received and utilized at a pool plant located more than 45 miles from the City Hall in Cincinnati as any item of Class I and Class II milk or in the production of cottage cheese, ice cream or frozen desserts, or (b) which is moved from such a pool plant in the form of any product designated as Class I and Class II milk or as condensed skim milk, ice cream mix, or frozen cream to a fluid milk plant less than 45 miles from Cincinnati and utilized as any item of Class I and Class II milk or in the production of cottage cheese, ice cream or frozen desserts. In the case of such movements to fluid milk plants less than 45 miles from Cincinnati, the differential allowed is limited to that portion of product moved and so utilized which is in excess of the total producer receipts at such transferee-plant. Under the present provision the credit is allowed the handler who transfers the milk.

The proposal would allow the credit to the transferee-handler under certain conditions. Proponents offered two reasons in support of the proposal. They contend that it would simplify the application of location differential credits when more than one outlying pool plant moves milk to the same fluid milk plant. In such instances a decision must be made as to the amount of credit to be allowed each of the pool plants that supply the milk. Also, it is believed by proponents that by allowing the transferee-handler the credit as proposed a somewhat lower cost of milk to such handler will result and such handler will be in a better position to reflect the lower cost in his resale prices, thus encouraging additional Class I utilization to the advantage of producers. It was alleged that the prices agreed upon between handlers in connection with interhandler transfers of milk have not been materially reduced during the several months the 15 cents per hundredweight location credit has been allowable.

It is concluded that the revised method of applying the location differential will tend to simplify accounting procedure and may encourage a greater reflection of the allowable credit in the prices of finished Class I products. For these reasons the proposal should be adopted.

A handler proposed a change in the rate of location adjustment from 15 cents to 25 cents per hundredweight. As in the case of the present location adjustment the revised rate would be credited to the handler with respect to Class I milk and Class II milk, as revised in this decision, at pool plants more than 45 miles from Cincinnati, or shipped in such forms from pool plants so located to fluid milk plants within a 45-mile radius of Cincinnati which serve the marketing area. However, the proposal provides that, when used as an adjustment to the uniform price to producers at such country pool plant the revised rate would be applied only on the quantity of milk physically moved from such plant to fluid milk plants within the 45-mile radius from Cincinnati, and the resulting monies would be divided by the hundredweight of producer milk receipts of the country pool plant. This would result generally in a deduction from the uniform price of substantially less than 25 cents per hundredweight at the country pool plant and in some months a zero adjustment would be applicable.

Proponent contended that the proposed change in the order would be justified on two bases: (1) The suggested 25-cent deduction represents the actual cost of transporting milk from the country pool plants into Cincinnati and, therefore, producers should pay the full cost of having their milk delivered to the place of ultimate use; and (2) producers should pay the transportation costs only on that milk which actually moves into Cincinnati; consequently, no deduction from the uniform price should be made on any milk which is received and used at the location of the country pool plant.

In the decision of the Assistant Secretary of Agriculture dated July 1, 1954, it was concluded that a location differential should be adopted to reflect prices to producers based upon the relative costs of moving milk from farms to various segments of the milkshed to the marketing area. It was indicated by the record which preceded such decision that the cost of hauling incurred by producers in making their milk available to the market through a country pool plant was approximately 15 cents per hundredweight higher than in the case of milk direct-shipped from farms to city plants. Obviously, milk to be used in Cincinnati is worth somewhat less if delivered to a location at a substantial distance from the city than if delivered directly to Cincinnati. Although proponent contended that it costs 25 cents per hundredweight to transport milk in tanks from existing country pool plants to Cincinnati and that producers should pay for the cost of such movement computed at this rate, there is no evidence in the present record to refute the relative costs of moving milk from farms to city plants as compared with delivery from farms to country pool plants as shown by the prior record. It would not be reasonable to compensate the handler for moving milk to the city plant from his country plant at a rate greater than that which would be incurred by the producer if the latter were to shift his point of delivery to a city outlet instead of a country pool plant.

Proponent contends also that in computing the uniform price per hundredweight to the producer at the outlying pool plant the actual cost incurred by the handler in moving milk from such country pool plant to the city should be deducted. Thus, the rate of deduction per hundredweight of producer milk at a given country plant would vary from month to month (sometimes being zero) and also would vary from one plant to another during the same month. As previously stated, the purpose of the location differential is to reflect the location disadvantage of distant producers as compared with nearby producers based upon the relative costs of moving their milk to market. Whatever location disadvantage exists is rather constant, changing only as there may be a change in the relative costs of hauling service for milk. The location disadvantage is not related in any way to the respective amounts of milk which may be shipped from country plants to city plants. It is concluded, therefore, that the proposed changes in the rate and application of location adjustments should not be adopted.

A handler stated that when, during the flush production season of the year, milk received at the handler's plant is in excess of requirements, such milk frequently must be shipped to outlying manufacturing plants for processing and that under the present provisions of the order, there is no way that he may recover the costs of transporting such excess milk. As a solution to this problem it was proposed that the order be amended to allow a $0.20 per hundredweight reduction in the price of milk which is received at a handler's plant and then transported to any manufacturing plant at a distance of 60 to 100 miles from Cincinnati for processing.

If this proposal were to be adopted, it seems probable that the optimum utilization of milk for the market as a whole would be discouraged; also that uneconomic movements of milk might be encouraged, with the result that producers would pay not only the cost of transporting milk into the market from the farm but also pay the cost of the hauling of excess milk out of the market. A more logical solution to this problem would be to amend the order so as to permit proprietary handlers as well as cooperatives, under certain limitations, to divert milk in excess of city plant requirements to manufacturing outlets while such milk is still in the country. This has been done by amending the "producer" definition in § 965.8.

(6) The butterfat differentials applied in adjusting the Class II and Class III prices should be revised.

For milk used to produce certain products the butterfat differential is as important to the ultimate cost of the milk to the handler as the level of the class price established on the basis of a butterfat content of 3.5 percent. This has been referred to above in connection with the reclassification of fluid cream.

In order to achieve a uniform price for each pound of butterfat in ice cream use, it is concluded that the Class II butterfat differential should be determined in direct relationship to the value placed on butterfat in such class under the Class II price formula for milk testing 3.5 percent.

Class III milk as established by this decision includes the principal uses to which seasonal reserves of milk may be put. The butterfat in milk so used is in excess of market needs during the flush production months and should be priced accordingly during the months of March through August. Therefore, the differential now contained in the order is continued in such months. During the months of September through February, the differential is made the same as that for Class II butterfat except for milk used to produce butter. In the case of milk used for the latter product the current butterfat differential is continued. Although the market is normally short of serum solids in the fall and winter months there is frequently an excess of butterfat because of the relatively high test of producers' milk at that time of year. This should permit the orderly marketing of any excess quantities of butterfat in all months.

(7) A definition of "producer-handler" should be included in the order; a corollary definition of "dairy farmer" should also be adopted.

It has been necessary to define the term "handler" essentially for the purpose of identifying those persons on whom obligations and requirements are, or may be, imposed by the order, including the obligation to pay the minimum prices established. The order has provided, however, that persons referred to therein as "producer-handlers" shall be exempt from all the regulatory provisions of the order, except that requiring the filing of reports as requested by the market administrator.

The producer-handler maintains control of his milk until ultimate disposition and in this respect his situation, from a minimum price standpoint, is substantially different from the regular producer whose milk is marketed through a handler. In exempting producer-handlers when the order was first initiated it was determined that full regulation of such persons would add to the administrative burden without assisting in a substantial measure to the operation of a program designed to bring orderly marketing conditions to producers generally.

The producer-handler would be permitted a competitive advantage over other handlers in the purchase of milk from farm sources for sale in the marketing area if the order were to allow him to buy freely from farms other than one operated as his personal enterprise and to continue his exemption from the order. It should not be possible, of course, for such a person to purchase milk from farms operated by other persons at their individual risks, unless such person is fully regulated in the same manner as other handlers. Such purchases made by the producer-handler, even if made under arrangements where either the cows or the farm are leased by him, while other handlers are fully regulated as to their prices and payments to producers, would tend to defeat the classified plan of pricing which is basic to the entire marketing plan provided by the regulation.

Recent complaints concerning the exempt status of persons claiming to operate as producer-handlers have been filed with the market administrator. Since the present order contains no definition or description of the type of operation meant by the term, it is administratively difficult to determine precisely whether a person is actually a producer-handler who operates within the limitations outlined, i. e., the present order does not provide the market administrator a standard against which he can compare the type of operation carried on by any person who claims producer-handler status.

For this reason a definition of producer-handler should be adopted. The definition included provides that if the producer-handler is to be exempt he must both operate in his capacity as a handler and maintain all his farm supply of milk as a matter of personal enterprise and at his own risk. Since producer-handlers frequently change their method of operation, it is necessary to continue the requirement that they file reports as requested by the market administrator in order that the basis for exemption as a handler in individual cases may be reviewed and affirmed from time to time and to provide complete market data concerning the supply and sales of milk.

In view of the fact that the alternative sources of information available to the market administrator concerning the actual extent of the farm operation carried on by any particular producer-handler, it is necessary to provide also that the burden of proof for information on which exemption may be granted or continued, as the case may be, should rest upon the person claiming producer-handler status rather than upon the market administrator.

A definition of "dairy farmer" will assist to clarify the application of the definition of producer-handler.

(8) The provision for a butterfat differential to producers should be modified for simplification.

It was proposed by producers that the computation of the butterfat differential used to adjust the uniform price be modified for the purpose of simplifying payments to individual producers for milk.

The order currently provides for the uniform price to be computed on the basis of the even cent for milk testing 3.5 percent in butterfat. It is provided also that a butterfat differential be paid to the individual producer as an adjustment to the uniform price when the milk delivered by such producer varies above or below 3.5 percent in butterfat. Under current order provisions this differential is rounded to the nearest tenth of a cent but since the individual producer's milk is tested to the nearest half point, the payment rate to the individual producer becomes a four decimal number whenever the last digit of the butterfat differential is an odd number.

If the butterfat differential were rounded to the nearest even (0, 2, 4, 6, 8) one-tenth cent, the rate of payment to the individual producer would be a three decimal number. Since there are more than 5,000 individual producers for whom payment checks must be written each month, a substantial reduction in the amount of work involved in computing producer payments could be effected by adopting the proposed method of rounding fractions.

The amount of money payable to producers through the butterfat differential is derived from the total pool value of milk. Therefore, the adoption of such a provision would not change the total cost of milk to handlers. Although for any given month some producers might be paid a small fraction of a cent more and others a small fraction of a cent less per hundredweight of milk, monthly adjustments of the differential by such means could be expected to offset each other over a period of time, and thus on an annual basis it is likely that the individual producer would experience little, if any, net change in his returns as the result of the simpler computation.

It is concluded that the computation of the butterfat differential to producers should be modified to the extent described.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreement and the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act:

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreement and the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(c) The proposed order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Rulings on proposed findings and conclusions. Briefs were filed on behalf of producer organizations and certain handlers. The briefs contained statements of fact, proposed findings and conclusions, and arguments with respect to the provisions of the proposed amendments. Every point covered in the briefs was carefully considered along with the evidence in the record in making the findings and reaching the conclusions hereinbefore set forth. To the extent that the findings and conclusions proposed in the briefs are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions contained herein, the request to make such findings or to reach such conclusions is denied on the basis of the facts found and stated in connection with the conclusions in the recommended decision.

Recommended marketing agreement and amendments to the order. The following amendments to the order, as amended, are recommended as the detailed and appropriate means by which the foregoing conclusions may be carried out. The recommended marketing agreement is not included in this decision because the regulatory provisions thereof would be identical with those contained in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended.

§ 965.30 Reports of handlers to market administrator. Each handler, under his own signature or under that of a person certified by such handler to the market administrator as being authorized to sign the reports required by this section, shall report to the market administrator, in the detail and on forms prescribed by the market administrator as follows:

(a) On or before the 10th day after the end of each month, each handler who receives milk from producers shall report with respect to all milk, skim milk, cream and other milk products handled by him during the month as follows:

(1) The total quantities at each plant from producers, from his own production, and from other handlers;

(2) The total quantities of other source milk together with the butterfat content;

(3) The quantities of skim milk and butterfat contained in inventories of items designated as Class I and Class II milk pursuant to § 965.41 (a) (1) and (b) (1) on hand at the beginning and end of the month;

(4) The utilization during the month of all milk and milk products referred to subparagraphs (1), (2), and (3) of this paragraph;

(5) The name and address of each new producer; and

(6) His producer payroll, which shall show for each producer the total receipts of milk with the average butterfat test thereof, the amount of the advance payment to such producer made pursuant to § 965.70 and the deductions and charges made by the handler.

(b) Each handler who receives no milk from producers shall make reports to the market administrator at such times and in such manner as the market administrator may request.

§ 965.31 Verification of handler reports. Each handler shall make available to the market administrator or to his agent, or to such other person as the Secretary may designate, those records which are necessary for the verification of the information contained in the reports submitted pursuant to § 965.30, and those facilities which are necessary for the sampling, weighing, and testing of the milk of each producer.

§ 965.32 Reports of market administrators to cooperative associations. On or before the 13th day after the end of each month, the market administrator shall report to each cooperative association the amount and class utilization of milk caused to be delivered by such association, either directly or from producers who have authorized such association to receive payments for them under § 965.73 (b), to each handler to whom the cooperative association sells milk. For the purpose of this report the milk so received shall be prorated to each class in the proportions that the total receipts of milk from producers by such handler were used in each class.

§ 965.33 Records and facilities. Each handler required to make reports to the market administrator shall maintain, and make available to the market administrator during the usual hours of business, such accounts and records of his operations and such facilities as in the opinion of the market administrator are necessary to verify reports, or to ascertain the correct information with respect to (a) the receipts and utilization of all skim milk and butterfat received, including all milk products received and disposed of in the same form; (b) the weights and tests for butterfat, and for other contents, of all milk and milk products handled; and (c) payments to producers and cooperative associations.

§ 965.34 Retention of records. All books and records required under this subpart to be made available to the market administrator shall be retained by the handler for a period of three years to begin at the end of the calendar month to which such books and records pertain: Provided, That if, within such three-year period, the market administrator notifies a handler in writing that the retention of such books and records or of specified books and records, is necessary in connection with a proceeding under section 8c (15) (A) of the act or a court action specified in such notice the handler shall retain such books and records, or specified books and records, until further written notification from the market administrator. In either case the market administrator shall give further written notification to the handler promptly upon the termination of the litigation or when the records are no longer necessary in connection therewith.

CLASSIFICATION

§ 965.40 Basis of classification. Milk and milk products received by each handler, including milk produced by him, which are required to be reported pursuant to § 965.30 (a) shall be classified by the market administrator in the classes set forth in § 965.41, subject to the provisions of §§ 965.42 through 965.46.

§ 965.41 Classes of utilization. The classes of utilization shall be as follows:

(a) Class I milk shall be all milk and butterfat (1) disposed of (except as provided in paragraph (c) (2) and (3) of this section) in fluid form as milk, skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk, and milk drink, (2) disposed of in the form of fluid sweet or cultured sour cream, whipped cream, whipped cream substitutes, any product in fluid form containing 8 percent or more of butterfat not specified in Class II milk or Class III milk, and eggnog; (3) used to produce concentrated milk (excluding those products commonly known as evaporated milk and condensed milk) for fluid consumption; and (4) in shrinkage of butterfat from receipts of producer milk which is in excess of 2.5 percent of such receipts.

(b) Class II milk shall be all milk and butterfat (1) used to produce ice cream, ice cream mix, frozen desserts, and cottage cheese; and (2) in inventories of all items named in § 965.41 (a) (1) and (2).

(c) Class III milk shall be all milk and butterfat (1) used to produce butter, frozen cream, spray and roller process nonfat dry milk solids, all cheese (other than cottage cheese), and evaporated and condensed milk (or skim milk) either in bulk or in hermetically sealed cans; (2) specifically accounted for as dumped, spilled or disposed of for animal feed; (3) disposed of in bulk during the months of March through August, inclusive, as milk, skim milk, or cream to any commercial food processing establishment where food products are prepared only for consumption off the premises; (4) in shrinkage computed pursuant to § 965.44 (b) (1) up to 2.5 percent of butterfat from receipts of producer milk; and (5) in shrinkage of other source milk computed pursuant to § 965.44 (b) (3).

§ 965.42 Responsibility of handlers. In establishing the classification as required in §§ 965.41 and 965.43, the burden rests upon the handler to account for all milk and milk products received by him and to prove to the market administrator that such milk, or milk products, should not be classified as Class I milk.

§ 965.43 Transfers. (a) Milk, skim milk, and cream transferred in fluid form from a pool plant to the pool plant of another handler shall be Class I milk, unless another class use is indicated in writing to the market administrator by the operators of both plants on or before the 10th day after the end of the month within which such transfer was made: Provided, That if either or both plants received milk other than producer milk, the milk, skim milk, or cream so transferred shall be classified at both plants so as to allocate the highest possible utilization to producer milk: Provided further, That milk may be transferred in farm delivery containers from one pool plant to another under the conditions of this paragraph if both such plants are fluid milk plants pursuant to § 965.7 (a) or (b).

(b) Except as provided in paragraph (c) of this section, milk, skim milk and cream transferred or diverted in fluid form in bulk from a pool plant to a plant other than a pool plant shall be classified as Class I milk: Provided, That if the operator of such pool plant, or the diverting handler, as the case may be, on or before the 10th day after the end of the month, furnishes to the market administrator a statement which is signed by all parties to the transaction, that such milk, skim milk, or cream was used in a lower class, such milk, skim milk, or cream shall be classified accordingly, subject to verification by the market administrator: And provided further, That if the preceding proviso applies, the market administrator, shall assign milk, skim milk, or cream so transferred or diverted to (1) the highest-valued use classification (as described in § 965.41) in the plant of the receiver if the transfer or diversion is to a plant located in Campbell County or Kenton County, Kentucky, from which a route(s) as defined in § 965.5 is operated, and (2) the uses covered by Class

III milk to the extent available prior to the assignment of any such quantity moved in sequence to Class II milk and Class I milk if the movement is to any other plant which is not a pool plant.

(c) Milk, skim milk, and cream transferred or diverted in fluid form from a pool plant to the fluid milk plant of a producer-handler shall be classified as Class I milk.

§ 965.44 Shrinkage. The market administrator shall allocate shrinkage over a handler's receipts as follows:

(a) Compute the total shrinkage of butterfat for each handler; and

(b) Prorate the resulting amounts among the receipts of butterfat in (1) producer milk, (2) milk received from other pool plants, and (3) other source milk.

§ 965.45 Computation of milk and butterfat in each class. For each month, the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and for obvious errors the report submitted by each handler and compute the total pounds of milk and butterfat, respectively, in Class I milk, Class II milk, and Class III milk for such handler.

§ 965.46 Allocation of milk and butterfat classified. The pounds of milk and butterfat remaining in each class after making the following computations shall be the pounds of milk and butterfat, respectively, in such class allocated to producer milk:

(a) The pounds of milk in Class III milk shall be decreased by any excess of utilization of all classes over total receipts and shall be increased by any excess of total receipts over total utilization of all classes;

(b) Subtract from the pounds of butterfat in Class III milk the pounds of producer butterfat in plant shrinkage which is not in excess of 2.5 percent of all butterfat received from producers and from all other sources except a pool plant(s);

(c) Subtract from the remaining pounds of milk and butterfat, respectively, in series beginning with the lowest-priced use available, the pounds of milk and butterfat, respectively, received as other source milk;

(d) Subtract from the remaining pounds of milk and butterfat, respectively, in each class, the pounds of milk and butterfat, respectively, received from other pool plants as transferred pursuant to § 965.43;

(e) Subtract from the remaining pounds of milk and butterfat in series from Class II milk and Class I milk, the pounds of milk and butterfat in inventory at the beginning of the month in the form of items named in § 965.41 (a) (1) and (2);

(f) Add to Class III butterfat the pounds of butterfat subtracted pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section; and

(g) If the pounds of butterfat remaining in all classes exceed the pounds of butterfat received from producers, subtract such excess from the remaining pounds of butterfat in each class in series beginning with the lowest-priced class.

MINIMUM PRICES

§ 965.50 Basic formula price. The basic formula price per hundredweight of milk to be used in computing the minimum price for Class I milk shall be the higher of the prices computed by the market administrator pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section:

(a) The average of the basic (or field) prices per hundredweight ascertained to have been paid, or to be paid, for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from farmers during such month at the following plants or places for which prices are reported to the market administrator or to the United States Department of Agriculture:

Company and Location

(b) The price per hundredweight computed by the market administrator by adding together the plus amounts calculated pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph:

(1) Multiply by 3.5 the simple average, as computed by the market administrator, of the daily wholesale selling prices (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter per pound at Chicago, as reported by the United States Department of Agriculture during the month for which payment is to be made, and add 20 percent thereof;

(2) From the simple average, as computed by the market administrator, of the weighted average of carlot prices per pound for nonfat dry milk solids, spray and roller process, respectively, for human consumption f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area, as published for the period from the 26th of the immediately preceding month through the 25th day of the current month by the United States Department of Agriculture, deduct 5.5 cents and multiply the result by 8.2.

§ 965.51 Class prices. Each handler shall pay, at the time and in the manner set forth in § 965.72, not less than the following prices per hundredweight, on the basis of milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content, for the respective quantities of milk in each class computed pursuant to § 965.46.

(a) The price for Class I milk shall be the basic formula price plus $1.30, plus or minus "a supply-demand adjustment" of not more than 50 cents computed as follows:

(1) Divide the total gross volume of that portion of Class I milk set forth in § 965.41 (a) (1) and (3) (adjusted to eliminate duplications due to interhandler transfers) in the second and third months preceding by the total receipts of producer milk for the same months, multiply the result by 100, and round to the nearest whole number. The result shall be known as the "Class I utilization percentage";

Month for which price is being computed	Base utilization percentages
	Minimum	Maximum
January	71	73
February	75	77
March	69	71
April	63	65
May	60	62
June	57	59

August	46	48
September	46	48
October	48	50
November	53	55
December	64	66

(b) The price for Class II milk shall be the sum of the plus adjustments computed pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph.

(1) Multiply by 1.22 the simple average, as computed by the market administrator, of the daily wholesale selling prices (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter per pound at Chicago, as reported by the United States Department of Agriculture during the month for which payment is to be made, and then multiply such result by 3.5; and

(2) From the simple average, as computed by the market administrator, of the weighted average of carlot prices per pound for nonfat dry milk solids, spray process for human consumption f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area, as published for the period from the 26th day of the immediately preceding month through the 25th day of the current month by the United States Department of Agriculture, deduct 5.5, cents and multiply the result by 8.2.

(c) The price for Class III milk during each of the months of March through August shall be the price computed pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph; and the price for Class III milk during each of the months of September through February, respectively, shall be the same as the Class II price:

(1) The simple average, as computed by the market administrator of the basic (or field) prices per hundredweight ascertained to have been paid for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from farmers during the month at the following plants:

M and R Dietetic Laboratories, Inc., Chillicothe, Ohio.
Carnation Milk Co., Hillsboro, Ohio.
Nestles Milk Products, Inc., Greenville, Ohio.
Nestles Milk Products, Inc. (Osgood Milk Co.), Osgood, Ind.
Carnation Milk Co., Maysville, Ky.

§ 965.52 Butterfat differentials to handlers. If the weighted average butterfat test of producer milk which is classified in any class, respectively, for any handler, is more or less than 3.5 percent there shall be added to, or subtracted from, as the case may be, the price for such class, for each point (one-tenth of one percent) that such weighted average butterfat test is above or below 3.5 percent, a butterfat differential calculated by the market administrator as follows: For Class I milk, add one cent per point to the butterfat differential computed below in this section for Class II milk. For Class II milk multiply the average price per hundred pounds of 92-score butter as described in § 965.51 (b) (1) by 1.22, subtract therefrom the amount per hundredweight computed pursuant to § 965.51 (b) (2), and divide the result by 1000. For Class III milk subtract $5.00 from the average price per hundred pounds of 92-score butter as described in § 965.50 (b) (1), multiply by 1.2, subtract therefrom the amount per hundredweight computed pursuant to § 965.50 (b) (2), and divide the result by 1,000: Provided, That for each of the months of September through February, inclusive, the butterfat differential for Class III milk other than that used to produce butter shall be the same as the butterfat differential for Class II milk for such month and the butterfat differential for milk used to produce butter shall be the amount computed for such month pursuant to the formula for Class III milk immediately preceding this proviso.

§ 965.53 Location differentials to handlers. In computing the value of each handler's milk pursuant to § 965.60 a location differential of 15 cents per hundredweight shall be credited to the handler with respect to each hundredweight of producer milk (a) received and utilized at a pool plant located more than 45 miles by shortest hard-surfaced highway distance, as determined by the market administrator, from the City Hall in Cincinnati, Ohio, as any item of Class I milk or in the production of ice cream, frozen desserts, and cottage cheese, or (b) moved from such a pool plant in the form of any product designated as Class I milk or as condensed skim milk, ice cream mix, or frozen cream to a fluid milk plant less than 45 miles from the City Hall in Cincinnati, Ohio, and utilized as any item of Class I milk or in the production of ice cream, frozen desserts, and cottage cheese: Provided, That in the case of transfers made under paragraph (b) of this section the location differential credit (1) shall apply to the actual weight of product moved, which total quantity shall not exceed the difference between the sum of milk represented by Class I milk utilization and milk used to produce ice cream, frozen desserts, and cottage cheese at the transferee's plant and the total quantity of producer milk receipts at the latter plant, and (2) shall be allowed to the transferee-handler if such credit does not exceed the obligation of the latter handler to the producer-settlement fund for the month.

§ 965.60 Computation of value of milk for each handler. For each month the value of milk received at a pool plant(s) by each handler, and of milk diverted by a cooperative association under the conditions of § 965.9 (b), shall be a sum of money computed by the market administrator by multiplying the hundredweight of such milk received and classified in each class by the applicable class price, subject to the butterfat differential for such class provided in § 965.52 and the location differential credits, if any, applicable pursuant to § 965.53, and adjusting such total by the monies resulting from the following computations:

(a) Add: The hundredweight of butterfat subtracted pursuant to § 965.46 (g) multiplied by the price for the applicable class adjusted by the butterfat differential for such class;

(b) Add: The pounds, if any, that the milk or butterfat in inventory subtracted from Class I milk, pursuant to § 965.46 (e), is not in excess of the pounds of producer milk classified as Class II milk for the preceding month multiplied by the difference between the current price of Class I milk and the Class II price for the preceding month, each adjusted by the appropriate butterfat differential, and

(c) Add: The hundredweight of milk and butterfat subtracted from Class I milk and Class II milk pursuant to § 965.46 (c) (but not including any such milk and butterfat received from a plant regulated under a marketing agreement or order issued pursuant to the act for another fluid milk marketing area) multiplied by the difference between the price for the class from which subtracted, adjusted by the butterfat differential for such class (based on the butterfat tests of the milk subtracted), and the price computed pursuant to § 965.50 (b) adjusted to the same test by the butterfat differential (§ 965.52) for Class III milk (other than butter): Provided, That for any month when the aggregate utilization of Class I milk for all handlers at pool plants is 90 percent or more of the quantity of producer milk received by such handlers, the payments described pursuant to this paragraph and § 965.61 shall not be required.

§ 965.61 Computation of obligation to the producer-settlement fund for handlers operating a fluid milk plant which is not a pool plant. For each month, the obligation to the producer-settlement fund for each handler operating a fluid milk plant which is not a pool plant shall be computed by the market administrator by multiplying each hundredweight of milk disposed of as Class I milk (less the hundredweight of any Class I milk purchased by such handler during the month from a pool plant) by such handler on routes operated within the marketing area, by the difference between the price of the class of disposition computed pursuant to §§ 965.51, 965.52, and 965.53, and the price computed pursuant to § 965.50 (b) adjusted by the Class III butterfat differential (§ 965.52). On or before the 13th day after the end of each month, the market administrator shall notify each such handler of the amount so computed for him, subject to adjustment pursuant to § 965.62, and on or before the 17th day after the end of each month each such handler shall make payment to the market administrator.

§ 965.62 Correction of errors. If, in the verification of reports submitted by a handler, the market administrator discovers errors in such reports which result in payment due the producer-settlement fund or the handler for any previous month, there shall be added or subtracted as the case may be, the amount necessary to correct such errors.

§ 965.63 Notification to handler of the value of his milk. On or before the 13th day after the end of each month, the market administrator shall notify each handler of the value of milk computed for him in accordance with § 965.60 and of any adjustments pursuant to § 965.62.

§ 965.64 Computation of uniform prices for Grade A producers and Grade B producers—(a) Computation of uniform price for Grade A producers. For each month, the market administrator shall compute the uniform price per hundredweight of milk received by handlers from Grade A producers as follows:

(1) Add together the values of milk as computed pursuant to § 965.60 for handlers other than those in arrears in payment (other than in payment for any amount pursuant to § 965.62) to the producer-settlement fund as required by § 965.72 for the preceding month;

(2) Subtract, if the weighted average butterfat test of all producer milk represented in the sum computed under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, is greater than 3.5 percent, or add, if the weighted average butterfat test of such milk is less than 3.5 percent, an amount computed as follows: Multiply the hundredweight of such milk by the difference of its weighted average butterfat test from 3.5 percent, and multiply the resulting amount by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 965.76 times 10;

(3) Subtract for each of the months of April, May, June, and July an amount computed by multiplying the total hundredweight of milk received form producers during such month by the following amounts, respectively: 30 cents in April; 35 cents in May and June; and 20 cents in July;

(4) Add for each of the months of August, September, October, and November an amount computed by dividing the total amount of the obligated balance in the producer-settlement fund pursuant to § 965.71 (b) on July 1 immediately preceding by 4;

(5) Add the sum of the values of the location differentials allowable pursuant to § 965.73 (c);

(6) Add the unobligated balance in the producer-settlement fund;

(7) Add an amount computed by multiplying the total hundredweight of milk received from Grade B producers by $0.40;

(8) Divide by the total hundredweight of milk of all producers represented in the sum computed pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph; and

(9) Subtract from the figure obtained in subparagraph (8) of this paragraph not less than 4 cents or more than 5 cents per hundredweight for the purpose of retaining a cash balance to provide against errors in reports and in payments by handlers. The result shall be known as the uniform price per hundredweight for such month for milk (on the basis of 3.5 percent of butterfat) received from Grade A producers.

(b) Computation of uniform price for Grade B producers. For each delivery period, the market administrator shall compute the uniform price per hundredweight of milk received by handlers from Grade B producers as follows: From the uniform price computed pursuant to paragraph (a) (7) of this section subtract 40 cents. The result shall be known as the uniform price per hundredweight for such month for milk (on the basis of 3.5 percent of butterfat) received from Grade B producers.

PAYMENT FOR MILK

§ 965.70 Payments to producers. On or before the 5th day after the end of each month, each handler shall pay, with respect to all milk received during the month, $1.00 per hundredweight of milk to each producer: Provided, That in the event the total amount of deductions and charges authorized by any producer against payments due such producer for the month next preceding is greater than the payment computed for such producer pursuant to § 965.73 (a) with respect to the milk received from such producer during such preceding month, the handler may deduct from the payment required by this section a sum equal to the difference between such amounts.

§ 965.71 Producer-settlement fund. The market administrator shall establish and maintain a separate fund, known as the "producer-settlement fund", which shall function as follows:

(a) All payments made by handlers pursuant to §§ 965.61 and 965.72 shall be deposited in this fund, and all payments made to handlers pursuant to § 965.73 shall be made out of this fund;

(b) All amounts subtracted pursuant to § 965.64 (a) (3) shall be deposited in this fund and shall remain therein as an obligated balance until withdrawn for the purpose of effectuating § 965.64 (a) (4); and

(c) The difference between the amount added pursuant to § 965.64 (a) (6) and the amount resulting from the subtraction pursuant to § 965.64 (a) (9) shall be deposited in, or withdrawn from, this fund, as the case may be, to effectuate § 965.64 (a) (6) and (9).

§ 965.72 Payments to producer-settlement fund. On or before the 17th day after the end of each month, each handler shall pay to the market administrator the amount of money which represents the value of milk for such month of which he is notified pursuant to § 965.63 less the amount paid out to each producer in accordance with § 965.70, and less the amount of the deductions and charges authorized by such producer which are itemized on the handler's producer payroll: Provided, That in the calculation of the total amount of such deductions and charges to be subtracted, the deductions and charges to be considered with respect to each individual producer shall not be greater than an amount which, when added to the payment made to such producer in accordance with § 965.70 (inclusive of the deductions and charges authorized by § 965.70), will not exceed the total value of the milk received from such producer.

§ 965.73 Payments from producer-settlement fund. (a) For each month the market administrator shall compute, subject to the provisions of paragraph (c) of this section, the payment due each producer for milk received during such month from such producer by a handler who made the payments for such month pursuant to § 965.72, by multiplying the hundredweight of such milk by the uniform price computed to § 965.64 adjusted to the butterfat test of such milk by adding or subtracting, respectively, for each one-tenth of one percent that the butterfat content of such milk is above or below 3.5 percent, a butterfat differential as computed pursuant to § 965.76, and subtracting any charges and deductions made pursuant to § 965.72.

(b) On or before the 20th day after the end of each month, the market administrator shall pay, subject to the provisions of § 965.75, to each cooperative association authorized to receive payments due producers who market their milk through such cooperative association, the aggregate of payments calculated pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, for all producers certified to the market administrator by such cooperative association as having authorized such cooperative association to receive such payments. On or before the 20th day after the end of each month, the market administrator shall pay, subject to the provisions of § 965.75, direct to each producer who has not authorized a cooperative association to receive payments for such producer, the amount of the payment calculated for such producer pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) In computing the payment due each producer pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, the following differential for location is applicable: A deduction of 15 cents per hundredweight shall be made with respect to milk received from such producer at a pool plant located more than 45 miles, by shortest hard-surfaced highway distance as determined by the market administrator, from the City Hall in Cincinnati, Ohio.

§ 965.74 Expense of administration. As his pro rata share of the expense incurred in the maintenance and functioning of the office of the market administrator and in the performance of the duties of the market administrator, each handler shall pay to the market administrator, on or before the 17th day after the end of each month, 2 cents per hundredweight or such lesser amount as the Secretary may from time to time prescribe, with respect to all milk received from producers and produced by him during the month: Provided, That any cooperative association which has handled milk during the month under the conditions set forth in § 965.9, shall pay such pro rata share of expense of administration on only that quantity of milk so handled.

§ 965.75 Marketing services. (a) The market administrator shall deduct an amount not exceeding 6 cents per hundredweight (the exact amount to be determined by the market administrator) from the payments made pursuant to § 965.73 (b), with respect to the milk of those producers for whom the marketing services set forth in paragraph (b) of this section are not being performed by a cooperative association which the Secretary determines to be qualified under the provisions of the act of Congress of February 18, 1922, as amended, known as the "Capper-Volstead Act," for the purpose of performing the services set forth in paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) The moneys received by the market administrator pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section shall be expended by the market administrator for market information to, and for the verification of weights, samples, and tests of milk of, producers for whom a cooperative association, as described in paragraph (a) of this section, is not performing the same services on a comparable basis, as determined by the market administrator, subject to review of the Secretary.

§ 965.76 Butterfat differential to producers. In making payments for milk pursuant to § 965.73 (a) there shall be added to, or subtracted from the uniform price per hundredweight, for each one-tenth of 1 percent of butterfat content in such milk above or below 3.5 percent, as the case may be, a butterfat differential computed by the market administrator as follows:

(a) Compute the percentage of butterfat in each class derived from producer milk, as computed pursuant to § 965.46;

(b) Multiply each such percentage figure by the butterfat differential for the respective class pursuant to § 965.52; and

(c) Add into one total the value obtained in paragraph (b) of this section, rounding off the result to the nearest one-tenth cent.

§ 965.77 Termination of obligation. (a) The obligation of any handler to pay money required to be paid under the terms of this subpart shall, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, terminate two years after the last day of the calendar month during which the market administrator receives the handler's utilization report on the milk involved in such obligation, unless within such two-year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable. Service of such notice shall be complete upon mailing to the handler's last known address and it shall contain, but need not be limited to, the following information:

(1) The amount of the obligation;

The type test is as follows:

(b) Test by dropping on top chime, filled with dry finely powdered material to the gross weight at which container is marked, from height of 4 feet onto solid concrete so as to strike diagonally on the chime and so positioned when equipped with bolted ring type closure that crush pattern will terminate at closure joint. Closing devices and other parts projecting beyond chime or rolling hoops must also be capable of withstanding this test. A disc constructed of crepe paper or other suitable material may be used in addition to regular gasket over top of container before applying head for test purposes.

BURLEY TOBACCO MARKETING QUOTA REFERENDUM

The Secretary of Agriculture has, pursuant to Public Law 21, 84th Congress, redetermined the national marketing quota for Burley tobacco for the marketing year beginning October 1, 1955. A referendum of farmers who were engaged in the production of the 1954 crop of Burley tobacco will be held pursuant to the provisions of that law and applicable regulations, to determine whether such farmers are in favor of or opposed to such redetermined quota. The national marketing quota for Burley tobacco determined on November 26, 1954, for the 1955–56 marketing year and the State and farm marketing quotas and acreage allotments heretofore established pursuant thereto are of no effect.

Registration. The operator on each farm on which Burley tobacco was produced in 1954 should inform a county or community committeeman of the names and addresses of all persons sharing in the proceeds of such crop in order that their names may be listed on the register of eligible voters. The eligibility to vote of any person may be challenged if his name is not recorded on the registration list.

Eligibility to vote. 1. All persons who were engaged in the production of the 1954 crop of Burley tobacco are eligible to vote in the referendum. Any person who shared in the proceeds of the 1954 crop of Burley tobacco as owner (other than a landlord of a standing-rent or fixed-rent tenant), tenant, or share cropper, is considered as having been engaged in the production of such crop of tobacco in 1954.

2. If several members of the same family participated in the production of the 1954 crop of Burley tobacco on a farm, the only member or members of such family who shall be eligible to vote shall be the member or members of the family who had an independent bona fide status as operator, share tenant, or share cropper, and were entitled as such to share in the proceeds of the 1954 crop.

3. No person shall be eligible to vote in any community other than the community in which he resides except as follows:

(a) Any person who resides in a community in which there is no polling place shall be eligible to vote at the polling place designated for the community nearest to the community in which he was engaged in the production of Burley tobacco in 1954.

(b) Any person who does not reside in or who will not be present in the county in which he was engaged in the production of Burley tobacco in 1954 may obtain a ballot at the most conveniently located county committee office and may cast his ballot by signing his name thereto and mailing it so that the ballot reaches the county committee for the county in which he was engaged in the production of tobacco in 1954 not later than the closing hour on the date of the referendum.

4. There shall be no voting by mail (except as provided in par. 3 above), by proxy, or by agent, but a duly authorized officer of a corporation, association, or other legal entity or a duly authorized member of a partnership, may cast its vote.

5. Persons who planted tobacco in the field in 1954 but did not harvest any tobacco on such acreage for any reason except neglect to farm the planted acreage shall be regarded as having been engaged in the production of tobacco in 1954 and therefore eligible to vote in the referendum. Any farmer who did not plant tobacco in the field in 1954 shall not be eligible to vote.

6. No person (whether an individual, partnership, corporation, association, or other legal entity) shall be entitled to more than one vote in the referendum even though he may have been engaged in the production of tobacco on several farms in the same or in two or more communities, counties, or States in 1954.

7. In the event two or more persons were engaged in producing tobacco in 1954 not as members of a partnership but at tenants in common or joint tenants or as owners of community property, each such person shall be eligible to vote.

Time and place for balloting. The Burley tobacco marketing quota referendum wil be held on April 28, 1955. The place of voting and the hours which the polls wil be open for voting in each community will be announced by the ASC County Committee.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 8th day of April 1955. Witness my hand and the seal of the Department of Agriculture.

[SEAL] EARL L. BUTZ,
Assistant Secretary of Agriculture.

San Miguel Uranium Mines, Inc., of the Mineral Building, Grand Junction, Colorado, filed on January 6, 1955, with the Commission a Notification on Form 1-A relating to a proposed public offering of 2,000,000 shares of its common stock, one cent par value, at 15 cents per share for the purpose of obtaining an exemption from the registration requirements of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, pursuant to the provisions of section 3 (b) thereof and Regulation A promulgated thereunder.

The Commission on February 7, 1955 ordered, pursuant to Rule 223 (a) of the general rules and regulations under said act, that the conditional exemption under Regulation A be temporarily denied on the ground that the aggregate offering price of said securities would exceed the limitation of $300,000 as prescribed by Rule 217 (a) under the circumstances described in said order; and gave notice that, upon receipt of a written request, the matter would be set down for hearing within twenty days after receipt of such request at a place to be designated by the Commission, for the purpose of determining whether said temporary order of denial should be vacated.

It appears that San Miguel Uranium Mines, Inc. and Tellier & Co., the proposed underwriter under said Notification, have neither offered nor sold any securities under said Notification or distributed any offering circular or other literature in connection therewith; that San Miguel Uranium Mines, Inc. has abandoned all plans for any public offering of its securities either pursuant to said Regulation A or to the registration provisions of said act; and that Tellier & Co. has terminated the underwriting agreement with San Miguel Uranium Mines, Inc. and has severed any and all relationships or affiliations with San Miguel Uranium Mines, Inc. except as creditor in the sum of $25,000, demand for which has duly been made. San Miguel Uranium Mines, Inc. has requested that said temporary order of denial be vacated upon the understanding that "such vacating of the order would not, per se, establish the right of San Miguel Uranium Mines, Inc. to an exemption under Regulation A."

It appearing to the Commission that a hearing is not necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors and that the basis for said temporary order of denial, as aforesaid, no longer exists:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule 223 (b) of the general rules and regulations under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, that said temporary order of denial be, and it hereby is, vacated provided that the Commission reserves jurisdiction to reinstate at any time said temporary order of denial if the Commission finds that such action is necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors:

It is further ordered, That this order shall be served upon San Miguel Uranium Mines, Inc., and Tellier & Co. personally or by registered mail or by confirmed telegraphic notice, and shall be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Commission.

CENTRAL COAL CO.

NOTICE OF FILING REGARDING RECLASSIFICATION OF COMMON STOCK AND PAYMENT OF CASH DIVIDENDS FROM TIME TO TIME OUT OF CAPITAL SURPLUS ARISING FROM SUCH RECLASSIFICATION

APRIL 5, 1955.

Notice is hereby given that Central Coal Company ("Central Coal"), an indirect subsidiary of American Gas and Electric Company ("American Gas"), a registered holding company, has made a filing with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act"). The filing designates section 6 (a) of the act and Rule U-46 (a) as being applicable to the transactions proposed therein which are summarized as follows:

Central Coal is a coal mining company. In June 1953 it temporarily closed its mine and is presently on a standby basis as a reserve source of coal for its two parents, Appalachian Electric Power Company ("Appalachian") and Ohio Power Company ("Ohio Power"). The latter two companies are operating electric company subsidiaries of American Gas and each owns 50 percent of the common stock of Central Coal, the only outstanding securities of Central Coal.

Central Coal proposes, by charter amendment, to reduce the par value of its 57,500 shares of Common Stock from $100 per share to $1 per share, a total reduction of $5,692,500, and to transfer the total amount of $5,692,500 to Capital Surplus. Thereafter, from time to time, as Central Coal accumulates excess cash, it proposes to distribute this cash to Appalachian and Ohio Power as partial liquidating dividends and to charge the amounts of these dividends to Capital Surplus.

The filing states that prior to or in connection with the first dividend payment Central Coal will pay and charge to Earned Surplus a dividend equal to the balance of said Earned Surplus, which at December 31, 1954, amounted to $4,051.07.

It is estimated in the filing that fees and expenses, including legal fees of West Virginia counsel estimated at $100, will not exceed $250.

It is represented in the filing that no State commission and no Federal commission (other than the Securities and Exchange Commission) has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than April 25, 1955, at 5:30 p. m., e. d. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the reasons for such request, the nature of his interest and the issues of fact or law raised by said filing which he desires to controvert, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. At any time after said date, said declaration, as filed or as amended, may be permitted to become effective, as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may exempt such transactions as provided in Rules U-20 (a) and U-100 thereof.

By the Commission.

Secretary.

intends to sell the barley to CCC. If the producer has notified the county committee, on or before April 30, 1955, of his intention to sell the barley to CCC or to participate in this program, he may obtain a farm-storage loan on the barley. The loan documents must be executed by the producer on or before the final date for delivery specified in the delivery instructions, or on or before June 30, 1955, if the producer has not requested or received delivery instructions. The loan documents must be presented for disbursement within 15 days after execution. Disbursement of loans will be made to producers by approved lending agencies under an agreement with CCC, or by ASC county offices by means of sight drafts drawn on CCC. Payment in cash, credit to the producer's account, or the drawing of a check or draft shall constitute disbursement. The producer shall not present the loan documents for disbursement unless the commodity is in existence and in good condition. If the commodity was not in existence and in good condition at the time of disbursement, the total amount disbursed under the loan shall be promptly refunded by the producer. In the event the amount disbursed exceeds the amount authorized under this subpart, the producer shall be personally liable for repayment of the amount of such excess.

(c) Source. A producer desiring to participate in the reseal loan program should make application to the county committee which approved his loan or purchase agreement. Disbursements of loans completed on barley covered by purchase agreements shall be made to producers by ASC county offices by means of sight drafts drawn on CCC or by approved lending agencies under agreements with CCC.

§ 421.463 Eligible producer. An eligible producer shall be any individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other legal entity who produced the barley in 1954 as landowner, landlord, tenant, or sharecropper and who either completed a farm-storage loan or signed a purchase agreement covering barley of the 1954 crop.

§ 421.464 Eligible barley—(a) Requirements of eligibility. The barley (1) must meet the requirements set forth in § 421.453 (a), (b), and (c), as amended, and must not grade Tough, Weevily, Blighted, Bleached, Ergoty or Smutty; (2) must be under price support loan or purchase agreement; and (3) must be of a quality which meets sanitation requirements of the Federal Food and Drug Administration in effect at the time the loan is extended or made. Information concerning such requirements may be obtained at the ASC county office.

(b) Inspection—(1) Extended farm-storage loans. If a producer makes application to extend his farm-storage loan, the commodity loan inspector shall, with the producer, reinspect the barley and the farm-storage structure in which the barley is stored. If recommended by either the commodity loan inspector or the producer, a sample of the barley shall be taken and submitted for grade analysis.

(2) Barley covered by purchase agreement. If a producer makes application for a farm-storage loan on barley covered by a purchase agreement, the commodity loan inspector shall inspect the barley and storage structure, obtain a sample if the barley and structure appear eligible, and proceed in the regular manner for the inspection of a commodity to be placed under loan.

(c) Determination of quality. Quality determinations shall be made as set forth in § 421.456: Provided, That determinations with respect to the sanitation requirements specified in paragraph (a) of this section shall be made in accordance with instructions issued by CCC. Such instructions will be available for examination at the ASC county office.

§ 421.465 Approved storage. Barley covered by any loans extended and any new loans completed must be stored in structures which meet the requirements for farm-storage loans as provided in § 421.406 (a). Consent for storage for any loans extended or new loans completed must be obtained by the producer for the period ending May 31, 1956, in the States of Arizona and California, and ending June 30, 1956, in all other States in which the program is available, if the structure is owned or controlled by someone other than the producer, or if the lease expires prior to May 31, 1956, or June 30, 1956, whichever is applicable.

§ 421.466 Approved forms. (a) The approved forms, which together with the provisions of this subpart govern the rights and responsibilities of the producer, shall consist of a Producer's Note and Supplemental Loan Agreement, Commodity Loan Form A, secured by a Commodity Chattel Mortgage on Commodity Loan Form AA, and such other forms and documents as may be prescribed by CCC. Notes and chattel mortgages must have State and documentary revenue stamps affixed thereto where required by law. Loan documents executed by an administrator, executor or trustee will be acceptable only where legally valid.

(b) Where required by State Law, a new producer's note and chattel mortgage shall be completed when a farm-storage loan is extended.

§ 421.467 Quantity eligible for reseal. (a) The quantity of barley eligible for reseal on an extended farm-storage loan will be the quantity shown on the original note and chattel mortgage, less any quantity delivered or redeemed.

(b) A producer may obtain a loan on not in excess of the quantity of barley specified in the purchase agreement, minus any quantity of the barley under such purchase agreement (1) which has been previously placed under a loan or (2) on which he exercises his option to sell to CCC.

§ 421.468 Additional service charges. (a) When a farm-storage loan is extended, the producer will not be required to pay an additional service charge.

(b) At the time a farm-storage loan is made to the producer on barley covered by a purchase agreement, the producer shall pay an additional service charge of ½ cent per bushel on the number of bushels placed under loan, or $1.50, whichever is greater. No refund of service charges will be made.

§ 421.469 Transfer of producer's equity. The producer shall not transfer either his remaining interest in or his right to redeem the barley mortgaged as security for a loan under this program. A producer who wishes to liquidate all or part of his loan by contracting for the sale of the barley must obtain written prior approval of the county committee on Commodity Loan Form 12 to remove the barley from storage when the proceeds of the sale are needed to repay all or any part of the loan. Any such approval shall be subject to the terms and conditions set out in Commodity Loan Form 12, copies of which may be obtained by producers or prospective purchasers at the office of the county committee.

§ 421.470 Storage and track-loading payments—(a) Storage payment. A reseal storage payment will be made as follows:

(1) Storage payment for full reseal period. A storage payment computed at the rate of 14 cents per bushel in the States of Arizona and California and at the rate of 15 cents per bushel in all other States will be made to the producer on the quantity involved if he (i) redeems barley from the loan on or after March 31, 1956, in the States of Arizona and California or, on or after April 30, 1956, in all other States, (ii) delivers the barley to CCC on or after March 31, 1956, in the States of Arizona and California or, on or after April 30, 1956, in all other States, or (iii) delivers the barley to CCC prior to March 31, 1956, in the States of Arizona and California or, prior to April 30, 1956, in all other States, pursuant to demand by CCC for repayment of the loan solely for the convenience of CCC, if the commodity was not damaged or otherwise impaired due to negligence on the part of the producer.

(2) Prorated storage payment. (i) A prorated storage payment computed at the rate of 0.00051 per bushel a day (but not to exceed 14 cents per bushel) in the States of Arizona and California and at the rate of 0.00049 per bushel a day (but not to exceed 15 cents per bushel), in all other States, according to the length of time the quantity of barley involved was in store after June 30, 1955, will be made to the producer (a) in the case of loss assumed by CCC under the provisions of the loan program, (b) in the case of barley redeemed from the loan prior to March 31, 1956, in the States of Arizona and California or, prior to April 30, 1956, in all other States and (c) in the case of barley delivered to CCC prior to March 31, 1956, in the States of Arizona and California or, prior to April 30, 1956, in all other States, pursuant to its demand and not solely for the convenience of CCC, or upon request of the producer and with the approval of CCC: Provided, however, That no storage payment will be made where the delivered barley is damaged or otherwise impaired due to negligence on the part of the producer. In the case of losses assumed by CCC, the period for computing the storage payment shall end on the date of the loss; and in the case of redemptions, on the date of repayment.

(3) In no case will any storage payment be made where the producer has made any false representation in the loan documents or in obtaining the loan, or where the barley has been abandoned, or where there has been conversion on the part of the producer.

(b) Track-loading payment. A track-loading payment of 3 cents per bushel will be made to the producer on barley delivered to CCC, in accordance with instructions of the county committee, on track at a country point.

§ 421.471 Maturity and satisfaction. (a) Loans will mature on demand but not later than March 31, 1956, in the States of Arizona and California and not later than April 30, 1956, in all other States in which the program is available. The producer must pay off his loan, plus interest, on or before maturity or deliver the mortgaged barley in accordance with the instructions of the county committee. Credit will be given at the applicable settlement value according to grade and/or quality for the total quantity eligible for delivery. Delivery of barley will be accepted only from bin(s) in which the barley under reseal loan is stored. The provisions of § 421.418 (a), (c), and (e) (2) and (3), and of § 421.460 (a) (1) shall be applicable thereto: Provided, That, if upon delivery, the barley is of a quality which does not meet sanitation requirements (§ 421.464 (a) (3)) in effect at the time the loan was extended or at the time the loan was made on barley covered by a purchase agreement, the barley shall be sold to the highest bidder for feed, or for industrial uses other than food and beverages, and the basic settlement value, per bushel, shall be the same as the sales price.

§ 421.472 Support rates. (a) The support rate for an extended farm-storage loan shall remain the same as for the original loan. The support rate for barley covered by a purchase agreement placed under a farm-storage loan shall be the same as the support rate established for the barley in § 421.458 (c).

(b) Any discounts established for variation in quality as shown in § 421.458 (d) shall apply.

Payment in cash, credit to the producer's account, or the drawing of a check or draft shall constitute disbursement. The producer shall not present the loan documents for disbursement unless the oats are in existence and in good condition. Information concerning such requirements may be obtained at the ASC county office.

(b) Inspection—(1) Extended farm-storage loans. If a producer makes application to extend his farm-storage loan, the commodity loan inspector shall, with the producer, reinspect the oats and the farm-storage structure in which the oats are stored. If recommended by either the commodity loan inspector or the producer, a sample of the oats shall be taken and submitted for grade analysis.

(2) Oats covered by purchase agreement. If a producer makes application for a farm-storage loan on oats covered by a purchase agreement, the commodity loan inspector shall inspect the oats and storage structure, obtain a sample if the oats and structure appear eligible, and proceed in the regular manner for the inspection of a commodity to be placed under loan.

Any such approval shall be subject to the terms and conditions set out in Commodity Loan Form 12, copies of which may be obtained by producers or prospective purchasers at the office of the county committee.

§ 421.570 Storage and track-loading payments—(a) Storage payment. A reseal storage payment will be made as follows:

§ 421.572 Support rates. The support rate for an extended farm-storage loan shall remain the same as for the original loan. The support rate for oats covered by a purchase agreement placed under a farm-storage loan shall be the support rate established for the oats in § 421.558.

§ 421.611 Applicable sections of 1954 C. C. C. Grain Price Support Bulletin 1, and Supplements 1 and 2, Rye. The following sections of the 1954 C. C. C. Grain Price Support Bulletin 1, as amended, and Supplements 1 and 2, Rye, as amended, published in 19 F. R. 967, 1595, 1810, 3124, 4178, 4399, 5079, 5593, 5594, 6901 and 7103, and 20 F. R. 911 and 1551, shall be applicable to the 1954 Rye Reseal Loan Program: § 421.401 Administration; § 421.405 Approved lending agencies; § 421.408 Liens; § 421.410 Set-offs; § 421.411 Interest rate; § 421.413 Safeguarding the commodity; § 421.414 Insurance on farm-storage loans; § 421.415 Loss or damage to the commodity; § 421.416 Personal liability of the producer; § 421.417 Release of the commodity under loan; § 421.419 Foreclosure; § 421.420 Purchase of notes; § 421.605 Determination of quantity. Other sections of the 1954 C. C. C. Grain Price Support Bulletin 1, as amended, and Supplements 1 and 2, Rye, as amended, shall be applicable to the extent indicated in this subpart.

§ 421.612 Availability—(a) Area and scope. The reseal program will be available in areas in the following States where ASC State committees determine that there may be a shortage of storage space and that rye can be safely stored on farms for the period of the reseal loan: California, Colorado, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Mexico, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Texas, Washington, Wisconsin and Wyoming. This program provides, under certain circumstances, for the extension of 1954-crop farm-storage loans and the making of farm-storage loans on 1954-crop rye covered by purchase agreements. Neither warehouse-storage loans nor purchase agreements will be available to producers under this program.

(b) Time. (1) The producer who desires to participate in the reseal loan program must file an application for a farm-storage reseal loan with the county committee.

(2) In the case of a farm-storage loan, the producer will be required to apply for extension of his loan before the final date for delivery specified in the delivery instructions issued to him by the county committee.

(3) The producer who signed a purchase agreement on farm-stored rye is required, under the 1954 Rye Price Support Program, to notify the county committee not later than April 30, 1955, in the case of rye stored in any of the States listed in paragraph (a) of this section, if he intends to sell the rye to CCC. If the producer has notified the county committee, on or before April 30, 1955, of his intention to sell the rye to CCC or to participate in this program, he may obtain a farm-storage loan on the rye. The loan documents must be executed by the producer on or before the final date for delivery specified in the delivery instructions, or before June 30, 1955, if the producer has not requested or received delivery instructions. The loan documents must be presented for disbursement within 15 days after execution. Disbursement of loans will be made to producers by approved lending agencies under an agreement with CCC, or by ASC county offices by means of sight drafts drawn on CCC. Payment in cash, credit to the producer's account, or the drawing of a check or draft shall constitute disbursement. The producer shall not present the loan documents for disbursement unless the rye is in existence and in good condition. If the rye was not in existence and in good condition at the time of disbursement, the total amount disbursed under the loan shall be promptly refunded by the producer. In the event the amount disbursed exceeds the amount authorized under this subpart, the producer shall be personally liable for repayment of the amount of such excess.

(c) Source. A producer desiring to participate in the reseal loan program should make application to the county committee which approved his loan or purchase agreement. Disbursements of loans completed on rye covered by purchase agreements shall be made to producers by ASC county offices by means of sight drafts drawn on CCC or by approved lending agencies under agreements with CCC.

§ 421.613 Eligible producer. An eligible producer shall be any individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other legal entity who produced the rye in 1954 as landowner, landlord, tenant, or sharecropper and who either completed a farm-storage loan or signed a purchase agreement covering rye of the 1954 crop.

§ 421.614 Eligible rye—(a) Requirements of eligibility. The rye (1) must meet the requirements set forth in § 421.603 (a), (b), and (c) and must not grade Tough, Light Smutty, Smutty, Light Garlicky, Garlicky, Weevily, nor contain in excess of 1 percent ergot; (2) must be under price support loan or purchase agreement; and (3) must be of a quality which meets sanitation requirements of the Federal Food and Drug Administration in effect at the time the loan is extended or made. Information concerning such requirements may be obtained at the ASC county office.

(b) Inspection—(1) Extended farm-storage loans. If a producer makes application to extend his farm-storage loan, the commodity loan inspector shall, with the producer, reinspect the rye and the farm-storage structure in which the rye is stored. If recommended by either the commodity loan inspector or the producer, a sample of the rye shall be taken and submitted for grade analysis.

(2) Rye covered by purchase agreement. If a producer makes application for a farm-storage loan on rye covered by a purchase agreement, the commodity loan inspector shall inspect the rye and storage structure, obtain a sample if the rye and structure appear eligible, and proceed in the regular manner for the inspection of a commodity to be placed under loan.

(c) Determination of quality. Quality determinations shall be made as set forth in § 421.606: Provided, That determinations with respect to the sanitation requirements specified in paragraph (a) of this section shall be made in accordance with instructions issued by CCC. Such instructions will be available for examination at the ASC county office.

§ 421.615 Approved storage. Rye covered by any loans extended and any new loans completed must be stored in structures which meet the requirements for farm-storage loans as provided in § 421.406 (a). Consent for storage for any loans extended or new loans completed must be obtained by the producer for the period ending June 30, 1956, if the structure is owned or controlled by someone other than the producer, or if the lease expires prior to June 30, 1956.

§ 421.616 Approved forms. (a) The approved forms, which together with the provisions of this subpart govern the rights and responsibilities of the producer, shall consist of a Producer's Note and Supplemental Loan Agreement, Commodity Loan Form A, secured by a Commodity Chattel Mortgage on Commodity Loan Form AA, and such other forms and documents as may be prescribed by CCC. Notes and chattel mortgages must have State and documentary revenue stamps affixed thereto where required by law. Loan documents executed by an administrator, executor, or trustee will be acceptable only where legally valid.

(b) Where required by State Law, a new producer's note and chattel mortgage shall be completed when a farm-storage loan is extended.

§ 421.617 Quantity eligible for reseal ing. (a) The quantity of rye eligible for reseal on an extended farm-storage loan will be the quantity shown on the original note and chattel mortgage, less any quantity delivered or redeemed.

(b) A producer may obtain a loan on not in excess of the quantity of rye specified in the purchase agreement, minus any quantity of the rye under such purchase agreement (1) which has been previously placed under a loan or (2) on which he exercises his option to sell to CCC.

§ 421.618 Additional service charges. (a) When a farm-storage loan is extended, the producer will not be required to pay an additional service charge.

(b) At the time a farm-storage loan is made to the producer on rye covered by a purchase agreement, the producer shall pay an additional service charge of ½ cent per bushel on the number of bushels placed under loan, or $1.50, whichever is greater. No refund of service charges will be made.

§ 421.619 Transfer of producer's equity. The producer shall not transfer either his remaining interest in or his right to redeem the rye mortgaged as security for a loan under this program. A producer who wishes to liquidate all or part of his loan by contracting for the sale of the rye must obtain written prior approval of the county committee on Commodity Loan Form 12 to remove the rye from storage when the proceeds of the sale are needed to repay all or any part of the loan. Any such approval shall be subject to the terms and conditions set out in Commodity Loan Form 12, copies of which may be obtained by producers or prospective purchasers at the office of the county committee.

(1) Storage payment for full reseal period: A storage payment for the full reseal period will be made to the producer on the quantity involved if he (i) redeems rye from the loan on or after April 30, 1956, (ii) delivers the rye to CCC on or after April 30, 1956, or (iii) delivers the rye to CCC prior to April 30, 1956, pursuant to demand by CCC for repayment of the loan solely for the convenience of CCC, if the commodity was not damaged, or otherwise impaired due to negligence on the part of the producer. Such storage payment will be computed at the rate of 14 cents per bushel in the States of California, Idaho, Oregon, and Washington; 15 cents per bushel in the States of Colorado, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wisconsin, and Wyoming; and 16 cents per bushel in the States of Indiana, Michigan, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, and Texas.

(2) Prorated storage payment: A storage payment determined by prorating such yearly rate according to the length of time the quantity of rye involved was in store after June 30, 1955, will be made to the producer (i) in the case of loss assumed by CCC under the provisions of the loan program, (ii) in the case of rye redeemed from the loan prior to April 30, 1956, and (iii) in the case of rye delivered to CCC pursuant to its demand and not solely for the convenience of CCC, or upon request of the producer and with the approval of CCC, prior to April 30, 1956: Provided, however, That no storage payments will be made where the delivered rye is damaged or otherwise impaired due to negligence on the part of the producer. The prorated storage payment will be computed at the rate of 0.00046 per bushel a day (but not to exceed 14 cents per bushel) in the States of California, Idaho, Oregon and Washington; 0.00049 per bushel a day (but not to exceed 15 cents per bushel) in the States of Colorado, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wisconsin, and Wyoming; and 0.00053 per bushel a day (but not to exceed 16 cents per bushel) in the States of Indiana, Michigan, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, and Texas. In the case of losses assumed by CCC, the period for computing the storage payment shall end on the date of the loss; and in the case of redemptions, on the date of repayment.

(3) In no case will any storage payment be made where the producer has made any false representation in the loan documents or in obtaining the loan or where the rye has been abandoned, or where there has been conversion on the part of the producer.

(b) Track-loading payment. A track-loading payment of 3 cents per bushel will be made to the producer on rye delivered to CCC, in accordance with instructions of the county committee, on track at a country point.

§ 421.621 Maturity and satisfaction. (a) Loans will mature on demand but not later than April 30, 1956. The producer must pay off his loan, plus interest, on or before maturity or deliver the mortgaged rye in accordance with the instructions of the county committee. Credit will be given at the applicable settlement value according to grade and/or quality for the total quantity eligible for delivery. Delivery of rye will be accepted only from bin(s) in which the rye under reseal loan is stored. The provisions of § 421.418 (a), (c), and (e) (2) and (3), and of § 421.610 (a) (1) shall be applicable thereto: Provided, That, if upon delivery, the rye is of a quality which does not meet sanitation requirements (§ 421.614 (a) (3)) in effect at the time the loan was extended or at the time the loan was made on rye covered by a purchase agreement, the rye shall be sold to the highest bidder for feed, or for industrial uses other than food and beverages, and the basic settlement value, per bushel, shall be the same as the sales price.

§ 421.622 Support rates. (a) The support rate for an extended farm-storage loan shall remain the same as for the original loan. The support rate for rye covered by a purchase agreement placed under a farm-storage loan shall be the same as the support rate established for the rye in § 421.608 (d) (2).

(b) Any discounts established for variation in quality as shown in § 421.608 (d) (3) shall apply.

Chapter IX—Agricultural Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

[Valencia Orange Reg. 29]

PART 922—VALENCIA ORANGES GROWN IN ARIZONA AND DESIGNATED PART OF CALIFORNIA

LIMITATION OF HANDLING

§ 922.329 Valencia Orange Regulation 29—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to Order No. 22 (19 F. R. 1741), regulating the handling of Valencia oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California, effective March 31, 1954, under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Valencia Orange Administrative Committee, established under the said order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of such Valencia oranges, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. The Valencia Orange Administrative Committee held an open meeting on April 7, 1955, after giving due notice thereof, to consider supply and market conditions for Valencia oranges and the need for regulation; interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit information and views at this meeting; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified herein was promptly submitted to the Department after such meeting was held; the provisions of this section, including its effective time, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such Valencia oranges; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective during the period herein specified; and compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject thereto which cannot be completed on or before the effective date of this section.

(b) Order. (1) The quantity of Valencia oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California which may be handled during the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., April 10, 1955, and ending at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., April 17, 1955, is hereby fixed as follows:

(i) District 1: 16,827 boxes;

(ii) District 2: Unlimited movement;

(iii) District 3: Unlimited movement.

(2) Valencia oranges handled pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be subject to any size restrictions applicable thereto which have heretofore been issued on the handling of such oranges and which are effective during the period specified herein.

(3) As used in this section, "handled," "handler," "boxes," "District 1," "District 2," and "District 3," shall have the same meaning as when used in said order.

The amendment imposes certain further restrictions necessary to prevent the spread of vesicular exanthema, and relieves certain restrictions presently imposed. It must be made effective immediately to accomplish its purpose in the public interest and to be of maximum benefit to persons subject to the restrictions which are relieved. Accordingly, under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003), it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the amendment are impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and good cause is found for making the amendment effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 7, 23 Stat. 32, as amended, secs. 1, 2, 32 Stat. 791-792, as amended, secs. 1, 3, 33 Stat. 1264, as amended, 1265, as amended; 21 U. S. C. 111-113, 117, 120, 123, 125)

Whereas it appears that said rules for this industry do not in some respects accurately reflect existing requirements of law, and members of this industry generally are not interested in having such rules revised; and

Whereas under the circumstances proceedings for revision of the rules for this industry do not appear to be warranted:

It is ordered, That the said rules be and the same are hereby rescinded.

TITLE 19—CUSTOMS DUTIES

Chapter I—Bureau of Customs, Department of the Treasury

[T. D. 53773]

DEFINITION OF "FAIR VALUE"

In order to clarify, simplify, and make more effective and uniform the administration of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended, § 14.7 of the customs regulations is amended to read as follows:

§ 14.7 Fair value—(a) Definition.[*] For the purposes of section 201 (a) of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended (19 U. S. C. 160 (a)), the fair value of imported merchandise shall be determined as follows:

(1) Fair value based on price in country of exportation; the usual test. Merchandise imported into the United States will ordinarily be considered to have been sold at less than fair value if the purchase price, or exporter's sales price (as defined in sections 203 and 204 respectively of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended (19 U. S. C. 162, 163)) as the case may be, is less than the price (after adjustment, as provided for in section 205 of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended (19 U. S. C. 164)) at which such or similar merchandise is sold by the foreign producer for consumption in the country of exportation on or about the date of purchase or agreement to purchase of the merchandise imported into the United States or, in the case of merchandise imported on consignment, the date of exportation thereof.

(2) Fair value based on sales in country of exportation and in other countries, not including United States. If, however, it is demonstrated that during a representative period the quantity of such or similar merchandise sold by the foreign producer for consumption in the country of exportation is so small, in relation to the quantity sold by such producer for exportation otherwise than to the United States, as to be an inadequate basis for comparison, then merchandise imported into the United States will ordinarily be deemed to have been sold at less than fair value if the purchase price or the exporter's sales price (as defined in sections 203 and 204, respectively, of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended (19 U. S. C. 162, 163)), as the case may be, is less than the price (after adjustment, as provided for in section 205 of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended (19 U. S. C. 164)) at which such or similar merchandise is sold by the foreign producer otherwise than for exportation to the United States (i. e., for consumption in the country of exportation and for exportation otherwise than to the United States) on or about the date of purchase or agreement to purchase of the merchandise imported into the United States or, in the case of merchandise imported on consignment, the date of exportation thereof. Sales "otherwise than for exportation to the United States" shall not include consignments to the United States to be sold after arrival in the United States.

(3) Determination based on sales by other foreign producers. If the Secretary of the Treasury determines that sales in the country of exportation, or to countries other than the United States, are not sufficient to form an adequate basis for comparison, he may use sales by other foreign producers of such or similar merchandise in the country of exportation or to countries other than the United States, or the cost of production (as defined in section 206 (19 U. S. C. 165)) of such or similar merchandise, as the basis for determining the foreign market value.

(4) Fictitious sales. Sales which the Secretary of the Treasury determines to be fictitious, or not made in the ordinary course of trade, may be disregarded in determining foreign market value.

(5) Constructed value. If the Secretary of the Treasury determines that neither sales of such or similar merchandise in the country of exportation nor sales to countries other than the United States afford a proper basis for determining foreign market value, he may use the constructed value (as defined in section 206 (19 U. S. C. 165)) of the imported merchandise as the basis for determining foreign market value.

(6) Adjustments. Due allowance shall be made for any difference between the circumstances of sale in the two markets compared, or between the circumstances of sale in the market compared and the circumstances of sale in the United States, which is established to affect price comparability, including differences in packing, differences in quantities sold, differences in terms of sale, differences in taxes, and differences in selling expenses incurred by or for the account of the producer or exporter, as the case may be, in the two markets compared, or in the market compared and the United States, which are wholly or partly due to the fact that the sales compared were made at different levels of trade. Due allowance shall be made for any amount included in the price of such or similar merchandise for any costs, charges, or expenses which are not included in the price of the imported merchandise and which are incident to bringing the merchandise from the shipping point of exportation to the place of delivery in the United States, and for any amount included in the price of such or similar merchandise for any costs, charges, or expenses which are not included in the purchase price or exporter's sales price of the imported merchandise and which are incident to bringing the merchandise from the shipping point of exportation to the place of delivery in the country of exportation tary deems the available information as to the prices of the foreign producer insufficient or inadequate, he may determine fair value under subparagraph (1) or (2) of this paragraph on the basis of prices of other foreign producers or sellers in the same country for similar merchandise.

(4) Fair value based on cost of production. If the information available is deemed by the Secretary insufficient or inadequate for a determination under subparagraph (1), (2), or (3) of this paragraph, he will determine fair value on the basis of the cost of production as defined in section 206 of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended (19 U. S. C. 165).

(b) Calculation of fair value. In calculating fair value under section 201 (a) Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended, (19 U. S. C. 160 (a)), the following criteria shall be applicable:

(1) Quantities and circumstances of sale. In comparing the purchase price or exporter's sales price, as the case may be, with the sales on which a determination of fair value is to be based, a reasonable allowance may be made for any differences in quantities and circumstances of sale.

mation as to sales made for consumption in the country of exportation or otherwise than for exportation to the United States over a significant period of time immediately preceding the date of purchase or agreement to purchase, or exportation.

EXAMPLES FOR PURPOSES OF ILLUSTRATION

A few examples of what would and what would not be considered sales at less than fair value are given below. With the exception of Examples 4 and 5, it is assumed that individual sales are in the same average quantities and with the exception of Examples 6 and 7, that they are also made under the same circumstances.

It must be understood that these examples of necessity oversimplify for purposes of illustration. Each actual case of alleged sales at less than fair value must be considered in the light of all relevant facts, and it may be seldom that cases will be presented for consideration which are as free of complications as are the cases cited in these examples.

(2) Offering price. The foreign producer's offering price may be considered in the absence of sales.

(3) Sales agency. If the foreign producer sells through a sales agency or other organization related to such producer in any of the respects described in section 207 of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended (19 U. S. C. 166), the prices at which the producer's merchandise is sold by such sales agency or other organization may be used in determining whether there have been sales at less than fair value.

(4) Fictitious sales. In the determination of fair value, no pretended sale or offer for sale, and no sale or offer for sale intended to establish a fictitious market, shall be taken into account.

(5) Sales at varying prices. Where the prices in the sales which are being examined for a determination of fair value vary (after adjustment as provided for in section 205 of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended, (19 U. S. C. 164) and after allowances contemplated by paragraph (b) (1) above), determination of fair value will take into account the prices of a preponderance of the merchandise thus sold, weighted averages of the prices of the merchandise thus sold, or any other available criteria that the Secretary may deem reasonable.

(6) Quantities involved and differences in price. Merchandise will not be deemed to have been sold at less than fair value unless the quantity involved in the sale or sales to the United States, or the difference between the purchase price or exporter's sales price, as the case may be, and the fair value, is more than insignificant.

(R. S. 161, 251, sec. 624; 46 Stat. 759; 5 U. S. C. 22, 19 U. S. C. 66, 1624)

Notices of the proposed amendment of the regulations to define fair value were published in the Federal Register on June 22, 1954, and November 4, 1954 (19 F. R. 3795, 7157). After full consideration of data and views submitted, the above regulations have been adopted. These regulations will become effective thirty days after the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

[SEAL] RALPH KELLY,
Commissioner of Customs.

Approved: April 8, 1955.

H. CHAPMAN ROSE,
Acting Secretary of the Treasury.

[F. R. Doc. 55-3054; Filed, Apr. 8, 1955; 5:08 p. m.]

Sales for consumption in country of exportation	Sales for exportation otherwise than to the United States	Sales to the United States
75,000 units at $1.00	25,000 units at $0.91	15,000 units at $0.90.

The quantity of sales of this product in the country of exportation, amounting to 75,000 units, is sufficiently large in relation to the total of 100,000 units sold otherwise than for exportation to the United States to constitute an adequate basis for comparison with sales to the United States. (See paragraph (a) (1) and (2) of this section.) The price for sale to the United States is less than the price in the country of exportation. The foreign producer is therefore selling in the United States at less than fair value. This will be so even if the home market sales involve a restriction for which allowance need not be made because of circumstances of sale (such a restriction might be the typical limitation of right of resale to a specified area) and the third country sales are freely offered, so that the foreign market value under section 205 of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended (19 U. S. C. 164) is $0.91.

Example 2. A foreign producer has made the following sales of a particular product:

Sales for consumption in country of exportation	Sales for exportation otherwise than to the United States	Sales to the United States
25,000 units at $0.95	75,000 units at $0.90	15,000 units at $0.90.

The foreign producer can show that the quantity of sales of this product in the country of exportation, amounting to 25,000 units, is so small in relation to the total of 100,000 units sold otherwise than for exportation to the United States, as to be an inadequate basis for comparison with sales to the United States. Determination of fair value will therefore be based on the selling price otherwise than for exportation to the United States, pursuant to paragraph (a) (2) of this section. In the absence of special circumstances it would appear that the sales for exportation to the United States were not below fair value, whether determined on the basis of variation below a preponderance of other sales, or a weighted average of such sales, or otherwise. This may be so even if the home market sales are freely offered and therefore represent the foreign market value, and the third country sales are restricted, provided that the restriction is one (such as the typical limitation of right of resale to a specified area) for which allowance need not be made because of the circumstances of the sale.

Example 3. A foreign producer has sold his merchandise for consumption in the country of exportation at or about the date of the sale or exportation to the United States at the following prices:

900 tons at $32.50 ton.
1,000 tons at $33.10 ton.

Sales to the United States have been made by this supplier in the same average quantities at a uniform price of $32.90 per ton during the period. The difference in price between the producer's home market sales or any average thereof and his sales to the United States is so slight that it will not be regarded as more than insignificant unless such factors as small margin of profit and the sensitive condition of the market justify a contrary conclusion.

Example 4. A foreign producer makes all of his sales, other than those to the United States, for consumption in the country of exportation. The majority of the merchandise thus sold by him is sold at list prices, net. However, a discount of 5 percent is granted on sales of more than 500 tons. Sales to the United States are at list prices less 10 percent and have been in quantities of 10,000 tons or more. There have been no other sales by this producer in such quantities. Since the discount appears to be a reasonable one in view of the difference in quantities, the sales will not be considered to have been made at less than fair value in the absence of evidence that the price differential was not due to the differences in quantities.

The same result could obtain if the pricing pattern showed a differential because of quantity even though there were no list prices, or the list prices did not specify quantity discounts. This is shown in Example 5.

The tentative conclusions set forth below cannot, therefore, be considered as decisions which are binding upon the Secretary of the Treasury. They are in particular subject to the qualification that there may be other factors present, not here stated, or not sufficiently emphasized for the purposes of an actual case, which would lead to different or opposite results.

As is the case in respect of other laws administered in whole or in part by him, the Commissioner of Customs stands ready to answer specific inquiries arising under the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended, which relate to contemplated transactions, to the best of his ability, notably those involving questions as to whether paragraph (a) (1) or (2) of this section applies, and questions as to the method of computation which may be used in connection with paragraph (b) (5) of this section.

Example 1. A foreign producer has made the following sales of a particular product over a representative period:

1. The section headnote and paragraph (a) of § 141c.211 are amended to read as follows:

§ 141c.211 Chlortetracycline surgical powder (chlortetracycline hydrochloride surgical powder); tetracycline hydrochloride surgical powder—(a) Potency. If it is chlortetracycline proceed as directed in § 141c.201 (a), and if it is tetracycline hydrochloride proceed as directed in § 141c.218 (a).

2. Section 141c.212 Chlortetracycline suppositories is amended as follows:

a. The section headnote is changed to read: § 141c.212 Chlortetracycline suppositories (chlortetracycline hydrochloride suppositories); tetracycline hydrochloride suppositories".

b. Paragraph (a) Potency is amended by inserting the following clause at the beginning of the first sentence: "If they are tetracycline hydrochloride suppositories, proceed as directed in § 141c.218 (a); and if they are chlortetracycline suppositories, proceed * * *" and by changing the word "chlortetracycline" in the last sentence of the paragraph to read "chlortetracycline or tetracycline hydrochloride".

3. Section 146c.211 Chlortetracycline surgical powder * * * is amended in the following respects:

a. The section headnote and paragraph (a) are changed to read:

§ 146c.211 Chlortetracycline surgical powder (chlortetracycline hydrochloride surgical powder); tetracycline hydrochloride surgical powder—(a) Standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity. Chlortetracycline surgical powder and tetracycline hydrochloride surgical powder are crystalline chlortetracycline or crystalline tetracycline hydrochloride, with or without suitable and harmless diluents, preservatives, and lubricants. The content of chlortetracycline or tetracycline hydrochloride is not less than 50 milligrams per gram of powder. It is sterile. Its moisture content is not more than 2 percent. The chlortetracycline used conforms to the requirements of § 146c.201 (a), except § 146c.201 (a) (4) and (5). The tetracycline hydrochloride used conforms to the requirements of § 146c.218 (a), except § 146c.218 (a) (4) and (5). Each other substance used, if its name is recognized in the U. S. P. or N. F., conforms to the standards prescribed therefor by such official compendium.

b. Paragraph (c) Labeling is amended by deleting the word "chlortetracycline" from the introduction to the paragraph and by changing the word "chlortetracycline" in subparagraph (1) (ii) to read "chlortetracycline or tetracycline hydrochloride".

c. In paragraph (d) Request for certification; samples, subparagraph (1) is amended by deleting the words "of chlortetracycline surgical powder" and by changing the word "chlortetracycline" to read "chlortetracycline or teracycline hydrochloride" in the two remaining places at which it occurs.

d. Paragraph (d) (2) (ii) is changed to read as follows:

(ii) The chlortetracycline or tetracycline hydrochloride used in making the batch; potency, sterility, toxicity, moisture, pH, crystallinity, and extinction coefficient if it is tetracycline hydrochloride.

e. Paragraph (d) (3) (ii) is amended by changing the word "chlortetracycline" to read "chlortetracycline or tetracycline hydrochloride".

f. Paragraph (e) Fees is amended by deleting the words "of chlortetracycline surgical powder" from the introduction to the paragraph.

4. Section 146c.212 Chlortetracycline suppositories * * * is amended in the following respects:

a. The section headnote and paragraph (a) are changed to read:

§ 146c.212 Chlortetracycline suppositories (chlortetracycline hydrochloride suppositories); tetracycline hydrochloride suppositories—(a) Standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity. Chlortetracycline suppositories and tetracycline hydrochloride suppositories are suppositories composed of crystalline chlortetracycline or tetracycline hydrochloride in a suitable and harmless base, with or without one or more suitable and harmless preservatives. The potency of each suppository is not less than 100 milligrams, except if it is intended for rectal use its potency is not less than 50 milligrams. Its moisture content is not more than 1 percent. The chlortetracycline used conforms to the requirements of § 146c.201 (a), except § 146c.201 (a) (1), (2), (4), and (5), but its potency is not less than 750 micrograms per milligram. The tetracycline hydrochloride used conforms to the requirements of § 146c.218 (a), except § 146c.218 (a) (2), (4), and (5). Each other substance used, if its name is recognized in the U. S. P. or N. F., conforms to the standards prescribed therefor by such official compendium.

b. In paragraph (c) Labeling, subparagraph (1) (ii) is amended by changing the word "chlortetracycline"

Example 5. A foreign producer has the following record of sales at or about the date of sale or exportation to the United States:

Sales for consumption in country of exportation	Quantity for each sale	Sales to United States	Quantity for each sale
200,000 pounds at $0.85 100,000 pounds at $0.80	Units of 100 pounds. Units of 1,000 pounds	100,000 pounds at $0.80	Units of 1,000 pounds.

Although the preponderance of sales during the period (200,000 lbs) were at a price of $0.85 as opposed to the United States price of $0.80, the lower United States price is justified on the ground that the home price pattern shows that to be the prevailing price for units of 1,000 lbs, which were the units involved in the United States sales. On the other hand, if the record of sales were to show 100,000 lbs sold for consumption in the country of exportation in units of 1,000 lbs at $0.85 instead of $0.80, the sales to the United States would be deemed to have been made at less than fair value.

Example 6. A foreign producer sells for consumption in the country of exportation at $12 a unit, regardless of quantities and regardless of whether the sales are to wholesalers or retailers. He sells to retail purchasers in the United States at $12 a unit and wholesale purchasers in the United States at $10 a unit, in each case regardless of quantities.

The circumstances in this case indicate that the foreign producer will be deemed to have been selling to wholesalers in the United States at less than fair value. Should, however, his record of sales for consumption in the country of exportation show that he sells, regardless of quantities, at $10 a unit to wholesalers and at $12 a unit to retailers, then, making allowances for the circumstances of sale, the sales in the United States will not be deemed to be sales at less than fair value.

Example 7. A foreign producer sells for consumption in the country of exportation at $105 a unit, delivered anywhere within the country of exportation. He has no f. o. b. factory price for home consumption. He sells to the United States f. o. b. factory for $100 a unit. Evidence indicates that it costs the producer on the average $0.50 a unit to deliver on home consumption sales.

Giving due consideration to the circumstances of sale, the sales to United States purchasers at $100 a unit will be deemed to be sales at less than fair value. Should the delivery cost on home consumption sales average $5 a unit instead of $0.50, the sales to the United States purchasers at $100 a unit will not be deemed to be sales at less than fair value.

to read "chlortetracycline or tetracycline hydrochloride".

c. In paragraph (d) Request for certification; samples, subparagraph (1) is amended by deleting the words "of chlortetracycline suppositories" and by changing the word "chlortetracycline" to read "chlortetracycline or tetracycline hydrochloride", in the two remaining places at which it occurs.

d. Paragraph (d) (2) (ii) is changed to read as follows:

(ii) The chlortetracycline or tetracycline hydrochloride used in making the batch; potency, toxicity, moisture, pH, crystallinity, and extinction coefficient if it is tetracycline hydrochloride.

e. Paragraph (d) (3) (ii) is amended by changing the word "chlortetracycline" to read "chlortetracycline or tetracycline hydrochloride".

5. In § 146d.303 Chloramphenicol ointment * * *, subparagraph (1) (iv) of paragraph (c) Labeling is amended by changing the words "48 months" to read "60 months".

6. In § 146d.304 Chloramphenicol ophthalmic, subparagraph (1) (iii) of paragraph (c) Labeling is amended by changing the words "36 months" to read "60 months".

7. In § 146d.305 Chloramphenicol palmitate, subparagraph (3) of paragraph (c) Labeling is amended by changing the words "36 months" to read "48 months".

8. In § 146d.306 Chloramphenicol palmitate oral suspension, subparagraph (1) (iv) of paragraph (c) Labeling is amended by changing the words "36 months" to read "48 months".

9. In § 146d.309 Chloramphenicol-streptomycin capsules * * *, paragraph (a) (4) is amended by changing the words "18 months" to read "24 months".

Notice and public procedure are not necessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order, and I so find, since it was drawn in collaboration with interested members of the affected industry and since it would be against public interest to delay providing for the amendments set forth above.

This order shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, since both the public and the affected industry will benefit by the earliest effective date, and I so find.

If the vinegar factory is in the same building in which is located a taxpaid bottling house, there must be no means of communication within the building between the vinegar factory and such premises, other than through established common passageways.

§ 195.36 Use of premises. Except as may be permitted pursuant to § 195.35, the premises of a vinegar factory using the vaporizing process shall be used exclusively for the manufacture of vinegar by the use of an alcoholic vapor separated from a fermented mash on such premises. SUBPART D—CONSTRUCTION

§ 195.40 Buildings or rooms. The vinegar factory must be so constructed and equipped as to be suitable for the production of vinegar by the use of the vaporizing process, and must be completely separated from contiguous buildings or rooms, which are not used in conjunction with the vinegar factory, by solid, unbroken, partitions or floors of substantial construction. Where the door of the vinegar factory opens into a common passageway, as provided above, the partitions forming the common passageway shall be substantially constructed of solid materials or expanded metal or woven wire of not less than 9 gauge nor more than 2-inch mesh, and shall extend from the floor to the ceiling or roof, but doors may be permitted therein. Common passageways must be used exclusively as means of communication.

§ 195.42 Doors, windows, and other openings. The doors, windows, or other openings in the room or building comprising the distilling department must be so arranged and constructed that they may be securely fastened. SUBPART F—EQUIPMENT condition that the pipe is left open for a distance of several feet immediately after it leaves the tub and is properly protected by flanges so as to form, in effect, an open trough several feet in length.

§ 195.58 Stills. The stills must have a clear space of not less than 1 foot around them. Every still must be numbered, commencing with number 1, and shall have painted thereon, or on a sign attached thereto, the word "Still," followed by its serial number and spirit-producing capacity in proof gallons in 24 hours, computed in accordance with the rules set forth in subpart T. Where the still is insulated or the manufacturer's serial number is otherwise obscured, such number will likewise be painted on the covering of the still. No reflux line, gooseneck, pipe, conductor, or contrivance of any description whatever whereby vapor might in any manner be conveyed away and converted into distilled spirits (other than low wines for the manufacture of vinegar), shall be used or employed or be fastened to or connected with any vaporizing apparatus used for the manufacture of vinegar.

(68A Stat. 680; 26 U. S. C. 5552)

§ 195.60 Presence of worm forbidden. The law specifically provides that no worm shall be permitted on or near premises used for the manufacture of vinegar by the vaporizing process.

(68A Stat. 640; 26 U. S. C. 5216)

§ 195.61 Spray tanks or condensers. The spray tanks or condensers must be so constructed that the alcoholic vapors cannot be condensed without being conveyed into, or mingled with, the water or other liquid used in making vinegar. The spray tank or condenser shall be so constructed that the water or other liquid used in the manufacture of vinegar is sprayed through the top of the tank to condense the alcoholic vapors, or a constant level of water or such liquid must be maintained in the tank or condenser at all times so that the end of the vapor pipe will be completely immersed therein. The vapors must not be condensed before or without infusion into such water or other liquid.

§ 195.62 Closed condensers. Closed or covered condensers may be used only where the alcoholic vapor is condensed simply by being introduced into the water or other liquid used in the production of vinegar without the use of artificial means for cooling the liquid. The condensers in such cases must be provided with a manhole which will permit ready examination of the whole interior of the condensing vessel.

§ 195.63 Artificial means of condensing vapors. Where artificial means are employed for condensing alcoholic vapor at vinegar factories, the condensing vessels shall be open and uncovered and the condensing apparatus shall be simple in construction.

(68A Stat. 640, 680; 26 U. S. C. 5216, 5552)

§ 195.64 Contrivance for cooling liquid. No contrivance may be used for cooling the liquid which receives the vapors to such a degree that a small or limited quantity of water or liquid would be enabled to receive and condense vapors into distilled spirits of over 30 degrees proof.

(68A Stat. 680; 26 U. S. C. 5552)

§ 195.67 Pipelines. The distilling system must be closed (except as otherwise provided in this part), commencing with the first still where entry into the system would constitute a jeopardy to the revenue, and continuing with securely closed pipes to the low wine receiving tanks in which the product is deposited. All such pipelines must be of a fixed and permanent character, constructed of metal, or other material affording necessary protection, and so arranged as to be exposed to view throughout their entire lengths. All valves, unions, flanges, and other detachable connections in the pipelines of the distilling system between the point where the closed system begins and the receiving tanks, and from the receiving tanks to storage tanks (if provided), must be so secured by brazing, welding, fastening, and sealing as to effectually prevent disconnection and access to the low wines.

(68A Stat. 680; 26 U. S. C. 5552)

§ 195.68 Colors for pipelines. The pipelines connected with the stills and low wine tanks used for conveying the following substances shall be kept painted in the colors indicated:

Black	Low wines.
Blue	Vapor.
Red	Mash, beer, or other distilling material.
Brown	Spent beer or stillage.
White	Water.
Aluminum	Steam.

These colors are intended for such pipelines only, and are prescribed for the purpose of distinguishing such pipelines from each other and from all other pipelines on the premises which are painted but for which colors are not prescribed. The painting of one of the pipelines indicated above in a color other than prescribed for it, or the painting in one of the prescribed colors, or a color similar thereto, of a pipeline for which a color is not prescribed is prohibited. Pipelines for which colors are not prescribed may be painted in other colors or in sections of not more than 3 feet in contrasting colors.

(68A Stat. 680; 26 U. S. C. 5552)

§ 195.69 Vinegar factories heretofore established. Vinegar factories heretofore established may continue to operate if the equipment and method used for condensing the alcoholic vapors from the stills conform to that prescribed in this part, and the other construction and equipment afford adequate security and protection to the revenue. The assistant regional commissioner may at any time require the proprietor to make changes in construction and equipment conforming to the provisions of this part, if deemed necessary to safeguard the revenue or to permit more economical and efficient supervision and control by internal revenue officers. All vinegar factories hereafter established, and changes in existing vinegar factories, must be in conformity with this part.

§ 195.84 Execution of power of attorney. Where the principal giving the power of attorney is an individual, it must be executed by him in person, and not by an agent. In the case of a partnership or association, powers of attorney authorizing one or more of the members, or another person, to execute documents on behalf of the partnership or association must be executed by all of the members constituting the partnership or association. However, if one or more members less than the whole number constituting the partnership or association have been delegated the authority to appoint agents or attorneys in fact, the power of attorney may be executed by such member or members, provided it is supported by a duly authenticated copy, in triplicate, of the document conferring authority upon the member or members to execute the same. Where, in the case of a corporation, powers of attorney are executed by an officer thereof, such documents must be supported by triplicate copies of the authorization of such officer so to do, certified by the secretary or assistant secretary of the corporation, under the corporate seal, if any, to be true copies.

§ 195.85 Duration of power of attorney. Powers of attorney authorizing the execution of documents on behalf of a person engaged in, or intending to engage in, the business of a vinegar maker shall continue in effect until written notice, in triplicate, of the revocation of such authority is received by the assistant regional commissioner, unless terminated by operation of law.

§ 195.86 Registry of stills, Form 26. Any still or distilling apparatus set up and intended to be used for the distillation of distilled spirits in the manufacture of vinegar by the vaporizing process must be registered with the assistant regional commissioner for the region in which the still is located, on Form 26, immediately it is set up, in accordance with the instructions on the form. Such registration shall be verified by a written declaration that it is made under the penalties of perjury.

§ 195.87 Plat and plans. Every person intending to engage in the business of manufacturing vinegar by the use of the vaporizing process must submit to the assistant regional commissioner with his notice, Form 27–F, an accurate plat of the vinegar factory premises and accurate plans of the distilling apparatus and equipment, in triplicate, conforming to the requirements of subpart H.

§ 195.88 Additional information. The assistant regional commissioner may at any time, in his discretion, require the proprietor to furnish such additional information as he may deem necessary.

SUBPART H—PLATS AND PLANS

§ 195.95 Plat and plans required. Every person intending to engage in the business of manufacturing vinegar by the use of the vaporizing process must, as provided in § 195.87, file an accurate plat of the vinegar factory premises, and accurate plans of the distilling apparatus and equipment, in triplicate, with the assistant regional commissioner.

§ 195.96 Preparation. Each sheet of the plat and plan shall bear a distinctive title, and the complete name and address of the proprietor, enabling ready identification. Each sheet of the original plat and plans shall be numbered, the first being designated number 1 and the other sheets numbered in consecutive order. The dimensions of plats and plans shall be 15 by 20 inches, outside measurement, with a clear margin of at least 1 inch on each side of the drawing, lettering, and writing. Plats and plans may be original drawings, or reproductions made by the "Ditto Process" or by blue or brown line lithoprint, if such reproductions are clear and distinct.

§ 195.97 Depiction of premises. Plats must show the outer boundaries of the vinegar factory premises, in feet and inches, in a color contrasting with those used for other drawings on the plat, and must contain an accurate depiction of the building or buildings comprising the premises. The depiction of the premises should agree with the description in the notice, Form 27–F. If two or more buildings are to be used, they must be shown in their relative positions and the designated name or use of each indicated. Where two or more buildings are used for the same purpose, the name of each such building shall include an alphabetical designation, beginning with "A". All first floor exterior doors of each building on the premises will be shown on the plat. If the vinegar factory consists of a room or a floor of a building, an outline of the building, the precise location and dimensions of the room or floor, and the means of ingress from and egress to a public street or yard shall be shown.

§ 195.98 Contiguous premises. The plat must show the relative location of any distillery, internal revenue bonded warehouse, industrial alcohol plant, industrial alcohol bonded warehouse or denaturing plant, rectifying plant, or taxpaid bottling house, or other premises on which beer or wines are manufactured or produced, stored, used, or sold, contiguous to the vinegar factory premises, and all pipelines and other connections, if any, between them, and the distance they are from each other. The outlines of such contiguous premises and the vinegar factory premises must be shown in contrasting colors.

§ 195.99 Floor plan of distilling department. A floor plan of the distilling department shall be submitted, showing the location of all apparatus and equipment therein. Pipelines may also be shown, if desired. The serial number and capacity of each still and tank shall be indicated on the plan.

§ 195.100 Elevational flow diagrams. Elevational flow diagrams (plans) shall be submitted covering: (a) distilling material system, (b) distilling and condensing systems, and (c) low wine receiving and storage tank system. Such diagrams or plans shall clearly depict all equipment in its operating sequence, and elevation by floors with all connecting pipelines, valves, measuring devices, etc. The elevation by floors on the diagrams may be indicated by horizontal lines representing floor levels. All of the flow diagrams as a unit must show the flow of the distilling material, vapor, low wines, etc., through pipelines connected with the stills and low wine tanks. All major equipment, fermenters, stills, etc., must be identified on the diagrams as to serial number and use. The elevational flow diagrams must be properly identified and so drawn that all fixed pipelines (except approved public or private utility service lines which have no connection with the distilling equipment or any apparatus or pipeline connected therewith, and which need not be shown) may be readily traced from beginning to end: Provided, That pipelines leading to and from other buildings on the same or contiguous premises may be designated as to point of origin or termination. The direction of the flow of spirits through the pipelines must be indicated on the diagram by arrows. Other types of plans that clearly depict the information required herein may be submitted in compliance with this section.

§ 195.101 Pipelines in colors. The fixed pipelines connected with the stills and low wine tanks must be shown on the plans in the colors in which they are required to be painted, as specified in § 195.68.

§ 195.102 Certificate of accuracy. The plat and plans shall bear a certificate of accuracy in the lower right-hand corner of each sheet, signed by the proprietor, the draftsman, and the assistant regional commissioner, substantially in the following form:

(Name of proprietor—Reg. No.)

Approved: ----------
(Date)

(Assistant Regional Commissioner)

Accuracy certified by:

(Name and title—for the proprietor)

(Draftsman)

Date ----------, 19--.
Sheet No. ----------.

§ 195.103 Revised plats and plans. The sheets of revised plats and plans shall bear the same number as the sheets superseded, but will be given a new date. Any additional plats and plans will be given a new number in consecutive order, or will be otherwise numbered and lettered in such manner as will permit the filing of the plats and plans in proper sequence.

§ 195.105 Supplemental, superseding, and additional plats and plans. The sheets of superseding plats or plans shall bear the same numbers as the sheets superseded. The sheets of supplemental plats or plans shall bear the same numbers as the sheets supplemented, and will be further identified by letter designations, as "1–A," "5–B," etc. Additional sheets of plans, filed to cover extensions of the vinegar factory premises, will be given the next number in sequence to the last sheet of the plan on file. Additional sheets of plats, filed to cover extensions of the vinegar factory premises, will be given the same number as the last sheet of the plat on file, further identified by an additional number, as 1–1, 2–1, etc.

SUBPART I—REQUIREMENTS GOVERNING CHANGES IN NAME, PROPRIETORSHIP, CONTROL, LOCATION, PREMISES AND EQUIPMENT

§ 195.110 General requirement. Notice in writing must be given, in the form prescribed in this subpart, to the assistant regional commissioner in case of any change in the location, form, capacity, ownership, agency, superintendency, or in the persons interested in the business of the vinegar factory.

CHANGE IN INDIVIDUAL, FIRM, OR CORPORATE NAME

§ 195.111 Amended notice, Form 27–F. Where there is a change in the individual, firm, or corporate name, the proprietor must submit to the assistant regional commissioner an amended notice on Form 27–F, in triplicate, covering the new name, which notice must be approved before operations may be commenced under the new name.

§ 195.112 Trade name certificate; amended articles of incorporation. The proprietor shall file with the assistant regional commissioner certified copies of trade names and amended articles of incorporation which are required by State laws. If no such documents are required the proprietor will furnish a statement to that effect.

§ 195.113 Sign. Where there is a change in the individual, firm, or corporate name, the proprietor must change the vinegar factory sign to conform to the provisions of § 195.50.

§ 195.114 Records. Where there is a change in the individual, firm, or corporate name, the proprietor must keep records and submit reports covering operations under the new name as provided in subpart L.

CHANGE IN PROPRIETORSHIP, SUSPENSION

§ 195.115 General. Where there is to be a change in the proprietorship of the vinegar factory, the outgoing proprietor must, preparatory to transfer of the business to the successor, comply with the requirements of §§ 195.116 through 195.119.

§ 195.116 Notice, Form 27–F. If the outgoing proprietor is to discontinue permanently the business of manufacturing vinegar by the vaporizing process, he must file with the assistant regional commissioner Form 27–F, in triplicate, stating thereon the purpose to be "Discontinuance of business," and giving the date of the discontinuance.

§ 195.117 Registry of stills. Where there is to be a change in proprietorship, the outgoing proprietor must register the stills on Form 26, in triplicate, in accordance with § 195.195.

§ 195.118 Notice of suspension. Where there is to be a change in proprietorship, the outgoing proprietor must file with the assistant regional commissioner a written notice, in triplicate, in accordance with subpart M of this part.

§ 195.119 Records. Where there is to be a change in proprietorship, the outgoing proprietor must make appropriate entries in the vinegar factory records and submit reports in accordance with the provisions of subpart O of this part.

CHANGE IN PROPRIETORSHIP, QUALIFICATION OF SUCCESSOR

§ 195.120 General Where there is a change in proprietorship, and the successor intends to continue the operation of the premises as a vinegar factory, he must comply with the requirements of §§ 195.121 through 195.125.

§ 195.121 Nonfiduciary successor. If the change in proprietorship is brought about by any means, except by the appointment of an administrator, executor, receiver, trustee, assignee, or other fiduciary, the successor must qualify in the same manner as the proprietor of a new vinegar factory, except that he may adopt the plat and plans of his predecessor as provided in § 195.123.

§ 195.122 Fiduciary. If the successor is an administrator, executor, receiver, trustee, assignee, or other fiduciary, and intends to produce low wines, or to possess or dispose of low wines on hand in the vinegar factory, he must comply with the provisions of subpart G to the extent that such provisions are applicable, except that in lieu of filing a new plat and plans, the fiduciary may adopt the plat and plans of such predecessor in accordance with § 195.123. The fiduciary must also furnish certified copies, in triplicate, of the order of the court or other pertinent documents showing his qualification as such fiduciary. The effective date of the qualifying documents filed by a fiduciary must be the same as the date of the court order, or the date specified therein, for him to assume control.

§ 195.123 Adoption of plat and plans. The plat and plans of the vinegar factory may be adopted by a successor where they correctly describe and depict the premises and the buildings, apparatus, and equipment thereon, to be taken over by the successor. The adoption by a successor of the plat and plans of his predecessor shall be in the form of a certificate, in triplicate, in which shall be set forth the name of the predecessor, the address and number of the vinegar factory, a description of the vinegar factory premises, the number of each sheet comprising each plat and plan covered by such certificate, and a statement that the vinegar factory premises, and the buildings, apparatus, and equipment thereon, are correctly described and depicted on such plat and plans.

§ 195.124 Sign. The successor, if other than a fiduciary temporarily operating the vinegar factory, must change the vinegar factory sign to conform to the requirements of § 195.50.

§ 195.125 Materials and low wines. If distilling materials and low wines are received by transfer from the predecessor, the successor must comply with the requirements of subpart O of this part.

OTHER CHANGES IN PROPRIETORSHIP OR CONTROL

§ 195.126 Changes in partnership. The withdrawal of one or more members of a partnership or the taking in of a new partner, whether active or silent, shall constitute a change in proprietorship. Likewise, except as provided in § 195.127, the death, bankruptcy or adjudicated insolvency of one or more of the partners results in a dissolution of the partnership and, consequently, a change in proprietorship. Where such a change in proprietorship of the vinegar factory occurs, the successor must qualify in the same manner as a new proprietor of a vinegar factory, except that the successor may adopt the plat and plans of the predecessor as provided in § 195.123.

§ 195.127 Exception occasioned by State laws. Where, under the laws of the particular State, the partnership is not terminated on the death or insolvency of a partner, but continues until the liquidation of the partnership affairs is completed, and the surviving partner has the exclusive right to the control and possession of the partnership assets for the purpose of liquidation and settlement, such surviving partner may continue to operate the vinegar factory for such purpose under the prior qualification of the partnership: Provided, That notice of such action is filed with the assistant regional commissioner. If such surviving partner acquires the business upon completion of the settlement of the partnership, he must qualify in his own name from the date of acquisition. The same rule shall apply where there is more than one surviving partner.

§ 195.128 Changes in stockholders, officers, and directors of corporation. The sale or transfer of the capital stock of a corporation operating a vinegar factory does not constitute a change in the proprietorship of the vinegar factory. However, where the sale or transfer of capital stock results in a change in the control or management of the business, or where there is a change in the officers or directors, the proprietor must give notice thereof, in triplicate, to the assistant regional commissioner. Mere changes in stockholders of corporations not constituting a change in control need not be so reported.

§ 195.129 Reincorporation. Where a corporation operating a vinegar factory is reorganized and a new charter or certificate of incorporation is secured, the new corporation must qualify in the same manner as a new proprietor of the vinegar factory, except that the new corporation may adopt the plat and plans of the predecessor as provided in § 195.123.

CHANGES IN LOCATION, PREMISES, AND EQUIPMENT

§ 195.130 Change in location. Where there is a change in the location of the vinegar factory, the proprietor must comply with all applicable provisions of subparts C–H.

§ 195.131 Changes in premises. Where the vinegar factory premises are to be extended or curtailed, the proprietor must file with the assistant regional commissioner an amended notice, Form 27–F, and an amended plat of the premises as extended or curtailed. If the plans are affected by the extension or curtailment, they must also be amended.

§ 195.132 Changes in equipment. Where changes are to be made in the apparatus and equipment of the distilling department, the proprietor shall first secure approval thereof by the assistant regional commissioner pursuant to application, in duplicate, setting forth specifically the proposed changes: Provided, That emergency repairs may be made without prior approval of the assistant regional commissioner. Where such emergency repairs are made, the proprietor shall file immediately a report thereof, in duplicate, with the assistant regional commissioner. Upon completion of changes in equipment, the proprietor must file an amended notice and amended plans, except that in the case of minor changes, such as general repairs, changes in pipe lines, or the addition or removal of a tank, an amended notice and amended plans need not be filed immediately: Provided further, That the assistant regional commissioner may, at any time, in his discretion, require the filing of an amended notice and amended plans covering such minor changes. Where an amended notice and amended plans are not filed immediately upon completion of minor changes in equipment, the proprietor must include such changes in the next amended notice and plans filed by him.

SUBPART J—ACTION BY ASSISTANT REGIONAL COMMISSIONER

ORIGINAL ESTABLISHMENT

§ 195.140 Authority to approve. Assistant regional commissioners are authorized to approve all notices and other qualifying documents required by this part.

§ 195.141 Registry numbers. Vinegar factories will be assigned registry numbers in the order of their establishment. A separate series of numbers, commencing with 1, will be used for each State. Registry numbers heretofore assigned will be retained and new vinegar factories will be assigned new numbers in sequence. Registry numbers previously assigned to discontinued vinegar factories will not be assigned to other vinegar factories. In the case of a successor taking over the vinegar factory, or where there is a change in location of the vinegar factory within the same State, the same registry number may be retained.

§ 195.142 Approval of qualifying documents. If the assistant regional commissioner finds, upon examination of the inspection report and the qualifying documents, that the person seeking to qualify as proprietor of the vinegar factory has complied in all respects with the requirements of the law and this part, he will assign a registry number to the vinegar factory, in accordance with § 195.141, note his approval on all copies of the notice, plat and plans, and will forward one copy of the notice, plat, plans, and other qualifying documents to the proprietor. The proprietor shall file his copies of the approved qualifying documents on the premises, available for inspection by internal revenue officers.

§ 195.143 Disapproval of qualifying documents. If the assistant regional commissioner finds that the applicant has not complied in all respects with the requirements of the law and this part, or that the situation of the vinegar factory is such as would enable the proprietor to defraud the United States, he will note his disapproval of the notice, Form 27–F, and return to the applicant one copy of the notice and all copies of other qualifying documents, with advice as to the reasons for disapproval.

CHANGES SUBSEQUENT TO ORIGINAL ESTABLISHMENT

§ 195.144 Procedure applicable. The provisions of this part respecting the action required of assistant regional commissioners in connection with the original establishment of vinegar factories will be followed, to the extent applicable, where there is a change in the individual, firm, or corporate name of the proprietor, or where there is a change in the proprietorship, location, premises, construction, apparatus and equipment, of the vinegar factory, or where operations are permanently discontinued.

§ 195.145 Applications and reports covering changes. Where an application covering changes in the distilling apparatus or equipment, or in the construction or use of a room or building is authorized by the assistant regional commissioner, he will, after completion of the change, retain one copy of the application and forward one copy to the proprietor. Similar disposition will be made of reports received from the proprietor covering emergency repairs of distilling apparatus and equipment.

SUBPART K—PLANT OPERATION

GENERAL

§ 195.150 Compliance with requirements of law and this part. Under no circumstances will a person conduct any operations in connection with the production of low wines to be used in the manufacture of vinegar until compliance with all the requirements of law and this part, and the required notice, Form 27–F, and supporting documents have been approved in accordance with the provisions of this part.

§ 195.151 Inspection of premises and records. All persons manufacturing vinegar by use of the vaporizing process shall permit any internal revenue officer to inspect at any reasonable hour the premises, equipment, stocks and records, as required by law and this part.

COMMENCEMENT OF OPERATIONS

§ 195.152 Fermenting and distilling materials. Low wines may be produced at a vinegar factory using the vaporizing process under the provisions of this part from any kind of raw materials suitable for the production of low wines. Fermenting and distilling materials must be weighed or, in the case of liquids, weighed or measured, when brought upon the premises, and when used. The receipt and use of the materials will be recorded by the proprietor on Form 1623.

§ 195.153 Removal of fermenting material from premises. If fermenting material is stored on the premises, and it is desired to remove the same, or any portion thereof, from the premises for any purpose whatsoever, the proprietor will enter on Form 1623 the kind and quantity to be removed, and the reasons therefor.

MASHING AND FERMENTING

§ 195.154 Production of mash. Proprietors at vinegar factories may, under the provisions of law, produce on such premises fermented mash or fermented liquors to be used for the manufacture of vinegar exclusively. The proprietor may mash molasses, grain, or other fermentable material, in any quantity, proportion, or strength that he may desire.

§ 195.155 Quantity of mash and beer determined. The proprietor will determine the number of gallons of mash in each fermenter at the time of filling, and the quantity of beer in each fermenter after fermentation is complete, and will enter the same on Form 1623.

DISTILLATION

§ 195.156 Production of low wines. All processes of distillation shall be conducted in the distilling department of the vinegar factory. The alcoholic vapor separated from the mash produced must be condensed by introducing the vapor into the water or other liquid used in making vinegar. The vapor must not be condensed before or without infusion into such water or other liquid.

(68A Stat. 640; 26 U. S. C. 5216)

§ 195.157 Conversion of vapor into distilled spirits forbidden. No gooseneck, pipe, reflux line, conductor, or contrivance of any description whatever, whereby vapor might in any manner be conveyed away and converted into distilled spirits (other than low wines for the manufacture of vinegar), shall be used or employed, or be fastened to, or connected, with, any vaporizing apparatus used for the manufacture of vinegar. The alcoholic vapor shall not be conducted in any manner, or by any contrivance, into a receptacle where it could be condensed by itself or with a small or limited quantity of water and so become distilled spirits exceeding 30 degrees in proof.

§ 195.158 Test of condensing material. The water or other liquid used as the recipient of the alcoholic vapor should be frequently tested to see that the proof of the liquid is not raised above 30 degrees.

§ 195.159 Deposit of low wines in receiving tanks. All low wines produced shall be promptly conveyed to the receiving tanks. The receiving tanks must be so arranged that each day's production may be ascertained, and the amount shall be recorded daily on Form 1623, as indicated by the headings of the columns and the instructions printed on the form. Where the production of more than one day is run into the same tank the operation must be so conducted that the production of a full day or more may be measured. The quantity noted as the production of a particular date must be the quantity actually produced on that date.

§ 195.160 Gauge prior to removal. The low wines may be transferred by pipeline from the receiving tanks to low wine storage tanks, or direct to the vinegar factory proper for use in the manufacture of vinegar: Provided, That the quantity thus removed or used is first accurately ascertained, and recorded on Form 1623.

LOSSES

§ 195.161 In receiving or storage tanks. The quantity of low wines lost in receiving or storage tanks must be determined and reported monthly. The extent of the losses for each month shall be established by comparison of the quantity shown by inventory with the amount carried in the receiving or storage tank accounts as remaining therein at the end of the month. The actual quantity in the tanks must be ascertained.

§ 195.162 Allowance for loss. Where the loss of low wines during any calendar month does not exceed 1 percent of the aggregate quantity of low wines on hand the 1st of the month and produced during the month, application for the allowance of such loss will not be required to be filed by the proprietor, provided there are no circumstances indicating that the low wines lost, or any part thereof, were unlawfully used or were unlawfully removed. Where such loss exceeds 1 percent, application for remission of tax on the total losses during the month shall be filed by the proprietor with the assistant regional commissioner. Such application shall be signed by the proprietor or his authorized agent and immediately above the signature there shall appear the following statement: "I declare under the penalties of perjury that this application has been examined by me and to the best of my knowledge and belief is a true and correct application." Such allowance of 1 percent shall apply to the losses for each month, which must be determined separately.

§ 195.163 Losses not cumulative. The allowance of 1 percent during any one month on account of losses of low wines in receiving and storage tanks shall not be cumulative.

§ 195.164 Time for filing application. Application for allowance on account of losses must be made within 10 days after the end of the month during which the losses occurred for which allowance is requested. Each application for allowance of losses must set out all the material facts relating to the loss, and must state particularly the nature and cause thereof; i. e., whether by leakage, evaporation, theft, casualty, or other unavoidable cause, as well as the extent of the loss. The application must be accompanied by affidavits of persons having personal knowledge of the facts.

§ 195.165 Tax must be paid on illegally diverted low wines. The internal revenue tax must be paid on all low wines diverted to illegal uses on the premises of the vinegar factory and on all low wines removed therefrom contrary to law or this part.

REMOVAL AND TESTING OF VINEGAR

§ 195.166 Removal. No person shall remove, or cause to be removed, from any vinegar factory any vinegar or other fluid or material containing a greater proportion than 2 percent of proof spirits.

(68A Stat. 640; 26 U. S. C. 5216)

§ 195.167 Test of vinegar. The vinegar removed from vinegar factories should be tested from time to time to ascertain if it contains any greater proportion of proof spirits than is permitted by law.

SUBPART L—PROPRIETOR'S RECORDS AND REPORTS

§ 195.175 General. The proprietor of every vinegar factory shall keep monthly records and render reports on Form 1623 as provided in § 195.178. Entries shall be made as indicated by the headings of the various columns and lines of the form, and in accordance with the instructions printed thereon or issued in respect thereto, and as required by this part. The entries shall be made before the close of the business day next succeeding the day on which the transactions occur. Where the making of the entries is deferred to the next business day, as authorized in this section, appropriate memoranda shall be maintained for the purpose of making the entries correctly. At the close of the month, but in no case later than the fifth day of the succeeding month, the proprietor shall prepare and forward an original of Form 1623 to the assistant regional commissioner.

§ 195.176 Execution. Form 1623 must be verified by a written declaration that it is made under the penalties of perjury. Where the reports are signed by an agent, proper power of attorney authorizing the agent to execute the reports for the proprietor must be filed, in triplicate, with the assistant regional commissioner.

§ 195.177 Permanent record. One copy of Form 1623 will be retained by the proprietor as a permanent record, in bound form, and such bound record shall be kept on the premises available for inspection by internal revenue officers at all reasonable hours.

§ 195.178 Monthly report, Form 1623. The kind and quantity of materials received, and fermented or mashed, each day will be entered separately on the Form 1623, and the saccharine content of molasses mashed must be entered when the same is available. The quantity of low wines produced, and the quantity used in the manufacture of vinegar daily, will be entered on the Form 1623. The quantity of vinegar produced, and the quantity removed from the vinegar factory, must also be reported daily. The summaries of the form will be completed at the end of the month, and the losses and other information as required by the headings and lines of the summaries will be correctly indicated on the form.

SUBPART M—SUSPENSION AND RESUMPTION OF OPERATIONS

§ 195.185 Suspension. Any proprietor of a vinegar factory desiring to suspend operations in connection with the production and use of low wines for an indefinite period, or for a definite period exceeding 15 days, shall give notice to such effect, in triplicate, to the assistant regional commissioner, stating when he will suspend operations. The giving of such notice will not be required where operations are temporarily suspended. The proprietor will fix in the notice the time when all fermented distilling material will be distilled and all low wines will be used.

§ 195.186 Registry of stills, Form 26. When operations are suspended, the stills used for the production of low wines must be registered on Form 26, in triplicate, in accordance with the provisions of § 195.195.

§ 195.187 Resumption. No proprietor of a vinegar factory may carry on the business of distilling low wines after the time stated in his notice of suspension until he shall have given another notice, in triplicate, to the assistant regional commissioner, stating the time when he will resume work. The stills must be registered in conformity with § 195.195.

SUBPART N—REGISTRY OF STILLS

§ 195.195 Registry on Form 26. Every person having in his possession or custody, or under his control, any still or distilling apparatus set up and intended to be used for the distillation of distilled spirits in the manufacture of vinegar by the vaporizing process, must register the same on Form 26, in triplicate, with the assistant regional commissioner for the region in which it is located. The temporary suspension of a vinegar plant does not necessitate reregistration of the stills. The operation of a vinegar plant by alternating proprietors, where no permanent change in ownership occurs, does not require reregistration of the stills by the proprietors. When there is a change in location or use, or a bona fide change in ownership of a still, the still must be registered to reflect the change. The assistant regional commissioner will, upon approval of the form, return one copy to the proprietor who will retain his copy on the premises available for inspection by internal revenue officers.

(68A Stat. 628; 26 U. S. C. 5174)

SUBPART O—CHANGE OF PERSONS INTERESTED IN BUSINESS

§ 195.200 Completion of operations required. When a succession, or actual change, in the person or persons operating the vinegar factory shall take place, other than a change brought about by operation of law, as by the appointment of an administrator, executor, receiver, trustee, assignee, or other fiduciary, the business of producing and using low wines must be completely finished by the person or persons who have been carrying on the business, and the operations suspended before the business shall be undertaken or begun by the successor, unless by agreement of the predecessor and the successor it shall be arranged to transfer from the former to the latter at midnight on a certain day all low wines and all materials to be used in the manufacture of low wines in the vinegar factory at that hour; and provided that in either case the notice and other qualifying documents of the successor prescribed by this part have been approved, to take effect on the day next succeeding that at the close of which the transfer is made. Such documents should, therefore, be submitted to the assistant regional commissioner in sufficient time to permit such approval for the date desired. The successor shall not commence operations until all documents required for his qualification have been approved by the assistant regional commissioner.

§ 195.201 Requirements as to predecessor. In accordance with the provisions of subpart P the predecessor must file Form 27–F, notice of suspension, and Form 26, registering the stills in his name, in accordance with § 195.195, and there shall be stated the name of the successor in proprietorship in accordance with the instructions printed on the forms.

§ 195.202 Reports and records. The predecessor shall enter on his record, Form 1623, all fermenting or distilling materials, materials in process and low wines, transferred to his successor, who shall in turn enter such items on his record, Form 1623, as received from his predecessor. The predecessor will make appropriate notation on all forms and records required to be kept by him showing the change in proprietorship of the vinegar factory and the date thereof.

§ 195.203 Succession by fiduciary. Where a change in proprietorship is brought about by operation of law, the administrator, executor, receiver, trustee, assignee, or other fiduciary, may not commence or complete operations until the required qualifying documents have been filed and approved. EXCEPTIONS TO REQUIREMENTS

§ 195.224 Exceptions to construction and equipment requirements. The Director, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, may approve details of construction and equipment in lieu of those specified in this part where it is shown that it is impracticable to conform to the prescribed specifications, and the proposed construction and equipment will afford as much or more security and protection to the revenue as is intended by the specifications prescribed in this part and where such variations will not be contrary to any provision of law. Where it is proposed to substitute construction and equipment for that for which specifications are prescribed, prior approval must be obtained in accordance with the provisions of § 195.226.

SUBPART S—LOSSES

§ 195.245 Investigation by assistant regional commissioners. Where large losses of low wines are reported by the proprietors of vinegar factories, the assistant regional commissioner will immediately make such investigation and require such evidence to be submitted as he may deem necessary, and will allow or disallow the loss in accordance with existing law and regulations.

§ 195.246 Examination of reports of proprietors. Upon receipt of a report rendered by a proprietor of a vinegar factory for the month the assistant regional commissioner will examine such report to determine whether the proprietor has accounted for all the low wines produced by him during the month. If the assistant regional commissioner finds that the proprietor apparently has not accounted for all the low wines produced by him, he shall make such investigation as he may deem necessary and determine, from all the evidence he can obtain, the quantity of low wines actually produced by the proprietor.

§ 195.247 Use of materials not reported. If the assistant regional commissioner should find that the proprietor has received on his premises materials which have not been accounted for, or has used materials which have not been reported as used, and has produced low wines which have not been reported, the quantity of low wines produced and not reported should be determined from all the evidence that can be obtained, including evidence of the normal actual yield of low wines from such materials at the particular vinegar factory.

§ 195.248 Determining low wines produced. If it is determined that all materials received have been accounted for and all materials used have been reported, but that the proprietor has not accounted for all the low wines produced, the quantity actually produced should be determined from all the evidence that can be obtained. The evidence that low wines have been produced from materials reported used and that have not been accounted for by the proprietor should be direct and positive. The fraudulent removal of low wines will not be assumed from the mere fact that the quantity of low wines reported is not equal to the number of gallons which the materials reported used will ordinarily produce.

§ 195.249 Notice to proprietor. If it is determined that the proprietor has not accounted for all the low wines produced by him, the assistant regional commissioner will, unless the interests of the Government require an immediate assessment, notify the proprietor of the proposed assessment and afford him an opportunity to submit within 30 days, or such further time as the assistant regional commissioner may consider reasonable, evidence showing why the proposed assessment should not be made.

§ 195.250 Nature of evidence. The evidence submitted by the proprietor should be in the form of affidavits and certified documents.

§ 195.251 Consideration of response. If the proprietor responds to the notice and submits evidence bearing on the merits of the proposed assessment, the assistant regional commissioner will give due consideration thereto and make such further investigation as he may deem advisable. If, after consideration of all the facts, the assistant regional commissioner finds that the tax is due, an assessment will be made in accordance with prescribed procedure.

§ 195.252 Evidence of loss. Where the proprietor claims, pursuant to notice of proposed assessment, that the low wines produced and not accounted for were actually lost, without any fraud or collusion on his part, and were not illegally used or removed from the premises, he will submit evidence in support thereof.

§ 195.253 Proprietor's failure to respond. If the proprietor fails to respond to the notice of proposed assessment within the time specified, an assessment will be made for the amount found due in accordance with the prescribed procedure.

§ 195.254 Examination of evidence. When such evidence of loss is received by the assistant regional commissioner, he will carefully examine the same to see that all the required information has been furnished, and will cause such investigation to be made, or require such additional evidence to be submitted, as he may deem necessary. Upon completion of his investigation, if any, the assistant regional commissioner will allow or disallow the loss in accordance with existing law and regulations.

SUBPART T—RULES FOR COMPUTING CAPACITY OF STILLS

§ 195.260 Pot or kettle stills. The estimated maximum quantity in proof gallons of distilled spirits capable of being produced every 24 hours, which is required to be shown on the proprietor's notice, will be computed as follows for pot or kettle stills:

The working capacity of pot or kettle stills will be determined by multiplying 80 percent of the cubic capacity of the still by the maximum number of boilings that can be made in 24 hours and then multiplying this result by the percent of alcohol by volume contained in the highest yielding material to be used in distillation. This result will represent the quantity of wine gallons of absolute alcohol that can be distilled in 24 hours. This quantity, when multiplied by 2, will represent the number of proof gallons. For example, if a pot still having a cubic capacity of 2,000 gallons is used, and such still can be charged three times in eight hours, and the highest percentage of alcohol by volume in the distilling material to be used is 8 percent, the spirit-producing capacity of the still will be computed as follows: $2{,}000\times0.8\times9\times0.08\times2=2{,}304$ proof gallons. (The quantity that can be distilled in 24 hours.)

§ 195.261 Charge chamber stills. The estimated maximum quantity in proof gallons of distilled spirits capable of being produced every 24 hours, which is required to be shown on the proprietor's notice, will be computed as follows for charge chamber stills:

Where a charge chamber still is used, the estimated maximum quantity of distilled spirits in proof gallons capable of being produced will be determined by multiplying 80 percent of the cubic capacity of the top or charge chamber of the still by the number of times the same can be filled and emptied in 24 hours. This result will represent the total number of gallons of distilling material that can be distilled in 24 hours, which quantity will be multiplied by the percent of alcohol by volume contained in the highest yielding material to be used. The result of such computation will represent the number of wine gallons of absolute alcohol that can be distilled in 24 hours. This quantity, when multiplied by 2, will represent the number of proof gallons. For example, if a charge still is used having a charge chamber of a cubic capacity of 600 gallons which can be charged three times in one hour, and the highest percentage of alcohol by volume in the distilling material to be used is 8 percent, the spirit-producing capacity will be computed as follows: $600\times0.8\times3\times24\times0.08\times2=5{,}529.6$ proof gallons. (The quantity that can be distilled in 24 hours.)

§ 195.262 Continuous stills. The estimated maximum quantity in proof gallons of distilled spirits capable of being produced every 24 hours, which is required to be shown on the proprietor's notice, will be computed as follows for continuous stills:

If continuous stills are used, the maximum spirit-producing capacity in proof gallons of such stills will be computed on the area of the column in square feet. The first step will be to determine the inside diameter of the still at its base and the diameter will then be divided by 2 to ascertain the radius. The diameter may be determined (1) by accurately measuring the inside width of the still with a rod or tape, or (2) by measuring the outside circumference of the still and dividing the same by 3.1416 and deducting from the quotient twice the thickness of the sides of the still. The radius (in feet) will be squared and then multiplied by 3.1416 (Pi) to ascertain the area of the column in square feet. The area in square feet will be multiplied by the factor, 40 (the number of gallons of 100 proof spirits that can be distilled in one hour per square foot of plate area), and the result will represent the total number of gallons of 100 proof spirits that can be distilled in one hour. This quantity will be multiplied by 24 to determine the number of gallons of 100 proof spirits that can be distilled in one day. For example, if a continuous still having a diameter of 4 feet is used, the spirit-producing capacity will be computed as follows: $2\times2\times3.1416\times40\times24=12{,}063.74$ proof gallons. (The quantity that can be produced in 24 hours.)

The storekeeper-gauger having custody of such keys will not permit any other person, except the assistant regional commissioner or other authorized officer, to secure possession of them.

§ 216.127 Admittance of proprietor. The proprietor shall upon request at reasonable times have admittance, in the presence of the storekeeper-gauger, to the warehouse. The warehouse shall not be opened on Sunday or at night, except in cases of emergency, and then only with the approval of the assistant regional commissioner: Provided, That where the rum is in imminent danger of loss by fire, flood, or other casualty, and it is impracticable to first obtain authorization from the assistant regional commissioner for the opening of the warehouse, the storekeeper-gauger may open the warehouse or authorize the proprietor, or city or State fire and police officials to remove the seals and locks and open the warehouse for the purpose of preventing loss of the rum, but a report thereof must be made immediately, by telephone or telegraph where possible, to the assistant regional commissioner: And provided further, That where the rum is in imminent danger of loss by fire, and it is impracticable to first communicate with the assistant regional commissioner or the storekeeper-gauger, city and State fire officers or the proprietor may remove the seals and locks and open the warehouse for the purpose of preventing loss of the rum, but a similar report thereof must be made immediately to the assistant regional commissioner.

The storekeeper-gauger will apply Government locks and seals wherever the same are required.

SUBPART M—TRANSFER OF RUM TO WAREHOUSE

§ 216.135 Methods of transfer. Rum of not less than 150 degrees of proof may be transferred for denaturation to a distillery denaturing bonded warehouse located on the distillery premises:

(a) By pipeline direct from the distillery receiving cisterns through weighing tanks to storage or mixing tanks in the denaturing bonded warehouse;

(b) By pipeline from the distillery receiving cisterns through weighing tanks to storage tanks in an internal revenue bonded warehouse on the distillery premises and from such warehouse storage tanks through weighing tanks to storage or mixing tanks in the denaturing bonded warehouse; or

(c) In original packages, from an internal revenue bonded warehouse on the distillery premises, if such rum was produced at the distillery on the same premises.

§ 216.136 Application, Form 573. When the proprietor desires to transfer rum of not less than 150 degrees of proof to the denaturing bonded warehouse for denaturation, he will file application therefor with the storekeeper-gauger in charge on Form 573, in triplicate. Where the rum is to be transferred by pipeline, the applicant shall specify on Form 573 the maximum number of tax gallons to be so transferred.

§ 216.137 Sufficiency of bond. Where the bond covering operation of a denaturing bonded warehouse is given in less than the maximum penal sum of $100,000, the assistant regional commissioner will inform the storekeeper-gauger in charge of the penal sum of the bond, and the storekeeper-gauger will see that the quantity of rum transferred to the denaturing bonded warehouse is within the limits of the bond.

§ 216.138 Report of gauge, Form 1520; packages. If the rum described in the application, Form 573, is in packages, Form 1520 will be prepared by the proprietor, pursuant to Part 225 of this title. The storekeeper-gauger will verify by reference to his records, the entries in the headings thereof and the details of the entry gauge transcribed thereto. A careful gauge will be made of all packages, except that rum in original packages may be transferred to the denaturing bonded warehouse on the original gauge, if such transfer is made within 30 days of the date of the original entry for deposit. The storekeeper-gauger will enter on Form 1520 the weights and proofs found on gauge and will return the form to the proprietor for completion. Upon completion, the Form 1520 will be returned to the storekeeper-gauger for verification and signature. Where packages of rum are transferred to the denaturing bonded warehouse on the original gauge, the proprietor will copy the details of such gauge on Form 1520. When rum for denaturation is transferred in packages, a careful inspection of such packages will be made prior to transfer, and where evidence of tampering or unusual loss is found, the provisions of Part 225 of this title, relative to losses of distilled spirits in bond will be followed.

§ 216.139 Report of gauge, Form 1520; pipeline transfers. Where the rum described in the application, Form 573, is to be transferred from distillery receiving cisterns or warehouse storage tanks, it will be run into a weighing or gauging tank and carefully gauged. Where no weighing or gauging tank is provided in the distillery or internal revenue bonded warehouse, the rum may be gauged in a weighing tank in the denaturing bonded warehouse, in which case the rum shall be run directly from the receiving cistern or storage tank to a weighing tank in the denaturing bonded warehouse. The storekeeper-gauger will prepare Form 1520, in triplicate, and enter the details of the gauge thereon.

§ 216.140 Transfer of rum. Upon completion of the gauge and Form 1520, the storekeeper-gauger will permit the rum to be transferred to the denaturing bonded warehouse. If the rum is in packages the proprietor will, under the supervision of the storekeeper-gauger and before removal of the rum to the denaturing bonded warehouse, stencil upon the head of each package, in letters and figures large enough to be easily read, the words, "For Denaturation," followed by the date of removal to the denaturing bonded warehouse.

§ 216.141 Supervision of transfer. The transfer of rum from the distillery or internal revenue bonded warehouse to the denaturing bonded warehouse will be made under the supervision of the storekeeper-gauger. Where rum is so transferred by pipeline, the storekeeper-gauger supervising the deposit of the rum in a storage, weighing, or mixing tank in the denaturing bonded warehouse will see that the outlet and all other openings of such tank, except the inlet, are closed and locked and that the valves in the pipeline are so adjusted by the proprietor as to control the flow of rum into the tank before the outlet of the distillery receiving cistern or weighing tank, or the warehouse storage or gauging tank from which the rum is to be transferred is unlocked. When the rum has been deposited in the tank in the denaturing bonded warehouse the inlet of such tank and the outlets of the pipeline and the distillery receiving cistern or weighing tank, or warehouse storage or gauging tank will be immediately closed by the proprietor and locked by the storekeeper-gauger. The valves on the pipelines, and the openings of tanks containing rum, shall be kept closed and locked at all times, except when required to be open for the transfer of rum or for other necessary purposes. Whenever rum is to be transferred into or out of tanks the storekeeper-gauger will open and close the locks, but it shall be the duty of the proprietor to manipulate the stopcocks or valves controlling the flow of the rum. The storekeeper-gauger will not permit the transfer of rum from the distillery cistern room or the internal revenue bonded warehouse to the denaturing bonded warehouse by pipeline unless the use of such pipeline has been approved in accordance with this part.

§ 216.142 Disposition of Forms 573 and 1520. Upon the transfer of the rum, the storekeeper-gauger will execute his certificate of gauge and transfer on each copy of Form 573, retain one copy of Form 573, with Form 1520 attached, deliver one copy of each to the proprietor and forward one copy of each to the assistant regional commissioner.

SUBPART N—FORMULA FOR DENATURATION OF RUM

§ 216.155 Formula. The following formula is prescribed for the denaturation of rum:

(a) To every 100 gallons of rum of not less than 150 degrees of proof add 1 gallon of the following solution: 5 gallons of an aqueous solution containing 40 percent nicotine; 3.6 ounces of methylene blue; water to make 100 gallons.

(b) The denaturing solution must conform to the following analytical requirements:

(1) Determination of nicotine. It must contain not less than 1.88 percent of nicotine when tested by the following process: 20 c. c. of the solution are measured into a 500 c. c. Kjeldahl flask provided with a suitable bulb tube, 10 c. c. of N/10 alkali added, the liquid made up to 50 c. c., and distilled in a current of steam until the distillate is no longer alkaline (about 500 c. c.). The distillate is then titrated with N/10 H_2SO_4, using rosolic acid or methyl red as an indicator. Not less than 25.2 c. c. should be required for the neutralization.

(2) To determine the intensity of color. Of the denaturing solutions, 1 c. c. is diluted with 100 c. c. of water and 50 c. c. of this solution are compared in a 50 c. c. Nessler tube with 50 c. c. of a solution containing 5 grams of $CuSO_4$, $5H_2O$, C. P., in 100 c. c. of water.

(3) Caution. It has been found that the above modified denaturing material when kept in closely stoppered containers loses its color, but when agitated in the presence of air the color returns. Therefore, officers should see that this material is thoroughly agitated in the presence of air, before being added to the rum to be denatured. If the officer is in doubt, a standard color sample will be sent on request.

SUBPART O—DENATURING MATERIALS

§ 216.160 Storage of denaturants. Authorized denaturants may be brought on the denaturing bonded warehouse premises in any desired quantity if ample storage facilities have been provided, but the same must be immediately placed in the denaturing material storeroom or the denaturing material tanks. Denaturants which are used in small quantities may be stored in the original packages, in the denaturing material storeroom. All other denaturants must be deposited in the appropriate tanks or other approved receptacles. Each tank or other receptacle in which denaturants are stored, either within or without the denaturing material storeroom, must have plainly marked thereon the kind of denaturant contained therein.

§ 216.161 Taking samples of denaturants. Except as provided in § 216.169, the storekeeper-gauger in charge will take a 1-pint sample from each package or tank or other approved receptacle of mingled denaturants received or prepared, and will forward the same to the chemist authorized by the Director, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division to analyze such denaturants. Where a lot comprising a number of packages of the mingled denaturants is received or prepared, samples of equal quantities shall be taken from each package and mingled, and the 1-pint sample to be forwarded to the authorized chemist taken from such mixture. The sample to be submitted to the authorized chemist shall be taken from the denaturing solution of 100 gallons specified in the prescribed formula.

§ 216.162 Container to be sealed. After taking the sample the storekeeper-gauger will securely close and seal the tank or package from which it was obtained, and no part of the contents of such tank or package may be used until the sample has been officially tested and approved, and report on Form 1472 of such test is received by the storekeeper-gauger in charge of the plant.

§ 216.163 Packaging samples of denaturants. Samples of denaturants to be submitted by the storekeeper-gauger to the authorized chemist for analysis must be placed in heavy glass bottles or other suitable containers to be provided by the proprietor of the denaturing bonded warehouse, and such bottles or containers must be securely closed and a label (Form 1469) affixed thereto showing the name of the substance, serial number of the denaturing material tank or a description of the container from which the sample was taken, date it was taken, and the name of the officer forwarding it to the chemist. All samples of denaturants submitted for analysis must be sealed with wax by use of the seal furnished for such purpose or by a paper seal signed by the storekeeper-gauger. The authorized chemist shall not examine samples of denaturants brought to him unless they bear the seal of the internal revenue officer.

§ 216.164 Shipment of samples to authorized chemists. The samples of denaturants, after being securely packed and sealed, shall be sent to the most convenient authorized chemist for examination and report. Assistant regional commissioners will furnish proprietors of denaturing bonded warehouses and storekeeper-gaugers with the names and addresses of authorized chemists. All expenses in connection with the forwarding and testing of samples must be borne by the proprietor. A report of each sample submitted by the storekeeper-gauger for analysis shall be prepared by him on Form 1472, in triplicate, and forwarded to the authorized chemist.

§ 216.165 Report of analysis by the chemist. Upon completion of the analysis of the denaturants, the authorized chemist shall make a report of his analysis on the Form 1472, in triplicate, received from the storekeeper-gauger, note his approval or disapproval of the samples thereon, and sign the same. One copy of the Form 1472 shall be returned to the storekeeper-gauger in charge of the denaturing bonded warehouse, one copy shall be forwarded to the assistant regional commissioner of the region in which the warehouse is located, and the remaining copy shall be transmitted to the Director, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division.

§ 216.166 Retention of samples. The authorized chemist must retain all samples of rum denaturants for a period of 30 days so that they will be available for reference.

§ 216.167 Approval of denaturants. If the sample is approved the contents of the tank or package from which the same was taken shall, upon receipt of the chemist's report, become an approved denaturant and the storekeeper-gauger shall at once remove the seals from such tank or package and permit the denaturant to be used.

§ 216.168 Treatment of disapproved denaturant. Where a sample of denaturant does not conform to the prescribed specifications, the storekeeper-gauger shall, upon receipt of the chemist's report of disapproval permit the proprietor, if he so desires, to treat or manipulate the proposed denaturant so as to render it suitable for use. Where the denaturant is so treated or manipulated, another sample must be submitted for approval. If the proprietor does not desire to further treat the denaturant, the storekeeper-gauger shall require him immediately to remove the denaturant from the premises.

§ 216.169 Supplying denaturant to other proprietors. Proprietors of distillery denaturing bonded warehouses will be permitted to supply approved denaturant, i. e., denaturing solution which has been tested and approved by the authorized chemist, to proprietors of other distillery denaturing bonded warehouses: Provided, That such denaturant is furnished in containers properly marked and sealed, with a certificate attached by the storekeeper-gauger in charge at the denaturing bonded warehouse making shipment or delivery of the denaturant. Such denaturant need not be further analyzed at the receiving denaturing bonded warehouse.

SUBPART P—DENATURATION OF RUM

§ 216.180 General. Only rum of not less than 150 degrees of proof may be denatured and the denaturation thereof must be done at a distillery denaturing bonded warehouse and in strict conformity with the prescribed formula. No rum may be denatured except in the immediate presence of the storekeeper-gauger assigned to supervise the operation of the denaturing bonded warehouse.

§ 216.181 Notice, Form 576. Whenever the proprietor of a denaturing bonded warehouse desires to manufacture denatured rum, he shall give notice to the storekeeper-gauger in charge on Form 576, in triplicate, furnishing all the information indicated by the headings of the various columns and lines on the form, and the instructions printed thereon or issued in respect thereto and as required by this part.

§ 216.182 Denaturation. Upon receipt of Form 576, properly executed, the storekeeper-gauger will see that the exact quantity of rum and the proper quantity of approved denaturants are conveyed directly to the mixing tank and that the same are thoroughly agitated and mixed therein before being drawn off for shipment or storage. He will remove the Government lock from the outlet valve of the mixing tank as soon as denaturation is completed.

§ 216.183 Measuring rum and denaturant. All denaturant before being used must be carefully measured or weighed by the proprietor under the supervision of the storekeeper-gauger in previously tested receptacles or by scales provided by the proprietor; and all rum to be used, unless dumped from packages gauged within the preceding 30 days or received by pipeline and run directly into mixing tanks, must be carefully proofed and measured or weighed by the proprietor under the supervision of the storekeeper-gauger. The proprietor will provide accurate hydrometers and thermometers for his own use in determining the proof of the rum, and will not use the Government-owned instruments.

§ 216.184 Responsibility of proprietor. The proprietor will be held strictly accountable for any errors in the quantities of denaturants added. It is important that his determinations shall be absolutely correct. He must know that the measuring or weighing devices used by him are accurate.

§ 216.185 Responsibility of storekeeper-gauger. The storekeeper-gauger in charge must frequently apply, or cause to be applied, such tests to the measuring or weighing devices as will satisfy him that they are accurate. The accuracy of scales used for weighing packages will be determined by means of the test weights provided in accordance with § 216.62. Weighing tank scales shall be tested and their accuracy determined in accordance with the procedure prescribed in Part 220 of this title. If the storekeeper-gauger finds the measures or scales to be inaccurate he shall refuse to permit their use.

SUBPART Q—TRANSFER OF DENATURED RUM TO STORAGE OR SHIPPING CONTAINERS

§ 216.195 Kinds of containers. Unless temporarily retained in the mixing tank, denatured rum must, when the manufacture thereof is completed, be transferred to properly equipped denatured rum tanks and stored therein, or drawn into packages or other portable containers for immediate shipment or storage in the denatured rum storeroom, or transferred to tank cars or tank trucks for immediate shipment.

§ 216.196 Details of gauge, Form 577. The proprietor may when he so desires draw denatured rum from mixing tanks or denatured rum tanks into packages or other portable containers, or into weighing tanks for transfer into tank cars or tank trucks, for immediate shipment. The exact contents of each package, tank car, or tank truck filled will be determined by the proprietor and the details of the gauge recorded by him on Form 577. The proprietor shall file Forms 577 in chronological order in bound form as a permanent record available for inspection by internal revenue officers at any reasonable time.

SUBPART R—MARKING CONTAINERS OF DENATURED RUM

MARKING PACKAGES

§ 216.200 Serial number. All packages containing denatured rum filled at a distillery denaturing bonded warehouse shall be numbered serially beginning with number 1 for the first package filled: Provided, That the series in current use at existing denaturing bonded warehouses will be continued. Where there is a change in the individual or corporate name, or in the trade name or style, or in the proprietorship of the business, the series in use at the time of such change will be continued.

§ 216.201 Other required marks. In addition to the serial number, there shall be placed upon the Government head of each package of denatured rum the name of the proprietor, registered number and location (city or town and State) of the denaturing bonded warehouse, the words, "Denatured Rum," apparent proof, contents in wine gallons, and the date filled. Such marks and brands shall be plainly and durably marked or stenciled upon the package in a color contrasting with that of the surface upon which placed. The words "Denatured Rum" shall be placed upon the package in conspicuous letters of not less than 1 inch in height, each letter being of the same size and color: Provided, That in the case of packages containing less than 5 wine gallons the words "Denatured Rum" may be in letters of less than 1 inch in height, but must be as prominently displayed as is consistent with the size of the package. The required marks shall be placed upon the package by the proprietor.

§ 216.202 Additional marks. There may be shown upon the Government heads of packages of denatured rum, in letters no more conspicuous or larger than those used in placing the required marks thereon, the brand name and a statement indicating the character of the product, but such additional marks shall not be so placed upon the Government head of the package as to unduly detract from the required marks thereon.

MARKING TANK CARS AND TANK TRUCKS

§ 216.203 Manner of marking. Each tank car or tank truck used for shipping denatured rum must have legibly marked or painted thereon its number, capacity in wine gallons, and the name or symbol of the owner. Tank cars and tank trucks into which denatured rum is transferred for shipment must also be constructed and labeled in accordance with Subpart V of this part.

SUBPART S—FURNISHING SAMPLES OF DENATURED RUM

§ 216.210 To whom samples may be furnished. The proprietor of a distillery denaturing bonded warehouse may furnish samples of denatured rum to prospective applicants for permits to use denatured rum, who need not necessarily be then engaged in business; to applicants for permits to use denatured rum; and to holders of such permits, for experimental purposes and for use in preparing samples of products for submission to the Director, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, for analysis. Preparations made with samples of denatured rum may not be sold, unless Form 1479–A, giving the quantitative formula, and a sample of the preparation are submitted to and approved by the Director, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, and permit on Form 1481 to use denatured rum in the manufacture of such preparation is procured from the assistant regional commissioner.

§ 216.211 Application, Form 1512. Application for the withdrawal of samples of denatured rum shall be made to the assistant regional commissioner on Form 1512, and proprietors of denaturing bonded warehouses may furnish samples of denatured rum only pursuant to Form 1512, duly approved by the assistant regional commissioner, except that where the quantity involved in any case does not exceed one quart application to or approval by the assistant regional commissioner will not be required, but the commercial records of the vendor must show each such transaction.

§ 216.212 Quantity limitations. Assistant regional commissioners will not approve the withdrawal of samples of denatured rum in quantities in excess of 5 gallons, except that in extraordinary cases where the necessity for the withdrawal of larger quantities has been clearly demonstrated, assistant regional commissioners may authorize withdrawals in excess of 5 gallons, but not in excess of the quantity shown to be necessary.

§ 216.213 Labeling and sealing samples. All samples of denatured rum furnished by the proprietor of a denaturing bonded warehouse shall be sealed, and labeled to show the name and address of the proprietor, the words, "Denatured Rum", and, where furnished pursuant to Form 1512, the serial number of such form.

§ 216.214 Record of samples. All samples of denatured rum furnished by the proprietor pursuant to permits on Form 1512 shall be entered by him on Form 575 in the same manner as other shipments of such denatured rum. The proprietor will enter the serial number of the permit, Form 1512, in the appropriate column on Form 575, and, where Form 1512 bears the serial number of the applicant's basic permit in addition to its own serial number, the proprietor will enter the serial numbers of both permits on Form 575. Where 1 quart samples or less are furnished, entry thereof will be made on the proprietor's commercial records, as provided in § 216.211.

SUBPART T—DISPOSITION OF DENATURED RUM

§ 216.225 To permittees. Except as otherwise provided in this part, the proprietor of a distillery denaturing bonded warehouse or a dealer in denatured rum may sell or dispose of denatured rum only to the person to whom a permit has been issued, in accordance with Part 182 of this title authorizing the procurement thereof. Denatured rum may not be shipped on permits authorizing the procurement of specially denatured alcohol.

§ 216.226 Permit authority for shipment. The proprietor of a denaturing bonded warehouse or a dealer in denatured rum may ship or deliver denatured rum to qualified permittees in accordance with this part and Part 182 of this title.

§ 216.227 Withdrawal permits, Form 1477 or Form 1485. When permits on Form 1477 or Form 1485, authorizing the procurement of denatured rum by bonded dealers or users, respectively, are issued by the assistant regional commissioner pursuant to application therefor, the assistant regional commissioner will forward the permit by mail to the permittee. When a dealer or user desires to procure denatured rum, he will forward the withdrawal permit to the proprietor or dealer named therein from whom he desires to procure the denatured rum. Upon shipment, the proprietor or dealer will enter the shipment on the withdrawal permit and return it to the permittee, unless the proprietor or dealer has been authorized by the permittee to retain the permit for the purpose of making future shipments. No denatured rum may be shipped by a vendor named in the withdrawal permit until such permit is in his possession, and denatured rum may not be furnished in excess of the quantity set forth in the withdrawal permit.

§ 216.228 Cancellation of withdrawal permit. The person upon whose application, a permit on Form 1477 or Form 1485 has been issued, may at any time file request for the cancellation of such permit and the issuance of a new permit naming a new vendor or vendors. The assistant regional commissioner shall, upon receipt of such request, notify the proprietor of the denaturing bonded warehouse holding the permit to be superseded that the same has been canceled and that no more shipments or deliveries may be made to the vendee under such permit. The proprietor shall immediately forward the canceled permit to the assistant regional commissioner. Upon expiration of a withdrawal permit, it shall be returned to the assistant regional commissioner for cancellation. Where the withdrawal permit is in the possession of a vendor on the date of expiration, such vendor shall return it to the permittee for surrender to the assistant regional commissioner. Should a basic permit, Form 1476 (held by a dealer in denatured rum to whom withdrawal permit, Form 1477, was issued), or a basic permit, Form 1481 (held by a person to whom withdrawal permit, Form 1485, was issued), be terminated, surrendered, or revoked, each proprietor or dealer named as vendor in withdrawal permits, Forms 1477 or 1485, shall, upon notice from the assistant regional commissioner, make no further shipments thereunder, and if such withdrawal permit is in his possession, he shall return it to the assistant regional commissioner for cancellation.

SUBPART U—EXPORTATION OF DENATURED RUM

§ 216.240 Application, Form 1545. Where the proprietor of a denaturing bonded warehouse desires to export denatured rum, he shall file application on Form 1545, in triplicate, with the assistant regional commissioner for a permit to export the same. The application, properly modified to cover the exportation of denatured rum by the proprietor of a denaturing bonded warehouse, must contain all of the information indicated by the lines on the form and the instructions printed thereon or issued in respect thereto and as required by this part. Form 1545 must be verified by a written declaration that the application is made under the penalties of perjury.

§ 216.241 Consent of surety, Form 1533. (a) Before an application for a permit to export denatured rum may be approved, the proprietor must file with the assistant regional commissioner consent of surety, Form 1533, in triplicate, extending the terms of his denaturing warehouse bond, Form 572, to cover the exportation of such rum. The extension of the terms of the bond, if intended to cover the exportation of denatured rum from time to time, shall be in the following form:

The obligors hereby agree to extend the terms of said bond to cover all liability that may be incurred for and on account of all denatured rum hereafter withdrawn by the principal for exportation, for which satisfactory evidence of exportation, or of loss on land or at sea, without fault or negligence on the part of the principal or his agents, is not furnished as provided by law or regulations now or hereafter in force.

§ 216.242 Permit to export. If the application is properly prepared and the required consent of surety has been filed, and the bond, if given in less than the maximum penal sum, is sufficient to cover the tax on the denatured rum to be exported, plus the tax on the quantity of rum, either denatured or undenatured, on hand or unaccounted for, and if there is nothing to indicate that such rum will be used for any unlawful purpose, and proper evidence of exportation has been filed for previous shipments, as required by this subpart, the assistant regional commissioner will approve the application, which thereupon becomes a permit. The assistant regional commissioner will then forward all copies of Form 1545 to the proprietor of the warehouse.

§ 216.243 Consignment to collector of customs. Upon receipt of the approved application and permit, Form 1545, and the marking of the packages as provided in this section and Subpart R of this part, the applicant may withdraw the denatured rum specified on the form and consign the same to the collector of customs at the port of export for exportation under his supervision. The applicant shall procure two copies of the bill of lading covering the shipment and immediately forward one copy of Form 1545 with a copy of the bill of lading attached to the collector of customs and one copy of such form and bill of lading to the assistant regional commissioner. He will retain the remaining copy of Form 1545 and file it in chronological order in bound form as a permanent record available for inspection by internal revenue officers. The proprietor shall plainly and legibly stencil on the Government head of each package of denatured rum, before the same is removed for exportation, the words "For Export" in addition to the marks required by Subpart R of this part. Upon removal of the denatured rum from the warehouse the proprietor shall record the quantity removed on Form 575. The foreign country to which the denatured rum is shipped, the number of the car, and the route, or the name of the vessel by which, and the port through which, the denatured rum is to be exported, will be entered on Form 575, in addition to the other required data.

§ 216.244 Export entry; certificate of exportation, etc. When the denatured rum arrives at the port of export, the exporter or his agent shall file immediately with the collector of customs an export entry and two copies of the export bill of lading; and when the vessel, railroad car, motor truck, or other conveyance on which the denatured rum is laden for exportation has cleared the port of export, the collector of customs shall execute the certificate of exportation on the copy of Form 1545 sent to him, and return the same with one copy of the bill of lading to the assistant regional commissioner.

§ 216.245 Evidence of exportation. Exportation may be evidenced by (a) a copy of the export bill of lading issued by the exporting carrier, (b) a certificate by the agent or representative of the export carrier showing actual exportation of the denatured rum, or (c) a certificate of landing whenever the assistant regional commissioner shall have reason to believe that the shipment is not a bona fide exportation. Where a certificate of landing is required the proprietor shall, within thirty days after the date of shipment of such denatured rum where the exportation is made to Canada or Mexico, and within ninety days after the date of shipment where exportation is made to any other foreign country or possession, secure and forward to the assistant regional commissioner a certificate showing that the shipment was duly landed at the foreign port. The landing certificate shall be executed by a customs officer of the foreign country or possession to which the denatured rum is exported, unless it is shown that such country or possession has no customs administration, in which event the certificate shall be signed by the consignee or by the vessel's agent at the place of landing and sworn to before a notary public or other officer authorized to administer oaths, and having an official seal. Failure by the proprietor to produce within the specified time satisfactory evidence of the landing of the shipment of denatured rum at a foreign port, or of loss of the same on land or at sea after shipment, as provided in § 216.246, shall be sufficient grounds for refusal by the assistant regional commissioner to issue to the proprietor any further permits to export denatured rum, pending the filing of the required evidence of clearing and foreign landing, or of loss on land or at sea, of shipments previously made, or the assessment of tax for the enforcement of liability against the bond.

§ 216.246 Proof of loss after clearance. When the proprietor is required to furnish proof of landing at a foreign port but is unable to do so in consequence of loss on land or at sea after shipment, he shall file with the assistant regional commissioner issuing the permit, Form 1545, a statement setting forth fully the cause and extent of the loss and all the pertinent facts and circumstances surrounding the same. Such statement must be accompanied by affidavits from two or more creditable and disinterested persons as to the loss. If the denatured rum was insured, the proprietor shall also file certificates by officers of the insurance company, or board of underwriters, that the insurance has been paid and that, to the best of their knowledge and belief, the denatured rum was destroyed on land or at sea after shipment. When obtainable, affidavits must be furnished by the master and mate of the vessel, conductor in charge of the railroad car, or operator of the motor truck or other conveyance, as the case may be, detailing the cause and extent of the loss and all pertinent facts and circumstances surrounding the same. Such proofs shall be furnished the assistant regional commissioner within the time provided in § 216.245 for furnishing proof of foreign landing, or within such further time as the assistant regional commissioner may deem reasonable.

§ 216.247 Losses in transit to port of export. Allowance for losses of denatured rum in transit from the denaturing bonded warehouse to the port of export will be made in accordance with Subpart W of this part.

§ 216.248 Shipment to American Territories and possessions. This subpart and the forms prescribed by it, shall be applicable to the shipment of denatured rum to Puerto Rico, Guam, American Samoa, the Virgin Islands, and the Panama Canal Zone. The shipment of denatured rum to or from Hawaii and Alaska shall be in accordance with the provisions of this part governing shipments entirely within the continental limits of the United States.

SUBPART V—SHIPMENT AND DELIVERY OF DENATURED RUM

§ 216.260 Packages. Deliveries of denatured rum may be made in packages of any desired size to persons authorized to receive the same. The packages must be marked in accordance with Subpart R of this part.

§ 216.261 Tank cars. Deliveries of denatured rum may be made in railroad tank cars to persons authorized to receive the same: Provided, That deliveries may be made in tank cars only where the premises of the consignor and consignee are equipped with suitable railroad siding facilities. Railroad tank cars must be marked as provided in § 216.203, and must be so constructed that all openings which would afford access to the contents may be closed and securely fastened and sealed. The tank car will be so closed and sealed by the proprietor immediately after it has been filled. The tank car will be sealed with railroad or other appropriate seals furnished by the proprietor.

§ 216.262 Tank trucks. Deliveries of denatured rum may also be made in tank trucks to persons authorized to receive the same. Every tank truck used to transport denatured rum must conform to the following requirements: The tank shall be securely and permanently attached to the frame or chassis of the truck or trailer and shall be securely constructed. Interior bulkheads or stiffeners must have proper drainage cutouts. Manhole covers, outlet valves, vents or pressure relief valves, and all other openings shall be equipped for sealing so as to prevent unauthorized access to the contents of the tank. Outlets of each compartment must be so arranged that delivery of any compartment will not afford access to the contents of any other compartment. There shall be but one consignor per compartment and not less than the entire contents of any one compartment shall be delivered to any one consignee. Calibrated charts, prepared or certified by competent and recognized authorities or engineers, showing the capacity of each compartment in wine gallons for each inch of depth shall be carried in each truck. Each tank truck shall also be equipped with a route board, at least 10 by 12 inches, constructed of substantial material and permanently attached thereto by roundheaded or carriage bolts, nutted and riveted, battered or welded. Provision will also be made for protection, against the weather, of the permit, if any, and the label by the use of celluloid or equally substantial material. The prescribed label and, if transportation is by other than the vendor or vendee, a copy of the basic permit under which transportation is authorized must be attached to such route board. Tanks shall be so constructed that they will completely drain the contents of each compartment, even when the ground is not perfectly level. Suitable ladders and cat walks, permanently attached, must be provided in order to permit ready examination of manholes and other openings. Provision shall be made for the proper grounding of tank trucks when filling or emptying. Tank trucks must be marked as provided in § 216.203. Prior to filling, the proprietor shall determine whether the tank truck is authorized to be used by comparing the serial number and the capacity of the tank as marked thereon, with the copy of the basic permit, except where transportation is by the vendor or vendee, and he will inspect all openings to the tank truck to determine whether they may be effectively sealed. If the tank does not meet such requirements, its use for the transportation of denatured rum will not be permitted. After filling, the proprietor shall seal the tank truck in such a manner as will secure all openings affording access to the contents of the tank with appropriate seals which he shall furnish.

Shipped By JOHN DOE RUM COMPANY
Denaturing Bonded Warehouse No. 1
New York, N. Y.
To
RICHARD ROE TOBACCO COMPANY
Baltimore, Md.
8,500 Gals. Denatured Rum
Withdrawn January 5, 1955

The label shall be securely affixed to the route board of the tank car or tank truck and shall be obliterated when the car or truck is emptied.

§ 216.264 Deliveries by proprietor. The proprietor of a denaturing bonded warehouse shall make deliveries of denatured rum from his premises only in vehicles operated or controlled by him, or by a railroad or steamship company, or express company operating on a railroad or steamship line, or by a trucking company holding permit to transport specially denatured or tax-free alcohol. Where the denatured rum is delivered in vehicles operated or controlled by the proprietor, delivery must be made within 24 hours and the proprietor shall be responsible on his bond for the delivery of the denatured rum to the premises of the consignee. Where shipments of denatured rum are made by railroad, steamship or express company, or by a trucking company holding permit to transport specially denatured or tax-free alcohol, as provided in this section, the proprietor shall be responsible on his bond for delivery of the denatured rum to such carrier.

§ 216.265 Report of shipment, Form 597. Whenever denatured rum is shipped from the premises of a distillery denaturing bonded warehouse, the proprietor shall, at the time shipment is made, prepare a report thereof on Form 597. Where the warehouse and the consignee are located in the same region, the proprietor will prepare Form 597 in quadruplicate. The proprietor will date the form and furnish all the information indicated by the headings of the various columns and lines. Where shipments are made in tank cars, tank trucks or consist of barrels or drums in carload lots, the name of the carrier and the number of the car or tank truck together with the routing (in the case of railroad tank cars or box cars) shall be entered on the form. The consignor shall not change the routing without giving prompt notice of such action to the assistant regional commissioner. In addition, in the case of tank trucks the State license number, the driver's full name and the driver's permit number and State issuing the same shall be recorded on all copies of Form 597. Where the consignee is located in another region, the proprietor will prepare an additional copy of Form 597.

§ 216.266 Disposition of Form 597. Upon shipment of the denatured rum the proprietor shall send one copy of Form 597 to the assistant regional commissioner of his region, and two copies to the consignee, except in the case of tank truck shipments, when he shall mail one copy to the consignee and enclose a copy in a sealed envelope addressed to the consignee and give the same to the driver of the truck for delivery to the consignee. Where the consignee is located in another region, a copy of Form 597 will be mailed to the assistant regional commissioner of such region. He will file the remaining copy in a bound file in chronological order by months as a permanent record available for inspection by internal revenue officers. Upon receipt of the denatured rum by a manufacturer or bonded dealer, Form 597 will be disposed of in accordance with the provisions of Part 182 of this title for the disposition of Form 1473.

§ 216.267 Investigation by assistant regional commissioner. Where report of receipt of the denatured rum shipped is not received in due course, or where any material or unexplained difference exists between the quantity shipped and the quantity received, or where there is reasonable ground to suspect that the denatured rum has been or will be used for purposes other than those authorized by law and regulations, the assistant regional commissioner shall cause an investigation to be made.

§ 216.268 Memorandum of receipt, Form 1453–A. Proprietors of denaturing bonded warehouses will, when shipping denatured rum to the United States or any governmental agency thereof, prepare Form 1453–A, properly modified, in quadruplicate. Where shipment is made in a tank truck the data required by § 216.265 to be entered on Form 597 will be entered on Form 1453–A for such transaction. The proprietor shall mail two copies of Form 1453–A to the consignee, except in the case of tank truck shipments when he shall enclose one copy in a sealed envelope addressed to the Government officer to whom the denatured rum is consigned and give the same to the driver of the tank truck for delivery to such officer. He will forward one copy of Form 1453–A to the assistant regional commissioner of the region in which the consignor's premises are located. He will file the remaining copy in a separate file in chronological order and in bound form as a permanent record available for inspection by internal revenue officers at any reasonable time. Upon receipt of the denatured rum, the receiving Government officer will execute the certificate of receipt on Forms 1453–A, after noting thereon any loss or deficiency in the shipment, and will forward one copy to the assistant regional commissioner specified at the bottom of the form and retain the other copy for his records.

§ 216.269 Deliveries by bonded dealer. A dealer in denatured rum shall make deliveries in accordance with the applicable provisions of this subpart.

SUBPART W—LOSSES

LOSSES IN DENATURATION

§ 216.280 Determined monthly. Losses occurring by evaporation or other unavoidable causes in the process of denaturation at a distillery denaturing bonded warehouse must be determined and reported monthly. The extent of the losses for each month shall be established by comparison of the quantity in proof gallons of rum used for denaturation with the quantity in proof gallons of denatured rum produced.

§ 216.281 Losses allowable without claim. Where the loss occurring in the process of denaturation during any calendar month does not exceed 1 percent of the quantity of rum used for denaturation during the month, claim for allowance of such loss will not be required, provided there are no circumstances indicating that the rum, or any part thereof, was used for purposes other than denaturation, or was unlawfully removed from the denaturing bonded warehouse. The allowance of 1 percent on account of losses in the process of denaturation will not be cumulative. Losses for each month must be determined separately.

§ 216.282 Losses requiring claim. Where the loss occurring in the process of denaturation is in excess of 1 percent, calculated in accordance with § 216.281, claim for allowance of the total losses during the month will be filed by the proprietor with the assistant regional commissioner, in accordance with § 216.291.

§ 216.283 Illegal diversion or removal. The distilled spirits tax must be paid on all rum diverted to illegal uses on the premises of the denaturing bonded warehouse or in the course of transfer thereto, and on all rum removed from the denaturing bonded warehouse contrary to law, whether or not the total losses, including the rum diverted or unlawfully removed, exceed 1 percent of the aggregate quantity used for denaturation.

LOSSES OF RUM BY THEFT, UNAUTHORIZED VOLUNTARY DESTRUCTION, OR CASUALTY

§ 216.284 Procedure applicable. The procedure prescribed in Part 225 of this title, relating to losses of rum by theft, unauthorized voluntary destruction, or casualty, shall apply to such losses in a distillery denaturing bonded warehouse.

LOSSES OF DENATURED RUM AT DENATURING BONDED WAREHOUSE

§ 216.285 Determined monthly. The quantity of denatured rum lost at a denaturing bonded warehouse must be determined and reported monthly. The extent of the losses for each month shall be established by comparison of the quantity shown by actual inventory with the quantity carried in the proprietor's report, Form 575, as remaining in storage at the end of the month. For the purpose of such comparison the gauge at the time of the filling of packages of denatured rum may be taken. The actual quantity in tanks must be ascertained.

§ 216.286 Losses allowable without claim. Where the loss of denatured rum does not exceed 1 percent of the aggregate quantity of denatured rum shipped from the denaturing bonded warehouse during any calendar month, claim for allowance of such loss will not be required, provided there are no circumstances indicating that the denatured rum, or any part thereof, was diverted to illegal use. The allowance of 1 percent on account of losses of denatured rum at a denaturing bonded warehouse will not be cumulative. Losses for each month must be determined separately by inventory of denatured rum on hand at the end of the month.

§ 216.287 Losses requiring claim. Where the loss of denatured rum exceeds 1 percent of the quantity shipped from the denaturing bonded warehouse during the month, claim for allowance of the total losses during the month will be filed by the proprietor with the assistant regional commissioner in accordance with § 216.291.

§ 216.288 Illegal diversion or removal. The distilled spirits tax must be paid on all denatured rum diverted to illegal uses, and on all such rum removed from the denaturing bonded warehouse contrary to law, whether or not the total losses of denatured rum at the denaturing bonded warehouse, including denatured rum diverted or unlawfully removed, exceed 1 percent of the aggregate quantity shipped from the denaturing bonded warehouse. No person shall sell denatured rum for use, or for sale for use, for beverage purposes; nor shall any person sell any denatured rum under circumstances from which it might reasonably appear that it is the intention of the purchaser to procure the same for sale or use for beverage purposes.

LOSSES OF DENATURED RUM IN TRANSIT FOR EXPORT OR IN THE COURSE OF DELIVERY IN TRUCKS OWNED OR CONTROLLED BY PROPRIETOR

§ 216.289 Losses allowable without claim. Where the loss of denatured rum from any package, tank car, or tank truck in transit from the denaturing bonded warehouse for export, or in the course of delivery in trucks owned or controlled by the proprietor, does not exceed 1 percent of the quantity contained therein at the time of shipment, claim for allowance of such loss while in transit will not be required, provided there are no circumstances indicating that the denatured rum, or any part thereof, was diverted to illegal use.

§ 216.290 Losses requiring claim. Where the loss of denatured rum from any package, tank car, or tank truck in transit from the denaturing bonded warehouse for export or in the course of delivery in trucks owned or controlled by the proprietor exceeds 1 percent of the quantity contained therein at the time of shipment, claim for allowance of the total quantity lost shall be filed with the assistant regional commissioner by the proprietor of the denaturing bonded warehouse. The claim will be prepared and filed in accordance with § 216.291. Claims covering losses in transit of denatured rum shipped to manufacturers and dealers by railroad or steamship companies, or by express companies operating on railroad or steamship lines, or by trucking companies holding permit to transport specially denatured or tax-free alcohol, will be filed by such manufacturers and dealers in accordance with Part 182 of this title.

CLAIM FOR ALLOWANCE OF LOSSES

§ 216.291 Form of claims. No special forms have been provided for use by claimants in presenting claims for allowance of losses in the process of denaturation, or losses of denatured rum at a denaturing bonded warehouse or in transit for export or in the course of delivery in trucks owned or controlled by the proprietor. Such claims may be made on letter size paper (original only). Each claim shall be signed by the proprietor or his authorized agent and immediately above the signature there will appear the following statement: "I declare under the penalties of perjury that this claim has been examined by me and to the best of my knowledge and belief is a true and correct claim." The claimant must furnish the following information:

§ 216.292 Supporting statements. Claims for losses must be supported by affidavits of persons having personal knowledge of the loss.

§ 216.293 Filing of claims. The claims must be filed with the assistant regional commissioner of the region in which the denaturing bonded warehouse is located. Claims for allowance of losses of denatured rum while in transit should be filed promptly.

§ 216.294 Report of losses. Losses of rum in process of denaturation or denatured rum by theft, accidental fire, or other casualty must be reported to the assistant regional commissioner by the proprietor of the denaturing bonded warehouse immediately after the losses are discovered. Where such losses are ascertained while an officer is on duty, the officer will immediately make a full report of the loss to the assistant regional commissioner.

§ 216.295 Investigation. Where large losses from theft, casualty, or other cause are reported, the assistant regional commissioner will immediately make such investigation and require such evidence to be submitted as he may deem necessary.

§ 216.296 Examination of claim. When a claim for allowance of loss is received by the assistant regional commissioner, he will carefully examine same to see that all required information has been furnished and will cause such investigation to be made or require such additional evidence to be submitted as he may deem necessary. Upon completion of the investigation, if any, the assistant regional commissioner will allow or disallow the claim in accordance with existing law and regulations.

§ 216.297 Records. The proprietor will enter all losses occurring at the denaturing bonded warehouse in his monthly record and report, Form 575.

§ 216.298 Failure to file claim. Where loss had been sustained in such a quantity as to require the filing of a claim, and claim for allowance of the loss is not made as provided in §§ 216.291 to 216.293, an assessment will be made in accordance with prescribed procedure.

SUBPART X—PROPRIETOR'S RECORDS AND REPORTS

§ 216.315 General. The proprietor of every distillery denaturing bonded warehouse shall prepare the daily reports and shall keep the monthly record prescribed in this part. All the information called for in each form, as indicated by the headings of the various columns and lines of the form and the instructions printed thereon or issued in respect thereto and as required by this part will be given. Forms 573, 575, and 576 must be signed in the same manner as the application, Form 571, except that in the case of a corporation the affixing of the corporate seal will not be required. Where the reports are signed by an agent proper power of attorney authorizing the agent to execute the reports for the proprietor must be filed on Form 1534, in duplicate, with the assistant regional commissioner who will, after entering the date of receipt and his signature on both copies, retain the original and return the copy to the principal. The proprietor shall file Forms 573, 575, 576, 577, 597, and 1453–A in separate files in chronological order and in bound form as a permanent record available for inspection by internal revenue officers at any reasonable time.

§ 216.316 Form 575. The proprietor of the distillery denaturing bonded warehouse shall keep a monthly record on Form 575, in duplicate, of all rum received and used for denaturation, all denaturant used, and all denatured rum produced, and withdrawn for shipment. Daily entries shall be made on Form 575 as indicated by the headings of the various columns and lines on the form, and the instructions printed thereon or issued in respect thereto, and as required by this part, before the close of the business day next succeeding the day on which the transactions occur. Where the making of the entries is deferred to the next business day, as authorized by this section, appropriate memoranda shall be kept for the purpose of making the entries correctly. A monthly summary of rum received and used, denaturant received or compounded and used, and denatured rum produced and disposed of, will be made on such form at the end of the month. Each report on Form 575 must be verified by a written declaration that it is made under the penalties of perjury.

(68A Stat. 681, 749; 26 U. S. C. 5555, 6065)

§ 216.317 Disposition of Form 575. The proprietor will deliver both copies of Form 575 to the storekeeper-gauger on or before the 10th day of the month next succeeding that for which the form is rendered. The storekeeper-gauger will date both copies of the last page of the form at the time of receipt. The storekeeper-gauger will examine the form to ascertain that the quantities of rum, denaturant and denatured rum on hand on the last of the month are correctly reported. He will then initial both copies of the last page of the report, return the copy of the form to the proprietor, and forward the original of the form to the assistant regional commissioner for audit and retention.

SUBPART Y—RETURN OF DENATURED RUM

§ 216.325 Entry on Form 575. Where denatured rum is for any reason returned to the denaturing bonded warehouse by a bonded dealer or manufacturer or by the carrier, as provided in Part 182 of this title, the proprietor will make a memorandum entry of the same in red ink on Form 575, but will not include the quantity thereof in the totals of the rum receipts recorded on the form. The total quantity of denatured rum returned during the month will, however, be entered on line 5 of the summary of denatured rum on the form, and when such denatured rum is again shipped entry thereof will be made in the same manner as other shipments.

SUBPART Z—OPERATION UNDER A NEW INDIVIDUAL OR CORPORATE NAME, OR UNDER DIFFERENT TRADE NAMES OR STYLES

§ 216.330 Qualification required. Whenever the proprietor of a denaturing bonded warehouse desires to change the individual or corporate name, or to operate under a trade name or style not previously approved, he must comply with § 216.95 and secure approval of such change in the manner prescribed in §§ 216.100 and 216.110, prior to the commencement of operations. Thereafter, whenever he desires to again operate under such approved trade name or style he must comply with § 216.95 and secure approval of the change in the manner prescribed in § 216.100, prior to commencement of operations thereunder.

§ 216.331 Records. Separate records on Form 575 will not be required for operations under a new individual or corporate name, or under each trade name or style, but the proprietor must note on each record the individual or corporate name or the trade names or styles under which operations were conducted during the month, and the dates of operation under each.

SUBPART AA—CHANGE OF PROPRIETORSHIP

§ 216.340 Completion of operations required. When a succession or actual change in the proprietorship of a distillery denaturing bonded warehouse takes place other than a change brought about by operation of law, as by the appointment of an administrator, executor, assignee, receiver, trustee, or other fiduciary, the business of denaturing rum must be completely finished by the person or persons who have been carrying on the business, and all denatured rum removed from the premises before the business shall be undertaken or begun by the succeeding proprietor, unless by agreement between the outgoing proprietor and the successor it shall be arranged to transfer from the former to the latter at the time the transfer of proprietorship becomes effective, all rum and denatured rum then on hand: Provided, That in each case the application and other qualifying documents of the successor, prescribed by Subpart H of this part, have been approved by the assistant regional commissioner to take effect on the day next succeeding that at the close of which the transfer is made. Where a change of proprietorship has been brought about by operation of law, the administrator, executor, receiver, trustee, or other fiduciary may not commence or continue operations until the required qualifying documents have been filed and approved.

§ 216.341 Records and reports. Where there is a change in the proprietorship otherwise than by operation of law, the outgoing proprietor shall enter on his Form 575 all rum, denaturant, and denatured rum transferred to his successor, who shall in turn enter such items on his Form 575 as received from his predecessor. Where an administrator, executor, assignee, receiver, trustee, or other fiduciary succeeds to the business and qualifies to operate the same, he shall make proper notation on Form 575 of his succession.

SUBPART BB—LOCKS AND SEALS

§ 216.351 Where locks are required. Government locks are required on the doors of the denaturing bonded warehouse and the denaturing material storeroom therein; on the door of the Government cabinet; on all manheads, inlets, outlets, and other openings of rum storage tanks, weighing tanks, and denaturing material storage tanks; on the valves in pipelines used for the conveyance of rum; and on such other parts of the premises or equipment as are required by this part or deemed necessary by the assistant regional commissioner.

§ 216.352 Seal locks. Seal locks will be used on the entrance doors of the denaturing bonded warehouse and the denaturing material storeroom; on denaturing material tanks, if not located in the denaturing material storeroom; on the door of the Government cabinet; and on such other places where the use of seal locks is required by this part or deemed necessary by the assistant regional commissioner.

TITLE 38—PENSIONS, BONUSES, AND VETERANS' RELIEF

Chapter I—Veterans' Administration

PART 3—VETERANS CLAIMS

PART 4—DEPENDENTS AND BENEFICIARIES CLAIMS

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

1. In § 3.9 of Part 3, the headnote and paragraphs (a) and (b) are amended to read as follows:

§ 3.9 Revision of decisions. (a) No rating board or other agency of original jurisdiction will reverse or amend, except upon new and material evidence, a decision rendered by the same or any other rating board, adjudicative agency or by an appellate authority, except where such reversal or amendment is clearly warranted by a change in law or by a specific change in interpretation thereof specifically provided for in a Veterans' Administration issue: Provided, That a rating board or other adjudicative agency may reverse or amend a decision by the same or any other rating board or adjudicative agency where such reversal or amendment is obviously warranted by a clear and unmistakable error shown by the evidence in file at the time the prior decision was rendered. A rating or other adjudicative decision which constitutes a reversal of a prior decision on the grounds of clear and unmistakable error has the same effect as if the corrected decision had been made on the date of the reversed decision. (See also § 3.201.) Where the severance of service-connection is considered warranted on the facts of record, see paragraph (d) of this section.

(b) Whenever a rating board or other adjudicative agency may be of the opinion that a revision or an amendment of a previous decision is warranted on the facts of record in the case at the time the decision in question was rendered, a difference of opinion being involved rather than a finding of clear and unmistakable error, the complete file will be forwarded, accompanied by a complete and comprehensive statement of the facts in the case and a detailed explanation of the matters supporting the conclusion that a revision or amendment of the prior decision is in order, to the Deputy Administrator for Veterans Benefits. A rating or other adjudicative decision will not be effected in any such case pending the return of the claims folder following central office consideration. The commencing date of benefits in such cases if otherwise payable will be the date of the action by the central office authority authorizing a favorable decision based on a difference of opinion. The foregoing is applicable regardless of whether there is a pending claim in file. Where the initial rating for death compensation or pension purposes is favorable, the commencing date of death benefits will be determined without regard to the fact that the death rating may reverse, on a difference of opinion, an unfavorable rating for disability purposes, entered by a rating agency other than the Board of Veterans Appeals, which was in effect at the date of the veteran's death.

2. In § 3.201, the headnote and paragraphs (c), (d), and (e) are amended to read as follows:

§ 3.201 New and material evidence presented after prior disallowance. • • •

(c) For the purpose of this section a formal application will not be required, but where informative data comprehended in the questions enumerated in the appropriate application form are considered essential to further adjudicative action in the claim, the informative data will be required and must be submitted within 1 year from the date of request.

(d) Awards pursuant to claims comprehended under paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) of this section will be governed by the provisions of the Veterans Regulation No. 2 series, (38 U. S. C. ch. 12), effective laws and, as to disability compensation, § 3.212 relating to the effective dates of awards based upon original claims.

(e) Decisions of adjudicating agencies of original jurisdiction do not become final until the expiration of the time within which an appeal may be filed, or, if an appeal is timely filed, the disallowance does not become final prior to the appellate decision. Evidence received prior to the expiration of the appeal period or prior to the appellate decision will be considered by the adjudicating agency of original jurisdiction and will be considered as having been filed in connection with the claim which was pending at the beginning of the appeal period.

3. Sections 3.330 and 3.333 are revised to read as follows:

§ 3.330 Finality of decisions. A decision of an agency of original jurisdiction which is unappealed within 1 year from the date of notice of the disallowance shall be final. Where an appeal is timely filed, the disallowance, if affirmed, does not become final until the date of the appellate decision. (Vet. Reg. 2 (a), as amended; 38 U. S. C. ch. 12)

§ 3.333 Submission of additional evidence within the appeal period or prior to appellate decision. Additional material and pertinent evidence submitted within the appeal period or, if an appeal has been timely filed, submitted prior to an appellate decision will be considered by the agency of original jurisdiction and will be considered as having been filed in connection with the claim which was pending at the beginning of the appeal period. The submission of additional evidence will not extend the period in which an appeal may be taken. The appeal period in any event begins to run as of the date of notice of the initial decision. (Vet. Reg. 2 (a), as amended; 38 U. S. C. ch. 12)

4. In § 4.0 of Part 4, a new paragraph (a) (3) is added as follows:

§ 4.0 Application for death benefits—(a) General. • • •

(3) When the claim of a widow is disallowed, including disallowance for failure to furnish evidence, and evidence adequate to establish entitlement of a child or children who were included in the widow's claim is furnished within 1 year from the date of request (requested either prior or subsequent to the disallowance of the widow's claim), the award for the child or children will be made as if the disallowed claim had been filed solely on their behalf; otherwise, payments may not be made for the child or children for any period prior to the date of receipt of a new claim (formal or informal).

This regulation is effective April 12, 1955.

Subchapter E—Load Lines

[CGFR 55-15]

PART 43—FOREIGN OR COASTWISE VOYAGE

PART 45—MERCHANT VESSELS WHEN ENGAGED IN A VOYAGE ON THE GREAT LAKES

FEES FOR ASSIGNMENT OF LOAD LINES

A notice regarding proposed changes in the navigation and vessel inspection rules and regulations was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER dated February 18, 1955 (20 F. R. 1055 to 1057), as Items I to IX, inclusive, on the Agenda to be considered by the Merchant Marine Council, and a public hearing was held on March 22, 1955, at Washington, D. C. This document is the first of a series of documents covering the rules and regulations considered at this public hearing.

All the comments, views, and data submitted in connection with the items considered by the Merchant Marine Council at this public hearing have been very helpful to the Coast Guard and are very much appreciated.

The amendments to 46 CFR 43.40–5 and 45.20–75 revised the fees charged for (a) the assignment and renewal of load line certificates; (b) load line inspections; and (c) surveys. The fees prescribed may be charged by the assigning authorities approved by the Commandant, U. S. Coast Guard, to assist in the administration of the Load Line Act of March 2, 1929, as amended, and the Coastwise Load Line Act of 1935, as amended (46 U. S. C. 85–88l). This is the first increase in the scale of fees since 1936 and is in line with present day economic conditions. This document contains the amendments based on Item VIII of the Agenda considered by the Merchant Marine Council. No objections or comments were received from the public on this item.

By virtue of the authority vested in me as Commandant, United States Coast Guard, by Treasury Department Order No. 120, dated July 31, 1950 (15 F. R. 6521), to promulgate regulations in accordance with the statutes cited with the regulations below, the following amendments to the regulations are prescribed which shall become effective thirty days after the date of publication of this document in the FEDERAL REGISTER:

1. Section 43.40–5, including Table 43.40–5 (a), is amended to read as follows:

§ 43.40–5 Fees, travel expense—(a) Scale of fees. (1) Subject to the conditions as set forth in this paragraph, fees payable by owners will be charged for assignment of load line (including load line and condition survey, verification of markings and issuance of load line certificates) in accordance with Table 43.40–5 (a).

(2) In the case of unclassed vessels newly built, where an extensive review of construction plans and attendance during construction by the Surveyors of the assigning authority may be required, in the case of existing unclassed vessels where necessary plans are not available, and in cases where alterations or repairs are made, which would require more than a normal attendance by the Surveyors, additional fees proportional to the amount of work involved may be charged.

(3) The provisions of this paragraph may be applied to either classed or unclassed vessels in cases where, due to alterations or changes in service, a new freeboard may be required.

(b) Fees for renewal of load line certificates. (1) For unclassed vessels the fees for condition survey and renewal of load line certificates shall be 50 percent of the scale in paragraph (a) of this section. (c) Fees for annual load line inspection. The fee for annual load line inspection shall be $25 for vessels not exceeding 2,000 gross tons, and $35 for vessels of more than 2,000 gross tons. Where alterations or repairs are made, which would require more than a normal attendance by the Surveyors, additional fees proportional to the work involved may be charged. In the case of a classed vessel no charge will be made for this inspection if carried out at the same time as a survey to the hull that is required for maintenance of class and for which a fee is chargeable.

(d) Traveling expenses. For all traveling expenses incurred in connection with the surveys described in this section there will be an additional charge.

TITLE 47—TELECOMMUNICATION

Chapter I—Federal Communications Commission

[Docket No. 11261; FCC 55–433]

[Rules Amdt. 3–39]

PART 3—RADIO BROADCAST SERVICES

TABLE OF ASSIGNMENTS FOR TELEVISION BROADCAST STATIONS

In the matter of amendment of § 3.606 Table of assignments, rules governing television broadcast stations; Docket No. 11261.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration its Notice of Proposed Rule Making and Order to Show Cause issued in this proceeding on January 27, 1955 (FCC 55–89) and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on February 1, 1955 (20 F. R. 690). The Notice of Proposed Rule Making advised that WKNY–TV Corporation, permittee of television station WKNY–TV on Channel 66 in Kingston, New York, had filed a petition requesting that the Commission order it to show cause why its authorization should not be modified to specify operation on Channel 21 at Poughkeepsie, New York, in lieu of Channel 66 at Kingston, New York. Since petitioner proposed to employ Channel 21 with its present site, it suggested that this change could be accomplished by making the following alternative changes in the Table of Assignments contained in § 3.606 of the Commission's rules and regulations:

City	Channel No.
	Delete	Add
Proposal A:
Hanover, N. H.	*21+	*27+
Concord, N. H.	27+	75+, 76, 78, 83+
Proposal B:
Hanover, N. H.	*21+	*43
Laconia, N. H.	43	21+

2. Comments were filed by WKNY–TV Corporation and the Trustees of Dartmouth College, Hanover, New Hampshire. Petitioner also filed a Reply to the Order to Show Cause, stating that it has no objection to the modification of its authorization to specify operation on Channel 21 at Poughkeepsie in place of Channel 66 at Kingston.

3. In support of its requested amendments, petitioner notes that it is presently operating Station WKNY–TV on Channel 66 at a site located between Kingston and Poughkeepsie, New York. Petitioner states that due to certain technical difficulties, the station has been unable to operate with full power and that as a result of this and other equipment problems it has not been able to cover its contemplated service area with the necessary signal strength. Petitioner submits that the proposed amendment would conform to the Commission's Rules; that it would permit use of the present satisfactory transmitter site; that there are no applications on file with the Commission for the use of Channel 21 at Poughkeepsie or Channel 21 at Hanover, New Hampshire; and that its proposal is consistent with previous Commission actions which have recognized that in light of present equipment problems, television service can be rendered more expeditiously on lower UHF channels in communities where interested parties are ready to proceed with such service.

4. In its comments, Dartmouth College states that it has been interested in educational television for a number of years and in the establishment of its own station, when feasible, and that it desires that the UHF assignment reserved for non-commercial educational use at Hanover be kept as low in the band as possible. It states, however, that it interposes no objection to the adoption of the foregoing Proposal A, which would substitute Channel 27 for Channel 21 in Hanover, but that it strongly objects to Proposal B, which would substitute Channel 43 for Channel 21 in Hanover.

5. The Commission adheres to its view that, for assignment purposes, no distinctions should be made among the various UHF channels. However, because of the equipment problems currently connected with the use of the higher UHF channels, more effective utilization of available assignments can be made and more expeditious service can be rendered on the lower UHF channels at this time. We have, therefore, in a number of cases substituted a lower UHF channel for the higher UHF channel when the community to which the higher UHF channel was assigned has been ready to proceed with television and the community with the lower UHF channel was not, in order to expedite television service to the public. In the instant case, the communities of Hanover and Concord are apparently not ready to proceed immediately with the establishment of UHF television stations on the lower UHF channels assigned to them. It is expected that the equipment problems connected with operation on higher UHF channels will be eliminated by the time such communities are ready to proceed with television. We are of the view that substitution of the assignments to these communities as proposed would serve the public interest since it would expedite the establishment of a satisfactory television service in the Poughkeepsie and Kingston area and provide for a more effective utilization of available facilities.

6. Authority for the adoption of the amendments is contained in sections 4 (i), 301, 303 (c), (d), (f), and (r), 307 (b), and 316 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended. Since the amendments affect an existing authorization, the Commission is of the view that the public interest, convenience and necessity would be served by making the amendments effective immediately.

7. In view of the foregoing: It is ordered, That, effective immediately, the outstanding authorization of Station WKNY–TV is modified to specify operation on Channel 21 in Poughkeepsie, New York, instead of Channel 66 in Kingston, New York, and an appropriate authorization will be issued to WKNY–TV Corporation. Data with respect to the operation of WKNY–TV on Channel 21 in Poughkeepsie should be submitted to the Commission.

8. It is further ordered, That, effective immediately, the Table of Assignments contained in § 3.606, rules governing television broadcast stations, is amended, in so far as the cities named are concerned, as follows:

City:	Channel No.
Hanover, N. H.	*27+
Concord, N. H.	75+

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

[47 CFR Part 3]

[Docket No. 11252; FCC 55–432]

TABLE OF ASSIGNMENTS

In the matter of amendment of § 3.606 Table of assignments, rules governing television broadcast stations; Docket No. 11252.

1. The Commission has under consideration its Notice of Proposed Rule Making (FCC 55–31) issued in this proceeding on January 14, 1955, proposing to assign Channel 14 to San Antonio, Texas, by substituting Channel 30 for Channel 14 in Seguin, Texas. The Notice in this proceeding was issued pursuant to a petition filed by KCOR, Inc., permittee of Television Station KCOR-TV, authorized to operate on Channel 41 in San Antonio.

2. Comments in support of the proposed amendment have been filed by KCOR, Inc., and the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce. Oppositions have been filed by the Seguin and Guadalupe County Chamber of Commerce, Radio Station KWED, the Seguin Industrial and Development Foundation, Inc., and Walter E. Nolte.

3. Six channels, in all, are presently assigned to San Antonio: VHF Channels 4, 5, 9, and 12—with Channel 9 reserved for education—and UHF Channels 35 and 41. Stations are operating on VHF Channels 4 and 5 and two applications for Channel 12 are in hearing status. An application for the educational channel is pending. Stations have been authorized on both of the UHF channels, but the construction of the stations has not yet been completed. One channel, Channel 14, is assigned to Seguin; and no applications have been filed for this frequency. San Antonio has a population of about 408,000 persons. Seguin is a small community located about 35 miles from San Antonio and has a population somewhat under 10,000 persons.

4. In support of its request for a low UHF channel, KCOR urges that it proposes to operate a Spanish-language station in light of the large Spanish-speaking population in San Antonio and its environs. It is explained that many of the people for whom the station's programs will be directed reside in low-cost, public hearing projects where outdoor antennas would not be permitted; and it is therefore urged that it would be more advantageous to employ a lower UHF channel. KCOR notes that in a number of previous cases the Commission has authorized changes in UHF assignments on the principle that communities ready to proceed with television should be permitted to utilize low UHF channels if they can be made available from communities not yet ready to proceed.

5. The Opponents to the KCOR proposal concede that no application is presently pending for Channel 14 in Seguin but urge that this frequency should nevertheless be retained in that community. It is submitted that Channel 14 has been assigned for use in Seguin without any specified time limit, and that the channel should be retained there until the Commission has afforded notice of any time limit within which the channel must be utilized.

6. The Commission is aware of certain temporary difficulties involved in UHF equipment for the higher UHF channels. The Commission has, therefore, in a number of cases made changes in the Assignment Table to replace a higher UHF channel with a lower UHF channel where the lower channel could be obtained from a community not yet ready to proceed with television, in order to make it available to a community where a station was either operating or under construction. The Commission took such action with the expectation that when the community to which the higher channel was assigned became ready to proceed with the establishment of a station, satisfactory equipment for the higher channels would be available. It should be kept in mind that these changes in frequency authorized by the Commission were not based on any recognition of differences among the UHF channels for assignment purposes, but merely reflected the Commission's efforts to alleviate temporary equipment problems in order to bring more effective television service to the public.

7. In the instant case, Oppositions to the KCOR proposal for shifting Channel 14 from Seguin to San Antonio to replace Channel 41 have been filed by a number of organizations in Seguin, including an Opposition by Radio Station KWED operating in Seguin. An interest in the establishment of a station in Seguin is thus indicated. It is not at all clear, on the basis of the record in this proceeding, that Seguin will not be ready to proceed with television in the foreseeable future. We believe that our policy of switching UHF channels should be limited to those cases where it is quite clear from the record that no use of the low UHF channel will be made in the community from which it is to be deleted in the foreseeable future.

8. In our view, moreover, KCOR has not established on the record in this proceeding that operation on Channel 41 in San Antonio at this time will be unsatisfactory. While KCOR contends that operation with Channel 41 will be difficult if indoor antennas are to be utilized, it concedes that the same may be true with respect to Channel 14. Channel 41 is located in the relatively lower part of the UHF band, and we do not believe that operation on Channel 41 in San Antonio will present insurmountable obstacles from an equipment standpoint. Thus, we are not persuaded by petitioner's showing in this proceeding that Channel 41 cannot be employed in San Antonio to provide an efficient and satisfactory television service. Accordingly, we have concluded that the public interest, convenience, and necessity would not be served by shifting Channel 14 from Seguin to San Antonio in place of Channel 41.

9. In view of the foregoing: It is ordered, That the petition of KCOR, Inc., is denied and that this proceeding is hereby terminated.

Adopted: April 6, 1955.

Released: April 7, 1955.

[Docket No. 11359; FCC 55-423]

STATIONS ON LAND AND SHIPBOARD IN THE MARITIME SERVICES

REPLACEMENT OF ONE FREQUENCY AND DELETION OF CONDITION ATTACHED TO ANOTHER FREQUENCY

In the matter of amendment of Parts 7 and 8 of the rules to delete the frequency 2572 kc for ship use at Mobile, Alabama and to make the frequency 2430 kc available as a replacement therefor; amendment of Part 7 to delete at San Francisco-Eureka, California the noninterference condition attached to the coast frequency 2450 kc with respect to the police service in New York; Docket No. 11359.

1. On February 10, 1954, the Commission adopted a Report and Order in Docket No. 10444 finalizing a plan of frequency assignment for all areas which would be used as the basis for carrying out the Maritime Mobile radiotelephone portions of the Geneva Agreement (1951) in the frequency band 2000–2850 kc. However, the effective dates of deletion of certain existing frequencies and availability of new frequencies were to be made the subject of later proceedings.

2. In the Mobile, Alabama area, the frequency 2572 kc is used for shipshore transmitting and receiving. In accordance with the frequency assignment plan with respect to the Mobile area, it is now feasible to delete the frequency 2572 kc as a ship frequency and to replace it by making the ship frequency 2430 kc available for assignment on a full-time basis. Police assignments on 2430 kc at Bloomfield, New Jersey and Bergen County, New Jersey have heretofore blocked the availability of this frequency at Mobile. These police operations are being deleted. A police assignment on 2430 kc also remains in Kern County, California. The separation between Kern County, and Mobile, Alabama is such that little or no harmful interference is expected during the period prior to the transfer to VHF by the Kern County police. The frequency 2572 kc will continue to be the available coast station frequency at Mobile. In effect, the present simplex operation on 2572 kc in the Mobile area will be replaced by duplex operation using the frequency pair 2572 kc (coast)—2430 kc (ship). In order to permit adequate advance planning by those concerned, the date for the change-over would be 90 days following the date of adoption by the Commission of the Order finalizing this proposed rule making.

3. In the San Francisco-Eureka, California area, the coast frequency 2450 kc is available for assignment on condition that harmful interference is not caused to the police radio service in Kansas, Wisconsin, or New York. It is proposed to delete New York from the condition since there is no longer a police assignment on 2450 kc at New York.

4. The proposed amendments are issued under the authority contained in sections 303 (c) (f) and (r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

5. Any interested person who is of the opinion that the proposed amendments should not be adopted or should not be adopted in the form set forth herein, and any person desiring to support this proposal may file with the Commission on or before May 9, 1955, a written statement or brief setting forth his comments. Replies to such comments may be filed within ten days from the last date for filing original comments. The Commission will consider all comments and briefs presented before taking final action in this matter.

6. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.764 of the Commission's rules and regulations, an original and 14 copies of all statements, briefs or comments filed shall be furnished the Commission.

Adopted: April 6, 1955.

SUBPART A—GENERAL INFORMATION

§ 306.0 Applicability of part. The regulations in this part, except as otherwise specifically provided in this part, apply to all United States transferable securities heretofore or hereafter issued by the Secretary of the Treasury as evidence of the public debt of the United States, including (but not limited to) Treasury bonds, Treasury notes, Treasury certificates of indebtedness, Treasury bills, Postal Savings bonds and Panama Canal bonds.[1] When other public debt securities are issued on an optional exchange basis to owners of any outstanding United States transferable securities, the provisions of the regulations in this part applicable to the exchange may be supplemented or modified by instructions issued in connection with the new offering. The Regulations in this part also apply to United States nontransferable securities, other than United States Savings Bonds, to the extent specified in the offering circulars or special regulations governing such securities. Their application to outstanding nontransferable securities is expressly set forth in, or indicated by the context of, each subpart or section.

§ 306.1 Official agencies. Securities subject to the regulations in this part are issued from time to time, pursuant to public offerings by the Secretary of the Treasury, through the Federal Reserve Banks, fiscal agents of the United States, and the Treasurer of the United States, usually for subscription during a specified period. Banking institutions generally will handle subscriptions for customs, but only the Federal Reserve Banks and Branches and the Treasury Department are authorized to act as official agencies, and subscriptions may be made direct to these official agencies.

[1] The bonds and other securities issued by certain agencies of the United States, the former government of Puerto Rico, and the former governments of the Philippine Islands for which the United States Treasury Department acts as transfer agency are subject to the regulations in this part, so far as applicable, under special arrangements with the issuing authorities. Information as to their application to any particular transaction in any designated agency or insular securities will be furnished by the Bureau of the Public Debt, Division of Loans and Currency, Washington 25, D. C., upon request.

The Secretary of the Treasury, through the Bureau of the Public Debt, Division of Loans and Currency, Washington 25, D. C., conducts transactions in securities after issue and answers inquiries concerning such transactions. However, the public will generally find it advantageous to make inquiries of, or submit securities to, the Federal Reserve Banks and Branches, which are official agencies for the receipt of securities for transactions after issue, and may be authorized to complete such transactions. The Federal Reserve Banks and Branches are located in the cities indicated by their names, as follows:

Federal Reserve Bank of Boston.
Federal Reserve Bank of New York: Buffalo Branch.
Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia.
Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland:
Cincinnati Branch.

§ 306.2 Definitions. Certain words and terms, as used in the regulations in this part are defined as follows:

(a) "Treasury bonds" and "Treasury notes", or simply "bonds" and "notes", unless otherwise indicated by the context, refer only to transferable bonds or notes. Transferable Treasury notes are currently issued only in bearer form, but the provisions of the regulations in this part with respect to transferable registered Treasury bonds will apply equally to transferable registered Treasury notes, if any should be issued.

(b) "Transferable" applies only to securities which are transferable by delivery, or by assignment and delivery, as distinguished from those which by their terms are not so transferable or are transferable only by operation of law, such as United States Savings Bonds, to which these regulations do not apply, and Treasury Savings Notes, to which the regulations in this part apply only in part.

(c) "Registered securities" are those which are payable on their face to certain persons whose names and addresses are recorded by the issuing agency. For other features of registered securities see § 306.3 (a).

(d) "Bearer securities" are those which are payable on their face to "bearer" and the ownership of which is not recorded by the Department. Title to such securities may pass by delivery without endorsement and without notice to the Department. "Coupon securities" are bearer securities which are issued with interest coupons attached. For other features of coupon or bearer securities see § 306.3 (b).

(e) "Payment" and "redemption", as applied to securities, unless otherwise indicated by the context, are used interchangeably to refer to payment at maturity or payment before maturity pursuant to a call for redemption in accordance with the terms of the securities.

(f) The words "face maturity" refer to the date of payment specified in the text of the securities, as distinguished, in the case of securities with a callable feature, from the date on which they may become redeemable at the option of the obligor pursuant to a call.

(g) "Redemption-exchange" refers to any authorized redemption of securities for the purpose of applying the proceeds in payment for other securities offered in exchange.

(h) A "proper court" is one which has jurisdiction over the parties and subject matter.

(i) The words "assigned in blank" refer to assignments of bonds by or on behalf of the owner, but without the space provided for the name of the assignee being filled in. The words "bonds so assigned as to become, in effect, payable to bearer," refer to bonds assigned in blank or to "bearer" or those on which the assignment form or forms have been signed by or on behalf of the owner, and the words "The Secretary of the Treasury for exchange for coupon bonds" (or substantially similar words), have been inserted in the space provided for the name of the assignee, without inserting also the name of the person to whom the coupon bonds are to be delivered.

§ 306.3 Distinctive features of registered and bearer securities—(a) Registered securities. Transferable registered bonds are payable, according to their terms, only to the designated payees or "registered assigns" (including assignees or successors in title), and are transferable by delivery pursuant to assignments duly executed by them or their duly authorized representatives. Nontransferable securities, which are issued only in registered form, are payable according to their terms to the registered owners or recognized successors in title, but are not transferable by assignment or otherwise, except to the extent and in the manner provided in the offering circulars or applicable regulations. The interest due on registered bonds to which these regulations apply, in whole or in part, including nontransferable Treasury bonds, Investment Series A–1965 and B–1975–80, is paid by checks drawn on the Treasurer of the United States to the order of the owners of record. Bearer bonds may be exchanged for registered bonds and holders may wish to take advantage of this privilege for their own protection, particularly where adequate facilities for safekeeping are not available. Treasury Savings Notes are nontransferable and are registered at time of issuance by recordation in the names of the owners by the issuing agency, which may be the Office of the Treasurer of the United States, the Bureau of the Public Debt or a Federal Reserve Bank or Branch. The interest on such notes is paid only with the principal, when presented for payment, in cash or in payment of Federal estate, income or gift taxes. Relief may be granted on account of the loss, theft or destruction of transferable or nontransferable registered securities upon compliance with the applicable provisions of Subpart L of this part.

(b) Bearer securities. Bearer securities include bonds, notes, certificates of indebtedness and Treasury bills. The interest on bearer bonds (usually referred to in these regulations as coupon bonds) is ordinarily payable by means of attached coupons, which may be detached and cashed as they mature. The interest on some issues of notes and certificates of indebtedness is payable in the same manner; the interest on other issues is payable with the principal at maturity, and no coupons are attached. The interest on Treasury bills, which are sold on a discount basis and are payable at par at maturity, is represented by the difference between the purchase price and the par value, and no coupons are attached. Relief may be granted on account of the loss, theft or destruction of bearer securities upon compliance with the applicable provisions of Subpart L of this part; but in case of loss or theft relief may be granted only if the securities were lost or stolen under such circumstances, and have been missing for such a period of time after they have matured or become redeemable pursuant to a call for redemption, as would indicate that they (1) have been destroyed or become irretrievably lost, (2) are not held by any person as his own property, and (3) will never become the basis of a valid claim against the United States.

§ 306.4 Transportation charges and risks in the shipment of securities. (a) The following rules will govern the transportation to, from and between the Treasury Department and the Federal Reserve Banks and Branches of securities issued on or presented for authorized transactions:

(1) The securities may be presented or received by the owners or their agents in person.

(2) Securities issued on original issue, unless delivered in person, will be delivered by registered mail or by other means at the risk and expense of the United States.

(3) The United States will assume the risk and expense of any transportation of securities which may be necessary between Federal Reserve Banks and Branches and the Treasury.

(4) Owners of securities to be submitted for any transaction after original issue, if they do not present their securities in person, must forward them at their risk and expense, and for their protection they should ordinarily forward them by registered mail, covered by insurance, or by express prepaid; however, owners may deem it unnecessary to insure registered securities which have not been so assigned as to become, in effect, payable to bearer.

(5) Unless delivered in person, bearer securities issued on transactions other than original issue will be delivered by registered mail, covered by insurance, at the owner's risk and expense, and registered securities issued on such transactions will be delivered by registered mail at the risk of, but without expense to, the registered owner, except that in either case the securities will be delivered by express collect or by other means if written instructions to such effect are duly received by the official agency to which the original securities were presented.

(b) Holders of securities should consult with their banks and trust companies regarding transportation arrangements between the latter and the Federal Reserve Banks.

SUBPART B—REGISTRATION

§ 306.10 General. Except as otherwise specifically provided in the regulations in this part, the registration used must express the actual ownership of the security, and may not include any restriction on the authority of the owner to dispose of it in any manner. The Treasury Department reserves the right to treat the registration as conclusive of ownership. In order to avoid difficulty in assigning securities or collecting interest thereon, it is very important that requests for registration be clear, accurate and complete, that the registration requested conform substantially with one of the forms set forth in this subpart, and that the registration of all securities owned by the same person, organization or fiduciary estate be uniform. The post office address, which is required for delivery of interest checks, must include, where appropriate, the street and number, postal zone, rural route or any other local feature. Individual owners must be designated by the names by which they are ordinarily known or under which they do business, preferably including at least one full given name. The name of an individual may be preceded by any applicable title, such as "Dr." or "Rev." or followed by "M. D.", "D. D." or other similar designation. "Sr." or "Jr." must be used when applicable. The name of a woman must be preceded by "Miss" or "Mrs.", unless some other applicable title or designation is used. A married woman's own given name, not that of her husband, must be used, for example, "Mrs. Mary A. Jones", NOT "Mrs. Frank B. Jones". The authorizations and restrictions set forth in this subpart with respect to forms of registration apply to all registered securities issued after the effective date of these regulations, whether on original issue, transfer or coupon exchange.

§ 306.11 Forms of registration for transferable bonds. (a) The forms of registration described below are authorized for transferable bonds (subject to the general provisions of § 306.10):

(1) Natural persons in their own right. A bond may be registered in the name of a natural person or persons who are not under any legal disability, in their own right, substantially as follows:

(i) One person. In the name of one individual, for example:

John A. Doe
Mrs. Mary C. Doe
Miss Mary Ann Doe

If an individual is the sole proprietor of a business conducted under a trade name, his name may be followed by reference to the trade name, for example, "John Doe, doing business as Doe's Home Appliance Store".

(ii) Two or more persons with right of survivorship. In the names of two or more individuals in such manner as to provide for the right of survivorship, for example:

John A. Doe or Mrs. Mary C. Doe or the survivor.

John A. Doe and Mrs. Mary C. Doe or the the survivor.

John A. Doe or Mrs. Mary C. Doe or Miss Mary Ann Doe or the survivors or survivor.

(iii) Two or more persons without right of survivorship. In the names of two or more individuals in such manner as to preclude the right of survivorship, for example:

John A. Doe and William B. Doe as tenants in common.

John A. Doe or Robert B. Doe without right of survivorship.

For information as to assignments of bonds and endorsements of interest checks under the examples given, see §§ 306.56 and 306.37 (d), respectively. Treasury bonds will not be registered in the name of one person payable on death to another, and can not be registered in the names of two or more persons in their own right in any form whereby assignments by less than all the persons named in the registration (or all the survivors) may be recognized before maturity or earlier redemption date, pursuant to a call.[3]

(2) Natural guardians of minors. A bond may be registered in the name of a natural guardian of a minor for whose estate no legal guardian or similar representative has been appointed by a proper court or is otherwise legally qualified. Either parent with whom the minor resides or, if he does not reside with either parent, the person who furnishes his chief support, will be recognized as his natural guardian for the purposes of this paragraph, for example:

John Jones as natural guardian of Henry Jones, a minor.

The person recognized as natural guardian will be considered as a fiduciary. Registration in the name of a minor himself (as distinguished from registration in the name of a legal or natural guardian) as owner or coowner is not authorized, except to the extent provided in § 306.57 (a) (3).

(3) Incompetents not under guardianship. Registration in the name of an incompetent for whose estate no legal guardian has been appointed is not authorized, except to the extent provided in §§ 306.37 (e) and 306.58 (c) (2).

(4) Executors, administrators, guardians and similar fiduciaries or representatives. A bond may be registered in the names of the executors, administrators, guardians, conservators or similar fiduciaries or representatives of a single estate who have been appointed by a proper court or are otherwise legally qualified. The names of all the fiduciaries or representatives, in the form shown in their letters of appointment, must be included in the registration and must be followed by an adequate identifying reference to the estate, for example:

John Smith, executor of the will (or administrator of the estate) of Henry J. Smith, deceased.

William C. Jones, guardian (or conservator, etc.) of the estate of James D. Brown, a minor (or, an incompetent).

(5) Private trust estates. A bond may be registered in the name of the trustee or trustees of a duly constituted private trust estate, followed by the word "trustee" or "trustees", as the case may be, and by adequate identifying reference to the authority governing the trust. The names of all the trustees, in the form used in the trust instrument, must be included in the registration, except as follows:

(i) If there are several trustees constituting a board, their names should be omitted and the words "Board of Trustees" should be substituted for the word "Trustees".

(ii) If there are several trustees who are empowered to act as a unit, but are not designated as a board of trustees, their names should be omitted, but the word "trustees" should be retained.

(iii) If there are four or more trustees who do not constitute a board or otherwise act as a unit, only one should be named, followed by the words "et al." or "and others".

(iv) If the trustee or trustees are appointed or elected for a limited period, his or their names may be omitted.

The following examples illustrate the proper forms of registration in typical cases:

(An individual and a corporation as trustees under the will of a decedent): "John Jones and ____ Trust Company, Albany, N. Y., trustees under the will of Sarah Jones, deceased."

(Two individuals as trustees under an agreement with a third individual): "John Doe and Richard Doe, trustees under agreement dated 2/9/50 with Henry Jones."

(Several trustees designated as a board): "Board of Trustees of the ____ Company Retirement Fund under collective bargaining agreement dated 6/30/50."

(Several trustees acting as a unit but not designated as a board): "Trustees of Victory Post No. 1, American Legion. Department of Massachusetts, under Section 10 of its bylaws."

(Several trustees elected or appointed for a limited period of time): "Trustees of the Welfare Fund of ____ Company under agreement with its employees, dated 6/10/50."

(6) States, public officers, corporations or bodies as trustees. A bond may be registered in the title of a public officer or in the name of a state or county, a public corporation or public body acting as trustee under express authority of law, followed by appropriate reference to the statute creating the trust, for example:

State Sinking Fund Commission, trustee of State Highway Certificates of Indebtedness Sinking Fund, under Section ____, Code of South Carolina.

Insurance Commissioner of the State of Pennsylvania, trustee for the benefit of the policyholders of the ____ Insurance Co., under Section ____, Penna. Statutes.

(7) Private organizations (corporations, unincorporated associations, partnerships and nominees). A bond may be registered in the name of any private corporation, unincorporated association or partnership. The full legal name of the organization, as set forth in its charter, articles of incorporations, constitution, partnership agreement or other authority from which its powers are derived, as the case may be, must be included in the registration, and may be followed, if desired, by a parenthetical reference to a particular book account or fund other than a trust fund, in accordance with the rules and examples given below:

(i) A corporation. The name of a business, fraternal, religious or other private corporation must be followed by the words "a corporation", unless the fact of incorporation is shown in the name, for example:

Smith Manufacturing Company, a corporation.

The Standard Manufacturing Corporation.

Jones and Brown, Inc.

(ii) An unincorporated association. The name of a lodge, club, labor union, veterans' organization, religious society or similar self-governing organization which is not incorporated (whether or not it is chartered by or affiliated with a parent organization which is incorporated) must be followed by the words "an unincorporated association", for example:

American Legion Post No. __, Department of the District of Columbia, an unincorporated association.

[3] Warning: Difference between Treasury bonds registered in the names of two or more persons and United States Savings Bonds in Coownership Form. Treasury bonds in the names of two or more persons are for many practical purposes decidedly different from United States Savings Bonds in coownership form. Owners of Treasury bonds may obtain cash for them before maturity or a call for redemption by the Secretary of the Treasury before maturity only by selling them. A sale involves an outright transfer of ownership, which may legally be made only upon assignment by or on behalf of all owners. These regulations, therefore, require such assignment. United States Savings Bonds, unlike Treasury bonds, are not transferable securities and are redeemable before maturity at the option of the owners virtually on demand to the Treasury Department. Redemption does not involve a transfer of ownership and, therefore, the Secretary of the Treasury has authority to provide, and has provided, for the redemption of savings bonds in coownership form upon the request of either of the coowners.

Local Union No. 100, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, an unincorporated association.

Bonds should not be registered in the name of an unincorporated association if the legal title to its property in general, or the legal title to the particular association funds with which the bonds are to be purchased, is held by trustees. In any such case the bonds should be registered in the title of the trustees in accordance with subparagraph (4) of this paragraph. The term "unincorporated association" should not be used to describe a trust fund, a partnership or a business conducted under a trade name.

(iii) A partnership. The name of a business partnership must be followed by the words "a partnership", for example:

Smith & Brown, a partnership.

Acme Novelty Company, a partnership.

The term "partnership" should not be used to describe a business owned by one person, even though it is conducted under a trade name. Bonds purchased by the owner of such a business should be registered in his name in accordance with subparagraph (1) (i) of this paragraph.

(8) States, public corporations and bodies, and public officers. A bond purchased with funds owned by any state or county, public corporation (including a city, town, or school district), or public body established by law (including a board, commission, administration, authority, or agency) in its own right may be registered in its name or in the title, without the name, of the officer having official custody of such funds, for example:

State of Maine.

Town of Rye, New York.

Maryland State Highway Commission.

Treasurer, City of Springfield, Ill.

(See subparagraph (6) of this paragraph for the proper registration of bonds held in trust.)

§ 306.12 Forms of registration for nontransferable securities. The forms of registration set forth in § 306.11 are authorized upon authorized reissue of 2¾ percent Treasury Bonds, Investment Series B–1975–80. Those forms of registration are also authorized upon original issue or authorized reissue of Treasury Savings Notes, except that registration may not be made in the names of two or more persons as joint owners or coowners, or in the name of a trustee where the notes would be held as security for the performance of a duty or obligation, or in the name of a public officer, whether or not named as trustee, where the notes would in effect be held as security.

§ 306.13 Errors in registration. In no case should any erasure, alteration or correction be made in the inscription on the registered security. If an error has been made in the inscription, instructions regarding the procedure for correction of the error will be furnished by the Bureau of the Public Debt, Division of Loans and Currency, Washington 25, D. C., or a Federal Reserve Bank. Full particulars in regard to the error should be set out in the request for instructions.

SUBPART C—TRANSFERS, EXCHANGES AND REISSUES

§ 306.15 General. Transferable registered bonds are eligible for transfer, denominational exchange and exchange for coupon bonds, except that Panama Canal and Postal Savings bonds are eligible for transfer and denominational exchange only. Treasury Bonds, Investment Series B–1975–80, and Treasury Savings Notes are eligible for transfer by way of authorized reissue and denominational exchange, except that Treasury Savings Notes may be exchanged only from higher to lower denominations. Treasury Bonds, Investment Series B–1975–80, are eligible for exchange for the current series of 1½ percent five year Treasury Notes. Coupon bonds and other bearer securities, other than Postal Savings and Panama Canal bonds, are eligible for denominational exchange, except that Treasury bills may be exchanged only from higher to lower denominations. Coupon bonds of any loan or issue are eligible for exchange for registered bonds. The securities submitted for any transaction must be persented and surrendered to a Federal Reserve Bank or Branch or the Bureau of the Public Debt, Division of Loans and Currency, Washington 25, D. C. If the securities presented are in order for the transaction requested, they will be canceled and retired and new securities in an equal face amount in authorized denominations will be issued and delivered. Except as otherwise specifically provided, the new securities will be of the same loan and issue as those presented. Specific instructions for the issuance and delivery of the new securities, signed by the owner or his authorized representative, must accompany the securities presented. Securities presented for any transaction described in this section, except denominational exchange, must be received by the agency authorized to complete the transaction not less than one full month before the date on which the securities mature or become redeemable pursuant to a call for redemption before maturity, and any security so presented which is received too late to comply with this provision will be accepted for payment only or redemption-exchange if new securities are offered.

§ 306.16 Transfers of registered securities. Registered bonds which are eligible for transfer from one person to another and presented for that purpose must be properly assigned in accordance with subpart F of this part, except that no assignment will be required for transfer to a succeeding fiduciary or other legal successor, including a distributee of a decedent's estate or a trust estate, or a corporation with which another corporation has merged or consolidated, but satisfactory proof of successorship will be required. Assignments for transfer should be made to the transferee. Assignments in blank will also be accepted, but should be used with caution; see § 306.42. Specific signed instructions for the issuance and delivery of the new bonds must accompany the bonds presented. (Form PD 1644 may be used.) The new bonds will bear interest from the interest payment date next preceding the date of presentation, except as provided in § 306.37 (b).

§ 306.17 Denominational exchanges of registered securities. No assignment or endorsement will be required for the authorized exchange of registered Treasury Bonds or Treasury Savings Notes for like securities in the same names in other authorized denominations, as no change of ownership is involved. Specific signed instructions for the issuance and delivery of the new bonds or notes must accompany the securities presented. (Form PD 1827 may be used.)

§ 306.18 Registered exchanges (exchanges of registered bonds for coupon bonds). Registered bonds eligible for exchange for coupon bonds and presented for that purpose must be properly assigned in accordance with Subpart F. Assignments for registered exchange should be made to "The Secretary of the Treasury for exchange for coupon bond(s) to be delivered to _____", inserting the name and address of the person to whom delivery of the coupon bond(s) is to be made. Assignments in blank or for exchange for coupon bond(s), or to "The Secretary of the Treasury for exchange for coupon bond(s)", will also be accepted, but should be used with caution; see § 306.42. Specific signed instructions for the issuance and delivery of the coupon bonds must accompany the bonds presented, unless included in the assignment. (Form PD 1642 may be used.) The coupon bonds issued upon exchange will have all matured coupons detached and all unmatured coupons attached. For the effect of the closing of the transfer books, see § 306.37 (b).

§ 306.19 Reissue of nontransferable securities. Nontransferable securities governed by these regulations may be reissued only in the names of (1) successors in title, including, but not limited to, succeeding organizations, persons entitled upon the dissolution of an organization, and succeeding trustees or persons entitled upon termination of a trust, or (2) persons entitled upon the death of the owner as legal representatives or distributees of the estate, except that Treasury Savings Notes and Treasury Bonds, Investment Series B–1975–80, may also be reissued as provided below. Treasury Bonds, Investment Series A–1965, may be reissued only as provided in Department Circular No. 815.

(a) Treasury Savings Notes inscribed in the name of a married man may be reissued in the name of his wife and notes inscribed in the name of a married woman may be reissued in the name of her husband; and notes inscribed in the name of a parent corporation (defined as a corporation owning more than 50 percent of the stock, with voting power, of another corporation) may be reissued in the name of a subsidiary, and notes inscribed in the name of a subsidiary may be reissued in the name of the parent corporation as so defined. Notes presented for reissue must be accompanied by a request for reissue on Form PD 2483 properly certified in accordance with the instructions thereon.

(b) Treasury Bonds, Investment Series B–1975–80 may be reissued in the names of state supervisory authorities in pursuance of any pledge required of the owner under state law, or upon termination of the pledge in the names of the pledgors or their successors. Bonds presented for reissue must be properly assigned for that purpose in accordance with Subpart F of this part and must be accompanied by specific signed instructions for the issuance and delivery of the new bonds.

§ 306.20 Exchange of Treasury Bonds, Investment Series B—1975–80. Bonds of this series presented for exchange for 1½ percent five year Treasury notes must be properly assigned in accordance with Subpart F to "The Secretary of the Treasury for exchange for the current series of EA or EO Treasury notes to be delivered to _____", and, for the protection of the owner, the name and address of the person to whom the notes are to be delivered should be inserted. (If the bonds are owned by an organization as fiduciary or in its own right, see § 306.76 or § 306.80, for evidence required to support assignments for exchange for notes.) The notes will bear the April 1 or October 1 date next preceding the date the bonds are received by the Bureau of the Public Debt or a Federal Reserve Bank or Branch, properly assigned and accompanied by all required evidence. If the bonds when received are not properly assigned or are not supported by all required evidence, the notes when issued will bear the April 1 or October 1 date next preceding the date on which the proper assignment or evidence is received by the agency to which the bonds were presented. Interest accrued at the rate of 2¾ percent on the bonds surrendered, from the next preceding interest payment date to the date of exchange, will be credited, and interest at the rate of 1½ percent on the notes for the same period will be charged, to the owner, and the difference will be paid to the owner following the exchange.

§ 306.21 Coupon exchanges (exchanges of coupon bonds for registered bonds). Coupon bonds presented for exchange for registered bonds should have all matured coupons detached. All unmatured coupons should be attached, except that if presented when the transfer books are closed (in which case the exchange will be effected on or after the date on which the books are reopened), the next maturing coupons should be detached and held for collection in ordinary course when due, as provided in § 306.37 (b). If any coupons which should be attached are missing, the bonds must be accompanied by a remittance in an amount equal to the face amount of the missing coupons. Specific signed instructions for the exchange must accompany the bonds presented. (Form PD 1642 may be used.) The new registered bonds will bear interest from the interest payment date next preceding the date on which the exchange is made.

§ 306.22 Denominational exchanges of coupon securities. Coupon securities presented for denominational exchange should have all matured coupons detached. All unmatured coupons should be attached, except that unmatured coupons which would mature before the exchange could be completed (allowing for time in transit) should also be detached. If any coupons which should be attached are missing, the securities must be accompanied by a remittance in an amount equal to the face amount of the missing coupons. Specific signed instructions for the exchange must accompany the bonds presented. (Form PD 1827 may be used.) The new coupon securities will have all unmatured coupons attached and all matured coupons detached.

SUBPART D—REDEMPTION OR PAYMENT

§ 306.25 General. Bonds, notes, certificates of indebtedness and Treasury bills, whether in registered or bearer form, are payable in due course at maturity unless they may be and are called for redemption before maturity, in which case they will be payable on the redemption date fixed in the call. The Secretary of the Treasury may provide for the exchange of maturing or called securities for new securities. Instructions with respect to the presentation and surrender of the securities, the assignment or request for payment of registered securities, the adjustment of interest, if necessary, and other details of the transaction will be set forth in the circular authorizing the exchange. Bonds, which, according to their terms, are acceptable for redemption at par and application of the proceeds in payment of Federal estate taxes will be accepted for that purpose upon compliance with the provisions of § 306.28.[3] Registered bonds to be submitted for redemption should be presented and surrendered to a Federal Reserve Bank or Branch or to the Bureau of the Public Debt, Division of Loans and Currency, Washington 25, D. C. Except as otherwise provided in § 306.28, bearer securities should be presented and surrendered to a Federal Reserve Bank or Branch or the Treasurer of the United States, Washington 25, D. C. If a bearer security, or a registered security assigned to bearer or so assigned as to become, in effect, payable to bearer, is presented and surrendered for redemption after it has become overdue, the Secretary of the Treasury may require satisfactory proof of ownership. A security shall be considered overdue within the meaning of the foregoing provision after the lapse of the following periods of time from its face maturity date:

(a) One year in the case of bonds.

[3] Treasury Savings Notes to be presented in payment of Federal income, estate or gift taxes should be forwarded to the District Director of Internal Revenue or deposited with a Federal Reserve Bank or Branch and a receipt obtained therefor which should be forwarded to the District Director in lieu of the notes.

(b) Six months in the case of Treasury notes and certificates of indebtedness.

(c) Three months in the case of Treasury bills.

§ 306.26 Redemption of registered bonds at maturity or upon prior call. Registered bonds of any loan and issue which have become due and payable, whether at maturity or pursuant to call for redemption before maturity, are payable in due course upon presentation and surrender, properly assigned in accordance with Subpart F of this part. Assignments for this purpose should be made to "The Secretary of the Treasury for redemption", unless the assignor desires that payment be made to some other person, in which case assignments should be made to "The Secretary of the Treasury for redemption for the account of _____", inserting the name and address of the person to whom payment is to be made. Assignments in blank or other assignments having similar effect will be accepted, but should be used with caution, see § 306.42. Specific instructions for the issuance and delivery of the redemption check, signed by the owner or his authorized representative, must accompany the bonds, unless included in the assignment. (Form PD 1705 may be used.) Payment will be made by check drawn on the Treasurer of the United States to the order of the person entitled and mailed in accordance with the instructions received. Interest payable on the maturity date, or call redemption date unless otherwise provided in the notice of call, will be paid with the principal to the person entitled in accordance with the assignments on the bonds surrendered.

§ 306.27 Redemption of bearer securities at maturity or upon prior call. All interest coupons due and payable on or before the date of maturity or date fixed in the call for redemption before maturity, as the case may be, should be detached from coupon securities presented for redemption and should be collected separately in regular course. All coupons bearing dates subsequent to a date fixed in a call for redemption should be left attached to the securities, as, if any such coupons are missing the full face amount thereof will be deducted from the payment to be made upon redemption unless evidence satisfactory to the Treasury Department is submitted, establishing that they have been destroyed. Any amounts so deducted will be held in the Treasury to provide for adjustments or refunds in the event that the missing coupons should be subsequently presented or their destruction is later satisfactorily established. In the absence of other instructions payment of bearer securities will be made by check drawn to the order of the person presenting and surrendering the securities and mailed to him at his address, as given in the advice which should accompany the securities. (Form PD 1704 may be used for the advice.) A Federal Reserve Bank, upon appropriate request, may make payment to a member bank from which bearer securities are received by crediting the amount in the member bank's account.

§ 306.28 Optional redemption of Treasury Bonds at par (before maturity or call redemption date) and application of proceeds in payment of Federal estate taxes—(a) General. Treasury bonds of certain issues are redeemable at par and accrued interest upon the death of the owner, at the option of the representatives of, or the persons entitled to, his estate, for the purpose of having the proceeds applied in payment of the Federal estate taxes on the decedent's estate, in accordance with the terms of the offering circulars cited on the face of the bonds.[4] All bonds to be redeemed for this purpose must be presented and surrendered to a Federal Reserve Bank or Branch or the Bureau of the Public Debt, Division of Loans and Currency, Washington 25, D. C. They must be accompanied by Form PD 1782, fully completed and duly executed by the representatives of or persons entitled to the estate, and by proof of their appointment or entitlement. Proof of appointment or entitlement should comply with the provisions of Subpart H of this part. Registered bonds must be properly assigned in accordance with Subpart F to "The Secretary of the Treasury for redemption, the proceeds to be paid to the District Director of Internal Revenue at _____ for credit on Federal estate taxes due from the estate of _____, deceased." Redemption will be made at par plus accrued interest from the last preceding interest payment date to the date of redemption, except that if registered bonds are received by a Federal Reserve Bank or Branch or the Bureau of the Public Debt within one month preceding an interest payment date for redemption before that date a deduction will be made for interest from the date of redemption to the interest payment date, and a check for the full six months' interest will be paid in due course. The proceeds of redemption will be deposited to the credit of the District Director of Internal Revenue designated in Form PD 1782, the representatives of the estate will be notified of the deposit, and the District Director will in due course forward a formal receipt for the payment.

(b) Conditions. The bonds presented for redemption under this section must have (1) been owned by the decedent at the time of his death and (2) thereupon constituted part of his estate, as determined by the following rules (which are established for the purposes of this section) in the case of partnership, coownership and trust holdings:

(i) Partnership holdings. Bonds held at the time of the decedent's death by a partnership in which he had an interest will be deemed to have met the above conditions to the extent of the fractional share of the bonds so held proportionate to his interest in the assets of the partnership.

(ii) Coownership holdings. Bonds held by the decedent at the time of his death in coownership with another person or persons will be deemed to have met the above conditions to the extent to which they actually became the property of the decedent's estate. They will also be deemed to have met those conditions in an amount not to exceed the amount of the Federal estate tax which the surviving coowner or coowners as such are required to pay.

(iii) Trust holdings. Bonds held in trust at the time of the decedent's death will be deemed to have met the above conditions in an amount not to exceed: the amount of the Federal estate tax which the trustee as such is required to pay under the terms of the trust instrument or otherwise; or, if the trust actually terminated in favor of the decedent's estate, the amount of such tax due from the estate.

(c) Restriction on amount redeemable; transactions after death of owner. The face amount of the bond or bonds which may be accepted for redemption at par, plus any accrued interest thereon, may not exceed the amount of the tax due. The entire proceeds of redemption of bonds at par, including any accrued interest, must be applied in payment of the federal estate tax, but if the bond or bonds available are in excess of the amount needed in payment of the tax and are not in the lowest authorized denominations, they may be exchanged for bonds of lower denominations in accordance with § 306.17 or § 306.22, as applicable, in order that the maximum amount may be selected for redemption at par. In addition to such denominational exchange, other transactions in bonds owned by the decedent and constituting part of his estate which may be conducted after the death of the owner without affecting the eligibility of the bonds for redemption at par, if no change of ownership is involved, include (1) exchange of registered bonds for coupon bonds, (2) transfer to the names of the representatives of his estate, and (3) exchange of coupon bonds for bonds registered in the names of the representatives of the estate, but all such transactions must be explained on Form PD 1782 or in a supplemental statement.

[4] A current list of eligible issues may be obtained from any Federal Reserve Bank or Branch or the Bureau of the Public Debt.

SUBPART E—INTEREST

§ 306.35 Computation of interest—(a) Treasury bonds, notes and certificates of indebtedness. The interest on Treasury bonds, Treasury notes and Treasury certificates of indebtedness accrues and is payable on a quarterly, semiannual or annual basis. Quarterly semiannual or annual interest periods of exactly three, six, or twelve months, as the case may be, are used as the basis for computing the amount of the interest accruals. The offering circular and the text of the securities will state on which of these bases the interest accruals on a specific issue are to be computed. If the period of accrual is an exact three, six or twelve months, the interest accrual is an exact one-quarter, one-half, or one full year's interest, without regard to the number of days in the period. If the period of accrual is less than an exact three, six, or twelve months, the accrued interest is computed by determing the daily rate of accrual on the basis of the exact number of days in the full interest period, and multiplying the daily rate by the exact number of days in the fractional period for which interest has actually accrued. A full interest period does not include the day as of which the securities were issued or the day on which the last preceding interest became due, as the case may be, but does include the day on which the next succeeding interest payment is due. A fractional part of an interest period likewise does not include the day as of which the securities were issued or the day on which the last preceding interest payment became due, but does include the day as of which the transaction terminating the accrual of interest is effected. The 29th of February in a leap year is included whenever it falls within either a full interest period or a fractional part thereof. The Appendix to this part contains a complete explanation as to the method of computing the interest on Treasury bonds, notes and certificates of indebtedness in any given situation, as well as tables for convenience in making such computations. The Appendix also outlines the method of computing the discount rate on Treasury bills.

(b) Treasury savings notes. Interest accrues on Treasury savings notes each month and is paid with the principal upon redemption. The amount of each monthly accrual from the date of issue to maturity is specified in the offering circular and is printed on the reverse of each note. If redemption prior to maturity is made on an interest accrual date, interest will be paid through that date; otherwise, interest will be paid to and including the interest accrual date next preceding the redemption date. If the purchase price of notes is received and deposited on any day after the issue date, interest on such deferred payment is collectible from the purchaser for the actual number of days from but not including the issue date to and including the date the payment is received and deposited. The amount of interest collectible for each day payment is deferred is determined by dividing the amount of the initial monthly interest accrual by the number of days in the initial monthly accrual period, which may be 28, 29, 30, or 31.

§ 306.36 Termination of interest. Securities will cease to bear interest on the date of their maturity unless they have been called for redemption prior to maturity in accordance with their terms, in which case they will cease to bear interest on the date fixed for redemption in the call.

§ 306.37 Interest on registered bonds—(a) Method of payment. Except as otherwise provided in this part, the interest on registered Treasury bonds is payable by checks drawn on the Treasurer of the United States to the order of the respective registered owners. Interest checks are prepared by the Department in advance of the interest payment date and are ordinarily mailed in time to reach the addressee on that date. Upon receipt of notice of the death or incompetency of a registered owner, the removal, resignation or death of a fiduciary or trustee, or a change in name or status of a partnership, corporation (whether as owner, fiduciary or beneficiary) or unincorporated association, delivery of outstanding interest checks on all outstanding bonds will be withheld pending receipt and approval of proper evidence showing who is entitled to receive the interest checks. To facilitate the delivery and endorsement of checks, reissue of the bonds in the names of successors in title is strongly urged. In case of a major error in the inscription of the bonds, delivery of interest checks likewise will be withheld pending reissue of the bonds in the correct registration. (See § 306.13.) The final installment of interest will be paid with the principal and in the same manner, at maturity or upon call, unless otherwise provided in the notice of call.

(b) Closing of transfer books. The transfer books of the Treasury Department are closed for one full month preceding interest payment dates for the purpose of preparing interest checks. If the date set for the closing of the transfer books falls on Saturday, Sunday, or a legal holiday, the books will be closed at the close of business on the last business day preceding that date. Interest on outstanding registered bonds is paid on the interest payment date to the owners of record on the closing dates. Transactions in registered bonds of the loans involved, other than denominational exchanges (see § 306.17), may not be effected during the closed period except that exchanges of 2¾ percent Treasury Bonds, Investment Series B–1975–80, for the current series of EA or EO 1½ percent 5-year Treasury Notes, as provided in § 306.20, or optional redemption of bonds at par as provided in § 306.28, may be made at any time. If registered bonds forwarded for transfer or for exchange for coupon bonds or coupon bonds forwarded for exchange for registered bonds are actually received by the Bureau of the Public Debt after the day fixed for closing the books, the transfer or exchange thereof will not be made until the first business day following the date on which interest falls due, when the books are reopened for all purposes.

(c) Change of address. Notice of a change of address for the mailing of interest checks may be given on Form PD 345, or, if that form is not available, by letter, to the Bureau of the Public Debt, Division of Loans and Currency, Washington 25, D. C. In addition to the new address, the notice must contain sufficient information to identify the account, including the old address, the serial number and denomination of each bond, the title of the loan or loans (for example, 2½ percent Treasury Bonds of 1967–72, dated October 20, 1941), and the name of the owner as inscribed on each bond. The notice must be signed by the registered owner or his recognized representative. In the case of bonds registered in a trade name under which an individual does business, the notice must be signed by him in substantially the following form: "Doe's Home Appliance Store, by (signed) John Doe, sole owner." Notices on behalf of partnerships must be signed by general partners, in substantially the following form: "Smith & Brown, a partnership by (signed) Charles J. Smith, a general partner." Notices on behalf of corporations, unincorporated associations and corporate fiduciaries must be signed by authorized officers, in substantially the following forms: "Smith Manufacturing Company, a corporation, by (signed) Charles J. Smith, vice president"; "Local Union No. 100, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, by (signed) James W. Henderson, treasurer"; and "Citizens Trust Company of _____, trustee under the will of Richard Coleman, by (signed) Albert H. Stone, trust officer". Notices by legal representatives of the estates of deceased, incompetent or minor owners, or by attorneys in fact, must be supported by proof of their appointment, except in the case of legal representatives of such estates who are named in the registration. (See §§ 306.65, 306.58 (b), 306.57 (d), and 306.59 respectively.) A registered owner may direct that interest checks be sent in care of an attorney in fact, at the latter's address, without submitting the power of attorney to the Department. Notices by testamentary trustees with respect to bonds registered in the names of decedents must be supported by proof of the distribution of the bonds to them in the settlement of the decedents' estates. (See Subpart H of this part.) If there are two or more individual coowners, legal representatives, attorneys in fact or fiduciaries, a notice signed by one will be accepted unless another gives conflicting instructions. Notice should be given as promptly as possible in order to allow sufficient time for the account to be identified and the address changed before the next interest checks are prepared. If notice is not received at least six weeks before the interest payment dates, no assurance can be given that the checks will be mailed to the new address.

(d) Endorsement of interest checks in general. Interest checks may be collected upon the endorsement of the payee or his authorized representative, in accordance with the regulations governing the endorsement and payment of Government warrants and checks, which are contained in Department Circular No. 21, Revised, as amended. In the case of checks drawn to the order of two or more persons, if "or" is used between the names, provision is made for endorsement by any one payee. If "and" is used, endorsement must be by or on behalf of all while all are living. Provision is also made for the acceptance of an endorsement by an attorney in fact for the payee, upon the guarantee of the presenting bank, without requiring that a copy of the power of attorney be submitted to the Department. See § 306.69 for special provisions applicable to small amounts of interest checks belonging to the estates of decedents.

(e) Endorsement of interest checks by voluntary guardians of incompetents. Any checks drawn to the order of an incompetent (as defined in § 306.58 (a)) for whose estate no legal guardian or similar legal representative has been or is to be appointed, in payment of interest on bonds registered in the name of the incompetent, without reference to a voluntary guardian, should be returned to the Bureau of the Public Debt, Division of Loans and Currency, Washington 25, D. C., with a full explanation of the circumstances. If the total face amount of United States bonds registered in the name of the incompetent on which interest is paid currently does not exceed $5,000, the relative responsible for the incompetent's care and support, or some other proper person, may apply on Form PD 1461 for authorization to collect the interest. To facilitate the collection of future interest checks, the applicant may also request the reissue of the bonds in the name of the incompetent, followed by that of the voluntary guardian, in the form "A, an incompetent under voluntary guardianship of B".

(f) Endorsement of interest checks by natural guardians of minors. Any check in payment of interest on bonds registered before the effective date of these regulations in the name of a minor, alone or as coowner, who is not of sufficient age and competency to understand the act of endorsing and giving receipt may be endorsed by either parent with whom the minor resides, or, if the minor does not reside with either parents, by the person who furnishes his chief support. The parent or other person should present with the check a written statement (1) giving the minor's age, (2) setting out the fact that the payee resides with the parent or receives his chief support from the person endorsing in his behalf, and (3) that the proceeds of the check will be used for the minor's benefit, as provided in 31 CFR, 1938 Ed., 201.7 (c) (section 7 (c) of Department Circular No. 21, Revised, as amended).

(g) Nonreceipt, loss, theft or destruction of interest checks. If an interest check is not received within a reasonable period after an interest-payment date, or if a check is lost, stolen or destroyed after receipt, the fact of nonreceipt, loss, theft or destruction should be reported to the Bureau of the Public Debt, Division of Loans and Currency, Washington 25, D. C. This notification should include a description by loan, issue, serial number, denomination, and inscription of the securities upon which the interest check was due. If the check is subsequently received or recovered, advice to that effect should be sent to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington 25, D. C. Substitutes for lost interest checks may be obtained upon compliance with the Treasury Department regulations, as set forth in Part 204 of this title (Department Circular No. 327, Revised).

§ 306.38 Interest on bearer securities. Interest on coupon securities is payable upon presentation and surrender of the interest coupons as they mature.[5] Interest on Treasury bills and any other bearer securities which may be issued on a discount basis is represented by the difference between the issue price and the maturity value. Interest on other bearer securities is payable with the principal at maturity, in accordance with the terms of the securities. Interest coupons are payable at the Office of the Treasurer of the United States at Washington or at any Federal Reserve Bank or Branch. Banking institutions will usually cash interest coupons without charge as an accommodation to their customers.

SUBPART F—ASSIGNMENTS OF REGISTERED BONDS; GENERAL

§ 306.40 Execution of assignments. The assignment of a registered bond must be executed by the owner or his authorized representative in the presence of an officer authorized to witness the assignment. (See § 306.43.) The assignor must establish his identity to the satisfaction of the witnessing officer. An assignment by mark (X) must be witnessed not only by a witnessing officer but also by at least one other person, who should add an endorsement substantially as follows: "Witness to the above signature by mark," followed by his signature and address. All assignments must be correctly dated and all signatures must be in ink or indelible pencil.

§ 306.41 Assignment forms. Unless otherwise directed by the Treasury Department or a Federal Reserve Bank, all assignments must be made on the backs of the bonds. Where all the assignment forms on the back of a bond have been used or spoiled and further assignment is to be made, a similar form, including the witnessing officer's certificate, may be written, typed or stamped in any convenient space on the back of the bond. If there is not sufficient space for an additional form, in any particular case, instructions may be obtained from the Bureau of the Public Debt, Division of Loans and Currency, Washington 25, D. C., or any Federal Reserve Bank or Branch.

§ 306.42 Form of assignment. Assignments of registered bonds may be made to a specified transferee, to the Secretary of the Treasury for exchange for coupon bonds, to the Secretary of the Treasury for redemption or for exchange for other securities offered at maturity or upon call, or in blank, as provided in subparts C and D of this part. Assignments to "The Secretary of the Treasury", "The Secretary of the Treasury for transfer", or "The Secretary of the Treasury for exchange" will not be accepted, unless supplemented by specific instructions signed by the assignor. Assignments in blank or to the Secretary of the Treasury for exchange for coupon bonds which do not restrict delivery of the coupon bonds to a designated person destroy the protection of registration and should be avoided unless it is desired to make the registered bonds, in effect, payable to bearer, whereby title thereto may pass by delivery without further assignment.

(1) Certain designated officers of the United States Treasury at Washington, D. C.

(2) Judges and clerks of United States courts.

(3) United States attorneys, collectors of customs, and regional commissioners and district directors of internal revenue.

(4) Officers of Federal Reserve Banks and their Branches. (See § 306.1 for locations.)

(5) Officers of Federal Land Banks, Federal Intermediate Credit Banks, Production Credit Corporations, and Banks for Cooperatives, all located in Springfield (Mass.), Baltimore, Columbia (S. C.), Louisville, New Orleans, St. Louis, St. Paul, Omaha, Wichita, Houston, Berkeley and Spokane, and the Central Bank for Cooperatives, Washington, D. C.

(6) Officers of Federal Home Loan Banks, located in Boston, New York, Pittsburgh, Greensboro (N. C.), Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Chicago, Des Moines, Little Rock, Topeka, and San Francisco.

(7) Officers of banks and trust companies chartered by or incorporated under the laws of the United States or those of any State, Commonwealth or Territory of the United States who have been authorized generally to bind their respective institutions by their acts, and other officers of such corporations who may be specially authorized by their respective institutions to witness such assignments.

If an assignment is witnessed, under the corporate seal of an institution designated in subparagraph (7) of this paragraph, by the chairman of the board, the president, the assistant to the president, any vice-president or assistant vice-president, the cashier or any assistant cashier, the secretary or any assistant secretary, the treasurer or any assistant treasurer, any trust or assistant trust officer, or the manager or any assistant manager of a branch office, it will be presumed that he was acting within the scope of his authority. If any officer so authorized is not one of those designated in the preceding sentence or does not have access to the seal of the corporation, his signature and authority must be certified to the Treasury Department, under corporate seal, by the cashier, secretary or other officer having access to the corporate records, and will be recognized until notice is received that his authority has terminated. Form PD 835–B may be used. The term "officers" will not be construed as including employees bearing such titles as "designated employee", "teller", "accountant" or "bookkeeper".

(b) Officers having limited authority. The following officers are authorized to witness assignments to the extent set forth in connection with each class of officers:

(1) Postmasters, acting postmasters, assistant postmasters, and inspectors-in-charge at any post office, and general superintendents of finance, assistant general superintendents of finance, superintendents of postal finance, and superintendents of money orders at offices designated to receive Postal Savings deposits but only for assignments of Postal Savings Bonds for any authorized transaction and assignments of securities of any class for redemption for the account of the assignor or for redemption-exchange for securities to be registered in his name.

(2) Notaries public and justices of the peace in the United States, its territories, or the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico for assignments of securities of any class for redemption for the account of the assignor or for redemption-exchange for securities to be registered in his name.

(3) Commissioned officers and warrant officers of the Armed Forces of the United States for assignments of bonds of any class for any authorized transaction, but only with respect to assignments executed by (i) Armed Forces personnel and civilian field employees, and (ii) members of the families of such personnel or civilian employees.

(4) Officers of Federal Savings and Loan Associations or other organizations which are members of the Federal Home Loan Bank System who have been authorized generally to bind their respective organizations by their acts, under the corporate seal, for assignments by the organizations or any of their regular customers of bonds of any class for any authorized transaction.

If an assignment is witnessed, under the corporate seal of an organization designated in subparagraph (4) of this paragraph, by the chairman of the board, the president, any vice-president, the secretary or any assistant secretary or the treasurer, it will be presumed he was acting within the scope of his authority.

(c) Authorized officers in foreign countries. The following officers are authorized to witness assignments in foreign countries:

(1) United States diplomatic or consular representatives

(2) Managers, assistant managers and other officers of foreign branches of banks or trust companies chartered by or incorporated under the laws of the United States

(3) Notaries public and other officers authorized to administer oaths; the official position and authority of any such officer must be certified by a United States diplomatic or consular representative under the seal of his office.

(d) Special provisions for witnessing assignments. The Commissioner of the Public Debt, the Chief of the Division of Loans and Currency, or any Federal Reserve Bank is authorized to make special provisions for any case in which none of the officers authorized to witness certain assignments is readily accessible.

§ 306.44 Duties of witnessing officers and responsibility for their acts. The assignor must appear before the witnessing officer, satisfactorily establish his identity, execute the assignment, and acknowledge it to be his free act and deed. The officer must complete the certification provided, by inserting the date, his signature, and his official title and address, and must impress or imprint the proper seal or stamp, if any. An officer of a corporation must use the corporate seal except as provided in § 306.43 (a) (7). A clerk or judge of court must use the seal of the court. The signature of any post office official, other than a postmaster, must be in the following form "John Doe, Postmaster, by Richard Roe, Superintendent of Money Orders". Any post office official must use the official stamp of his office. Any other witnessing officer must use his official seal or stamp, if any, but, if he has neither, his official position and a specimen of his signature must be certified by some other authorized officer under official seal or stamp or otherwise proved to the satisfaction of the Treasury Department. No officer of the United States, except a clerk of a United States court, is authorized to charge a fee for witnessing an assignment of a United States bond, and banking institutions generally impose no charge for the service. The witnessing officer, and, if he is an officer of a corporation, the corporation will be held responsible for any loss which the United States may suffer as the result of his fault or negligence.

§ 306.45 Assignments executed before interested persons. Neither the assignor, the assignee, nor any other person having an interest in a bond may act as witnessing officer or as witness to an assignment by mark. For example, the officer of a bank who assigns in the bank's name may not witness the assignment. However, a bank officer may witness an assignment to the bank, or an assignment executed by another officer in its behalf.

§ 306.46 Assignments by assignees and other new owners. The regulations governing assignments by or in behalf of registered owners, so far as applicable, shall govern any assignments by their assignees or legal successors.

§ 306.47 Alterations and erasures. No alteration or erasure should be made in any part of an assignment. If any such alteration or erasure has been made, an explanation satisfactory to the Treasury Department, usually in the form of an affidavit by the person responsible, will be required.

§ 306.48 Voidance of assignments. If an assignment to or for the account of another person has not been and is not to be completed by delivery of the security, the assignment may be voided by obtaining a disclaimer of interest from that person. Unless otherwise directed by the Treasury Department or a Federal Reserve Bank the disclaimer must be written, typed or stamped on the back of the bond, in substantially the following form:

The undersigned as assignee of this bond hereby disclaims any interest therein.

(Signature)

Personally appeared before me the abovenamed ----------, whose identity is known or proved to me, and signed the above disclaimer of interest, acknowledging the same to be his free act and deed.

[SEAL] ----------
(Signature of witnessing officer)

(Official designation)

--------- --------- ---------
(City) (State) (Date)

In the absence of a disclaimer, affidavits should be submitted explaining why a disclaimer could not be obtained, setting forth all other material facts and circumstances relating to the transaction, and stating specifically that the bond was not delivered to the person named as assignee and that he acquired no right, title or interest in the bond. If an assignment to or for the account of another person was not properly witnessed or is otherwise imperfect, but has been completed by delivery, it cannot be considered void and must not be altered or erased. A new assignment must be executed in favor of the same assignee, unless the assignment can otherwise be perfected as directed by a Federal Reserve Bank or the Treasury Department.

§ 306.49 Discrepancies in names—(a) Inscription and assignment or supporting evidence. Where there is a slight discrepancy between the name of the registered owner as inscribed on the bond and as shown in the assignment or supporting evidence, the Department may require that it be explained by an affidavit by another person familiar with the facts, preferably one having no direct financial interest in the bond. (Fiduciaries may use Form PD 385 for this purpose and other persons may use it as a guide in preparing their affidavits.)

(b) Signature and supporting evidence. Where a slight discrepancy exists between the signature of any person acting in a representative or fiduciary capacity as it appears in the assignment and his name as it appears in the certificate of appointment or other evidence of authority, the Department may require that it be explained by an affidavit by another person familiar with the facts, preferably one having no direct financial interest in the security.

(c) Bonds variously inscribed. Where the variations in the name of the registered owner, as inscribed on bonds of the same or different issues, are such that both may properly represent the same person, for example, "J. T. Smith" and "John T. Smith", no proof of identity will be required if the assignments are signed exactly as the bonds are inscribed and are duly certified by the same witnessing officer.

§ 306.50 Nontransferable securities. The provisions of this subpart, with the exception of those of §§ 306.42 and 306.48, shall apply to 2¾ percent Treasury Bonds, Investment Series B–1975–80, and Treasury Savings Notes: Provided, That § 306.46 shall apply with respect to assignments of the bonds or requests for payment or reissue of the notes only in the case of legal successors. In applying these provisions to Treasury Savings Notes appropriate substitutions in terms should be made as follows: "Note(s)" or "Treasury Savings Note(s)" for "bond(s)" or "registered bond(s)"; "request(s) for payment or reissue" for "assignment(s)"; "requestor(s)" for "assignor(s)"; "certify" for "witness"; and "certifying officer" for "witnessing officer".

SUBPART G—ASSIGNMENTS BY OR IN BEHALF OF INDIVIDUALS

§ 306.55 Signature, minor errors, and change of name. The registered owner's signature to an assignment should be in the form in which his or her name has been inscribed on the face of the bond, unless the name as so inscribed was incorrect or has been changed since the bond was issued. In case of a minor error in inscription (not sufficient to raise any doubt in the mind of the witnessing officer in regard to the identity of the owner), the signature to the assignment should be in the following form, for example, "John Smythe, erroneously inscribed John Smith". In case of a more serious error in inscription, the procedure prescribed in § 306.13 should be followed. In case of a change in name, the signature to the assignment should show both names and the manner in which the change was made, for example, "Mrs. Mary Brown, before marriage Miss Mary Jones", or "John Young, formerly John Jung (changed by court order)". In all cases involving change of name satisfactory proof of the change will be required, except that no proof of change of name by marriage will be required if an authorized officer duly witnesses the assignment, thereby certifying that he is satisfied the assignor is the registered owner.

§ 306.56 Assignments of bonds registered in the names of two or more persons—(a) For transfer or exchange[*] The transfer or exchange of bonds registered in the names of two or more persons may be made during the lives of all the coowners only upon assignments by all of them or in their behalf by authorized representatives. Upon proof of the death of one of the coowners, the Treasury Department will accept an assignment by or in behalf of the survivor or survivors, unless the registration includes words which preclude the right of survivorship, or the words "or either of them", in which case, in addition to an assignment by or in behalf of the survivor or survivors, an assignment in behalf of the decedent's estate will be required.

(b) For redemption or redemption-exchange (registration in alternative). Bonds registered in the names of two or more persons in the alternative, as for example, "John Smith or Mrs. Mary Smith," or "John Smith or Mrs. Mary Smith or the survivor", may be assigned by one coowner, at maturity or upon call, for redemption or redemption-exchange (as defined in § 306.2 (g)), for his own account or otherwise, whether or not the other coowner or coowners are deceased and, if so, whether or not the Treasury has received notice of their deaths. This provision also applies to bonds registered in the form "John Smith and Mrs. Mary Smith or either of them".

[*] It should be kept in mind that, unlike United States Savings Bonds, which are virtually redeemable on demand, transferable securities are redeemable only at maturity or upon prior call by the Secretary for redemption. Before maturity or call for redemption a transferable bond may be "cashed" by sale, either through a bank or broker or direct to a purchaser. In either case the bond must be assigned in accordance with these regulations.

(c) For redemption or redemption-exchange (joint registration). Bonds registered in the names of two or more persons jointly (as distinguished from bonds registered in their names in the alternative), as, for example, "John Smith and Mrs. Mary Smith", "John Smith and Mrs. Mary Smith or the survivor", or "John Smith and Mrs. Mary Smith as tenants in common", may be assigned by one coowner during the lives of all only (1) for redemption at maturity or upon call, (and then only for redemption for the account of all coowners) or (2) for exchange for new bonds to be registered in their names in the same registration if new registered bonds are offered in exchange for the maturing or called bonds. Upon proof of the death of one coowner the survivor or survivors may assign bonds so registered for redemption or for redemption-exchange for any account, except that, if the words, "as tenants in common" or other words having the same effect appear in the registration, assignment in behalf of the decedent's estate will also be required.

§ 306.57 Minors—(a) Assignments by natural guardians of bonds registered in the names of minors. Bonds erroneously registered after the effective date of these regulations in the name of a minor (whether alone or followed by the name of a natural guardian) for whose estate no legal guardian or similar representative has been appointed by a proper court or is otherwise legally qualified will be reissued in the name of a natural guardian of the minor (see § 306.11 (2)), upon the request of the purchaser or other person responsible for the error. If the requirements to support such reissue are met, but other disposition is desired, actual reissue will be unnecessary and the bonds may be assigned by the natural guardian in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section. Bonds so registered in the name of a minor before the effective date of these regulations may be assigned by a natural guardian of the minor only for the purposes and under the conditions described below:

(1) For exchange or redemption, if the total face amount of the Treasury bonds so registered does not exceed $1,000, and if satisfactory proof is furnished that the proceeds of the bonds are necessary and will be used for the support or education of the minor.

(2) For redemption, if the total face amount of called or matured Treasury bonds so registered does not exceed $500 and the minor registered owner is not of sufficient age and competency to sign his name to the assignments and understand the nature of the transaction.

(3) For redemption for reinvestment in other transferable bonds to be registered in the minor's name, if the total face amount of bonds so registered exceeds $500 or if such amount does not exceed $500 but the minor is not of sufficient age and competency to sign his name and understand the nature of the transaction.

For cases arising under subparagraphs (1), (2), or (3) of this paragraph, Form PD 2481 should be used.

(b) Assignments by natural guardians of bonds registered in their names. Bonds registered after the effective date of these regulations in the name of a natural guardian of a minor may be assigned by the designated natural guardian for any authorized transaction except one for the apparent benefit of the natural guardian. The signature to the assignment should be written as the bonds are inscribed, for example, "John Jones as natural guardian of Henry Jones, a minor". If the natural guardian in whose name the bonds are registered is deceased or is no longer qualified to act as natural guardian, the bonds may be assigned by the person then acting as natural guardian. The assignment by the new natural guardian must be supported by proof of the death or disqualification of the former natural guardian and by satisfactory proof of his own status as natural guardian. Proof of such status may be established through the use of Form PD 2481. No assignment by a natural guardian will be accepted after receipt of notice of the minor's attainment of majority or removal of his disability of minority, the disqualification of the natural guardian to act as such, the appointment of a legal guardian by a proper court, or the death of the minor.

(c) Assignments by minors. Bonds registered, before the effective date of these regulations, in the name of a minor for whose estate no guardian or similar representative has been appointed by a proper court or is otherwise legally qualified, may be assigned by the minor at maturity or call for redemption or redemption-exchange for new bonds to be registered in his name, if the total face amount of matured or called bonds so registered does not exceed $500, and if the minor, in the opinion of the witnessing officer, is of sufficient age and competency to sign his name to the assignments and understand the nature of the transaction. Payment will be made by check drawn to the order of the minor.

(d) Assignments by legal guardians. Bonds registered in the name of a minor (whether alone or with a natural guardian) for whose estate a legal guardian or similar representative has been appointed by a proper court or is otherwise legally qualified may be assigned by the representative for any authorized transaction. The assignment must be supported by a court certificate or a certified copy of the letters of appointment issued by the court making the appointment, under its seal, except that an assignment by the representative for his own apparent benefit must be supported by the evidence required in § 306.80. The certificate or certification must be dated not more than one year before the date of the assignment and must contain a statement that the appointment is in full force unless (1) it shows that the appointment was made not more than one year before the date of the assignment, or (2) the representative or a co-representative is a corporation. All co-representatives must join in any assignment, except as provided in § 306.79. An assignment by the representative will not be accepted after receipt of notice of the termination of the guardianship, except for transfer to the former ward.

§ 306.58 Incompetents—(a) Definition. For the purposes of this section an incompetent is defined as a person under any legal disability except minority.

(b) Assignments by legal guardians. Bonds registered in the name of an incompetent for whose estate a legal guardian or similar representative has been appointed by a proper court or is otherwise legally qualified may be assigned by the representative for any authorized transaction. The assignment must be supported by a court certificate or a certified copy of the letters of appointment issued by the court making the appointment, under its seal, except that an assignment by the representative for his own apparent benefit must be supported by the evidence required in § 306.80. The certificate or certification must be dated not more than one year before the date of the assignment and must contain a statement that the appointment is in full force, unless (1) it shows that the appointment was made not more than one year before the date of the assignment, or (2) the representative or a co-representative is a corporation. All co-representatives must join in any assignment, except as provided in § 306.79. An assignment by the representative will not be accepted after receipt of notice of termination of the guardianship, except for transfer to the former ward.

(c) Assignments by voluntary guardians. Bonds registered in the name of an incompetent for whose estate no legal guardian or similar representative has been appointed by a proper court or is otherwise legally qualified may be assigned by the relative responsible for his care and support or some other proper person as voluntary guardian:

(1) For exchange or redemption if the total face amount of United States bonds so registered does not exceed $1,000 and the proceeds of the bonds are necessary and will be used for the care or support of the incompetent or for the support of his legal dependents; or

(2) For redemption if the bonds are matured or have been called and the proceeds are to be reinvested in other securities to be registered in the incompetent's name followed by that of his voluntary guardian in the form "A, an incompetent under voluntary guardianship of B" and if after completion of the transaction, the total face amount of United States bonds registered in the name of the incompetent on which interest is paid currently would not exceed $5,000.

An application on Form PD 1461 by the person seeking authority to act as voluntary guardian will be required.

§ 306.59 Attorneys in fact. Assignments by attorneys in fact for individual owners or coowners will be recognized if supported by adequate powers of attorney. The use of Form PD 1001 or 1002 is suggested but any form sufficient in substance may be used. Every power must be executed in the presence of an officer authorized to witness assignments of the bonds for the desired transactions. A power may be either general or specific, depending on whether the owner desires to authorize execution of assignments of all his bonds assignable under these regulations or to limit the authority to bonds of designated issues or to certain designated bonds. The original power must be filed with the Treasury Department, except that a photocopy certified by an officer of a Federal Reserve Bank or Branch, or by an officer of a bank or trust company under its corporate seal, will be accepted, if the seal on the original power is legible on the copy or is copied by the certifying officer. An assignment by a substituted attorney in fact must be supported by an appropriate power of substitution, which must be supported in turn by an appropriate authorizing power of attorney. The use of Form PD 1005, 1006, 1007, or 1008 (the particular form depending on whether the power is to be general or specific and whether an individual or a corporation is to be named as attorney in fact) is suggested but any form sufficient in substance may be used. An assignment by an attorney in fact or a substituted attorney in fact for the apparent benefit of either will be accepted only if expressly authorized in both the power of attorney and power of substitution. A power of attorney or of substitution will be recognized until, but not after (unless the power is coupled with an interest) the Bureau of the Public Debt, Division of Loans and Currency, Washington 25, D. C., receives proof of revocation or proof of the grantor's death or incompetency, except that a pending transaction will be temporarily suspended on receipt of a request from the grantor of the power, by wire or otherwise, and except further that the Secretary of the Treasury may require evidence in any case that a power is still in full force at the time the Department is requested to act under it. If there are two or more joint attorneys in fact or substitutes all must unite in the assignment unless the power authorizes less than all to act or the bond has matured or been called, in which case less than all may assign for redemption for the account of the bond owner or for redemption and application of the proceeds in payment for new bonds offered in exchange to be registered in the name of the owner.

§ 306.60 Nontransferable securities. The provisions of this subpart, except those of §§ 306.56 (a), 306.57 (a) (1), and 306.58 (c) relating to transfers, shall apply to 2¾ percent Treasury Bonds, Investment Series B–1975–80: Provided, That the term "exchange" as used in §§ 306.56 (a), 306.57 (a) (1), and 306.58 (c) (1) shall be deemed to refer to the exchange of these bonds for the current series of 1½ percent 5 year Treasury notes. The provisions of this subpart with respect to assignments of bonds, except those of § 306.56 and those of §§ 306.57 (a) (1) and 306.58 (c) (1) relating to transfers or exchanges shall apply to requests for payment or reissue of Treasury Savings Notes: Provided, That the term "redemption" as used therein shall refer to redemption at or before maturity: And provided further, That the term "redemption" as used in §§ 306.57 (a) (2) and 306.58 (c) (2) shall refer to redemption at maturity.

SUBPART H—ASSIGNMENTS IN BEHALF OF ESTATES OF DECEASED REGISTERED OWNERS

§ 306.65 In course of administration. A bond belonging to the estate of a decedent which is being administered in a proper court by an executor or general administrator will be accepted for any authorized transaction upon assignment by the qualified representative of the estate. (For temporary or special administrators see § 306.66.) Unless the bond is registered in the name and title of the representative, the assignment must be supported by a court certificate of his appointment or a certified copy of the letters of appointment, issued by the court making the appointment, under its seal, except that an assignment by a representative for his own apparent benefit must be supported by the evidence required in § 306.80. The certificate or certification, if required, must be dated not more than six months before the date of the assignment and must contain a statement that the appointment is in full force, unless (1) it shows that the appointment was made not more than one year before the date of the assignment, or (2) the representative or a co-representative is a corporation. The proper form of signature to an assignment is, for example "John A. Jones, administrator of the estate (or, executor of the will) of Henry W. Jones, deceased". All co-representatives must unite in any assignment except as provided in § 306.79. A bond registered in the name of an executor or administrator may be reissued in the name of his successor, upon the request of the designated representative or his successor, supported by proof of successorship, without assignment.

§ 306.66 Temporary and special administrators—The Treasury Department will recognize assignments by temporary or special administrators for any authorized transaction within the scope of their authority under state law or the orders of the court by which they were appointed. If the amount of bonds presented for any transaction does not exceed $250, the Department will presume that it is within the proper scope, and the assignments need be supported only by evidence of the same nature as that required in support of assignments by a general administrator, as set forth in § 306.65. If the amount of bonds presented exceeds $250:

(a) Assignments by a temporary administrator for redemption for his account in his representative capacity, or for redemption and application of the proceeds in payment for new securities to be registered in his name in his representative capacity, must be supported by a certificate of court under its seal showing that the appointment was in full force within 30 days preceding the date of receipt of the bonds or the certificate, whichever is later, except that, if a corporation is the temporary administrator or co-administrator, any acceptable court evidence of appointment may be supplemented by a statement by the corporation on its letterhead showing that the appointment was in force within the specified period:

(b) Assignments by a temporary administrator for transfer or exchange (including assignments for redemption for the account of the temporary administrator individually or that of any other person in any capacity) must be supported by a duly certified copy of a special order of court authorizing such action;

(c) Assignments by a special administrator must be supported by a duly certified copy of a special order of court authorizing such action, unless it appears from his letters of appointment or the statutes under which the appointment was made that such action comes within the scope of his authority, in which case it must appear from evidence under the seal of the court, or from such evidence and a supplemental statement by a corporate administrator on its letterhead, that the appointment was in full force within six months preceding the date of receipt of the securities or the evidence, whichever is later.

§ 306.67 After settlement through court proceedings. Bonds belonging to the estate of a decedent which has been settled in a proper court will be accepted for any authorized transaction upon assignments by the person or persons entitled, as determined by the court. If one person is the sole legatee, or if specific bonds are distributed to any one person, the bonds may be reissued in the name of such person upon instructions from him without assignment. The assignments or instructions for reissue should be supported by a copy, certified under court seal, of the decree of distribution, the representative's final account as approved by the court, or similar court records.

§ 306.68 Without administration. When it appears that no legal representative of the estate to which bonds belong has been or is to be appointed, the bonds may be disposed of in any authorized manner pursuant to an agreement and assignment by all persons entitled to share in the bonds under the laws of the State of the decedent's domicile. (Use Form PD 1646.) All debts of the decedent and his estate must be paid or provided for and the interests of any minors or incompetents in the estate must be adequately protected to the satisfaction of the Secretary of the Treasury.

§ 306.69 Special provisions applicable to small amounts of securities, interest checks or redemption checks. The right to, or the authority to dispose of, a small amount of public debt securities and checks issued in payment thereof or in payment of interest thereon, belonging to the estate of a decedent, may be established through the use of certain short forms, according to the aggregate amount of securities and checks (excluding checks representing interest on the securities) involved in the case, as indicated by the following table:

Amount	Circumstances	Form	To be executed by—
$25	Estate being administered	PD 2488	Executor or administrator.
$25	No administration	PD 2216	Heir or legatee who paid burial expenses.
$100	Estate being administered	PD 2488	Executor or administrator.
$250	Estate settled	PD 2488A	Former executor or administrator, attorney or other qualified person.

§ 306.70 Nontransferable securities. The provisions of this subpart except those of § 306.66 (2) relating to transfer shall apply to 2¾ percent Treasury Bonds Investment Series B–1975–80: Provided, That the term "exchange" shall be deemed to refer to the exchange of these bonds for the current series of 1½ percent 5-year Treasury notes. The provisions of this subpart with respect to assignments of bonds shall apply to requests for payment or reissue of Treasury Savings Notes: Provided, That the term "redemption", as used in § 306.66 (1), shall be deemed to refer to redemption of Treasury Savings Notes at maturity, and that the requirements of § 306.66 (2) shall apply to requests for redemption of Treasury Savings Notes before maturity.

SUBPART I—ASSIGNMENTS BY OR IN BEHALF OF FIDUCIARIES AND LEGAL REPRESENTATIVES

§ 306.75 Individual trustees. Bonds registered in the names and titles of individual trustees, as, for example, "Mrs. Mary Smith, trustee under the will of John Smith, deceased", or "Henry J. Williams, Edward C. Carter and Charles Jones, trustees under agreement dated October 12, 1954, with Frank H. Woods", will be accepted for any authorized transaction upon assignment by the designated trustees without further proof of their appointment and qualification, except that an assignment by a trustee for his own apparant benefit will be accepted only as provided in § 306.80. If one of the designated trustees has died or resigned, or is no longer qualified to act as trustee, and a successor has been appointed, the bonds must be assigned by the surviving or remaining trustee or trustees and the successor trustee, and proof of the death, resignation, removal or disqualification of the former trustee and of the appointment and qualification of the successor trustee must be furnished. If the appointment of a successor is not required under the terms of the trust instrument or otherwise and is not contemplated, assignments by the surviving or remaining trustee or trustees must be supported by (a) proof of the death, resignation, removal or disqualification of the former trustee, and (b) satisfactory proof that the surviving or remaining trustee or trustees are fully qualified to administer the trust, which may be in the form of a certificate by them showing that the appointment of a successor has not been applied for, is not contemplated and is not necessary under the terms of the trust instrument or otherwise. Proof of successorship, but no assignment, will be required in support of a request for reissue to substitute the name of a succeeding trustee for that of a former trustee. Assignments of bonds registered in the titles, without the names of the trustees, as, for example, "Trustees of the George E. White Memorial Scholarship Fund under deed of trust dated November 11, 1940, executed by John W. White", must be supported by satisfactory proof that the assignors are the qualified and acting trustees of the designated trust estate, unless the trustees are empowered to act as a unit in which case the provisions of § 306.76 shall apply. Form PD 2446 may be used to furnish proof of incumbency of trustees. Assignments by trustees of bonds not registered or assigned in such manner as to show that they belong to the trust estate for which the assignors are acting must be supported by satisfactory evidence that the trust estate is entitled to the bonds under the regulations in this part, in addition to any other required evidence. All co-trustees must unite in any assignment except as provided in § 306.79.

§ 306.76 Boards of trustees and trustees acting as a unit. If the trustees of any organization or trust estate, public or private, constitute a board, committee or other body which is empowered to act as a unit, bonds registered in its name may be assigned for any authorized transaction by any member, officer or other person authorized to act in its behalf. Except as otherwise provided in this section, the assignments must be supported by a copy of a resolution of the board or other body, certified under its seal, or, if none, sworn to by an officer having access to its records. (Form PD 2495 may be used.) If the resolution is authenticated by the officer who assigns the bonds, another officer must join in the authentication. If the assigning officer is designated in the resolution by title only, his incumbency must be certified by another officer of the board or other body under its seal, or, if none, sworn to by him. (Form PD 2446 may be used.) No evidence will be required in support of an assignment by an officer for redemption for the account of the designated board, committee or other body, or for redemption and application of the proceeds in payment for new bonds offered in exchange to be registered in the same name. If the trustees of any organization or trust estate are empowered to act as a unit, although not designated as a board, committee or other body, bonds registered in their names as such trustees or in their title as such trustees, without their names, may be assigned by any trustee authorized by the group to act in its behalf. The assignments must be supported by a sworn copy of a resolution passed by the group in accordance with the terms of the trust instrument, and proof of the authority of the trustees to act as a unit may be required, except that an assignment by one of the trustees named on the bonds or by one for whom appropriate proof of incumbency is furnished, for redemption for the account of the trustees (by check drawn substantially as the bonds are inscribed) or for redemption and application of the proceeds in payment for new bonds offered in exchange to be registered in the same name, need not be supported by any other evidence. As an alternative, in any case described in this section, assignments by all the trustees, supported by proof of their incumbency, if not named on the bonds, will be accepted.

§ 306.77 Individual guardians. Bonds registered in the names and titles of individual legal guardians or similar representatives of the estates of minors or incompetents, may be assigned by the designated representatives for any authorized transaction without further proof of their appointment and qualification, except that an assignment by any such representative for his own apparent benefit will be accepted only as provided in § 306.80. Assignments of bonds registered (a) in the titles, without the names, of the representatives, (b) in the names and titles of representatives who are no longer qualified to act, or (c) in the names of minors or incompetents must be supported by a certificate of appointment for the representatives, or a certified copy of their letters of appointment executed or certified by the clerk of the court making the appointment, under its seal. The certificate or certification must be dated not more than one year before the date of the assignment, and must show that the appointment is in full force, unless (1) the certificate or certification shows that the appointment was made not more than one year before the date of the assignment or (2) the representative or a co-representative is a corporation. A bond registered in the name of a guardian or similar representative may be reissued in the name of his successor, upon the request of the designated representative or his successor, supported by proof of successorship, without assignment. All joint guardians must unite in any assignment, except as provided in § 306.79.

§ 306.78 Corporate representatives and fiduciaries. An assignment in behalf of a corporation acting alone or with individuals as executor, general administrator, guardian or similar representative, trustee or attorney in fact, must be supported by the evidence, if any, required in support of assignments by corresponding individual representatives or fiduciaries, except that the evidence of appointment as executor, administrator or guardian, if required, need not contain a statement that the appointment is in full force nor be dated within any particular period of time preceding the date of the assignment. Satisfactory evidence of the authority of the officer who executes the assignment in behalf of the corporation will be required, unless the assignment is (a) for redemption for the account of, or for redemption and application of the proceeds in payment for new bonds offered in exchange to be registered in the name of, the executors, administrators, guardians, trustees or grantors, as the case may be, or (b) for redemption at par before maturity, in accordance with § 306.28. The evidence of the officer's authority, if required, must be in substantially the same form as that required in support of an assignment of a bond registered in the name of the corporation in its own right, as set forth in § 306.85, except that the evidence must refer to bonds held in a representative or fiduciary capacity and that reference should be made to Forms PD 1011 and PD 1012 rather than Forms PD 1009 and PD 1010, respectively.

§ 306.79 Joint representatives or fiduciaries. If there are two or more joint executors, administrators, guardians or similar representatives, or trustees of an estate, all must unite in the assignment of any bonds belonging to the estate, unless

(a) An express statute, a decree of court, or the instrument under which they are acting provides otherwise; or

(b) The bonds have matured or been called, in which case one or more of the representatives or fiduciaries may assign for redemption for the account of, or for redemption and application of the proceeds in payment for new bonds offered in exchange to be registered in the names of, all acting executors, administrators, guardians or similar representatives, or trustees. For assignments by joint attorneys in fact, see § 306.59.

§ 306.80 Assignments by representatives or fiduciaries for their own benefit. Unless there are two or more representatives or fiduciaries acting and all unite in the assignment, an assignment by an executor, administrator, guardian or similar representative, trustee, or other representative or fiduciary for his own apparent benefit, including an assignment for transfer to himself individually or an assignment for redemption for his individual account, must be supported by one of the following documents, in addition to any other evidence required under the regulations in this part:

(a) A duly certified copy of an order of a proper court, clearly authorizing the assignment.

(b) In the case of a fiduciary who is not acting under the supervision of a court, a duly certified copy of the governing instrument and any other evidence which may be necessary to show that he is entitled to the bond in his own right.

(c) The consent of all persons having any interest in the bonds, provided they can be identified and are not under any legal disability.

(d) In the case of an executor, administrator or trustee, a duly certified statement on Form PD 2480 or in substantially the same form, satisfactorily establishing that he is entitled to the bond or the proceeds thereof in his own right.

§ 306.81 Attorneys in fact for fiduciaries. Assignments by attorneys in fact for legal representatives or fiduciaries must be supported by adequate powers of attorney in addition to any evidence necessary to support assignments by the representatives or fiduciaries. Forms PD 1002 or PD 1004 may be used, depending on whether the representative or fiduciary is an individual or a corporation. Powers in other forms may be accepted, but all powers must be executed in the presence of an officer authorized to witness assignments of the bonds. Powers must specifically designate the bonds to be assigned. The original must be filed with the Department, except that a photocopy certified by an officer of a Federal Reserve Bank or Branch, or by an officer of a bank or trust company under the corporate seal, will be accepted, if the seal on the original power is legible on the copy or is copied by the certifying officer. An assignment by a substituted attorney in fact must be supported by an appropriate power of substitution, which must be supported in turn by an appropriate power of attorney, and by proof of the representative's or fiduciary's authority, if necessary. Form PD 1006 or PD 1008, whichever is appropriate, may be used for the appointment of a substitute. An assignment by an attorney in fact or a substituted attorney in fact for his own apparent benefit will be accepted only if expressly authorized in the power of attorney or power of substitution respectively. An assignment by a substituted attorney in fact for the apparent benefit of the attorney in fact will be accepted only if expressly authorized in both the power of attorney and the power of substitution. A power of attorney or a power of substitution will be recognized until, but not after, the Bureau of the Public Debt, Division of Loans and Currency, Washington 25, D. C., receives proof of revocation, unless the power is coupled with an interest, except that a pending transaction will be temporarily suspended on receipt of a request from the grantor of the power, by wire or otherwise, and except further that the Secretary of the Treasury may require evidence in any case that a power is still in full force at the time the Department is requested to act under it.

§ 306.82 Nontransferable securities. The provisions of this subpart with respect to assignments are applicable to assignments of 2¾ percent Treasury Bonds, Investment Series B–1975–80, and to requests for payment or reissue of Treasury Savings Notes, except those of §306.78 requiring evidence of authority of the assigning officers to support assignment for an authorized transfer, and as applied to Treasury Savings Notes relate to requests for redemption before maturity as well as at maturity.

SUBPART J—ASSIGNMENTS IN BEHALF OF PUBLIC OR PRIVATE ORGANIZATIONS

§ 306.85. Private corporations and unincorporated associations. Bonds registered in the name of a private corporation or unincorporated association in its own right (not a partnership or a business owned by one individual, whether or not operated under a trade name, or an activity conducted by a trustee or trustees) may be assigned in its behalf, for any authorized transaction by any duly authorized officer or officers. Satisfactory evidence that the assigning officers were duly authorized to assign and sell or otherwise dispose of the bonds will be accepted in support of an assignment for any purpose, except that if the assignment is for their own apparent benefit the evidence must expressly authorize such disposition. No evidence will be required in support of assignments for redemption for the account of the corporation or association or for redemption and application of the proceeds in payment for new bonds offered in exchange to be registered in the name of the corporation or association. The evidence, if required, should ordinarily be in the form of a resolution of the governing body (usually, for a corporation, the board of directors, or for an unincorporated association, the members or a board of trustees). A resolution adopted by an executive committee or other body which is not obviously the governing body must be supplemented by a duly certified copy of the charter, constitution or by laws, or an extract therefrom, showing the authority of the body to act for the organization. In any case the resolution may relate to any or all registered bonds owned by the organization, to bonds of any particular loan or issue, or to a particular bond or bonds. A copy of a resolution conferring general authority may be furnished on Form PD 1009, and one conferring limited authority may be furnished on Form PD 1010, or may be in any substantially similar form. In any case the copy must be certified or sworn to in accordance with the instructions on the applicable form. If the officer or officers derive their authority direct from the charter, constitution or bylaws, a copy or a pertinent extract therefrom, certified under the seal of the organization, or, if it has no seal, sworn to by another officer who has access to its records, will be required in lieu of a resolution. If the resolution or other supporting document shows only the title of the authorized officer, without his name, it must be supplemented by a certificate of incumbency certified under the seal of the organization, or, if it has no seal, sworn to by another officer who has access to its records. (Form PD 1014 may be used.) The signature to the assignment must be in the following form, for example:

The Model Manufacturing Co., a corporation (or, an unincorporated association),
By (signed) John W. Henderson, Treasurer.

The officer in charge of the records and seal of a corporation may properly add the word "attest", followed by his signature and title and an impression of the seal, to the left of the corporate signature, when the organization's requirements so provide, but such endorsement is not required, and will not be accepted in lieu of an authorized witnessing officer's certificate.

§ 306.86 Merger, consolidation, conversion, reincorporation, and change of name of private organizations. If a private corporation is succeeded by another corporation by merger, consolidation, conversion or reincorporation (which do not include a general assignment of assets without legal successorship), its bonds may be assigned for any authorized transaction in behalf of the successor by an authorized officer in accordance with the provisions of the preceding section, or may be reissued in the name of the successor without assignment upon such successor's request and submission of satisfactory evidence of successorship. The evidence must be in the form of a certificate, under seal, by the public official, board or commission authorized by law to approve the action, or, if none, by direct proof of compliance with statutory or other legal requirements, usually in the form of certified copies of resolutions by governing bodies and by stockholders or members, and proof of filing as required by law. The certification of a resolution must show that due notice of the meeting was given, that a quorum was present, and that the resolution was adopted by the necessary majority, and must be signed, under the seal of the corporation, by an officer having access to its records, or, if it has no seal, must be sworn to by such officer. The signature to any necessary assignment must be in the following form, for example:

The Twin Cities Printing Corporation, successor to the St. Paul Printing Company, a corporation.
By (signed) Carl Johansen, President.

Similar evidence of the mere change of name of a corporation will be required to support a request in its behalf for reissue in its new name without assignment or an assignment in its behalf for any authorized transaction. The signature to an assignment after change of name should be in the following form, for example:

The National Bank and Trust Company of ----------, formerly the National Bank of ----------,
By (signed) Theodore R. Stevenson, Vice President.

If an unincorporated association changes its name, or is succeeded by another organization, similar evidence, so far as applicable, will be required in support of a request for reissue in the new name or in the name of the successor, an assignment in behalf of the association under its new name, or an assignment by the successor. If the association (such as a local lodge or chapter) exists by reason of a charter issued by another organization, a certificate by the officer in charge of the records of the latter organization, under its seal, to the effect that the subordinate association has reorganized or changed its name in accordance with the constitution and bylaws of the parent organization, will be accepted in lieu of direct evidence of such action.

§ 306.87 Attorney in fact for a corporation or unincorporated association. Bonds registered in the name of a corporation or an unincorporated association may be assigned in its behalf for any authorized transaction by a duly authorized person as attorney in fact. Such assignments must be supported by one of the following documents certified under the seal of the organization, or, if it has no seal, sworn to by another officer who has access to its records:

(a) A copy of a resolution of its governing body authorizing an officer of the organization to appoint an attorney in fact to assign and sell or otherwise dispose of the bonds, as provided in § 306.85, and of a general or specific power of attorney by the officer so authorized, executed in the presence of an officer authorized to witness assignments of the bonds for the desired transactions, for which purpose Form PD 1003 or PD 1004 may be used;

(b) A copy of a resolution of its governing body directly appointing an attorney in fact for this purpose; or

(c) A copy of the charter, constitution or bylaws, or a pertinent extract therefrom, showing the authority of an officer to appoint an attorney in fact, and of a general or specific power of attorney by the officer so authorized, executed as provided in paragraph (a) of this section.

In any case the power may not be broader than the authorizing resolution or other authority and a general power in behalf of a public corporation will be recognized only if authorized by statute. If the power or resolution authorizes the attorney in fact to appoint a substitute attorney in fact, an assignment by the substitute must be further supported by a power of substitution by the attorney in fact, executed in the manner prescribed for the execution of the power of attorney. (Forms PD 1005, PD 1006, PD 1007 or PD 1008, whichever is appropriate, may be used for this purpose.) If the resolution or other supporting document shows only the title of the authorized officer, without his name, it must be supplemented by a certificate of incumbency certified under the seal of the organization, or, if it has no seal, sworn to by another officer who has access to its records. (Form PD 1014 may be used.)

§ 306.88 Political entities and public corporations. Bonds registered in the name of a State, county, or other political entity, or in the name of an incorporated city, town, village, school district or other public corporation or body, may be assigned for any authorized transaction by a duly authorized officer or officers in accordance with the provisions of § 306.85 so far as applicable, except as otherwise provided herein. If evidence of authority derived from a municipal ordinance, a charter of a public corporation, or special act of a state legislature is required, a copy of the pertinent provision must be certified to the Department by the proper public officer under official seal. If evidence of authority derived from a state constitution or from a public law is required, the pertinent provision must be cited. If a certificate of incumbency is required, it must be executed by the proper public officer under official seal.

§ 306.89 Public officers. Bonds registered in the title of a public officer who is the official custodian of public funds, for example, "Treasurer, State of North Carolina," may be assigned by the designated officer. No evidence will be required in support of an assignment for redemption for the officer's official account or for redemption and application of the proceeds in payment for new bonds offered in exchange to be registered in his official title or in the name of the political entity or public corporation for which he is acting. Any other assignment must be supported by satisfactory evidence that the assignor is the incumbent of the designated office, except that an assignment for his individual benefit will not be recognized. The evidence must be in the form of a certificate of incumbency executed by the proper public officer under official seal.

§ 306.90 Partnerships. An assignment of a bond registered in the name of a partnership must be executed by a general partner in the form, for example:

Smith and Jones, a partnership,
By (signed) John Jones, a partner.

An assignment for the benefit of one of the partners individually must be executed by another partner. Upon the death of a partner and the resulting dissolution of the partnership, assignment by all the surviving partners and by the persons entitled to assign in behalf of the decedent's estate will be required, unless the laws of the particular jurisdiction authorize the surviving partners to assign without regard to the decedent's estate. Upon voluntary dissolution of a partnership, an assignment by a liquidating partner, as such, must be supported by a duly executed agreement among the partners appointing the liquidating partner.

§ 306.91 Nontransferable securities. The provisions of this subpart shall apply to Treasury Bonds, Investment Series B–1975–80, and to requests for payment or reissue of Treasury Savings Notes, except those of § 306.85 requiring evidence of authority of the assigning officers to support assignment for an authorized transfer, and as applied to Treasury Savings Notes, relate to requests for payment before maturity as well as at maturity.

SUBPART K—CONFLICTING CLAIMS

§ 306.95 Responsibility of Treasury Department—(a) General. The Treasury Department assumes no responsibility for the protection of the interest of any person in securities not in his possession, and neither the Department nor any of its agencies will accept notice of any claim or of pending judicial proceeding by any such person, except as specifically provided in the regulations in this part. (See Subpart L of this part for information in regard to the conditions under which caveats may be entered against transactions in securities of certain classes and relief granted on account of the loss, theft or destruction thereof.) These limitations are based on the fact that the ready marketability of the securities depends in part upon the promptness and freedom with which transactions therein may be effected.

(b) Bearer securities. Bearer securities comprise more than 90 percent of the outstanding marketable Government obligations, and transactions therein are concentrated in the twelve Federal Reserve Banks and their Branches, and the Treasury Department. The volume of these transactions is so great that the necessity of consulting lists of bearer securities against which caveats (stoppages) may be requested as the result of loss, theft or destruction before maturity would cause extensive delays in completing such transactions. Moreover, under generally recognized principles of law, good title to unmatured bearer securities will pass by delivery to a purchaser in good faith and for value. Therefore, the entry of caveats against transactions in these securities, upon receipt of reports of loss, theft or destruction, would be wholly without practical benefit.[1] As purchasers of bearer securities which have been lost or stolen after face maturity would not acquire good title thereto as against the true owners, reports of losses or thefts occurring after face maturity will be recorded and efforts will be made to detect any such securities upon receipt by the Department or a Federal Reserve Bank, with a view to giving the owner an opportunity to establish his right to them. However, such efforts may be unsuccessful, on account of circumstances over which the Department has no control, in which case the Department's responsibility will be limited to notifying the person who reported the loss or theft of the source from which the securities were received, in so far as the information is available.

(c) Registered securities. Both assignment and delivery are necessary to pass good title to marketable securities in registered form. Therefore, the Department will afford registered owners appropriate protection against loss through forged assignments, and so far as possible, against loss through assignments affected by fraud. (See §§ 306.98 and 306.99.) Very little protection can be given owners who lose possession of their bonds after assigning them in blank or for exchange for coupon bonds without restrictions on the delivery of the coupon bonds, as bonds so assigned are, in effect, payable to bearer.

(d) Interest coupons. Interest coupons are payable to bearer, therefore, the Department can assume no responsibility whatever with respect to detached coupons which have been lost, stolen or destroyed, and will not enter any caveats (stoppages) against payment thereof or undertake to determine whether any particular coupons have been paid.

§ 306.96 Circumstances under which the ownership of securities payable to bearer may be questioned. A bearer security or a registered security so assigned as to become, in effect, payable to bearer which has been reported lost or stolen may be detected by the Treasury Department upon presentation for payment or other transaction only as

[1] On April 27, 1867, the Secretary of the Treasury issued the following statement:
"In consequence of the increasing trouble, wholly without practical benefit, arising from notices which are constantly received at the Department respecting the loss of coupon bonds, which are payable to bearer, and of Treasury notes issued and remaining in blank at the time of loss, it becomes necessary to give this public notice, that the Government can not protect, and will not undertake to protect, the owners of such bonds and notes against the consequences of their own fault or misfortune.
"Hereafter all bonds, notes, and coupons, payable to bearer, and Treasury notes issued and remaining in blank, will be paid to the party presenting them in pursuance of the regulations of the Department, in the course of regular business; and no attention will be paid to caveats which may be filed for the purpose of preventing such payment."

the result of (a) the entry of a caveat, in the case of a security reported lost or stolen after maturity, as provided in § 306.108, (b) the requirement of proof of ownership, in the case of a mutilated security or one which is presented for payment more than a reasonable length of time after maturity, as provided in § 306.25, or (c) presentation by a person claiming to be a finder. If the security is so detected, the Department will call upon the presenter and the person who reported the loss or theft to substantiate their respective claims. If the evidence submitted by either claimant establishes conclusively that he is the owner of the security, payment will be made to him, except that the Department, before making payment, may require a bond of indemnity or other security to protect the United States from any liability to any other person. If payment may not be made under these conditions, the Department will hold the security until the case is settled by agreement or as the result of judicial proceedings in accordance with § 306.97.

§ 306.97 Judicial proceedings. The Treasury Department will recognize any valid judicial proceedings in a proper court affecting the ownership of or interest in registered securities upon presentation of the securities to the Department bearing appropriate assignments and accompanied by satisfactory proof of the proceedings. If the bonds are registered in the names of two or more persons, the extent of their respective interests in the bonds must be determined by the court in proceedings to which they are parties or must otherwise be validly established. The following evidence will be required in the types of cases designated:

(a) Judicial transfers. An assignment by a transferee through judicial proceedings, as in the case of a divorce decree awarding to one party to the proceedings a bond registered in the name of the other, or any case in which a bond registered in the name of one person is found to be the property of another person, must be supported by a copy of the final judgment or decree and of the record of any necessary supplemental proceedings, duly certified by the clerk of the court under its seal, and, if the judgment or decree was entered more than six months prior to the assignment, by a certificate, under court seal, by the clerk, dated within six months of the assignment, showing that the judgment or decree is in full force. The signature to the assignment should be in the following form:

---------- by ----------,
person entitled through judicial proceedings.

(c) Sales under court orders. An assignment by a sheriff, marshal or other court officer for the purpose of carrying out a sale ordered by the court to satisfy or apply on a money judgment must be supported by copies of the court order (writ of execution) and the officer's return thereon, in addition to copies of the judgment and the record of supplemental proceedings, all certified by the clerk of the court under its seal. In the case of a security which has matured or become redeemable pursuant to a call for redemption, in lieu of sale in the usual manner, the officer to whom the order is directed may assign the security to the Secretary of the Treasury for redemption and receive payment thereof in his official capacity. The signature to the asignment should be in the following form:

----------,
(Signature and official title)
an officer of the ---------- Court of
----------,
(County and State)
in the matter of ----------

(c) Bankruptcy proceedings. An assignment by a trustee in bankruptcy must be supported by the referee's certificate of the trustee's election and qualification, and the incumbency and signature of the referee must be certified by the clerk of the court under its seal. The signature to the assignment should be in the following form:

----------, Trustee in Bankruptcy of the estate of ----------,

(d) Receivers. An assignment of a registered bond by a receiver of the property of the owner, or by a similar officer, must be supported by a copy of an order of court certified by the clerk of the court under its seal, authorizing the assignment and sale or transfer of the bond, except that, in the case of a statutory officer, the assignment must be supported by proof of compliance with the statutory requirements. The signature to the assignment should be in the following form:

----------, by ----------,
(Registered owner)
Receiver (or other official title), under order of the ---------- Court of
----------, in the matter
of ----------,

The Department will also recognize a determination by a proper court with respect to the ownership or right to possession of securities in either registered or bearer form which may be held by the Department subject to such determination. The evidence required will be similar to that prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section.

§ 306.98 Assignments affected by fraud. If a registered bond has been transferred, exchanged or redeemed in reliance upon an apparently valid assignment, and a claim that the assignment was obtained by fraud is subsequently received, the Treasury Department can grant no relief. If a claim of this kind is received before the bond is transferred, exchanged or redeemed, the Department will call upon the registered owner to substantiate his claim, and if he does so the Department will enter a caveat (stoppage) against the bond. When a bond against which a caveat has been so entered is received, the Department will call upon the presenter to explain the circumstances under which he acquired the bond. If it appears from all the evidence submitted that the presenter acquired the bond in good faith, for value, without notice or knowledge of the alleged fraud, the Department will then give the registered owner a reasonable period of time in which to institute judicial proceedings against the presenter to establish his right to the bond in accordance with § 306.97; if he fails to institute appropriate proceedings within the prescribed period of time or is not successful, the Department will recognize the assignment. If it does not appear that the presenter acquired the bond in good faith, for value, without notice or knowledge of the alleged fraud, the Department will take the position of a stakeholder with respect to the bond until the case is settled by a disclaimer of interest by one of the parties, by an agreement between them, or by judicial proceedings between them in accordance with § 306.97. In any case in which the transfer, exchange or redemption of a bond is withheld pending the receipt of evidence requested or the outcome of judicial proceedings, or while the Department is acting as a stakeholder with respect to the bond, any interest to which the presenter might be entitled will be withheld, and when the case is settled any interest so withheld will be paid to the person found to be entitled to the bond, unless otherwise determined by agreement of the parties or by the court.

§ 306.99 Forged assignments. No title can be acquired through a forged assignment of a registered bond, even by a purchaser in good faith, for value, without notice or knowledge of the forgery. An assignment of a registered bond against which a caveat (stoppage) has been entered in accordance with § 306.108 will not be accepted unless it is determined that the assignment is genuine. If the assignment is found to be a forgery, the Treasury Department will grant appropriate relief to the true owner. If an assignment has been honored before the receipt of notice of the loss or theft of the bond, and it is found upon investigation that the assignment is a forgery, the Department will grant appropriate relief to the true owner and proceed against those responsible for the loss resulting from the first transaction, including (a) the person committing the forgery, (b) the witnessing officer or the corporation of which he is an officer (see § 306.44), and (c) the person presenting the bond to the Department or a Federal Reserve Bank for transfer, exchange or payment, who thereby gives an implied warranty of title to the United States.

§ 306.100 Nontransferable securities. The provisions of this subpart, with the exception of those of §§ 306.95, 306.96 and 306.98, shall apply to Treasury Bonds, Investment Series B–1975–80: Provided, That the reference in § 306.97 (2) to assignment by a sheriff, marshall or other court officer, a trustee in bankruptcy or a receiver or similar officer, other than for redemption, shall be deemed to refer to assignment of the bonds for exchange for 1½ percent 5-year Treasury Notes of EA or EO series, and that the reference in § 306.99 relating to transfer of title and to an implied warranty of a presenter is not applicable. The provisions of this subpart, with the exception of those of §§ 306.95, 306.96, and 306.98, shall apply to Treasury Savings Notes, provided, that reference to assignment in § 306.97 as used in (a) shall be deemed to refer to a request for payment or reissue, and as used in (b), (c), and (d) shall be deemed to refer to a request for payment only, and that the reference in § 306.99 relating to transfer of title and to an implied warranty of title by the presenter is not applicable.

SUBPART L—RELIEF ON ACCOUNT OF LOSS, THEFT, DESTRUCTION, MUTILATION OR DEFACEMENT

§ 306.105 Statutory authority and requirements. Section 8 of the Act of July 8, 1937 (50 Stat. 481), as amended (31 U. S. C. 738a), provides for relief, under certain conditions, on account of the loss, theft, destruction, mutilation or defacement of United States interest-bearing securities. The statute defines interest-bearing securities as direct obligations of the United States issued pursuant to law for valuable consideration which by their terms bear interest or are issued on a discount basis, but includes Excess Profits Tax Refund bonds which bear no interest. To obtain relief the securities must be identified by description and number, and the pertinent facts must be clearly proved to the satisfaction of the Secretary of the Treasury. Except in certain specified types of cases or under certain specified circumstances, the law requires a bond of indemnity in such form and amount and with such surety, sureties, or security as the Secretary shall require. For detailed information concerning bonds of indemnity see § 306.113. If relief is authorized on account of a security which has not matured or become redeemable pursuant to a call, a substitute security bearing the same issue date, marked "Duplicate" and showing the serial number of the original security, will be issued; if relief is authorized on account of a security which has matured or become redeemable pursuant to a call, payment will be made.

§ 306.106 Securities to which this subpart applies. This subpart applies to all securities for which relief may be given under authority of the statute cited in § 306.105 (except United States Savings Bonds, which are governed by separate regulations) or under the authority of any government or any organization of the United States for which the Treasury Department acts as transfer agency.

§ 306.107 Reports of disappearance or recovery. The loss, theft or destruction of a security should be reported to the Bureau of the Public Debt, Division of Loans and Currency, Washington 25, D. C., as promptly as possible, except that if Treasury Savings Notes are involved the report should be sent to the issuing agency. The report must include the following information or as much thereof as possible: (a) the identification of the security by the complete title of the loan including the interest rate, date of issue and series, and by the serial number and denomination, and, in the case of registered securities, the exact form of inscription and a full description of any assignment, endorsement or other writing thereon; (b) the name and present address of the owner, and his address at the time the securities were issued, and, if the report is made by any other person, the capacity in which he represents the owner; and (c) a brief statement of the circumstances under which the security disappeared. Upon receipt of the report an appropriate form for use in applying for relief will be furnished. The receipt of a report of loss, theft or destruction of a registered security on which interest is payable periodically will not affect the payment of the interest. If any report of loss, theft or destruction is found to have been made in error, or if any security reported as lost or stolen is recovered before relief has been authorized, the Bureau of the Public Debt should be notified to that effect, with references to the description of the security and the date of the original report. If any security for which relief has been granted is recovered, it must be surrendered as the property of the United States to the Bureau of the Public Debt, Division of Loans and Currency, Washington 25, D. C.

§ 306.108 Caveats (stoppages). Upon receipt of a report of the loss, theft or possible destruction of a registered security, a caveat (stoppage) will be entered to suspend any transaction therein not specifically authorized by the owner, except in the case of a transferable security which (a) had been assigned to bearer or so assigned as to become, in effect, payable to bearer (as explained in § 306.42), and (b) had been lost, stolen or possibly destroyed before its face maturity. In the case of a bearer security or a registered transferable security which had been assigned to bearer or so assigned as to become, in effect, payable to bearer, a caveat will be entered only in the event it satisfactorily appears that the loss, theft or possible destruction occurred after the face maturity of the security (see § 306.95). However, if Department records show that the security has already been presented and honored, the owner or his authorized representative will be advised to that effect and furnished such information as may be available regarding the source of receipt. If, after the receipt of an application for relief on account of the loss, theft or possible destruction of a bearer security, or a registered security assigned to bearer or so assigned as to become, in effect, payable to bearer, it is determined that the security has been presented and honored, the applicant will be similarly informed.

§ 306.109 Destruction or partial destruction of bearer securities. An application for relief on account of the partial or total destruction of a bearer security should be made on Form PD 1022. Any portion or portions not destroyed must be submitted to the Treasury Department in support of the application; if in a charred or fragile condition, they should be packed in cotton to prevent further damage in transit. When a substitute is issued to replace a coupon security which has not matured or become redeemable pursuant to a call for redemption, it will be of the same loan and date of issue and have attached coupons corresponding with those shown to have been attached to the security at the time it was destroyed or partially destroyed, except that any coupons which have matured will be paid by check. When relief is granted on account of a security which has become redeemable pursuant to a call, the redemption check will not include payment for any coupons dated after the redemption date.

§ 306.110 Loss or theft (including possible destruction) of bearer securities or registered securities so assigned as to become, in effect, payable to bearer. Relief may be granted on account of the loss or theft of a bearer security, or of a registered security assigned to bearer or so assigned as to become, in effect, payable to bearer, if it was lost or stolen under such circumstances, and has been missing for such period of time after it matured or became redeemable pursuant to a call for redemption, as in the judgment of the Secretary of the Treasury would indicate that the security (a) has been destroyed or has become irretrievably lost, (b) is not held by any person as his own property, and (c) will never become the basis of a valid claim against the United States. The application for relief should be made on Form PD 1022 in the case of bearer securities and on Form PD 1025 in the case of registered securities. If relief is granted the redemption check will not include payment for any interest coupons claimed to have been attached to the security.

§ 306.111 Loss or theft of registered securities not so assigned as to become, in effect, payable to bearer. An application for relief on account of the loss or theft of a registered security not assigned to bearer or not so assigned as to become, in effect, payable to bearer should be made on Form PD 1025. If the security was lost or stolen after it had been assigned and delivered by the registered owner to a transferee, the application must be executed by the transferee and must be supported by an assignment by the registered owner. The Treasury Department will supply an appropriate form for this purpose. The fact that a security alleged to have been lost or stolen is in the possession of a known person who refuses to surrender it will be considered as evidence that the security is held by such person as his own property. In the case of lost or stolen Treasury Savings Notes, which are not assignable, application for relief should be made on Form PD 2382. Relief will not be granted in any case before the expiration of six months from the date of loss or theft.

§ 306.112 Destruction or partial destruction of registered securities. An application for relief on account of the destruction of a registered security, whether or not assigned in any manner, should be made on Form PD 1025. If the security was destroyed after it had been assigned and delivered by the registered owner to a transferee, the application must be executed by the transferee and must be supported by an assignment by the registered owner. The Treasury Department will supply an appropriate form for this purpose. In case of partial destruction the portion or portions not destroyed must be submitted to the Department in support of the application; if in a charred or fragile condition they should be carefully packed in cotton to prevent further damage in transit. In the case of destroyed Treasury Savings Notes, which are not assignable, application for relief should be made on Form PD 2382.

§ 306.113 Bonds of indemnity—(a) When required. A satisfactory bond of indemnity in an amount sufficient to cover any loss which the United States may incur as the result of granting relief will be required before relief may be granted, except as specifically provided in this section. Upon approval of the application for relief, subject to the submission of a bond of indemnity, the Treasury Department will supply an appropriate form for this purpose. A bond of indemnity executed on any other form will not be accepted. In the case of bearer securities or registered securities assigned to bearer or so assigned as to become, in effect, payable to bearer, the destruction of which has not been proved, and for which relief may be granted under the provisions of § 306.110, a bond of indemnity with a corporate surety qualified under the provisions of the Act of July 30, 1947, chapter 390, section 1 (61 Stat. 646; 6 U. S. C. 6–13) will be required. A bond of indemnity with either a corporate surety so qualified or two satisfactory individual sureties will be required in the case of securities for which relief may be granted under the provisions of § 306.109, § 306.111 or § 306.112, unless in the case of unassigned registered securities or destroyed bearer securities the Secretary of the Treasury is satisfied that the interests of the United States may otherwise be adequately protected.

(b) When not required. A bond of indemnity will not be required in any of the following classes of cases, unless the Secretary of the Treasury deems it essential to the public interest in any particular case:

(1) If the Secretary of the Treasury is satisfied that the loss, theft, destruction, mutilation or defacement, as the case may be, occurred without fault of the owner and while the security was in the custody or the control of the United States (not including the Postal Service when acting solely in its capacity as the public carrier of the mails), or of a person thereunto duly authorized as lawful agent of the United States, or while it was in the course of shipment effected pursuant to and in accordance with the regulations issued under the provisions of the Government Losses in Shipment Act;

(2) If substantially the entire security is presented and surrendered by the owner and the Secretary of the Treasury is satisfied as to the identity of the security presented and that any missing portions are not sufficient to form the basis of a valid claim against the United States;

(3) If the lost, stolen, destroyed, mutilated or defaced security is one which by the provisions of law or by the terms of its issue is transferable only by operation of law;

(4) If the owner or holder is the United States or an officer or employee thereof in his official capacity, a State, the District of Columbia, a Territory or possession of the United States, a municipal corporation or political subdivision of any of the foregoing, a corporation the whole of whose capital is owned by the United States, a foreign government, or a Federal Reserve Bank.

§ 306.114 Mutilated or defaced securities. If a mutilated or defaced security is presented to the Treasury Department for any authorized transaction and the Secretary of the Treasury is satisfied as to the ownership and identity of the security and that any missing portions are not sufficient to form the basis of a valid claim against the United States, its value to the owner will not be considered as impaired, and it will be honored accordingly. Mutilated or defaced securities should be forwarded to the Bureau of the Public Debt, Division of Loans and Currency, Washington 25, D. C. No allowance will be made for missing interest coupons. If the security has been mutilated or defaced to the extent that its value to the owner must be considered impaired, relief may be possible under § 306.109 or § 306.112.

§ 306.115 Loss, theft, destruction, mutilation or defacement of detached interest coupons. There is no authority of law for relief on account of the loss, theft or destruction of detached interest coupons. Paid interest coupons are not assorted or recorded by the serial numbers of the bonds to which they relate. Accordingly, the Treasury Department can not enter any stoppages against payment of lost, stolen or destroyed detached coupons, and can not undertake to advise the owner whether any such coupons have been paid. In cases where interest coupons have been partially destroyed, mutilated or defaced, but the remaining portions can be fully identified by loan, interest, due date and amount, and the missing fragments could not by any possibility form the basis of a valid claim against the United States, relief may be granted upon the surrender of the remaining portions of the coupons to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington 25, D. C., accompanied by satisfactory proof as to the ownership of the coupons.

§ 306.116 Loss, theft or destruction of restrictively endorsed bearer securities. Relief on account of the loss, theft or destruction of bearer securities which have been restrictively endorsed by banks strictly in accordance with the provisions of the regulations in Part 328 of this chapter (Department Circular No. 853 [*]) will be given pursuant to an application therefor on Form PD 2211. Banks, as therein defined, are authorized to place restrictive endorsements on the face of bearer securities owned by themselves or their customers but only in connection with the presentation thereof to a Federal Reserve Bank or the Treasury

[*] These regulations have no application whatever to registered securities.

Department for payment at maturity or pursuant to a call for redemption or for exchange pursuant to an optional exchange offering. A bond of indemnity will be required as a condition of relief on account of the loss, theft, or destruction of the securities, but surety thereon will ordinarily be dispensed with if the bond is executed by the presenting bank.

§ 306.117 Nontransferables. The provisions of this subpart, with the exception of those §§ 306.109, 306.110, 306.115, and 306.116, shall apply to Treasury Bonds, Investment Series, and to Treasury Savings Notes: Provided, That the references in §§ 306.111 and 306.112 relating to transfer and delivery are not applicable and the references to assignment as applied to 2½ percent Treasury Bonds, Investment Series A–1965, and to Treasury Savings Notes shall be deemed to refer to a request for payment or authorized reissue: And provided further, That § 306.113 (b) (3) does not apply to Treasury Bonds, Investment Series B.

SUBPART M—MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 306.120 Additional requirements. In any case arising under these regulations the Secretary of the Treasury may require such proof, additional proof, or bond of indemnity with satisfactory surety, as may in his judgment be necessary for the protection of the interests of the United States.

§ 306.121 Waiver of regulations. The Secretary of the Treasury reserves the right, in his discretion, to waive or modify any provision or provisions of the regulations in this part in any particular case or class of cases for the convenience of the United States or in order to relieve any person or persons of unnecessary hardship, if such action would not be inconsistent with law, would not impair any existing rights, and if he is satisfied that such action would not subject the United States to any substantial expense or liability.

§ 306.122 Forms. The forms mentioned in the regulations in this part are those currently provided for the purposes specified. The references to certain forms shall be construed to apply to any forms which may hereafter be provided for the same purposes.

§ 306.123 Acceptance of securities of United States as security for public purposes. Regulations prescribed pursuant to law governing the acceptance of designated classes of securities of the United States by public officers of the United States for certain purposes are set forth in other Treasury Department Circulars, as follows:

(a) As security for special deposits of public moneys, in Part 203 of this chapter (Circular No. 92 (revised)).

(b) As security for deposits of public moneys in general depositaries and limited to depositaries, in Part 202 of this chapter (Circular No. 176, as amended).

(c) In lieu of surety or sureties on penal bonds required by the laws of the United States, in Part 225 of this chapter (Circular No. 154 (revised)).

§ 306.124 Repeal of previous circulars subject to existing rights. Treasury Department Circular No. 300, dated July 31, 1923, as amended and supplemented, and Department Circular No. 666, dated July 21, 1941, (Part 307 of this chapter) are hereby repealed and superseded, except that nothing contained in the regulations in this part shall be construed to limit or restrict any existing rights which holders of securities heretofore issued may have acquired under the circulars offering such securities for sale or under the regulations in force at the time of acquisition.

§ 306.125 Supplements, amendments or revisions. The Secretary of the Treasury may at any time, or from time to time prescribe additional supplemental, amendatory or revised rules and regulations with respect to United States securities.

Compliance with the notice, public procedure, and effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act (Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong.; 60 Stat. 237) is found to be unnecessary with respect to this amendment which does not affect existing rights (see § 306.124) and comes within Sec. 4 (2) of the Administrative Procedure Act, 60 Stat. 238; 5 U. S. C. 1003 (2).

[SEAL] W. RANDOLPH BURGESS,

APPENDIX—COMPUTATION OF INTEREST ON TREASURY BONDS, TREASURY NOTES, AND TREASURY CERTIFICATES OF INDEBTEDNESS, AND COMPUTATION OF DISCOUNT ON TREASURY BILLS

TREASURY BONDS, TREASURY NOTES, AND TREASURY CERTIFICATES OF INDEBTEDNESS

Computation of Interest on an Annual Basis

1 day's interest is 1/365 or 1/366 of 1 year's interest

Computation of interest will be made on an annual basis in all cases where interest is payable in one amount for the full term of the security, unless such term is an exact quarter-year (3 months) or an exact half-year (6 months), when it is provided that interest shall be computed on a quarterly or semiannual basis, respectively.

If the term of the securities is exactly one year, the interest is computed for the full period at the specified rate, regardless of the number of days in such period.

If the term of the securities is less than one full year, the annual interest period for purposes of computation is considered to be the full year from but not including the date of issue to and including the anniversary of such date.

If the term of the securities is more than one full year, computation is made on the basis of one full annual interest period, ending with the maturity date, and a fractional part of the preceding full annual interest period.

The computation of interest for any fractional part of an annual interest period is made on the basis of 365 actual days in any such period, or 366 days if February 29 falls within such annual period.

Computation of Interest on a Semiannual Basis

1 day's interest is 1/181, 1/182, 1/183 or 1/184 of ½ year's interest

Computation of interest will be made on a semiannual basis in all cases where interest is payable for one or more full half-year (six months) periods, or for one or more full half-year periods and a fractional part of a half-year period. A semiannual interest period is an exact half-year or six months, for computation purposes, and may comprise 181, 182, 183, or 184 actual days.

An exact half-year's interest at the specified rate is computed for each full period of exactly six months, irrespective of the actual number of days in the half-year.

If the initial interest covers a fractional part of a half-year, computation is made on the basis of the actual number of days in the half-year (exactly six months) ending on the day such initial interest becomes due. If the initial interest covers a period in excess of six months, computation is made on the basis of one full half-year period, ending with the interest due date, and a fractional part of the preceding full half-year period.

Interest for any fractional part of a full half-year period is computed on the basis of the exact number of days in the full period, including February 29 whenever it falls within such a period.

The number of days in any half-year period is shown in the following table:

For the half-year		Number of days
Beginning from the 1st or 15th day of—	Ending on the 1st or 15th day of—	Regular year	Leap year
January	July	181	182
February	August	181	182
March	September	184	184
April	October	183	183
May	November	184	184
June	December	183	183
July	January	184	184
August	February	184	184
September	March	181	182
October	April	182	183
November	May	181	182
December	June	182	183
1 year (any 2 consecutive half-years).		365	366

Computation of Interest on a Quarterly Basis

1 day's interest is 1/89, 1/90, 1/91, or 1/92 of ¼ year's interest

Computation of interest will be made on a quarterly basis in all cases where interest is payable for one or more full quarter-year periods, or for one or more full quarter-year periods and a fractional part of a quarter-year period.

A quarter-year interest period is an exact quarter-year of three months, and may comprise 89, 90, 91, or 92 days. An exact quarter-year's interest is computed for each full quarter-year period irrespective of the actual number of days in the quarter-year. For a fractional part of any quarter-year computation is on the basis of the actual number of days in such quarter-year (February 29 being included if it falls within any such quarter-year). If the initial interest covers a fractional part of a quarter-year (preceding a full quarter-year period), computation is on the basis of the actual number of days in the quarter-year (exactly three months) ending on the day such initial interest becomes due; if the final interest covers a fractional part of a quarter-year, (following a full quarter-year period) computation is on the basis of the actual number of days in the quarter-year beginning on the day such final interest begins to accrue and ending exactly three months thereafter. The number of days in any quarter-year period is shown in the following table:

For the half-year		Number of days
Beginning from the 1st or 15th day of—	Ending on the 1st or 15th day of—	Regular year	Leap year

Use of Interest Tables

In the appended tables decimals are set forth for use in computing interest for fractional parts of interest periods. The decimals cover interest on $1,000 for one day in each possible quarterly (table I), semiannual (table II), and annual (table III) interest period, at all rates of interest, in steps of 1/8 percent, from 1/8 to 6 percent. The amount of interest accruing on any date (for a fractional part of an interest period) on $1,000 face amount of any issue of Treasury bonds, Treasury notes, or Treasury certificates of indebtedness may be ascertained in the following way:

(1) The date of issue, the dates for the payment of interest, the basis (quarterly, semiannually or annual) upon which interest is computed, and the rate of interest (percent per annum) may be determined from the text of the security, or from the official circular governing the issue.

(2) Determine the interest period of which the fraction is a part, and calculate the number of days in the full period to determine the proper column to be used in selecting the decimal for one day's interest.

(3) Calculate the actual number of days in the fractional period from but not including the date of issue or the day on which the last preceding interest payment was made, to and including the day on which the next succeeding interest payment is due or the day as of which the transaction which terminates the accrual of additional interest is effected.

(4) Multiply the appropriate decimal (one day's interest on $1,000) by the number of days in the fractional part of the interest period. The appropriate decimal will be found in the appended table for interest payable quarterly, semiannually, or annually, as the case may be, opposite the rate borne by the security, and in the column showing the full interest period of which the fractional period is a part. (For interest on any other amount, multiply the amount of interest on $1,000 by the other amount expressed as a decimal of $1,000.)

TREASURY BILLS

The methods of computing discount rates on U. S. Treasury Bills are given below:

Computation will be made on an annual basis in all cases. The annual period for bank discount is a year of 360 days, and all computations of such discount for a fractional part of a year will be made on that basis. The annual period for true discount is one full year from but not including the date of issue to and including the anniversary of such date. Computation of true discount for a fractional part of a year will be made on the basis of 365 days in the year, or 366 days if February 29 falls within the year.

Bank Discount

The bank discount rate on a Treasury bill may be ascertained by (1) subtracting the sale price of the bill from its face value to obtain the amount of discount; (2) dividing the amount of discount by the number of days the bill is to run to obtain the amount of discount per day; (3) multiplying the amount of discount per day by 360 (the number of days in a commercial year of 12 months of 30 days each) to obtain the amount of discount per year; and (4) dividing the amount of discount per year by the face value of the bill to obtain the bank discount rate.

For example:

91-day bill, dated April 1, 1954, due July 1, 1954.

Principal amount, maturity value	$100.00
Price at issue, amount received	99.50
Amount of discount	.50

True Discount

The true discount rate on a Treasury bill may be ascertained by (1 and 2) obtaining the amount of discount per day by following the first two steps described under "Bank Discount"; (3) multiplying the amount of discount per day by the actual number of days in the year from date of issue (365 ordinarily, but 366 if February 29th of a leap year falls within the year from date of issue) to obtain the amount of discount per year; and (4) dividing the amount of discount per year by the sale price of the bill to obtain the true discount rate.

For example:

91-day bill, dated April 1, 1954, due July 1, 1954.

Principal amount, maturity value	$100.00
Price at issue, amount received	99.50
Amount of discount	.50

$0.50÷91×365÷$99.50=2.016 percent.

SUBPART—1955

EMERGENCY WIND EROSION CONTROL MEASURES

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture under sections 7–17 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, as amended, and Public Law 875, 81st Congress, the 1955 National Agricultural Conservation Program, approved July 1, 1954 (19 F. R. 4138), as amended August 3, 1954 (19 F. R. 4953), September 15, 1954 (19 F. R. 6059), October 25, 1954 (19 F. R. 6910), and March 1, 1955 (20 F. R. 1336), is further amended as follows:

A new § 1101.697 is added as follows:

§ 1101.697 Practice F–4: Emergency wind erosion control measures. (a) This practice is applicable only in counties designated by the Secretary as subject to damage by excessive wind erosion during 1955. Emergency conservation practices may be approved by the Administrator, ACPS, upon recommendation by the State and county committees and designated representatives of the Soil Conservation Service and Forest Service at both the State and county levels. Eligible measures shall be specified in the wording of the practice as approved for use in the county.

(b) The cost-share computed for any person for this practice shall not be increased in accordance with § 1101.630, and shall not be included with the cost-shares computed for such person for other practices in applying the maximum Federal cost-share limitation in § 1101.631. The total of all Federal cost-shares for this practice to any person with respect to farms and ranches in any one county shall not exceed the sum of $1,500, except that, with the written prior approval of the State committee, a higher maximum may be approved in individual cases upon justification by the farmer or rancher on the basis of exceptional need and his inability to otherwise carry out the work. The provisions of § 1101.643 shall not apply to cost-shares earned by the performance of this practice.

(c) Costs for this practice will be shared only if the practice is started after a date specified by the State committee, which shall not be earlier than January 1, 1955, and only if cost-sharing is requested by the farm or ranch operator before a date specified by the State committee, or before the date on which performance of the practice is started, whichever is the later. With the approval of the county committee, costs of performing this practice may be shared with farmers or ranchers who carry out eligible measures on their lands or, with the permission of the owners or operators of adjacent or nearby lands, on such adjacent or nearby lands.

(d) In cases where the farmer or rancher states in writing that he is unable to perform the practice to the needed extent unless a rate of cost-sharing in excess of 50 percent of the average cost of performing the practice is approved, the county committee, with the approval of the State committee, may approve a higher rate not in excess of the total cost of performing the practice.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 8 issued under 49 Stat. 1985–87, as amended, sec. 1, 57 Stat. 45, as amended, 65 Stat. 59; 46 U. S. C. 1111–1114, 50 U. S. C. App. 1291, 46 U. S. C. 1241a.

SECTION 1. What this order does. With respect to officers and members of crews (hereafter in this order referred to as "seamen") employed on vessels as employees of the United States through the Office of National Shipping Authority, Maritime Administration, or successor Office, this order prescribes rules and regulations pertaining to (a) the filing of claims designated in section 3 of this order and (b) the administrative allowance or disallowance, actual and presumed) of such claims, in whole or in part.

SEC. 2. Statutory provisions. (a) In connection with the Vessel Operations Revolving Fund created for the purpose of carrying out the vessel operating functions of the Secretary of Commerce, the Third Supplemental Appropriation Act, 1951 (Public Law 45, 82d Congress; 65 Stat. 59; 46 U. S. C. 1241a) provides in part:

> That the provisions of sections 1 (a), 1 (c), 3 (c), and 4 of Public Law 17, Seventy-eighth Congress (57 Stat. 45), as amended, shall be applicable in connection with such operations and to seamen employed through general agents as employees of the United States, who may be employed in accordance with customary commercial practices in the maritime industry, notwithstanding the provisions of any law applicable in terms to the employment of persons by the United States.

(b) Section 1 (a) of Public Law 17, 78th Congress (57 Stat. 45; 50 U. S. C. App. 1291 (a)), as amended, provides:

> That (a) officers and members of crews (hereinafter referred to as "seamen") employed on United States or foreign flag vessels as employees of the United States through the War Shipping Administration shall, with respect to (1) laws administered by the Public Health Service and the Social Security Act as amended by subsection (b) (2) and (3) of this section; (2) death, injuries, illness, maintenance and cure, loss of effects, detention, or repatriation, or claims arising therefrom not covered by the foregoing clause (1); and (3) collection of wages and bonuses and making of allotments, have all of the rights, benefits, exemptions, privileges, and liabilities, under law applicable to citizens of the United States employed as seamen on privately owned and operated American vessels. * * *. Claims arising under clause (1) hereof shall be enforced in the same manner as such claims would be enforced if the seamen were employed on a privately owned and operated American vessel. Any claim referred to in clause (2) or (3) hereof shall, if administratively disallowed in whole or in part, be enforced pursuant to the provisions of the Suits in Admiralty Act, notwithstanding the vessel on which the seaman is employed is not a merchant vessel within the meaning of such Act. * * *. When used in this subsection the term "administratively disallowed" means a denial of a written claim in accordance with rules or regulations prescribed by the Administrator, War Shipping Administration. When used in this subsection the terms "War Shipping Administration" and "Administrator, War Shipping Administration" shall be deemed to include the United States Maritime Commission with respect to the period beginning October 1, 1941, and ending February 11, 1942, and the term "seaman" shall be deemed to include any seaman employed as an employee of the United States through the War Shipping Administration on vessels made available to or subchartered to other agencies or departments of the United States.

(c) The functions of the War Shipping Administrator and War Shipping Administration were transferred for liquidation purposes by Title II of Public Law 492, 79th Congress (60 Stat. 501) to the United States Maritime Commission and, on August 20, 1949, by Reorganization Plan No. 6 of 1949 (63 Stat. 1069) to the Chairman of said Commission; certain of the functions of the United States Maritime Commission and of its Chairman were transferred on May 24, 1950, by Part II of Reorganization Plan No. 21 of 1950 (64 Stat. 1273, 1276; 46 U. S. C. 1111-1114) to the Secretary of Commerce, and thereafter redelegated by the Secretary of Commerce to the Maritime Administrator (Department Order No. 117 (Amended), Manual of Orders, Department of Commerce); vessel operating functions have been redelegated by the Maritime Administrator to the Director, Office of National Shipping Authority, Maritime Administration (Administrator's Order No. 11 (Amended), Manual of Orders, Federal Maritime Board/Maritime Administration).

SEC. 3. Claims required to be submitted for administrative action prior to suit. All claims specified in subsections (2) and (3) of section 1 (a) of Public Law 17, 78th Congress, quoted in section 2 (b) of this order, must be submitted for administrative consideration, as provided in sections 4 and 5 of this order, prior to institution of court action thereon.

SEC. 4. Form and contents of claim. The claim need not follow any particular form, but it shall be in writing, shall be designated as a claim, shall show that the object sought is the administrative allowance of the claim, shall comply with the requirements of this order, and shall be filed as provided in section 5 of this order. Court actions filed against General Agents contrary to the provisions of section 5 of the Suits in Admiralty Act, as amended by Public Law 877, 81st Congress, (64 Stat. 1112; 46 U. S. C. 745) will not constitute a compliance with the requirements of this order. The claim shall contain facts sufficient to constitute a basis for the examination, consideration, and administrative allowance or disallowance of such claim and shall include, with respect to the seaman involved, the name of the vessel on which he was serving at the time the claim arose, the seaman's name, his certificate or identification number, his mail address and legal residence if different, date and place of birth, and the year, month, day and hour when and the particular locality where the cause of the claim occurred, together with the facts and circumstances leading up to and surrounding the event out of which such claim arose. This order does not require that the claim be sworn to by the claimant; however, it is subject to Title 18, United States Code, sections 287, 1001 (62 Stat. 698, 749) and other penal laws which pertain to making any false, fictitious or fraudulent claims, statements or entries, or to falsifying, concealing or covering up a material fact in any matter within the jurisdiction of any Department or Agency of the United States. If injury, illness, or death is involved, the claimant shall attach copies of all pertinent clinical records and reports when the claim is filed; in the event that any of such records or reports are not then available to the claimant for attaching, he shall authorize the Maritime Administration in writing to obtain such information, clinical records and reports from the hospitals or physicians who examined or treated the seaman in connection with the injury, illness or death. Said authorization shall include the names and addresses of the hospitals and physicians concerned.

SEC. 5. Filing of claims. (a) Claims may be filed by or on behalf of season or their surviving dependents, beneficiaries or legal representatives. Claims shall be filed either by personal delivery or by registered mail.

(b) Every claim (except claims which shall be filed with the Chief, Division of Insurance, Maritime Administration, as provided in paragraph (c) of this section) shall be filed with the General Agent of the vessel with respect to which such claim arose, or with the Director, Office of National Shipping Authority, Maritime Administration, Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C.

(c) A claim based upon any insurance policy issued by the Maritime Administration (except claims for loss of or damage to personal effects if the seaman is alive, bonuses, detention and repatriation benefits) shall be filed with the Chief, Division of Insurance, Maritime Administration, Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C.

SEC. 6. Notice of allowance or disallowance. The General Agent, the Director, Office of National Shipping Authority, or the Chief, Division of Insurance, Maritime Administration, as the case may be, shall give prompt notice in writing of the allowance or disallowance of each claim, in whole or in part, by mail to the last known address of, or by personal delivery to, the claimant or his legal representative. In the case of administrative disallowance, in whole or in part, such notice shall contain a brief statement of the reason for such disallowance.

SEC. 7. Presumed disallowance. If written notice of allowance or disallowance of a claim is not given in accordance with section 6 of this order within sixty days following the date of the receipt of such claim by the proper office as designated in section 5 of this order, such claim shall be presumed to have been "administratively disallowed" as provided in section 1 (a) of Public Law 17, 78th Congress, quoted in section 2 (b) of this order.

SEC. 8. Court action. No seaman or his surviving dependents or his beneficiaries or his legal representatives, having a claim specified in subsections (2) and (3) of section 1 (a) of Public Law 17, 78th Congress, quoted in section 2 (b) of this order, shall institute a court action for the enforcement of such claim unless such claim shall have been prepared and filed in accordance with sections 4 and 5 of this order and shall have been administratively disallowed in accordance with section 6 or section 7 of this order.

This order shall be effective upon date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Because this order contains rules and regulations which should be made effective at the earliest date to implement the cited statutory provisions, it is hereby found, upon good cause, that notice and public procedure thereon and postponement of the effective date thereof until 30 days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) are impracticable and contrary to the public interest.

Approved: April 7, 1955.

Director,
Office of National Shipping Authority.

(1) Shipments requiring a validated license. A validated license therefor has been presented to the Collector, and a related duly executed Shipper's Export Declaration, covering such commodity or technical data, has been presented to, and authenticated by, the Collector.

(2) Shipments under a general license. A duly executed Declaration, consistent with the provisions of an applicable general license, has been presented to, and authenticated by, the Collector. Where the filing of a Declaration is not required, an oral declaration describing the commodity or technical data about to be exported and the applicable general license shall be made to the Collector at the port of exit.

(b) Exportations by mail—(1) Shipments requiring a validated license—(i) General requirements. No person shall export any commodity or any technical data by means of mail, including surface and air parcel post, until (a) a validated license therefor has been presented to the Postmaster at the place of mailing, together with a related duly executed Declaration covering the commodity or technical data to be so mailed, whether or not required by the regulations of the Bureau of the Census, and until (b) the sender (exporter) has entered the complete validated license number on the address side of the wrapper on the package.

(ii) Partial shipments. (a) Where more than one shipment is to be made against a validated license, the sender (exporter) shall file the license with a Collector (instead of surrendering the license to the Postmaster) and present to such Collector for authentication a copy of the Declaration covering each shipment. The authenticated Declaration, in addition to the Declaration required under subsection (i) of this subparagraph, shall be surrendered to the Postmaster at the time of mailing.

(b) A shipment by mail against a license on file with a Collector may be exported on or before the license expiration date indicated by the Collector on the authenticated Declaration. Where the mail shipment is not made within this period and the validity period of the export license has been extended by amendment in accordance with the provisions of § 380.2 of this subchapter the exporter shall prepare and present to the Collector for authentication a new copy of the Declaration, clearly marked "Amended", together with the previously authenticated Declaration. The previously authenticated Declaration will be retained by the Collector and the amended Declaration, if authenticated, will be returned to the exporter for presentation to the Postmaster.

(2) Shipments under a general license—(i) General requirements. Where no validated license is required, the sender (exporter) shall present to the Postmaster at the place of mailing a duly executed Declaration, when required by subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph, containing the symbol of the appropriate general license under which the commodity or technical data may be exported, and shall place such symbol on the address side of the wrapper, followed by the words "Export License Not Required". The general license symbol and the legend will constitute a certification by the sender to the Postmaster and to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce that a validated license is not required for the shipment.

(ii) Commercial mail shipments. A Declaration shall be presented for commercial mail shipments being made under a general license from one business concern to another business concern, if the value of the shipment is $25 or more.[2]

NOTE 1. Post Office Regulations. All exportations via mail should also conform to the applicable Post Office Department regulations as to size, weight, permissible contents, etc. Such exportations are subject to inspection by the Post Office Department and the Bureau of Customs.

2. Gift parcels. If the sender is shipping a gift parcel under the provisions of the general license for gift parcels, he must place the word "Gift" on the customs declaration tag as well as the words "Gift—Export License Not Required" on the address side of the wrapper. In this instance, the word "Gift" is the general license symbol. (See § 371.23 of this subchapter.)

3. Weekly shipments. Only one shipment per calendar week of a commodity classified in a single entry on the Positive List may be made by parcel post or mail under General License GLV by one exporter to one importer. (See § 371.19 (b) (1) of this subchapter.)

4. Partial shipments. The procedures for obtaining separate or additional licenses when making partial shipments by mail are set forth in § 372.5 (h) of this subchapter.

(c) When exporting by means other than by water, air, or mail. No person shall export any commodity or technical data by means other than by water, air, or mail, until (1) a validated license, where required by the provisions of the Export Regulations, has been presented to the Collector at the port of exit from the United States and until (2) a duly executed Declaration covering the commodity or technical data has been presented prior to inspection together with the related license to, and authenticated by, the Collector. Where no validated license is required, a duly executed Declaration consistent with the provisions of an applicable general license shall be presented for authentication, prior to inspection, to the Collector at the port of exit. Where the filing of a Shipper's Export Declaration is not required, an oral declaration, including a description of the commodity or technical data to be exported and the applicable general license, shall be made to the Collector at the port of exit.

§ 379.2 Presentation and use of validated license[3]—(a) Licenses valid for shipment from any port. A license may be used for exportation from the United States from any port of exit subject to the jurisdiction of the United States, unless the Bureau of Foreign Commerce shall otherwise provide.

(b) Signature on licenses. The export license document, Form IT– or FC–628, presented to the Collector or Postmaster, must bear on the reverse side thereof the following signatures:

(1) Licensee. At the top left, on the line reading "Signature of licensee", the signature of the licensee, by himself, or for him by a duly authorized officer, employee, or agent.

(2) Person presenting license. At the top right, on the line reading "Signature of person presenting license", the signature of the licensee or of an officer or employee of either the licensee or the forwarding agent who is authorized to sign and swear to the Declaration accompanying such license. This signature may be affixed either in the presence of the Collector or outside the customhouse.

(c) Filing of license at time of first shipment. All validated licenses (except Project Licenses and Project Technical Data Licenses) must be presented to and filed with the Collector before any commodity or technical data is loaded, presented for loading, deposited on a dock or other place of loading, or carried onto an exporting carrier; except that in the case of shipments to be made by mail, the validated license shall be presented to the Postmaster or to the Collector when the Declaration covering the first shipment is presented for exportation under that license.

(d) Subsequent shipments from port where license filed. If only a partial shipment is made thereunder, the validated export license will be appropriately endorsed and held by the Collector until complete shipment is made or until the license expires. On any subsequent shipments under that license from the same port, duly executed Declarations shall be presented for authentication, as provided in this part.

(e) Simultaneous or subsequent shipments from other ports—(1) Transmittal of approval. If part of the licensed shipment is to be made from another port, the licensee shall request the Collector holding the license to transmit to the Collector at the intended port of exit approval for the intended shipment. Upon granting the approval, the Collector holding the license will endorse the license to record the facts as to the intended shipment. On any shipment made pursuant to such approval, duly executed Declarations shall be presented to the Collector at the port from which the shipment is to be made, as provided in this part. In case full or partial shipment is not made from the intended port (in accordance with the approval), the licensee or his agent may initiate action for the modification or deletion of the Collector's endorsement of the intended shipment. Such action may be initiated in the following manner:

(i) License in possession of Collector. If the license is still in the possession of the Collector (whether or not the license would have been completed by the intended shipment), the licensee or his agent shall request the Collector to whom the approval was sent to notify the Collector holding the license to make an amendment of his previous endorsement of the intended shipment.

(ii) License returned by Collector to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce. If the license has been returned by the Collector to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, an application for a new license may be submitted to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce covering the quantity not shipped, together with a letter explaining the facts and identifying the Collector to whom the approval was sent.

(2) Transmittal of license. As an alternative to the notification procedure set forth above, the Collector holding the license is authorized to transmit the license by mail to the Collector at another intended port of exit, upon written request by the licensee stating that the license will no longer be used at the port at which the license is deposited.

(3) Exceptions. The procedure set forth above in this paragraph shall not be applicable to licenses which specify that shipment is authorized for clearance at a particular port of exit.

(f) Shipments against expiring license—(1) Commodities or technical data ready for loading or laden. Commodities or technical data which are (i) laden aboard the exporting carrier or (ii) ready for lading and located on a pier for the purpose of lading prior to midnight of the expiration date of a license, and not for the purpose of storage, may depart with the vessel even though the vessel does not clear until after the expiration date of the license. Furthermore, where the vessel is expected to be available at the pier for loading in advance of the expiration of the license, but exceptional and unforeseen circumstances delay it, the commodities or technical data may be exported without an extension of the validity period of the license, if in the judgment of the Collector undue hardship would otherwise result.

(2) Commodities or technical data in transit to port of exit. Commodities or technical data in transit to the port of exit prior to midnight of the date of expiration of the validated license covering the shipment may be cleared for export, at the discretion of the Collector, within 5 days following the expiration date of

[1] The attention of United States purchasers is directed to the Transaction Control Regulations of the U. S. Treasury Department (31 CFR 505.01 to 505.60). These regulations prohibit persons within the United States from purchasing or selling, or arranging the purchase or sale, without a Treasury Department license, of any merchandise in any foreign country when the transaction involves a shipment from any foreign country to any Iron Curtain destination, of merchandise included in the Positive List (Part 399 of this subchapter) followed by the letter "A", or of a type prohibited by any of the several regulations referred to in § 370.4 of this subchapter.

The attention of purchasers is also directed to the Foreign Assets Control Regulations of the U. S. Treasury Department (31 CFR 500.101 to 500.808). These regulations prohibit persons subject to the jurisdiction of the United States from engaging in any unlicensed transactions with Communist China, North Korea, or nationals thereof, or in any unlicensed transactions involving property in which Communist China, North Korea, or nationals thereof have, or have had, any interest, direct or indirect, since December 17, 1950. The Foreign Assets Control Regulations also prohibit persons subject to the jurisdiction of the United States from engaging in any unlicensed transaction with respect to merchandise outside the United States if such merchandise is of Communist Chinese or North Korean origin, or is Chinese type merchandise specified in the regulations.

[1] Except as provided by § 379.2 (e).

[2] This rule is also contained in the regulations issued by the Bureau of Census.

[3] Provisions relating to the export clearance of technical data under a validated license are set forth in § 385.4 (g) of this subchapter.

the license if the shipment qualifies under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph. The Collector may require the exporter to submit a Bill of Lading or other evidence that the shipment was in transit to the port of exit prior to the expiration date of the license and was delayed in transit.

(3) Other shipments. Licensed shipments not coming within one of the foregoing provisions may not be exported except by extension of the validity period of the license by the Bureau of Foreign Commerce.

(g) Reexportation under license previously granted—(1) Shipments returned to the United States. Shipments which are returned to the United States because of failure or inability of the exporting carrier to deliver the shipment at its intended destination may be reexported to the consignee and destination to which the shipment was originally made without the procurement of a new license: Provided, That satisfactory evidence of the validity of the original exportation is submitted to a Collector.

(2) Evidence required. Such evidence may consist of a copy of the original Declaration or the exporting carrier's outward manifest, or such other evidence as the Collector may require. If the commodities or technical data are reexported to other than the original consignee, they must be treated as new exportations and are subject to current regulations of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce regarding the specific commodity or technical data.

(h) Weight and volume tolerance—(1) 10 percent tolerance. For all commodities requiring an export license, unless otherwise specified in such license, a 10 percent tolerance by weight or volume over the amount specified in the license is allowed, except as listed below in this section:

Commodities	Tolerance
Raw cotton except linters (Schedule B Nos. 300005 through 300312) (pounds or bales).	2 percent.
Sulfur, crude (containing 85 percent or more sulfur), crushed, ground, refined, sublimed, and flowers (Schedule B Nos. 571410 and 571500).	1 percent.
Medicinal and pharmaceutical preparations with processing codes DRUG and ACID, other than radium salts and compounds, Schedule B No. 829940 (Schedule B Nos. 811100 through 818000).	1 percent.

(2) Unit of quantity covered. (i) This tolerance is allowed only when the unit of quantity called for on the license is in the following weight or volume terms:

Avoirdupois ounce.	M (1,000) board feet.
Bale.	Milligram.
Barrel.	Oxford Unit.
Bushel.	Pound.
Content pound.	Proof gallon.
Cubic foot.	Short ton (2,000 pounds).
Gallon.	Square foot.
Gram.	Square yard.
Hundredweight (100 pounds).	Troy ounce.
Linear foot.	U. S. P. unit.
Linear yard.
Long ton (2,240 pounds).

(ii) The weight and tolerance provisions of this section shall not apply to the following units of quantity:

Carat.	Pencil gross.
Cell.	Piece.
Dozen.	Ream.
Gross.	Roll.
Number.	Round.
Pack.	Set.
Pair.	Square.

(3) Maximum tolerance allowed. (i) In all cases, the tolerance shall be allowed on the basis of the actual quantity stated in the license; and in no case shall the tolerance exceed 10 percent of such quantity.

(ii) For example:

(a) If the quantity shown on the license is "100,000 pounds," not more than 110,000 pounds may be exported.

(b) If the quantity shown on the license is "100,000 pounds 10 percent more or less," not more than 110,000 pounds may be exported.

(c) If the quantity shown on the license is "approximately 100,000 pounds," not more than 110,000 pounds may be exported.

(iii) Where an amount equivalent to the quantity stated on the license has been shipped, no further shipment may be made under the license.

(4) Commodities licensed in both container and weight or volume units. (i) Where commodities are licensed in terms of both standard-size container units and weight or volume units, the tolerance is allowed on the total weight or volume licensed; provided that the number of standard-size container units shall not be increased over the number thereof stated in the license.

(ii) For example: If the license authorized the shipment of 10,000 pounds of a commodity in twenty 500-pound drums, that license may be used to clear an exportation of not more than 11,000 pounds in not more than twenty such drums.

(5) Partial shipments. Whenever one or more partial shipments of the licensed commodity have been made, the 10 percent tolerance is allowed only on the unshipped balance, except that in the case of shipments of iron and steel products (processing code STEE), and tinplate (processing code TNPL), the tolerance of 10 percent, and in the case of raw cotton, except linters, the tolerance of 2 percent, is allowed on the basis of the actual quantity stated in the license. Where an amount equivalent to the quantity stated on the license has been shipped, no further shipment may be made under the license.

NOTE 1. Tolerance. When there is a discrepancy in weight or volume within the tolerance allowance between the amount shown on the license and the amount actually shipped, the amount actually shipped shall be noted on the license by the Collector of Customs at the final port of exit before the license is returned to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce.

2. BLT shipments. When shipments are cleared against a BLT license, the applicable tolerance may be applied to the quantity approved for export to each single consignee; provided, however, that the total amount shipped against the license does not exceed the total amount approved for export plus 10 percent. In other words, the tolerance provisions may be applied on the amount approved for each consignee in the same manner and to the same extent as if he were the only consignee named in an individual license.

§ 379.3 Presentation of shipper's export declaration—(a) Definition of shipper's export declaration. "Shipper's Export Declaration" means Shipper's Export Declaration, Commerce Form 7525–V or Shipper's Export Declaration for In-transit Goods, Commerce Form 7513. The Declaration for in-transit goods should be used for all commodities:

(1) Shipped in transit through the United States.

(2) Transshipped in ports of the United States for foreign countries.

(3) Exported from General Order Warehouse.

(4) Exported from foreign trade zones (unless the Collector of Customs specifically permits the use of Commerce Form 7525–V).

(b) When required. Declarations shall be presented to the Collector at the port of exit, or to the Postmaster at the post office from which the shipment is mailed, in the number of copies specified in paragraph (c) of this section.

(c) Number of copies to be presented—(1) Where exporting by means other than mail. Three copies of the Declaration shall be required by the Collector at the port of exit, except in cases of shipments to Canada and shipments between the United States and its territories and possessions [4] for which only two copies are required, except as provided in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph.

(2) When mailing—(i) General. In the case of shipment by mail, one copy of the Declaration shall be presented to the Postmaster at the place of mailing [4] when: (a) The shipment is under a validated license, or (b) the shipment is of a commercial nature and its value is $25 and over.

(ii) Partial shipment against a validated license on file. In addition, as provided in § 379.1 (b) (1) (ii), when making a partial mail shipment against a license on file with a Collector, the sender (exporter) must present to the Postmaster a copy of the Declaration authenticated by the Collector with whom the license is filed.

(3) Additional copies of Declaration. The Bureau of Foreign Commerce, the Collector, or the Postmaster may require, for the purpose of export control, the presentation of additional copies of the Declaration. In all cases where a Declaration is required by the Export Regulations or the "Regulations for the Collection of Statistics of Foreign Commerce and Navigation of the United States," an additional copy of the Declaration shall be presented for exportations of the commodities listed below.[5] The additional copy shall bear the following notation in the upper right corner; "COMM–8".

[4] Shipments between the United States and Alaska or Hawaii do not require Declarations.

[5] This regulation includes shipments under a validated license, under a general license, and shipments to Canada.

601010–601099	Iron and steel scrap.
630050	Aluminum scrap (new and old).

709810–709885	Insulated wire and cable.

NOTE: For exports from the United States to foreign countries made in transit via Canada, the exporter shall present for authentication an additional copy of the Declaration in such cases.

(d) Separate declarations required where shipment is partly under general license and partly under validated license—(1) General. Commodities or technical data to be exported under the authority of a general license shall not be combined on the same Declaration with commodities or technical data to be exported under a validated license. Separate Declarations must be presented: one to cover the commodities or technical data under general license, the other to cover commodities or technical data under validated license.

(2) Exceptions. In the case of a shipment consisting of commodities and the containers therefor, where either of the commodities only or the containers only require a validated license, both the commodities and the containers shall be entered on the same Declaration.

(e) Special requirements—(1) Special requirements stated on the license. Where a particular validated license bears on the face thereof a requirement that specified documents or information (additional to that furnished at the time of application) be furnished, the licensee shall, at the time of or prior to presenting the Declaration to the Collector, write on or attach to all copies of the Declaration such specified information or documents, unless otherwise indicated on the license.

(2) Manner of submission of additional information and documents; additional copy of Declaration. (i) The information required by subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall be set out in columns (9) to (15) on all copies of the Declaration—one copy in addition to, and conforming to, the number of copies otherwise required—to be filed with the Collector for authentication. Unless otherwise specified on the face of the license, the documents required shall be attached to the additional copy of the Declaration and need be submitted in one copy only. The documents may be either original or certified copies.

(ii) All statements and documents submitted in accordance with the requirements of a license will be deemed to constitute representations of material facts within the purview of the regulations prohibiting the making of false representations to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce in any export control matter (§ 381.5 (b) of this subchapter).

(iii) The Collector will refuse to authenticate a Declaration in any case where the exporter fails to comply with the special requirements of a validated export license or does not possess the information or documents requested, unless, prior to presentation of the Declaration, the exporter has informed the Bureau of Foreign Commerce of the specific reason for his inability to comply and, for good cause shown, the Bureau of Foreign Commerce has in writing waived the requirement. The licensee will attach to and file with the license any letter of waiver in order to effect clearance of the shipment through Customs.

§ 379.4 Authentication of declarations—(a) Authentication requirement. All copies of Declarations which are required to be presented to Collectors must be authenticated by the Collector at the port of exit (see § 379.3 (b)). No Collector shall authenticate a Declaration unless he is satisfied, after comparing it with the applicable validated export license or general license, as the case may be, and with such other relevant information as he may have, that (1) exportation of the commodity or commodities described in such Declaration is authorized under such license; (2) that the statements in such Declaration are identical in all respects with the contents of the validated export license, or the terms, provisions, and conditions of the general license; (3) that the statements in such Declaration are set forth in such manner as to permit all Collectors or other authorized officials or persons to whom the Declaration may thereafter be exhibited or delivered in connection with the exportation to determine whether the said exportation complies with the contents of the validated export license, or the terms, provisions, and conditions of the general license; and (4) that the shipment is or will be available for inspection and has not been loaded on an exporting carrier.

(b) Information required for authentication. No Declaration shall be authenticated by a Collector unless there are set forth in such Declaration, and in all copies thereof required to be presented to the Collector:

(1) The name and address of the exporter, who shall be the licensee named in a validated export lisense or entitled to export under a general license. On a Declaration covering exportations under a validated license, the answer to Item 3 shall correspond to the corporation partnership, or individual named as the applicant-licensee (exporter) on Form IT– or FC–419.

(2) The name and address of the forwarding agent, if any, duly authorized by the exporter.

(3) The name and address of any intermediate consignee, whether or not named on the license application or on the validated license.

(4) All of the other data required to be shown on the Declaration form.

NOTE: 1. Optional ports of unlading. In a case where, prior to the departure of the exporting carrier, an exporter does not know which of several countries is the country of ultimate destination of a commodity being exported under General License GRO or GO, the exporter may name on the Declaration and Bill of Lading as ultimate destination optional ports of unlading, even when more than one foreign country is involved. As soon as the exporter ascertains the actual country of ultimate destination, Correction Form FT–7403 should be filed with the Collector at the port of exit where the original Shipper's was filed, specifying the actual port of unlading, the actual country of ultimate destination, and the name and address of the buyer to whom delivery is made. If the exportation is consigned to more than one country of ultimate destination, Correction Form FT–7403 should indicate the amount (quantity and value) consigned to each country of ultimate destination.

When an exportation under any general license is shipped in transit through a country other than the country of ultimate destination, the exporter may designate optional ports of unlading in one or more countries, together with the name and address of the intermediate consignee in each of the countries designated. Optional ports of unlading, in all cases, must be located in a country to which the commodity may be shipped directly from the United States under the same or another applicable general license.

In the case of exportations made under a validated license, optional ports of unlading in the country of ultimate destination only may be designated on the Declaration and Bill of Lading, unless the export license designates intermediate consignees in one or more countries other than the country of ultimate destination. In the latter case, the optional ports of unlading must be designated as optional in-transit points on the Declaration and Bill of Lading in accordance with the validated license. Amendment of the validated license is required if an intermediate consignee in any of the designated countries is not named on the export license, as provided in § 380.2 (c) of this subchapter.

On any exportation, as soon as the exporter ascertains at which port the commodities are to be unloaded, whether located in the country of ultimate destination or in a country of transit, Correction Form FT–7403 should be filed with the Collector at the port of exit where the original Declaration was filed, specifying the actual port of unlading and the name and address of the intermediate consignee, if any, to whom delivery is made. An intermediate consignee must be specified if the port of unlading is located in a country other than the country of ultimate destination. If the exportation is unloaded at more than one port, Correction Form FT–7403 should indicate the amount (quantity and value) unloaded at each port, and the name and address of each intermediate consignee employed in the transaction.

In all of the above instances, the Bureau of Customs, in accordance with Customs clearance regulations (19 CFR 4.60 (a) of Customs Regulations of 1943), requires that the carrier must have other cargo on board to be discharged at one of the optional ports named in each country and such carrier must be cleared accordingly.

In no event does the aforementioned procedure apply to any shipment destined directly or indirectly to Hong Kong, Macao, or Subgroup A destinations. This interpretation does not change or modify the provision of § 384.5 of this subchapter relating to the exportation of fresh fruit, fresh vegetables, and cut flowers to Hong Kong or Macao, nor does it change or modify the provisions of the Note following § 384.5 of this subchapter relating to shipments manifested for Singapore or other ports outside Hong Kong, Macao, or Subgroup A destinations, proceeding through Hong Kong only for the purpose of exchanging Bills of Lading.

2. Shipments to redistribution points under General License GRO. Where a shipment is made to a free zone or other redistribution point pursuant to the provisions of General License GRO, the redistribution point and the specific certification provided in § 371.8 (c) of this subchapter shall be shown on the Declaration and related Bill of Lading.

3. Applicant-licensee (exporter). On a Declaration (Commerce Form 7525–V) covering exportations under a validated license, the answer to item 3 shall correspond to the corporation, partnership, or individual named as the applicant-licensee (exporter) on Form IT- or FC-419. However, the answer to item 3 of Form 7525–V may correspond to the name of the foreign principal shown on Form IT- or FC-419 if the corporation, partnership, or individual that is in fact the exporter is not subject to the jurisdiction of the United States. In the absence of such identity, the export license does not cover the proposed exportation.

(c) Commodity descriptions—(1) Basket commodity descriptions. (i) As used in this paragraph, "basket classification" means those Schedule B commodity classifications in the 1952 edition of Schedule B, as amended, which call for the shipper to "specify by name," "specify by type," etc., the items included in the shipment under those commodity numbers. A detailed description shall be set forth on the applicable Declaration for commodities falling within the Department of Commerce Schedule B commodity basket classifications, in addition to all other data required to be shown on such Declaration.

(ii) In those cases where there are a substantial number of items included in a single export shipment under one basket classification, exporters may set forth the detailed descriptions of only five of the items which represent the greatest proportion of the total dollar value under this single Schedule B basket classification. Separate dollar value, net quantity, and shipping weight information for individual items reported under one Schedule B basket classification are not required on the Declaration.

(2) Distinguishing characteristics or specifications. When shipment of a commodity is being made under a general license as a non-Positive List commodity and there is an entry on the Positive List for the same type of commodity and under the same Schedule B number, but with different specifications, capacities or other characteristics, the description of the commodity on the Declaration shall contain the distinguishing specification, capacity, or other characteristic, such as: rated horsepower, pressure, kilowatts, operating voltage, kilovolt amperes, etc. Such description shall be complete in all respects, including the exact specifications and/or composition of the commodity; for example: one resistance welder, single phase type, Schedule B No. 701032. If it is impractical to give the exact specifications and/or composition of the commodity, Collectors, at their discretion, may authorize exporters, in lieu thereof, to place the following certification on the Declaration:

This commodity does not come within the restricted specifications, characteristics and/or composition shown for this Schedule B number on page ---- dated -------- of the Positive List.

(d) Additional information required for in-transit goods. The following additional information shall be set forth on the Shipper's Export Declaration for In-transit Goods (Commerce Form 7513):

(1) The name and address of the intermediate consignee in a foreign destination, if any, must be shown below the description of the commodities across columns 1–6;

(2) Underneath the name and address of the intermediate consignee, also within columns 1–6, one of the following statements must be made, whichever is appropriate:

(i) For in-transit shipments of foreign merchandise (for definition of "foreign origin," see § 371.9 (a) of this subchapter):

The merchandise described herein is of foreign origin.

(ii) For in-transit shipments of domestic (United States) merchandise:

The merchandise described herein is of the growth, production, or manufacture of the United States.

(iii) For in-transit shipments of commodities of United States origin excepted under § 371.9 (a) (2) of this subchapter:

The merchandise described herein is of the growth, production, or manufacture of the United States, but comes within the exception granted by § 371.9 (a) (2) of this subchapter.

(3) The commodities to be exported shall be described in terms of Schedule B, including the appropriate Schedule B number, as well as in terms of Schedule S. The Schedule B number shall be entered in column 4 immediately underneath the Schedule S number.

NOTE: All shipments of merchandise for which the Shipper's Export Declaration for In-transit Goods is required (Commerce Form 7513) must be shown in terms of Schedule S as well as in terms of Schedule B. Schedule S numbers, by commodity groupings, are contained in Schedule S, Statistical Classification of Domestic and Foreign Merchandise Exported from the United States, obtainable without charge from the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce, Washington 25, D. C.

(e) Statement regarding ultimate destination. No Declaration shall be authenticated by a Collector unless the statement regarding ultimate destination, whenever required, has been entered on all copies of the Declaration as provided in § 379.10 (c).

(f) Forwarding agent—(1) Definition of "forwarding agent." For the purpose of this part, a "forwarding agent" shall be a person authorized by a named exporter to perform for the exporter actual services which facilitate exportation of the commodities described in the Declaration, such as preparing the Declaration, attending to clearance of the shipment by submission of documents to the Collector or export control officers, securing cargo space, or delivering the commodities to the exporting carrier, obtaining Bills of Lading in connection with the exportation, and attending to the formalities of consular invoices, certificates of origin, and other like documents; but such "forwarding agent" need not be a person regularly engaged in the freight forwarding business.

(2) Forwarding agent as true agent. Unless the exporter shall otherwise state in writing in the power of attorney set forth in the Declaration, or in a general power of attorney, or other written form, subscribed and sworn to by a duly authorized officer or employee, filed with the Collector, the forwarding agent named by the exporter in said power of attorney or other written form shall be deemed to be the true agent of the exporter for export control and customs purposes.

(g) Signature on Declaration. (1) The signature of the person making the declaration set forth on the Declaration form and taking the oath shown on said form (where oath is required) shall be that of the exporter or the forwarding agent named in the Declaration, or a duly authorized officer or employee of either. The signature of such person, whether or not under oath and whether or not that of the exporter or his duly authorized officer or employee, shall constitute a representation by the exporter that all statements made and all information set forth in such Declaration are true and correct. In addition, if the signature is that of the forwarding agent, or his duly authorized officer or employee, such signature shall constitute a like representation by the forwarding agent.

(2) Additional copies of the Declaration or copies of the continuation sheet form for such Declaration may be used where more space is required to prepare fully a Declaration. In all such cases, the Declaration need be signed and the oath taken (where required) on only one Declaration form. The additional copies or sheets must be numbered in sequence and securely attached to the executed Declaration form; and the following legend must be inserted between columns (9) and (15) of the executed Declaration form:

This Declaration consists of this sheet and ---- continuation sheets.

No portion of any form attached as a continuation sheet shall be torn off or removed.

(h) Statements on declaration. In all cases where a Declaration is presented to a Collector or Postmaster, the exporter shall be deemed thereby to represent (1) that all statements made and information set forth in the Declaration have been furnished by him or on his behalf for the purpose of effecting an exportation under the Export Regulations; (2) that the exportation of the commodity or commodities described in such Declaration is authorized under the general or validated export license therein identified; (3) that the statements contained in such Declaration are identical in all respects with the contents of the validated export license or the terms, provisions and conditions of the applicable general license; and (4) that all of the other terms, provisions, and conditions of the Export Regulations applicable to the exportation have been met.

(i) Who may submit Declaration for authentication. No person shall submit to the Collector for authentication any Declaration unless such person is the licensee or his carrier, the duly authorized forwarding agent of the licensee, or a duly authorized officer or employee of either.

(j) Rejection of Declarations. Collectors shall reject all Declarations which do not comply with the foregoing provisions of this part.

(k) Procedures for presentation of declaration for authentication. (1) Any Collector may, with the prior approval of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, institute and maintain any procedure for the presentation for authentication of Declarations, which shall provide in each case for the proper identification, and recording of the identity of the individuals who sign such Declaration and who appear before the Collector for such purpose.

(2) Collectors are specifically authorized to institute and maintain the following procedure for identification of persons submitting or presenting Declarations to the Collector:

(i) Identification cards. An exporter (licensee) effecting exportations without the services of a forwarding agent shall make application for and obtain from the appropriate Collector an Identification Card, as herein described, for each of his officers or employees who submit or present Declarations or licenses. Where a forwarding agent is employed by an exporter, the forwarding agent shall similarly apply for and obtain an Identification Card for each of his officers or employees who submit or present Declarations or licenses on behalf of an exporter. In addition, carriers, not otherwise acting as forwarding agents, who may, as provided in paragraph (i) of this section, deliver executed Declarations without specific authorization therefor, shall similarly apply for and obtain such Identification Cards. Applicants for Identification Cards shall be responsible for all Declarations executed and submitted in their names to Collectors through use of the Identification Card. Such Identification Card may be used only in the Customs district for which issued, by the person to whom issued, and is not transferable. Application must be made on Customs Form 3139, "Application for Identification Card of Authorized Forwarding Agent or Exporter", and the Identification Card to be issued shall be Customs Form 3141, "Identification Card of Authorized Forwarding Agent or Exporter or Employee Thereof." (See Supplements S–6 and S–7 for facsimiles of these forms.)

(ii) Waiver of identification card requirement. In the case of exporters not regularly engaged in making exportations, Collectors may waive the Identification Card requirement where they are otherwise satisfied that the person submitting or presenting the Declaration is in fact the exporter (licensee) or is acting for and on behalf of such exporter.

(iii) Identification cards and power-of-attorney forms. Wherever the Identification Card procedure is instituted and maintained, it shall supersede any existing requirement of the Collector for filing a form of power-of-attorney executed by an exporter or forwarding agent, as the case may be, authorizing his officers or employees to sign, swear to, or submit Declarations.

(l) Changes, alterations, and amendments of Declaration prior to authentication. Collectors shall not, except in case of hardship or emergency, authenticate any Declaration showing evidence of change, alteration, or amendment, but shall require a clean copy. Where demonstrated cases of hardship or emergency exist in which Collectors find it desirable to make an exception, Collectors may approve on the face of the Declaration specific changes, alterations, or amendments. The duly authorized forwarding agent or carrier for an exporter may insert or correct in Declarations presented by him required items of information peculiarly within his own knowledge, such as the designation of the actual exporting carrier, the actual date of exportation, or the actual Schedule B number to which the commodity described in the Declaration unambiguously refers; but nothing herein shall relieve such forwarding agent or carrier from liability for any misrepresentation of facts so inserted or corrected. The forwarding agent or carrier making such insertion or correction must specifically identify the same in writing on the face of the Declaration.

NOTE: For changes, alterations, amendments of Declaration after authentication, see § 379.5 (b).

§ 379.5 Use of authenticated declaration—(a) Authenticated Declaration as export control document. When duly authenticated by the Collector at the port of exit, a Declaration shall be deemed to be a document, issued pursuant to the Export Regulations, evidencing the existence of a validated export license or permission for an exportation under an applicable general license. Such document may be used only by the exporter or his duly authorized forwarding agent for the purpose of clearing for exportation or otherwise facilitating or effecting the exportation of a commodity or commodities requiring a validated or general export license under the Export Regulations issued pursuant to the Export Control Law.

(b) Changes, alterations, amendments of authenticated declarations. No Declaration, used or intended to be used in connection with the exporation of any commodity or commodities requiring a validated or general export license, which shall have been authenticated by any Collector shall, at any time after such authentication, be changed, altered, or amended in any respect by any person without prior written authorization therefor set forth on such authenticated Declaration by the said Collector. However, where for any reason an exporting carrier designated in an authenticated Declaration cannot receive the shipment on board, the name and date of departure of another exporting carrier may be substituted by the steamship company, steamship agent, airline, railroad, motor vehicle company, or other person issuing Bills of Lading or similar documents of carriage for the carrier originally named, if due and timely notice of such change is given to the Collector prior to loading of the shipment onto the substitute carrier and such change is specifically identified in writing on the face of the Declaration by said steamship company, steamship agent, airline, railroad, motor vehicle company, or other person. No change, alteration or amendment may be authorized in any authenticated Declaration which would have the effect of authorizing shipment after the validity period of the applicable validated or general export license has expired or which would otherwise vary the terms, provisions, and conditions of such license.

NOTE: For changes of Declaration prior to authentication, see § 379.4 (l).

(c) Declarations showing unauthorized changes. No person to whom any authenticated Declaration showing evidence of change, alteration, or amendment shall be exhibited for the purpose of facilitating any exportation, without the production of written authorization therefor by the Collector, shall take any action toward such facilitation, but shall promptly report the facts to the nearest Collector and shall, where such authenticated Declaration is in his or its possession, surrender same to such Collector.

(d) Correction of Authenticated Declarations. Without prior approval of the Collector, any item of information contained on an authenticated Declaration previously filed with the Collector can be corrected either by use of Form FT–7403, Correction Form, or directly on the authenticated Declaration in accordance with the procedure described below.

(1) Corrections shall be made directly on the authenticated Declaration where:

(i) The shipment does not require submission of four copies of the Declaration, and

(ii) The Bureau of the Census copy of the Declaration is still in the possession of the Collector.

(2) In all other instances corrections shall be made by use of Correction Form, Form FT–7403. Form FT–7403 shall be submitted in triplicate where the shipment is made under a validated license requiring the submission of four copies of the Declaration; or in duplicate where the shipment does not require the submission of four copies of the Declaration. The Correction Form, Form FT–7403, shall be executed by the exporter or his duly authorized agent and submitted to the Collector with whom the authenticated Declaration was filed.

(e) Return of unused copies of authenticated Declaration. All copies of authenticated Declarations not used by an exporter for the purposes for which they are authenticated shall be returned to the Collector making the authentication.

(f) Limitation of effective period of Declaration. No Declaration shall be authenticated, and no authenticated Declaration shall be used, for the purpose of clearing for exportation, or otherwise facilitating or effecting, the exportation of a commodity or commodities requiring a validated or general export license after the expiration of the validity period of the applicable validated license or after the termination of the effective period of the applicable general license, except as provided in § 372.11 (d) of this subchapter and § 379.2 (f).

NOTE. The validity period of an export license includes any extension provided by any saving clause or regulation.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

1. Responsibility of licensee and agent. Under the Export Regulations, the exporter to whom a license is issued or who undertakes to export under a general license is legally responsible for the proper use of that license and for the due performance of all its terms and provisions. This responsibility continues even when he acts through a freight forwarder or other forwarding agent. Experience in the administration of export controls indicates, however, that it is often difficult to establish that relationship as a matter of record and fix responsibility when violations occur. The provisions of this part and the Bureau of Foreign Commerce form, "Power of Attorney—Designation of Forwarding Agent" (see Supplement S–8 for facsimile of form), are designed to remedy that situation.

2. Power-of-attorney forms; purpose and use; alternatives. The form which is prepared for this purpose is not mandatory but only suggested. Power-of-attorney terminology is used to accord with common business practice in establishing agency relationships, and by way of interpretation considerable flexibility is permitted. Nevertheless, there are situations where firms have found compliance with some of the required formalities in the execution of a general power of attorney, such as corporate seal, special resolutions of the board of directors, etc., to be unduly onerous.

Accordingly, the Export Regulations, as set forth above, permit, alternatively to the power-of-attorney form, the use of any written form of designation, provided it is subscribed and sworn to before a notary public or other person authorized to administer oaths, by a duly authorized officer or employee of the licensed exporter. Such designation must, of course, clearly indicate that the firm or person named is authorized to represent the licensed exporter for export control and customs purposes. The extent of the authority in this designation, as in the power-of-attorney, may be restricted, however, with respect to time, country, commodity, specific license, or other matter. It is also intended to permit the use of such documents to designate one or more employees, or other persons, such as an export manager or agent, to, in turn, appoint as many freight forwarders or other forwarding agents as may be required.

3. Carriers. In addition, specific reference to carriers has been made in those parts of the Export Regulations dealing with the submission of the Declaration in order to make clear the carriers, not otherwise acting as forwarding agents, may deliver executed Declarations without specific authorization therefor. The privilege of making certain specified insertions or corrections in the Declaration prior to authentication is also extended to such carriers.

4. Summary of Interpretations.—(a) Applicability of Part 379:

1. Q. Do the provisions of the Export Regulations with respect to presentation of additional copies of Declarations, and with respect to the procedure for authentication of Declarations, filing of powers-of-attorney or other forms of designations of forwarding agent, and use of authenticated Declarations, apply to Canada?

A. No, unless the particular exportation from the United States is destined for a third country, for which a validated license is required, and the shipment is via Canada.

2. Q. Do the foregoing provisions of the Export Regulations apply to general license shipments?

A. Yes. General license shipments have always been subject to Customs scrutiny and are covered by the Export Regulations, along with shipments under validated license, in order to curb possible abuse of the general license privileges.

3. Q. Are the Export Regulations contained in this part applicable to exportations regulated by United States governmental agencies other than the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, such as the Atomic Energy Commission and the Department of State?

A. No.

4. Q. What is the effect of making the Declaration an "export control document?"

A. A Declaration has always been an official document of the United States Government so that, for example, the penalties relating to making false statements on Government documents were always applicable to the use of that document. The only effect of the additional Export Regulations in this respect has been to bring Declarations under the export control laws as well as under the laws of the United States relating to Government documents generally, and Declarations in particular.

(b) Powers-of-attorney or other forms of designation of forwarding agent:

5. Q. Is the use of a power-of-attorney form mandatory?

A. As now provided in § 379.4 (f) (2), it is only an optional form.

6. Q. May the exporter designate more than one forwarding agent?

A. Yes. It is not intended that the power-of-attorney or other authorization designating a forwarding agent should constitute such agent the sole and exclusive forwarding agent of the exporter for all exportations. Exporters may execute powers-of-attorney or other authorization for any and all of the forwarding agents whom they employ.

7. Q. Where a forwarding agent is suggested by the foreign buyer in a transaction (rather than by the seller in the United States), must the seller designate such forwarding agent as his agent for export control and customs purposes?

A. Exporters have in some such cases expressed reluctance in designating such forwarders as their agents, because they do not regularly deal with them, or because they may not wish thereby to disturb contractual relations with their own forwarders. It is assumed that the underlying problem here is the exporter's unwillingness to give any general authorization to such agent. It is therefore suggested that the form of designation on the Declaration be used which would limit the authority granted to the particular transaction involved. It should also be noted that in some such cases the solution to the problem may lie in having the agent for the foreign buyer apply for the license. (See § 372.4 (a) of this subchapter.)

8. Q. Must an exporter use the Bureau of Foreign Commerce form of power-of-attorney designating a forwarding agent, or may he give such authority by other and more limited powers-of-attorney?

A. The language of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce form of power-of-attorney is not mandatory. It is specifically provided that it may be made more restrictive by the exporter; likewise, an exporter may restrict the power-of-attorney set forth in the Declaration. Of course, no limitation may be made which would relieve the exporter from responsibility for carrying out the exportation authorized by the license which he holds.

9. Q. May the exporter vary the language of the acknowledgment set forth in the Bureau of Foreign Commerce forms of power-of-attorney?

A. Yes. The forms were drafted to permit use by exporters who are individuals, partnerships, corporations, associations, or quasi-governmental bodies. The acknowledgement forms may be modified to fit the legal status of the exporter.

10. Q. May exporters authorize forwarding agents to sign and swear to Declarations and to present them to Collectors for authentication by executing the designation appearing on the face of the Declarations?

A. Yes. The exporter may execute the designation appearing on the Declaration, which is applicable only to the transaction referred to in the Declaration. The power-of-attorney or other written authorization may be used where the same forwarding agent handles numerous shipments and it is impracticable to execute a specific designation on the Declaration for each transaction.

(c) Who should execute:

11. Q. Who is deemed to be "duly authorized officer or employee" for the purpose of signing and swearing to Declarations?

A. There is and can be no fixed rule in this respect. In general, such corporate officers as the president, vice president, treasurer, and secretary of a corporation, any partner of a partnership, and any responsible head of any other form of private or quasi-governmental organization will be deemed to have the requisite authority. Assistant officers will in general, be accorded a like assumption. Such employees as export managers who, by their official titles, are apparently vested with power to deal with exportations will also be deemed to have authority to execute the designation appearing on the face of a Declaration and to sign and swear to such Declarations.

(d) Proof of authority:

12. Q. Under what circumstances must Customs be furnished with supporting evidence of authority of persons executing powers-of-attorney or other authorizations?

A. Customs may in any case require proof of the authority of any such person signing a power-of-attorney or other authorization. In general, however, Customs will require such proof only when there is some reason to doubt the authority of the person involved.

(e) Miscellaneous:

13. Q. Must a forwarding agent have an office at the port of exportation or otherwise be known to the Collector at such port?

A. No. A forwarding agent need not have an office at every port of exportation. If a forwarding agent signs and swears to a Declaration which is intended for clearance of an exportation through a port where he has no office, he should furnish to the Collector at such port his power-of-attorney or other authorization from the exporter. He should also furnish to the person who will arrange physically to present the Declaration to the Collector, an authorization in writing for that purpose.

14. Q. May a forwarding agent who does not have an office at the port of exportation redelegate to another forwarding agent his authority to sign and swear to Declarations and to present Declarations for authentication at such port?

A. Yes; provided that the power-of-attorney or other authorization from the exporter permits such redelegation or there is presented to the Collector written evidence of consent of the exporter to such redelegation.

15. Q. If a forwarding agent has a power-of-attorney or other authorization filed with a Collector in one port, must he file additional original documents with Collectors in other ports through which he may effect exportations?

A. No. It is only necessary to file the original documents in one port. Photostatic copies thereof, certified by the Collector of such port, may be transmitted by the forwarding agent to other ports where needed unless the authorization is otherwise specifically limited by the exporter.

16. Q. How should forwarding agents and exporters handle such matters as changes of weights, measurements, quantities, etc., which must frequently be made on Declarations after authentication?

A. In general, the Export Regulations permit certain types of amendments and insertions to be made in Declarations before and after authentication, as set forth in §§ 379.4 and 379.5. A forwarding agent, however, designated on the Declaration or by separate document, may make such changes, unless specifically precluded from doing so by the exporter in his designation. Collectors are empowered to permit such amendments upon written authorization therefor by the Collectors set forth on such authenticated Declaration. Collectors will exercise discretion to allow amendments of this character. Where the amendments have the effect of converting a Declaration into one for a substantially different shipment, however, a new Declaration will have to be prepared. Unless otherwise limited by the exporter, the power-of-attorney or other authorization given to a forwarding agent is deemed also to authorize him to prepare substitute Declarations reflecting such changes.

§ 379.6 Use of license symbols or numbers on Declaration or parcel.—(a) Certification by the Exporter. The use by any exporter of a general license symbol, a validated license number, or other designation, on a Declaration or parcel when such marking is required by the provisions of the Export Regulations, for the purpose of clearing an exportation under any general license or validated license, shall constitute a certification by the exporter that the terms, provisions, and conditions of the license have been met.

(b) Use of validated license number. The Collector will not authenticate a Declaration for a licensed exportation where an incomplete export license number is shown thereon; exporters must therefore use the complete validated license number when entering the required information in column (10) of the Declaration (Form 7525–V).

NOTE: 1. License number. When the number of an export license, Form IT– or FC–628, is correctly entered on the Declaration in column (10), the one entry of the complete number satisfies the requirements for inserting the "export license number" and the "issuance date" of the license. As explained in § 372.11 of this subchapter, the digits immediately following the initial letter, although an inseparable part of the license number, conjointly indicate the issuance (or validation) date of the license, while the last five digits signify the validating sequence. (Examples of complete numbers for Form IT– or FC–628, Export License: A5–2–1–02341; B5–131–33031; C5–212–64451.)

2. Project licenses. The license number of a Project License (see Part 374) issued on Form IT– or FC–419 is the number appearing in the upper right corner of the document. The date of issuance appears in the lower right corner, in the space marked "For Official Use Only".

3. Expiration date. A separate entry is necessary to show the expiration date of the license on the Declaration form.

§ 379.7 General authority of Collectors of Customs and Postmasters in clearing shipments.—(a) Definitions. "Collectors" means Collectors of Customs and other customs officials. "Postmasters" means Postmasters and other post office officials.

(b) Scope of authority of Collectors and Postmasters. Collectors and Postmasters are authorized and directed to take appropriate action to assure observance of the provisions of the Export Regulations, and of general and validated licenses issued thereunder, including but not limited to inspection of commodities and technical data being or about to be exported.

(c) Waiver of presentation of license. A Collector of Customs or Postmaster, upon specific authorization by the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, may waive the presentation of a license.

§ 379.8 Types of actions which may be taken by Collectors. The following types of actions, among others, are authorized to be taken by Collectors:

(a) Examination of commodities.—(1) Purpose of examination. All commodities and technical data declared for export are subject to examination by customs officials for the purpose of verifying the commodity or technical data specified in the Declaration, and the value and quantity thereof, as well as to assure observance of the other provisions of the Export Regulations. The examination may be made in connection with commodities or technical data exported under a general license as well as a validated export license. It also may be made in connection with exportations to Canada. This examination is not limited to, but may take the form of, commodity identification, technical appraisal (analysis), or both.

(2) Place of examination. Examination of exportations shall be made at the place of lading or where the customs officials are stationed for that purpose.

(3) Technical identification. In those cases where, in the judgment of the Collector, the commodity or technical data cannot be properly identified, a sample may be taken for more detailed examination by customs appraisers or for chemical or other laboratory analysis. The shipment will not be delayed after sampling for completion of the analysis.

(4) Sampling for technical identification.—(i) Obtaining samples. When sampling is required, the sample will be obtained by the customs official in accordance with the provisions for sampling imported merchandise. The size of the sample taken shall be the minimum representative amount necessary for identification or analysis and will depend on such factors as the physical condition of the material (whether solid, liquid, or gas), and the size and shape of the container.

(ii) Notification of sampling to exporter and consignee. The exporter (or his agent) and ultimate consignee shall be notified in each case where a sample is extracted for purposes of identification or analysis. Notification will be on Form IT– or FC–915, Notice of Retained Samples (see Supplement S–17 for facsimile of form). This form shall be prepared by the customs official, showing the name of the port of exit, the date of sampling, Declaration number, license number (if any), mark and case numbers, amount of sample taken, manufacturer's number, and a description of the commodity. The form shall be prepared in triplicate. The original shall be placed in the opened package, box, crate, or other container; the duplicate shall be sent to the exporter or his agent; and the triplicate shall be retained by the Collector.

(iii) Disposal of samples. Samples withdrawn for analysis will be disposed of in accordance with the procedure followed by Collectors for disposing of samples of imported commodities.

(b) Inspection of documents. The Collector is authorized to require the owners and operators of exporting carriers or their agents, as well as the exporters or their agents, to produce for inspection or copying, invoices, orders, letters of credit, inspection requests, packing lists, shipping documents and instructions, correspondence, as well as any other relevant documents, and furnish other information bearing upon a particular exportation or commodity or technical data intended for export or removal from the United States and the identity and relationships of all participants therein.

(c) Prohibiting lading. The Collector is authorized to prevent the lading of commodities or technical data about to be laden on an exporting carrier whenever he has reasonable cause to believe such commodities or technical data are being exported or removed from the United States contrary to the provisions of the Export Regulations.

(d) Inspection of exporting carrier. The Collector is authorized to inspect and search any exporting carrier which is about to clear for a foreign destination at any time to determine whether commodities or technical data are intended to be, or are being, exported or removed from the United States contrary to the provisions of the Export Regulations.

(e) Seizure. The Collector is authorized, under Title 22 of the U. S. Code, section 401, et seq., to seize and detain any commodities or technical data whenever an attempt is made to export said commodities or technical data in violation of the Export Regulations or whenever he knows or has probable cause to believe that commodities or technical data are intended to be, or are being, or have been exported in violation of the Export Regulations. Seized commodities or technical data are subject to forfeiture.

(f) Preventing departure of carrier. The Collector is authorized, under Title 22 of the U. S. Code, section 401, et seq., to seize and detain, either before or after clearance, any vessel or vehicle or air carrier about to depart from a port or place in the United States for a foreign port or place either directly or via another port in the United States which has been or is being used in exporting or attempting to export any commodity or technical data intended to be, or being, or having been previously exported in violation of the provisions of the Export Regulations.

(g) Ordering the unlading. The Collector is authorized to unlade or cause to be unladen from any exporting carrier that is about to depart for a foreign destination commodities or technical data that have been laden thereon, whenever the Collector has reasonable cause to believe such commodities or technical data are intended to be, or are being, exported or removed from the United States contrary to the provisions of the Export Regulations.

(h) Questioning of individuals. The Collector is authorized to question the owners and operators of exporting carriers and their agents, as well as the exporters and their agents, concerning particular shipments of commodities or technical data exported or intended to be exported.

(i) Ordering the return of commodities. The Collector is authorized to order the owners and operators of exporting carriers and their agents to return commodities or technical data exported on such exporting carriers and make them available for inspection by the Collector when no adequate opportunity is afforded the Collectors to examine the commodities prior to lading and when departure of the carrier takes place prior to authentication of the Declaration.

§ 379.9 Port of exit: Shipments leaving United States before final exportation from United States port—(a) Shipments leaving United States before final exportation from United States port. Commodities which leave the United States at one port, cross adjacent foreign territory, and reenter the United States at another port before final exportation to a foreign country will be treated as an export at the last port of exit from the United States.

(b) Licenses valid for shipment from any port. A license may be used for exportation from any port of exit from the United States subject to the jurisdiction of the United States unless the Bureau of Foreign Commerce shall otherwise provide.

(c) Simultaneous shipments from different ports. Simultaneous shipments from different ports of exit may be cleared for export under a single license by the Collector having possession of the license, through arrangements with the Collector at the other port or ports of exit, as provided by the Bureau of Foreign Commerce.

§ 379.10 Destination control — (a) Scope and definitions. (1) The provisions of this section apply to all shipments of cargo made under validated licenses and all shipments of Positive List commodities made under either validated or general licenses.

(2) The provisions of this section shall not apply with respect to shipments of cargo effected under General License GO to ports of ultimate destination in Country Group O, except where such shipments are to be forwarded, transshipped, or reexported through or via an R country (see § 371.3 of this subchapter).

(3) As used in this section, "Bill of Lading" means the contract of carriage and receipt for commodities issued by the carrier.

(b) Country of ultimate destination. (1) No carrier by water, land, or air, nor any other person on behalf of any carrier, shall issue a bill of lading which provides for delivery of cargo subject to the provisions of this section at any foreign port except a port located in the country of (i) the ultimate consignee, or (ii) the intermediate consignee, named in the authenticated Declaration.

(2) No carrier shall deliver such cargo at any other country at the request or option of either the shipper, consignor, exporter, purchaser, or ultimate consignee, or their agents, or any other person having custody or control of the shipment, without prior written authorization from the Bureau of Foreign Commerce to the carrier or its agent.

(3) No shipper, consignor, exporter, purchaser or ultimate consignee, or their agents, or any other person, shall, without prior written authorization from the Bureau of Foreign Commerce to the carrier or its agent: (i) divert any cargo to any country of ultimate destination other than that named in the authenticated Declaration or in the Bill of Lading described in paragraph (c) of this section; (ii) request or demand that any carrier or its agent divert such cargo from the country of ultimate destination named in any of such documents. In addition, no agent of any carrier shall instruct or authorize the master of the vessel to divert any such cargo to any other country of ultimate destination without such prior written authorization from the Bureau of Foreign Commerce.

(4) No carrier of such cargo shall issue a Bill of Lading providing for delivery to the ultimate consignee named in the authenticated Declaration at optional ports where one of such optional ports is in a country not named as the ultimate country of destination in the license or Declaration, unless written authorization has been granted by the Bureau of Foreign Commerce. However, where the authenticated Declaration provides for delivery of cargo consisting of commodities subject to this section to optional intermediate consignees located in ports in different countries, the carrier may issue a Bill of Lading providing for delivery at such optional ports.

(c) Statement regarding ultimate destination on Declaration, Bill of Lading, and Commercial Invoice. (1) (i) No shipment of cargo subject to the provisions of this section may be made unless the licensee or his forwarding agent shall place the following statement (filling in the blank space with the name of the country of ultimate destination set forth in the Declaration) on all copies of the Declaration presented to the Collector at the port of exit for authentication:

These commodities licensed by U. S. for ultimate destination (name of country). Diversion contrary to U. S. law prohibited.

(ii) If the validated export license authorizes distribution or resale of the named commodities in a country or countries other than the named country of ultimate destination, the following statement (in lieu of the preceding statement) shall be set forth on all copies of the Declaration:

These commodities licensed by U. S. for ultimate destination (name of country) and for distribution or resale in (name of other approved countries as shown on validated license). Diversion contrary to U. S. law prohibited.

(2) No carrier by water, land, or air shall issue, and no licensee, shipper, consignor, exporter or consignee, or their agents, or any other person, shall prepare or procure a Bill of Lading covering an exportation of a commodity with respect to which a Declaration has been authenticated by a Collector containing the applicable statement set forth in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, unless all copies of such Bill of Lading, including all non-negotiable and office copies, shall contain the same statement.

(3) No licensee, shipper, or consignor, exporter, or agent thereof, or any other person, shall prepare or issue any commercial invoice with respect to any shipment of commodities subject to the provisions of this section, unless such invoice or invoices, and all copies thereof, shall contain on the face thereof the applicable statement set forth in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(4) No carrier shall release custody of a shipment of commodities covered by the provisions of this Section to any party (including agents, on-carriers, foreign customs officials, or any other person) without surrender by that party to the carrier, of a copy of the Bill of Lading bearing on its face the applicable destination control statement set forth in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph; unless simultaneously with release of the commodities the carrier delivers to such party a written copy of the destination control statement covering the shipment as contained on the copy of the Bill of Lading in the carrier's possession. The written statement shall identify the shipment by Bill of Lading number, name of carrier, voyage number, date and port of arrival. The carrier shall secure and retain either a signed receipted copy of such written statement or other equivalent written evidence of such statement.

(d) Notice and prohibition against diversion. (1) Whenever a commercial invoice shall be issued containing the destination control statement prescribed in paragraph (c) (1) of this section, the shipper or other person issuing such invoice shall promptly send copies thereof to (i) the ultimate consignee and the purchaser named in the authenticated Declaration; (ii) the intermediate consignee; and (iii) any other persons named in the invoice who are located in a foreign country. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to limit the persons or classes of persons to whom such invoices and Bills of Lading are usually and customarily sent in the course of export trade. The shipper or other person issuing the commercial invoice may either omit all reference to price or sales commission from the copy of the invoice sent to any of the above-named persons, provided such invoice otherwise adequately identifies the shipment; or, in lieu of a copy of the commercial invoice, may send a copy of the Bill of Lading containing the destination control statement prescribed in paragraph (c) (1) of this section.

(2) No person, including the ultimate consignee or intermediate consignee and any on-forwarding carrier, shall, after notification of the prohibition against diversion prescribed in paragraph (c) (1) of this section whether by such invoice or Bill of Lading or by any other means, divert or cause to be diverted any of the commodities described in such Bill of Lading to any country of ultimate destination other than that named in such notification.

(e) Proof of notice. In any administrative compliance proceeding brought by the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, evidence of the sending of such invoice or Bill of Lading, or other form of notification of the prohibition against diversion to any person, shall constitute prima facie proof of his receipt thereof and of notification that the commodities have been licensed for a particular country of ultimate destination and may not be lawfully diverted to any other country. In addition, proof of the sending of such notice to the intermediate consignee shall be deemed notification of such prohibition to the ultimate consignee and purchaser.

(f) Unloading of cargo at a port in other than intermediate or ultimate country of destination. Nothing contained in the Export Regulations shall be deemed to prohibit a carrier from unloading cargo at a port in other than the intermediate or ultimate country of destination shown on the authenticated Declaration where, by reason of an act of God, perils of the sea, damage to the carrier, strikes, war, political disturbances, insurrection, or other causes beyond the control of the carrier set forth as standard provisions of the carrier's Bill of Lading, it is not feasible to deliver the cargo at the licensed port of destination. Whenever, because of the existence of any of the said causes, cargo is unloaded at a port in any other country:

(1) The carrier shall promptly, and within 10 days from the date of unloading such cargo, report the facts with respect thereto to the nearest American consul and to the agent of the carrier located in the United States. Within 10 days after the receipt of such notice by the agent of the carrier in the United States, such agent shall transmit a copy of the report to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce. This report shall consist of a copy of the manifest of such diverted cargo, together with a statement of the place of unloading and the name and address of the person in whose custody the commodities were delivered.

(2) The exporter of such commodities shall, upon notice from the Bureau of Foreign Commerce of such diversion, promptly, and within 10 days, notify the Bureau of Foreign Commerce of the proposed disposition of the commodities.

(3) No person, including the exporter, the licensee, any consignee, or the carrier and any agent or person acting on its behalf, shall take any steps to effect delivery or entry of the commodities into the commerce of the country where unloaded without prior approval of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce. The carrier shall take steps to assure that such commodities are placed in custody under bond or other guaranty not to enter the commerce of such country or any country other than the countries of the ultimate and intermediate consignees shown on the authenticated Declaration without such prior approval.

(g) Indication of Shipper's Export Declaration number on ship's manifest. The carrier or its agent shall, on all copies of that manifest which is filed with the United States Collector of Customs, indicate, thereon, with respect to each shipment, the applicable Shipper's Export Declaration number assigned to each such shipment by the Collector.

INTERPRETATIONS

1. Q. Who other than the shipper is authorized to insert the ultimate destination cntrol statement on the Shipper's Export Declaration, the Bill of Lading and the commercial invoice, as provided by § 379.10 (c) (1)?

A. The forwarding agent is deemed to have authority to insert the ultimate destination control statement required by § 379.10 (c) (1) on the Bill of Lading, Declaration, and commercial invoices, unless the forwarding agent's authorization prohibits him from so doing. If the carrier prepares the Bill of Lading, the carrier must insert the statement on that document based upon information communicated to the carrier by the exporter or his authorized forwarding agent, i. e., an authenticated Declaration or a validated license, or a property executed Declaration given to the carrier for submission to Collectors for authentication containing the statement.

2. Q. If shippers or their agents located in inland cities forward to carriers at ports of exit Declarations, Bills of Lading, and commercial invoices without having inserted the ultimate destination control statement, is it necessary for the carrier to return the documents to the shipper or his agent?

A. If a Declaration presented to the carrier does not contain the ultimate destination control statement, the carrier cannot add such statement to the Declaration unless specifically authorized by the exporter, nor can the carrier issue a Bill of Lading containing the statement until the exporter or his authorized forwarding agent has placed the statement on the Declaration and the Declaration has been authenticated by the Collector. The carrier may not insert the statement on any Declaration or commercial invoice accompanying the shipment, unless authorized by designation as provided in the case of forwarding agents.

3. Q. Is the Collector responsible for checking as to the ultimate destination control statement on the Bill of Lading and on invoices, as well as on the Declaration?

A. Collectors have the responsibility for checking as to the ultimate destination control statement on all Declarations submitted for authentication, and should ascertain that the inscription has been placed on any Bills of Lading or invoices which they receive in the regular course of business or which otherwise come to their attention. In other cases, Collectors may, whenever they deem it appropriate to assure compliance with the Export Regulations, check the Bill of Lading or commercial invoices as to the ultimate destination control statement or other matters.

4. Q. Do the destination control provisions apply to Positive List commodities exported under such General Licenses as GLV, Baggage and Tools of Trade?

A. The provisions of § 370.10 apply to GLV shipments and in general to all other shipments of Positive List commodities under any general license for which a Declaration is required. General Licenses Baggage and Tools of Trade do not require Declarations, except when moving under a Bill of Lading. Shipments under General License GO require an ultimate destination control statement only in cases where the shipment is to be forwarded, transferred, or reexported through or via a Group R country.

5. Q. Does this regulation apply to in-transit shipments?

A. The ultimate destination control statement is not required for shipments made under General License GIT, but is required for in-transit shipments of commodities excepted from GIT (§ 371.9 (c) of this subchapter), and for commodities moving in transit to Hong Kong, Macao and Subgroup A destinations.

6. Q. Does § 379.10 (g) apply only to a ship's manifest?

A. Section 379.10 (g) applies only to customs outward foreign manifest.

(h) Conformity of export control documents. (1) As used in this paragraph, "licensed exporter" means the person named as "exporter," and "licensed ultimate consignee" means the person named as ultimate consignee, in an authenticated Shipper's Export Declaration covering a validated license shipment or a general license shipment of Positive List commodities.

(2) The following rule of conformity of export control documents shall apply to all shipments which are subject to the provisions of this section:

(i) In the case of shipments under a validated license or a general license, the validated export license (if any), the authenticated Declaration, and outbound Bill of Lading covering the same export shipment must be consistent with one another.

(ii) The Bill of Lading is not consistent if it contains words or a statement indicating that the shipment is in transit to a different country of ultimate destination from the country of ultimate destination named in the authenticated Declaration, such as consigning the shipment to the ultimate destination with a qualifying phrase indicating the shipment is "in transit" at that destination, or consigning the shipment to a free zone or free port when it is known or there is reasonable cause to believe that the shipment is not for consumption in the country in which the ultimate consignee is located.

(iii) The Bill of Lading is not consistent if it names as shipper any person other than the licensed exporter or his duly authorized forwarding agent. Where shipments from more than one exporter are consolidated on a single Bill of Lading, the shipper named on the Bill of Lading must also appear as the authorized forwarding agent for each licensed exporter on each Declaration.

(iv) In the case of negotiable Bills of Lading (i. e., "order" Bills of Lading) the Bill of Lading is deemed consistent only if:

(a) The name and address of the licensed ultimate consignee are shown in the body of the Bill of Lading under the caption "licensed ultimate consignee and notify party" or in the case of the air waybill under the caption "also notify." Where shipments to more than one licensed ultimate consignee are consolidated on one Bill of Lading and the names of all licensed ultimate consignees are not shown in the body of the Bill of Lading, the name of the intermediate consignee (customs broker or consolidator's agent in the foreign country) who will receive and distribute the goods to the licensed ultimate consignees must appear on the Bill of Lading, the export license, and the Declaration. Where the name of the intermediate consignee in such a consolidated shipment differs from that shown on the validated license, or does not appear on the license, an amendment of the license is necessary even though the intermediate consignee is in the same country as the ultimate consignees;

(b) The consignee or order party named in the Bill of Lading is named in the authenticated Declaration; and

(c) The Bill of Lading provides for delivery of the shipment (cargo) at a port located in the country of either the ultimate consignee or intermediate consignee named in the authenticated Declaration.

NOTE: As indicated in subparagraph (2) (iv) of this paragraph, the Bill of Lading may consign the commodities covered thereby to the order of the shipper, to the order of an intermediate consignee (whether bank, foreign freight forwarder or other intermediary), or to the order of purchaser (if not the same as the licensed ultimate consignee).

An "order" Bill of Lading issued in the above form constitutes a representation on the part of such shipper that the commodities covered by the validated or general license, authenticated Declaration, and Bill of Lading are ultimately destined to such ultimate consignee, that the document has not been used for the purpose of evading the terms and conditions of the validated or general license, and that pursuant to the contract of carriage, the commodities will be delivered at a port located in the country of the ultimate consignee or of the intermediate consignee named in the authenticated Declaration.

(v) On Bills of Lading the commodities may be described in terms of the freight tariff classification or other type of classification, but may not be inconsistent with the description shown in the authenticated Declaration and validated export license (if any).

(vi) No carrier shall issue, and no licensee, shipper, consignor, exporter or consignee, or their agents, or any other person, shall prepare or procure, a Bill of Lading which is contrary to the provisions of this paragraph, and Collectors are authorized to require any document or to use any other appropriate methods to insure compliance with these provisions.

(vii) If the carrier's outward foreign manifest which is filed with the U. S. Collector contains names of shippers or consignees, these names must not be inconsistent with the names shown on the Bill of Lading (or authenticated Declarations).

§ 379.11 Return or unloading of cargo at direction of Department of Commerce—(a) Exporting carriers. (1) As used in this section, the term "exporting carrier" includes connecting or onforwarding carriers, as well as the owner, charterer, agent, master, and any other person in charge of the vessel, aircraft, or other kind of carrier, whether such persons are located in the United States or in a foreign country.

(2) The Bureau of Foreign Commerce or any United States Collector of Customs, where there are reasonable grounds for believing that a violation of the Export Regulations has occurred or will occur with respect to a particular exportation from the United States, may order any exporting carrier carrying such shipment, or which is otherwise in possession or control thereof, to return or unload the shipment. Such exporting carrier shall as ordered either (i) return such shipment to the United States or cause it to be so returned, or (ii) unload such shipment at a port of call and take steps to assure that such shipment is placed in custody under bond or other guaranty not to enter the commerce of any foreign country without prior approval of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce. For the purpose of this section, the furnishing of a copy of the order to any person included within the definition of exporting carrier shall be sufficient notice of the order to the exporting carrier.

(3) The provisions of § 379.10 (f), relating to reporting, notification to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, and the prohibition against unauthorized delivery or entry of the commodity into a foreign country, shall apply also to commodities directed to be unloaded at a port of call, as provided in this section.

(b) Notification. Upon discovery by an owner, agent, or other person included within the term "exporting carrier," as defined in paragraph (a) of this section, that a violation of the Export Regulations has occurred or will occur with respect to a shipment on board, or otherwise in the possession or control of the carrier, such person shall immediately notify the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, Department of Commerce, Washington 25, D. C., and the person in actual possession or control of the shipment.

NOTE: 1. Customs regulations. This section in no wise relieves exporting carriers of their responsibilities under regulations of the Bureau of Customs (particularly under U. S. Code, title 46, sections 91 and 92).

2. Commodities returned to United States. Commodities returned to the United States pursuant to this section are required by customs regulations to be removed from the dock or pier where deposited within 48 hours, or the commodities will be placed in storage with charges leviable against the commodities.

§ 379.12 Other applicable laws and regulations. Nothing contained in this part shall relieve any person from complying with the applicable provisions of any other law of the United States or rules and regulations issued thereunder, including those governing Declarations and manifests.

6. Section 382.51 Table of compliance orders currently in effect denying export privileges, paragraph (b) Table of compliance orders is amended in the following particulars: The following entry is added:

Name and address	Effective date of order	Expiration date of order	Export privileges affected	FEDERAL REGISTER citation

7. Part 398, Priority Ratings and Supply Assistance, is amended in the following particulars:

a. The title of the part is amended to read "Priority Ratings".

b. Section 398.2 Supply assistance for foreign direct defense uses is deleted.

This amendment shall become effective as of March 31, 1955.

Where an amendment request involves an action other than an extension of the validity period, it shall be submitted directly to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce.

(5) Time for submission of applications. Applications for licenses to export aluminum scrap (new and old), Schedule B No. 630050 and aluminum remelt ingots, Schedule B No. 630070, shall be submitted in accordance with the time schedules set forth in § 373.71.

The amendment procedure set forth in § 380.2 (g) of this subchapter shall be followed in requesting quantity reductions on outstanding licenses.

(ii) Any quantities recovered as a result of this procedure will be considered for licensing in the same quarter in which it was recovered. The return of any unused quantities by an exporter will in no way affect the exporter's entitlement under the historical licensing procedure in future quarters.

a. Interpretation 4: Machinery and Parts, is amended to read as follows:

INTERPRETATION 4: CLASSIFICATION OF "PARTS" OF MACHINERY, EQUIPMENT, OR OTHER ITEMS

(1) Where an assembled machine or unit of equipment is being exported. Where one or more assembled machines or units of equipment are being exported, the individual component parts which are physically incorporated into the machine or equipment do not require a separate validated export license. The validated license or the general license under which the complete machine or unit of equipment is exported will also cover its component parts: Provided, That no special provisions or interpretations obtain (for example, as in the case of certain tools containing diamonds); that the parts are normal and usual components of the machine or equipment being exported; or that the physical incorporation is not used as a device to evade the requirement for a validated export license.

(2) Where parts are exported as spares, replacements, for resale, or for stock. Where parts are exported as spares, replacements, for resale, or for stock, a validated export license is required if the particular part is on the Positive List to the intended destination.

(3) Classification instructions. Schedule B, Statistical Classification of Domestic and Foreign Commodities Exported from the United States, issued by the Bureau of the Census, sets forth detailed instructions for the classification of "parts" for machinery, equipment, or other items. These instructions may be found on pages xxiv and xxv in the "Introduction to Schedule B", paragraphs 11 through 22, under the following sub-headings: "Definition of parts", "Rules for the classification of parts", "Exception to the rules for the classification of parts", and "Definition of the terms specially fabricated and general-purpose".

(4) Mixed shipments. It has been determined that mixed shipments of replacement parts classifiable under a Schedule B number for "specially fabricated parts" for a machine often erroneously include replacement parts for which individual classifications are provided in Schedule B. The method for determining when this practice is permissible is set forth in the aforementioned instructions, paragraph c.20, under the heading "Exception to the rules for the classification of parts".

b. Interpretation 10: Classification of "Parts" of Machinery, Equipment or Other Items, is transferred to paragraphs (3) and (4) of Interpretation 4, as amended (see paragraph a. supra).

c. Interpretations 11: Parts and Accessories Exported as Scrap, 12: Variable Speed Transmissions, 13: Arms, Ammunition, and Implements of War, 14: Receiving-type Tubes (Schedule B No. 707803) are renumbered respectively Interpretations 10, 11, 12, and 13.

This part of the amendment shall become effective as of March 31, 1955.

(Sec. 3, 63 Stat. 7, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. 2023. E. O. 9630, 10 F. R. 12245, 3 CFR, 1945 Supp., E. O. 9919, 13 F. R. 59, 3 CFR, 1948 Supp.)

The Commission orders:

(A) Paragraph (A) of the orders issued herein on January 3, 1955 and February 24, 1955, be and it is hereby amended to read as follows:

(A) Pursuant to the authority contained in sections 4 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, a public hearing be held upon a date to be fixed by notice from the Secretary concerning the lawfulness of said proposed changes in rates and charges; and, pending such hearing and decision thereon, the above-designated rate schedules and supplements be and they are each hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until April 6, 1955, and until such further time as they are made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

Adopted: March 30, 1955.

Issued: April 6, 1955.

Chapter I—Agricultural Marketing Service (Standards, Inspections, Marketing Practices), Department of Agriculture

PART 26—GRAIN STANDARDS

REVISION OF OFFICIAL GRAIN STANDARDS OF THE UNITED STATES FOR SOYBEANS

On January 8, 1955, there was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (20 F. R. 196) a notice of a proposal to revise the official grain standards of the United States for Soybeans (7 CFR 26.601 et seq.) promulgated under the authority of the United States Grain Standards Act, as amended (39 Stat. 482; 54 Stat. 765; 7 U. S. C. 71 et seq).

Public hearings on the proposal were held at Toledo, Ohio; Chicago, Illinois; Des Moines, Iowa; Memphis, Tennessee; and Decatur, Illinois. The public was also afforded an opportunity to submit written data, views, or arguments on the proposal.

Consideration has been given to information obtained at the hearings, to information received in writing, and to other information available in the United States Department of Agriculture regarding the proposed revision. Based upon this information the official grain standards of the United States for soybeans (7 CFR 26.601 et seq.) are hereby revised to read as follows:

(c) Yellow soybeans. Yellow soybeans shall be any soybeans which have yellow or green seed coats, and which in cross section are yellow or have a yellow tinge, and may include not more than 10 percent of soybeans of other classes.

(d) Green soybeans. Green soybeans shall be any soybeans which have green seed coats, and which in cross section are green, and may include not more than 10 percent of soybeans of other classes.

(e) Brown soybeans. Brown soybeans shall be any soybeans with brown seed coats, and may include not more than 10 percent of soybeans of other classes.

(f) Black soybeans. Black soybeans shall be any soybeans with black seed coats, and may include not more than 10 percent of soybeans of other classes.

(m) Foreign material. Foreign material shall be all matter, including soybeans and pieces of soybeans, which will pass readily through an 8/64 sieve and all matter other than soybeans remaining on such sieve after sieving.

(n) Stones. Stones shall be concreted earthy or mineral matter and other substances of similar hardness that do not disintegrate readily in water.

(o) 8/64 sieve. An 8/64 sieve shall be a metal sieve 0.032 inch thick perforated with round holes 0.125 (8/64) inch in diameter with approximately 4,736 perforations per square foot.

§ 26.602 Principles governing application of standards. The following principles shall apply in the determination of the classes and grades of soybeans:

(a) Basis of determination. Each determination of class, splits, damaged kernels, and heat-damaged kernels, and of black, brown, and/or bicolored soybeans in Yellow or Green Soybeans, shall be upon the basis of the grain when free from foreign material. All other determinations shall be upon the basis of the grain as a whole.

(b) Percentages. All percentages shall be upon the basis of weight. The percentage of splits shall be expressed in terms of whole percents. All other percentages shall be expressed in terms of whole and tenths percents.

(c) Moisture. Moisture shall be ascertained by the air-oven method prescribed by the United States Department of Agriculture, as described in Service and Regulatory Announcement No. 147, issued by the Agricultural Marketing Service, or ascertained by any method which gives equivalent results.

(d) Test weight per bushel. Test weight per bushel shall be the weight per Winchester bushel as determined by the method prescribed by the United States Department of Agriculture, as described in Circular No. 921 issued June 1953, or as determined by any method which gives equivalent results.

§ 26.603 Grades, grade requirements, and grade designations. The following grades, grade requirements, and grade designations are applicable under these standards:

(a) Grades and grade requirements for soybeans (see also paragraph (c) of this section).

Grade	Minimum test weight per bushel	Maximum limits of—
		Moisture	Splits	Damaged kernels		Foreign material	Brown, black, and/or bicolored soybeans in yellow or green soybeans
				Total	Heat damaged
	Pounds	Percent	Percent	Percent	Percent	Percent	Percent
1	56	13.0	10	2.0	0.2	1.0	1.0
2	54	14.0	20	3.0	0.5	2.0	2.0
3 [1]	52	16.0	30	5.0	1.0	3.0	5.0
4 [2]	49	18.0	40	8.0	3.0	5.0	10.0

Sample grade: Sample grade shall be soybeans which do not meet the requirements for any of the grades from No. 1 to No. 4, inclusive; or which are musty, sour, or heating; or which have any commercially objectionable foreign odor; or which contain stones; or which are otherwise of distinctly low quality.

[1] Soybeans which are purple mottled or stained shall be graded not higher than No. 3.
[2] Soybeans which are materially weathered shall be graded not higher than No. 4.

(b) Grade designation. The grade designation for soybeans shall include in the order named the number of the grade or the words "Sample grade," as the case may be; the name of the class; and the name of each applicable special grade. In the case of mixed soybeans, the grade designation shall also include, following the name of the class, the approximate percentages of yellow, green, brown, black, and bicolored soybeans in the mixture.

(c) Special grades, special grade requirements and special grade designations for soybeans—(1) Garlicky soybeans—(i) Requirements. Garlicky soybeans shall be soybeans which contain 5 or more garlic bulblets in 1,000 grams.

(ii) Grade designation. Garlicky soybeans shall be graded and designated according to the grade requirements of the standards applicable to such soybeans if they were not garlicky and there shall be added to and made a part of the grade designation the word "garlicky."

(2) Weevily soybeans—(i) Requirements. Weevily soybeans shall be soybeans which are infested with live weevils or other live insects injurious to stored grain.

(ii) Grade designation. Weevily soybeans shall be graded and designated according to the grade requirements of the standards applicable to such soybeans if they were not weevily, and there shall be added to and made a part of the grade designation the word "weevily."

The foregoing standards shall become effective September 1, 1955.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 8th day of April 1955.

PART 52—PROCESSED FRUITS, VEGETABLES AND OTHER PRODUCTS (INSPECTION, CERTIFICATION AND STANDARDS)

SUBPART—UNITED STATES STANDARDS FOR GRADES OF FROZEN STRAWBERRIES [1]

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

In F. R. Doc. 55–2135 appearing on page 1582 of the issue (20 F. R. 1580) for Wednesday, March 16, 1955, the following corrections are hereby made:

(1) In the second sentence of § 52.1989 (c), (B) classification, insert the word "not" before the phrase "be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Choice."

(2) In the second sentence of § 52.1989 (c), (B) classification, insert the words "regardless of the total score for the product" before the phrase "(this is a limiting rule)."

The indicated changes are designed to correct obvious errors in the second sentence of paragraph (c) of said § 52.1989, and to reverse the meaning of the said sentence as it now exists. Under the present language frozen strawberries which fall into the (B) classification would have to be graded above U. S. Grade B. The amendments would require, as is obviously necessary to be done, that such strawberries not be graded above U. S. Grade B in any event. Such errors in the standards were inadvertent, and the changes are necessary to be made in order to enable those standards to be applied properly. Such amendments should be effective at the same time as such standards, i. e., April 16, 1955. These changes will be to the benefit of all interested parties and no additional notice thereof is necessary. Therefore, it would be impracticable, unnecessary and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, or postpone the effective date of these amendments later than as indicated above.

[1] Compliance with these standards does not excuse failure to comply with the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

(Sec. 205, 60 Stat. 1090; 7 U. S. C. 1624)

These amendments shall become effective on April 16, 1955.

Dated: April 8, 1955.

Deputy Administrator,
Marketing Services.

Chapter I—Federal Trade Commission

Subchapter B—Trade Practice Conference Rules

PART 79—PLUMBING AND HEATING INDUSTRY

PART 227—WHOLESALE PLUMBING AND HEATING INDUSTRY

PROMULGATION OF TRADE PRACTICE RULES

Due proceedings having been held under the trade practice conference procedure in pursuance of the Act of Congress approved September 26, 1914, as amended (Federal Trade Commission Act), and other provisions of law administered by the Commission;

It is now ordered, That the trade practice rules as hereinafter set forth, which have been approved by the Commission in this proceeding, be promulgated as of April 14, 1955.

Statement by the Commission. Trade practice rules for the Wholesale Plumbing and Heating Industry, as hereinafter set forth, are promulgated by the Federal Trade Commission under the trade practice conference procedure. The rules supersede trade practice rules for the Plumbing and Heating Industry as promulgated by the Commission on August 17, 1932.

The industry for which these rules are established is engaged in the wholesale distribution and sale of industry products to dealers and distributors for resale and to other purchasers, such as, but not limited to, plumbing, heating, sheet-metal, and piping contractors, commercial and industrial users, governmental bodies, and institutions purchasing for business uses. The "industry products" include plumbing heating equipment and supplies and such air-conditioning equipment and supplies as are marketed for permanent installation.

The rules are directed to the prevention and elimination of various practices deemed to be violative of laws administered by the Commission. They are to be applied to such end and to the exclusion of any acts or practices which suppress competition or otherwise restrain trade.

Proceedings under which the rules have been established were instituted upon application from members of the industry. A general industry conference was held under Commission auspices in Chicago, Illinois, on February 19, 1954, at which proposals for rules were submitted for consideration of the Commission. Thereafter, proposed rules were published by the Commission and made available to all industry members and other interested or affected parties upon public notice whereby they were afforded opportunity to present their views, including such pertinent information, suggestions, or amendments as they desired to offer, and to be heard in the premises. Pursuant to such notice, a public hearing was held in Chicago, Illinois, on November 29, 1954, and all matters there presented, or otherwise received in the proceeding, were duly considered by the Commission.

Thereafter, and upon full consideration of the entire matter, final action was taken by the Commission whereby it approved the rules as hereinafter set forth. No Group II rules have been included for the reason that the Group II rules recommended by the industry are of a type presently the subject of general study by the Commission. If, after completion of such study, it is determined that provisions of this type may be included as Group II rules for industries, an opportunity will then be afforded to the members of this industry to have such rules included.

The "good faith" explanatory note to subsection (e), Section I, of rule 9 of the proposed rules for this industry, released by the Commission on November 5, 1954, for hearing, has not been included since it involves questions which are at issue in pending formal cases now before the Commission. When such questions have been resolved, opportunity will be afforded to have included in the rules a note on the subject.

The rules as approved become operative thirty (30) days after date of promulgation.

The rules. These rules promulgated by the Commission are designed to foster and promote the maintenance of fair competitive conditions in the interest of protecting industry, trade, and the public. It is to this end, and to the exclusion of any act or practice which fixes or controls prices through combination or agreement, or which unreasonably restrains trade or suppresses competition, or otherwise unlawfully injures, destroys, or prevents competition, that the rules are to be applied.

General statement. The unfair trade practices embraced in the rules herein are considered to be unfair methods of competition, unfair or deceptive acts or practices, or other illegal practices, prohibited under laws administered by the Federal Trade Commission; and appropriate proceedings in the public interest will be taken by the Commission to prevent the use, by any person, partnership, corporation, or other organization subject to its jurisdiction, of such unlawful practices in commerce.

AUTHORITY: §§ 227.0 to 227.11, inclusive, issued under sec. 6, 38 Stat. 722; 15 U. S. C. 46. Interpret or apply sec. 5, 38 Stat. 719, as amended; 15 U. S. C. 45.

§ 227.0 Definitions. (a) Members of the industry are the persons, firms, corporations (including manufacturers' sales branches and sales offices), and other organizations engaged in the wholesale distribution and sale of industry products to dealers and distributors for resale, or to other purchasers such as, but not limited to, plumbing, heating, sheet-metal, and piping contractors, commercial and industrial users, governmental bodies, and institutions purchasing for business uses.

(b) The term "industry products" includes plumbing and heating equipment and supplies; also, such air-conditioning equipment and supplies as are marketed for permanent installation.

§ 227.1 Misrepresentation and deception in general. It is an unfair trade practice, in connection with the distribution, sale, or offering for sale of industry products, to use, or cause or promote the use of, any trade promotional literature, advertising matter, guarantee, warranty, mark, brand, label, trade name, picture, design or device, designation, or other type of oral or written representation, however disseminated or published, or to fail to disclose any material fact, when such representation or failure to disclose has the capacity and tendency or effect of misleading or deceiving purchasers or prospective purchasers with respect to the type, quality, grade, substance, size, weight, capacity, quantity, manufacture, or distribution of any product of the industry, or in any other material respect. [Rule 1]

§ 227.2 Misrepresentation as to character of business. It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry, in the course of or in connection with the distribution of industry products, to misrepresent, directly or indirectly, by means of advertising, letterheads, telephone listings, oral statements, or otherwise, the character, extent, or type of his business. [Rule 2]

§ 227.3 Deception as to nature of sales transactions. When an industry member sells industry products at both wholesale and at retail in the same establishment, it is an unfair trade practice for such industry member to sell any such products under circumstances having the capacity and tendency or effect of causing purchasers to be believe that they are buying at wholesale prices when such is not the case. [Rule 3]

§ 227.4 Misrepresenting products as conforming to standard. In connection with the sale or offering for sale of industry products, it is an unfair trade practice to represent, through advertising or otherwise, that such products conform to any standards recognized in or applicable to the industry when such is not the fact.

NOTE: Illustrative of the type of misrepresentation inhibited by this section is the practice of an industry member advertising or otherwise claiming that a product has been approved by a governmental authority or private agency, such as the Underwriters' Laboratories or the American Gas Association (AGA), with respect to meeting certain specifications or standards when in fact the product has not been so approved.

[Rule 4]

§ 227.5 Substitution of products. It is an unfair trade practice for a member of the industry to make an unauthorized substitution of products, where such a substitution has the capacity and tendency or effect of misleading or deceiving the purchasing or consuming public, by:

(a) Shipping or delivering industry products which do not conform to samples submitted, to specifications upon which the sale is consummated, or to representations made prior to securing the order, without advising the purchaser of the substitution and obtaining his consent thereto prior to making shipment or delivery; or

(b) Falsely representing the reason for making a substitution. [Rule 5]

§ 227.6 False invoicing, billing, etc. It is an unfair trade practice for a member of the industry to engage in false invoicing which has the capacity and tendency or effect of misleading or deceiving purchasers, prospective purchasers, competitors, or the consuming public, and which may result from any of the following practices:

(a) Withholding from, altering, or inserting in, invoices, billings, or sales slips any statements or information by reason of which omission, alteration, or insertion a false record is made, wholly or in part, of the transactions represented on the face of the invoices, billings, or sales slips; or

(b) Delivering products in a number less or more than called for on the delivery record or invoice (so-called "short count" or "long count").

NOTE: Illustrative of the type of practice inhibited by this section is the deliberate failure to disclose on an invoice or billing the correct quantity delivered. A further illustration of false invoicing is the omission on the invoice or billing of information to the effect that the products of the industry covered thereby are seconds or defective, when such is the fact. Further illustrative of a practice intended to be covered by this section is the furnishing by the wholesaler of a marked-up invoice to a plumbing contractor doing cost-plus work.

[Rule 6]

§ 227.7 Inducing breach of contract. (a) Knowingly inducing or attempting to induce the breach of existing lawful contracts between competitors and their customers or their suppliers, or interfering with or obstructing the performance of any such contractual duties or services, under any circumstances having the capacity and tendency or effect of substantially injuring or lessening present or potential competition, is an unfair trade practice.

(b) Nothing in this section is intended to imply that it is improper for any industry member to solicit the business of a customer of a competing industry member; nor is the section to be construed as in anywise authorizing any agreement, understanding, or planned common course of action by two or more industry members not to solicit business from the customers of either of them, or from customers of any other industry member. [Rule 7]

§ 227.8 Commercial bribery. It is an unfair trade practice for a member of the industry, directly or indirectly, to give, or offer to give, or permit or cause to be given, money or anything of value to agents, employees, or representatives of customers or prospective customers, or to agents, employees, or representatives of competitors' customers or prospective customers, without the knowledge of their employers or principals, as an inducement to influence their employers or principals to purchase or contract to purchase products sold by such industry member or the maker of such gift or offer, or to influence such employers or principals to refrain from dealing in the products of competitors or from dealing or contracting to deal with competitors, or to effect other advantage in favor of the industry member making such gift or offer with respect to the sale of industry products to such employers or principals.

NOTE: Among the practices inhibited by this section is the giving of a thing of value by an industry member to the purchasing agent of an industrial account, without the knowledge of the latter's employer or principal, in order to obtain in advance a schedule of the account's monthly requirements of industry products which is not likewise furnished to competing industry members.

[Rule 8]

§ 227.9 Prohibited discrimination[1]—(a) Prohibited discriminatory prices, rebates, refunds, discounts, credits, etc., which effect unlawful price discrimination. It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry engaged in commerce, in the course of such commerce, to grant or allow, secretly or openly, directly or indirectly, any rebate, refund, discount, credit, or other form of price differential, where such rebate, refund, discount, credit, or other form of price differential, effects a discrimination in price between different purchasers of goods of like grade and quality, where either or any of the purchases involved therein are in commerce, and where the effect thereof may be substantially to lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly in any line of commerce, or to injure, destroy, or prevent competition with any person who either grants or knowingly receives the benefit of such discrimination, or with customers of either of them: Provided, however:

(1) That the goods involved in any such transaction are sold for use, consumption, or resale within any place under the jurisdiction of the United States, and are not purchased by schools, colleges, universities, public libraries, churches, hospitals, or charitable institutions not operated for profit, as supplies for their own use;

(2) That nothing contained in this paragraph shall prevent differentials which make only due allowance for differences in the cost of manufacture, sale, or delivery resulting from the differing methods or quantities in which such commodities are to such purchasers sold or delivered;

NOTE: Cost justification under the above proviso depends upon net savings in cost based on all facts relevant to the transactions under the terms of subparagraph (2) of this paragraph. For example, if a seller regularly grants a discount based upon the purchase of a specified quantity by a single order for a single delivery, and this discount is justified by cost differences, it does not follow that the same discount can be cost justified if granted to a purchaser of the same quantity by multiple orders or for deliveries.

(3) That nothing contained in this section shall prevent persons engaged in selling goods, wares, or merchandise in commerce from selecting their own customers in bona fide transactions and not in restraint of trade;

(4) That nothing contained in paragraph (a) of this section shall prevent price changes from time to time where made in response to changing conditions affecting the market for or the marketability of the goods concerned, such as but not limited to obsolescence of seasonal goods, imminent deterioration of perishable goods, distress sales under court process, or sales in good faith in discontinuance of business in the goods concerned;

(5) That nothing contained in this section shall prevent the meeting in good faith of an equally low price of a competitor, or the services or facilities furnished by a competitor (see paragraphs (d) and (e) of this section).

NOTE: In complaint proceedings, justification of price differentials under subparagraphs (2), (4) and (5) of this paragraph is a matter of affirmative defense to be established by the person or concern charged with price discrimination.

(b) The following are examples of price differential practices to be considered as subject to the prohibitions of paragraph (a) of this section when involving goods of like grade and quality which are sold for use, consumption, or resale within any place under the jurisdiction of the United States, and which are not purchased by schools, colleges, universities, public libraries, churches, hospitals, or charitable institutions not operated for profit, as supplies for their own use, and when:

(1) The commerce requirements specified in paragraph (a) of this section are present; and

(2) The price differential has a reasonable probability of substantially lessening competition or tending to create a monopoly in any line of commerce, or of injuring, destroying, or preventing competition with the industry member or with the customer receiving the benefit of the price differential, or with customers of either of them; and

(3) The price differential is not justified by cost savings (see paragraph (a) (2) of this section); and

(4) The price differential is not made in response to changing conditions affecting the market for or the marketability of the goods concerned (see paragraph (a) (4) of this section); and

(5) The lower price was not made to meet in good faith an equally low price of a competitor (see paragraph (a) (5) of this section).

Example No. I. At the end of a given period an industry member grants a discount to a customer equivalent to a fixed percentage of the total of the customer's purchases during such period and fails to grant such discount to other customers under like conditions.

Example No. II. An industry member sells goods to one or more of his customers at a higher price than he charges other customers for like merchandise. It is immaterial whether or not such discrimination is accomplished by misrepresentation as to the grade and quality of the products sold.

Example No. III. An industry member makes a sale of industry products to a purchaser under an arrangement whereby the products are shipped by the industry member's supplier directly to such purchaser and charges a lower price than that charged other purchasers under similar circumstances, or a price which, when compared with the price charged purchasers on sales made out of the stock of the industry member, constitutes a discount greater than can be justified by the difference in costs resulting from the differing quantities or method of sale or delivery.

Example No. IV. An industry member sells to some customers industry products at prices of drop shipments when in fact such transactions are out-of-stock sales which are made to other customers at higher prices, even though the quantities involved are large enough to be delivered on a direct shipment basis. (As here used an "out-of-stock" sale is one from the industry member's stock on hand and a "drop shipment" sale is one in which the industry member arranges to have the goods shipped by the industry member's supplier directly to the industry member's customer.)

Example No. V. Terms of 2/10th prox. are granted by an industry member to some customers on goods purchased by them from the industry member. Another customer or customers are, nevertheless, allowed to take a 5 percent instead of a 2 percent discount when making payment to the industry member within the time prescribed.

(c) Prohibited brokerage and commissions. It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry engaged in commerce, in the course of such commerce, to pay or grant, or to receive or accept, anything of value as a commission, brokerage, or other compensation, or any allowance or discount in lieu thereof, except for services rendered in connection with the sale or purchase of goods, wares, or merchandise, either to the other party to such transaction or to an agent, representative, or other intermediary therein where such intermediary is acting in fact for or in behalf, or is subject to the direct or indirect control, of any party to such transaction other than the person by whom such compensation is so granted or paid.

(d) Prohibited advertising or promotional allowances, etc. It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry engaged in commerce to pay or contract for the payment of advertising or promotional allowances or any other thing of value to or for the benefit of a customer of such member in the course of such commerce as compensation or in consideration for any services or facilities furnished by or through such customer in connection with the processing, handling, sale, or offering for sale of any products or commodities manufactured, sold, or offered for sale by such member, unless such payment or consideration is available on proportionally equal terms to all other customers competing in the distribution of such products or commodities.

(e) Prohibited discriminatory services or facilities. It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry engaged in commerce to discriminate in favor of one purchaser against another purchaser or purchasers of a commodity bought for resale, with or without processing, by contracting to furnish or furnishing, or by contributing to the furnishing of, any services or facilities connected with the processing, handling, sale, or offering for sale of such commodity so purchased upon terms not accorded to all competing purchasers on proportionally equal terms.

(f) Inducing or receiving an illegal discrimination in price. It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry engaged in commerce, in the course of such commerce, knowingly to induce or receive a discrimination in price which is prohibited by the foregoing provisions of this section.

NOTE: The foregoing paragraph (f) of this section is a re-statement of section 2 (f) of the Clayton Act as amended. In a complaint proceeding under this section, in order to make out a prima facie violation, the Commission must show that the favored buyer induced or received the lower price knowing, or knowing facts from which he should have known, that such price was violative of section 2 (a) of said act and not justified under paragraph (a) (2), (4), or (5) of this section. When, in any such proceeding, the issue is limited to the question of whether the price differential involved made only due allowance for differences in cost of manufacture, sale, or delivery resulting from the differing methods or quantities in which the goods were sold and delivered, the Commission may establish a prima facie case in a number of ways, including:

(1) By showing that the buyer paying the lower price knew that the methods by, and quantities in which the goods were sold and delivered to him by the seller, were the same as in the case of the competing buyer or buyers paying the higher price or prices; or

(2) By showing, when there is a difference in the methods or quantities in which the goods were sold and delivered by the seller to the buyer than in the case of the competing buyer or buyers paying the higher price or prices, that the buyer paying the lower price or prices knew the nature and extent of such differences and knew or should have known that they could not have resulted in sufficient cost savings of the kind and character specified as to justify the price differential.

[Rule 9]

§ 227.10 Prohibited forms of trade restraints (unlawful price fixing, etc.)[2] It is an unfair practice for any member of the industry, either directly or indirectly, to engage in any planned common course of action, or to enter into or take part in any understanding, agreement, combination, or conspiracy, with one or more members of the industry, or with any other person or persons, to fix or maintain the price of any goods or otherwise unlawfully to restrain trade; or to use any form of threat, intimidation, or coercion to induce any member of the industry or other person or persons to engage in any such planned common course of action, or to become a party to any such understanding, agreement, combination, or conspiracy. [Rule 10]

§ 227.11 Prohibited sales below cost. (a) The practice of selling products of the industry at a price less than the cost thereof to the seller, with the purpose or intent, and where the effect is, or where there is a reasonable probability that the effect will be, to substantially injure, suppress, or stifle competition or tend to create a monopoly, is an unfair trade practice.

(b) This section is not to be construed as prohibiting all sales below cost, but only such selling below the seller's cost as is resorted to and pursued with the wrongful intent or purpose referred to and where the effect is, or where there is reasonable probability that the effect will be, to substantially injure, suppress, or stifle competition or to create a monopoly. Among the situations in which the requisite purpose or intent would ordinarily be lacking are cases in which such sales were: (1) Of seasonal goods near the conclusion of the season; (2) of perishable goods in respect to which deterioration is imminent; (3) of obsolescent goods; (4) made under judicial process; or (5) made in bona fide discontinuance of business in the goods concerned.

(c) As used in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, the term "cost" means the respective seller's cost and not an average cost in the industry whether such average cost be determined by an industry cost survey or some other method. It consists of the total outlay or expenditure by the seller in the acquisition, production, and distribution of the products involved, and comprises all elements of cost such as labor, material, depreciation, taxes (except taxes on net income and such other taxes as are not properly applicable to cost), and general overhead expenses, incurred by the seller in the acquisition, manufacture, processing, preparation for marketing, sale, and delivery of the products. Not to be included are dividends or interest on borrowed or invested capital, or nonoperating losses, such as fire losses and losses from the sale or exchange of capital assets. Operating cost should not be reduced by items of nonoperating income, such as income from investments, and gain on the sale of capital assets.

(d) Nothing in this section shall be construed as relieving an industry member from compliance with any of the requirements of the Robinson-Patman Act. [Rule 11]

Issued: April 11, 1955.

Promulgated by the Federal Trade Commission April 14, 1955.

[F. R. Doc. 55-3090; Filed, Apr. 13, 1955; 8:51 a. m.]

[1] As used in § 227.9, the word "commerce" means "trade or commerce among the several States and with foreign nations, or between the District of Columbia or any Territory of the United States and any State, Territory, or foreign nation, or between any insular possessions or other places under the jurisdiction of the United States, or between any such possession or place and any State or Territory of the United States or the District of Columbia or any foreign nation, or within the District of Columbia or any Territory or any insular possession or other place under the jurisdiction of the United States."

[2] The inhibitions of this section are subject to Public Law 542, approved July 14, 1952, 66 Stat. 632 (the McGuire Act) which provides that with respect to a commodity which bears, or the label or container of which bears, the trade-mark, brand, or name of the producer or distributor of such commodity and which is in free and open competition with commodities of the same general class produced or distributed by others, a seller of such a commodity may enter into a contract or agreement with a buyer thereof which establishes a minimum or stipulated price at which such commodity may be resold by such buyer when such contract or agreement is lawful as applied to intrastate transactions under the laws of the State, Territory, or territorial jurisdiction in which the resale is to be made or to which the commodity is to be transported for such resale, and when such contract or agreement is not between manufacturers, or between wholesalers, or between brokers, or between factors, or between retailers, or between persons, firms, or corporations in competition with each other.

TITLE 49—TRANSPORTATION

Chapter I—Interstate Commerce Commission

Subchapter B—Carriers by Motor Vehicle

PART 182—UNIFORM SYSTEM OF ACCOUNTS FOR CLASS I COMMON AND CONTRACT MOTOR CARRIERS OF PROPERTY

ACCOUNTING PERIOD

At a session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Division 1, held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 6th day of April A. D. 1955.

The matter of accounting regulations for motor carriers being under consideration pursuant to provisions of section 204 (a) of the Interstate Commerce Act, as amended (49 Stat. 546, 54 Stat. 921, 49 U. S. C. 304), and the following modification of the Uniform System of Accounts for Class I Motor Carriers of Property, Issue of 1952, being deemed necessary for proper administration of Part II of the act:

It is ordered, that:

(1) Section 182.01-3 Accounting period, shall be modified by deleting from paragraph (a) thereof the second sentence and substituting the following for it: "A trial balance of the general ledger accounts shall be prepared at the close of each month."

(2) This order shall be effective June 1, 1955.

(49 Stat. 546, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 304)

Since the above modification as ordered has no effect but to cancel the requirement that trial balances so prepared shall be retained as a permanent record, the rule making provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act are found not to apply to this order.

It is further ordered, that a copy of this order shall be served on each Class I common or contract motor carrier of property subject to Part II of the act and on every trustee, receiver, executor, administrator, or assignee of any such motor carrier, and notice of this order shall be given to the general public by depositing a copy thereof in the office of the Secretary of the Commission at Washington, D. C., and by filing it with the Director of the Division of the Federal Register.

By the Commission, Division 1.

[SEAL] HAROLD D. MCCOY,
Secretary.

CITIES SERVICE GAS PRODUCING CO.

ORDER INSTITUTING INVESTIGATION AND FIXING DATE OF HEARING

Cities Service Gas Producing Company, a Delaware corporation having its principal place of business in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, is engaged in the production of natural gas in the Pampa (West Panhandle) field in Texas and the Texas County (Guymon-Hugoton) field in Oklahoma and in the sale thereof in interstate commerce for resale for ultimate public consumption for domestic, commercial, industrial, and other uses, and, therefore, is a natural-gas company within the meaning of the Natural Gas Act, as heretofore found by the Commission by order issued November 30, 1954, at Docket No. G-2737.

On the basis of data available to the Commission, it appears that the rates, charges, services, and classifications for or in connection with the sale of natural gas by Cities Service Gas Producing Company, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, and rules, regulations, practices, and contracts relating thereto may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and proper, in the public interest, and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act, that an investigation be instituted by the Commission on its own motion into and concerning all rates, charges, or classifications demanded, observed, charged, or collected by Cities Service Gas Producing Company for or in connection with any transportation or sale of natural gas, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, and any rules, regulations, practices, or contracts affecting such rates, charges or classifications.

The Commission orders:

(A) An investigation of Cities Service Gas Producing Company be and it hereby is instituted for the purpose of enabling the Commission (1) to determine with respect to said Cities Service Gas Producing Company whether in connection with any transportation or sale of natural gas, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, any rates, charges, or classifications demanded, observed, charged, or collected, or any rules, regulations, practices, or contracts affecting such rates, charges, or classifications are unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential; and (2) if the Commission, after hearing has been had, shall find that any such rates, charges, classifications, rules, regulations, practices, or contracts are unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, to determine and fix by appropriate order or orders, just and reasonable rates, charges, classifications, rules, regulations, practices, or contracts to be thereafter observed and in force.

(B) Pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 5 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a public hearing be held commencing on May 16, 1955, at 10:00 a. m., e. d. s. t. in a Hearing Room of the Commission at 441 G Street NW., Washington 25, D. C., concerning the matters specified in paragraph (A) above.

(C) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)).

Adopted: April 6, 1955.

Issued: April 8, 1955.

This amendment shall be effective April 15, 1955.

This amendment revokes the designation as regulated areas of a number of warehouses, mills, and other premises, it having been determined by the Chief of the Plant Pest Control Branch that adequate sanitation measures have been practiced for a sufficient length of time to eradicate the khapra beetle in and upon such premises. It also adds additional premises to the list of warehouses, mills, and other premises in which khapra beetle infestations have been determined to exist, and designates such premises as regulated areas under the khapra beetle quarantine and regulations. It further corrects certain designations of presently regulated areas.

This amendment supplements khapra beetle quarantine regulations already effective. It also relieves restrictions insofar as it revokes the designation of certain regulated areas. It must be made effective promptly in order to carry out the purposes of the regulations and to permit unrestricted movement of regulated products from the premises being removed from designation as regulated areas. Accordingly, under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003), it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the foregoing amendment are impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and good cause is found for making the effective date thereof less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

[Docket 6254]

SPADA DISTRIBUTING CO., INC.

Subpart—Discriminating in price under section 2, Clayton Act, as amended—Payment or acceptance of commission, brokerage, or other compensation under 2 (c): § 3.820 Direct buyers. In connection with the purchase of food products in commerce, receiving or accepting, directly or indirectly, from any seller, anything of value as a commission, brokerage, or other compensation, or any allowance or discount in lieu thereof, upon or in connection with any purchase of food products or other commodities made for its own account, or where the respondent is the agent, representative, or other intermediary acting for, or in behalf of, or subject to the direct or indirect control of any buyer; prohibited.

(Sec. 2 (c), 49 Stat. 1527; 15 U. S. C. 13 (c))

[Cease and desist order, Spada Distributing Comany, Inc., Portland, Oreg., Docket 6254, March 11, 1955]

This proceeding was heard by Abner E. Lipscomb, hearing examiner, upon the complaint of the Commission, which charged respondent with receiving and accepting, directly or indirectly, commissions, brokerage fees or other compensation, allowances or discounts in lieu thereof from sellers in connection with the purchase in commerce of food products for its own account, in violation of subsection (c) of section 2 of the Clayton Act, as amended by the Robinson-Patman Act, and upon a Stipulation for Consent Order disposing of all the issues involved in the proceeding, submitted to the hearing examiner pursuant to agreement entered into by respondent through its president with counsel supporting the complaint.

By the terms of said stipulation, respondent admitted all the jurisdictional allegations set forth in the complaint, and agreed that the record in the matter might be taken as if the Commission had made findings of jurisdictional facts in accordance therewith, and all parties requested that the answer of respondent, theretofore filed, be withdrawn, and expressly waived the filing of answer, a hearing before a hearing examiner of the Commission, the making of findings as to the facts or conclusions of law by the hearing examiner or the Commission, the filing of exceptions and oral argument before the Commission and all further and other procedure before the hearing examiner and the Commission to which respondent might be entitled under the Clayton Act, as amended, or the rules of practice of the Commission.

It was further agreed by respondent that the order contained in the stipulation should have the same force and effect as if made after full hearing, presentation of evidence and findings and conclusions thereon, respondent specifically waiving any and all right, power, or privilege to challenge or contest the validity of such order, and that said Stipulation for Consent Order, together with the complaint, should constitute the entire record in the proceeding, upon which the initial decision should be based, and it was further set forth that the complaint in the matter might be used in construing the terms of the order, which might be altered, modified, or set aside in the manner provided by statute for orders of the Commission, and that the signing of said Stipulation for Consent Order was for settlement purposes only, and did not constitute an admission by respondent of any violation of law alleged in the complaint.

Thereafter, said hearing examiner made his initial decision in which he set forth the aforesaid matters and his conclusion, in view of the facts above indicated and the further fact that the order embodied in the aforesaid stipulation was identical with the order accompanying the complaint, that such order would safeguard the public interest to the same extent as could be accomplished by the issuance of an order after full hearing and all other adjudicative procedure waived in said stipulation, and, accordingly, in consonance with the terms thereof, granted the request for withdrawal of respondent's answer, accepted the Stipulation for Consent Order submitted in the matter, found that the proceeding was in the public interest, and issued order to cease and desist.

No appeal having been filed from said initial decision of said hearing examiner, as provided for in Rule XXII of the Commission's rules of practice, nor any other action taken as thereby provided to prevent said initial decision becoming the decision of the Commission thirty days from service thereof upon the parties, said initial decision, including said order, accordingly, under the provisions of said Rule XXII, became the decision of the Commission on March 11, 1955.

Said order is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondent Spada Distributing Company, Inc., a corporation, its officers, and its respective representatives, agents, or employees, directly or indirectly, or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the purchase of food products in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the aforesaid Clayton Act, do forthwith cease and desist from:

Receiving or accepting, directly or indirectly, from any seller, anything of value as a commission, brokerage, or other compensation, or any allowance or discount in lieu thereof, upon or in connection with any purchase of food products or other commodities made for its own account, or where the respondent is the agent, representative, or other intermediary acting for, or in behalf of, or subject to the direct or indirect control of any buyer.

By "Decision of the Commission and Order to File Report of Compliance," Docket 6254, March 11, 1955, which announced and decreed fruition of said initial decision, report of compliance was required as follows:

It is ordered, That respondent Spada Distributing Company, Inc., a corporation, shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon it of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which it has complied with the order to cease and desist.

Issued: March 11, 1955.

By the Commission.

PART 3—DIGEST OF CEASE AND DESIST ORDERS

NORTHERN BROKERAGE CO. ET AL.

Subpart—Discriminating in price under section 2, Clayton Act, as amended—Payment or acceptance of commission, brokerage, or other compensation under 2 (c): § 3.800 Buyers' agents; § 3.820 Direct buyers. In connection with the purchase of food products in commerce, and on the part of respondent, Northern Brokerage Co., its officers, respondent George M. Krischel, individually and as an officer of Northern Brokerage Co. and Northern Produce Exchange Co., and their respective representatives, etc., directly or indirectly, or through any corporate or other device in aforesaid connection, receiving or accepting, directly or indirectly, from any seller, anything of value as a commission, brokerage or other compensation, or any allowance or discount in lieu thereof, upon any purchase of food products by or for the account of Northern Produce Exchange Co., where George M. Krischel or any other officer of the Northern Brokerage Co. are officers of or have a substantial stock ownership in or control of Northern Produce Exchange Co., either directly or through family ownership of the stock, or where either of the respondents, Northern Brokerage Co. or George M. Krischel, or both, are the agents, representatives or other intermediaries, or where it or he is acting for or in behalf of, or where it or he is subject to the direct or indirect control of Northern Produce Exchange Co., or any other buyer; and, in the aforesaid connection, and on the part of respondent Northern Produce Exchange Co., its officers, respondent George M. (Sec. 2 (c), 49 Stat. 1527; 15 U. S. C. 13 (c)) [Cease and desist order, Northern Brokerage Co. et al., Rockford, Ill., Docket 6274, March 10, 1955.]

In the Matter of Northern Brokerage Co., a Corporation, Northern Produce Exchange Co., a Corporation, and George M. Krischel, Individually and as President of Northern Brokerage Co. and Vice President of Northern Produce Exchange Co.

This proceeding was heard by Abner E. Lipscomb, hearing examiner, upon the complaint of the Commission, which charged respondents with violating and having violated the provisions of subsection (c) of section 2 of the Clayton Act, as amended by the Robinson-Patman Act, and upon respondents' answer, which admitted all the material allegations of fact set forth in said complaint, and which, as such an answer, under the provisions of Rule VIII (a) of the Commission's rules of practice, constituted a waiver of respondents' rights to a hearing as to the facts alleged in the complaint and of all other intervening procedure.

Thereafter, the hearing examiner, pursuant to the provisions of the aforesaid rule which also provides that when such an answer is filed, said examiner shall make findings as to the facts and conclusions based upon such complaint and answer, and issue an order disposing of the proceeding, made his initial decision in which, having duly considered the record in the matter, and having found that the proceeding was in the interest of the public, he made certain findings as to the facts and conclusions drawn therefrom, and, in consonance therewith, issued order to cease and desist.

No appeal having been filed from said initial decision of said hearing examiner, as provided for in Rule XXII of the Commission's rules of practice, nor any other action taken as thereby provided to prevent said initial decision becoming the decision of the Commission thirty days from service thereof upon the parties, said initial decision, including said order, accordingly, under the provisions of said Rule XXII, became the decision of the Commission on March 10, 1955.

Said order is as follows:

It is ordered, That the Respondent, Northern Brokerage Co., a corporation, its officers and the individual Respondent, George M. Krischel, individually and as an officer of Northern Brokerage Co. and Northern Produce Exchange Co., and their respective representatives, agents, and employees, directly or indirectly, or through any corporate or other device in connection with the purchase of food products in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the aforesaid Clayton Act, do forthwith cease and desist from receiving or accepting, directly or indirectly, from any seller, anything of value as a commission, brokerage or other compensation, or any allowance or discount in lieu thereof, upon any purchase of food products by or for the account of Northern Produce Exchange Co., where George M. Krischel or any other officer of the Northern Brokerage Company are officers of or have a substantial stock ownership in or control of Northern Produce Exchange Co., either directly or through family ownership of the stock, or where either of the Respondents, Northern Brokerage Co. or George M. Krischel, or both, are the agents, representatives or other intermediaries, or where it or he is acting for or in behalf of, or where it or he is subject to the direct or indirect control of Northern Produce Exchange Co., or any other buyer.

It is further ordered, That the Respondent Northern Produce Exchange Co., a corporation, its officers and the individual Respondent, George M. Krischel, while an officer of or major stockholder in said corporation, and their respective representatives, agents or employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the purchase of food products in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the aforesaid Clayton Act, do forthwith cease and desist from receiving or accepting, directly or indirectly, from any seller anything of value as a commission, brokerage, or other compensation, or any allowance or discount in lieu therof, upon any purchase of food products by or for their account or the account of any of them.

By "Decision of the Commission and Order to File Report of Compliance", Docket 6274, March 10, 1955, which announced and decreed fruition of said initial decision, report of compliance was required as follows:

It is ordered, That respondents Northern Brokerage Co., a corporation, Northern Produce Exchange Co., a corporation, and George M. Krischel, individually and as President of Northern Brokerage Co. and Vice President of Northern Produce Exchange Co., shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with the order to cease and desist.

Issued: March 10, 1955.

In the matter of amending the definition and standard of identity for enriched farina:

On January 26, 1955, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (20 F. R. 565) setting forth a proposal to amend the definition and standard of identity for enriched farina (21 CFR 15.140) and allowing 30 days for interested persons to submit their views regarding the proposal. Upon consideration of the views presented and other relevant information, it is concluded that honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers will be promoted by amending the standard as proposed.

Therefore, pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 401, 52 Stat. 1046, as amended by 68 Stat. 54, 55; 21 U. S. C. 341) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (20 F. R. 1996), paragraph (a) (1) of § 15.140 Enriched farina; identity; label statement of optional ingredients is amended to read as follows:

(1) It contains in each pound not less than 2.0 milligrams and not more than 2.5 milligrams of thiamine, not less than 1.2 milligrams and not more than 1.5 milligrams of riboflavin, not less than 16.0 milligrams and not more than 20.0 milligrams of niacin or niacinamide, and not less than 13.0 milligrams of iron (Fe).

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may at any time prior to the thirtieth day from the date of publication of this order in the FEDERAL REGISTER file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, Health, Education, and Welfare Building, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington 25, D. C., written objections thereto. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by the order, shall specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and the grounds for the objections, and shall request a public hearing upon the objections. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof. All documents shall be filed in quintuplicate.

Effective date. This order shall become effective on the sixtieth day after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, except as to any of its provisions that may be stayed by the filing of objections thereto. Notice of the filing of objections, or lack thereof, will be announced by publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 701, 52 Stat. 1055; 21 U. S. C. 371. Interprets or applies sec. 401, 52 Stat. 1046, as amended 68 Stat. 54; 21 U. S. C. 341)

He shall also submit in connection with his request a sample consisting of not less than 6 packages of the ointment and (unless it was previously submitted) a sample consisting of 5 packages containing approximately equal portions of not less than 0.5 gram each of the neomycin used in making such batch.

Notice and public procedure are not necessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order, and I so find, since it was drawn in collaboration with interested members of the affected industry and since it would be against public interest to delay providing for the amendments set forth above.

This order shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, since both the public and the affected industry will benefit by the earliest effective date, and I so find.

All claims which do not exceed the deductions in the policy are chargeable to vessel expense and shall be accounted for in accordance with current accounting and/or auditing instructions. When settling any claim, the General Agent shall advise the claimant that such settlement is not to be construed as an admission of liability by or on behalf of the Owner, or its General Agents and Berth Agents or their Sub-Agents, but that the settlement is a compromise of a disputed claim. General Agents shall be expected to apply sound judgment and follow standard practices of steamship operators in the settlement or other disposition of P & I claims and shall avail themselves of the advice and assistance of the Underwriter, and may also consult with the appropriate District Counsel of the Maritime Administration, and the Chief, Division of Insurance, Office of Comptroller, Maritime Administration, Washington 25, D. C., and to the Attorney General, Admiralty and Shipping Section, Department of Justice, Washington 25, D. C. NOTICE OF FILING OF PETITION FOR ESTABLISHMENT OF TOLERANCES FOR RESIDUES OF DIELDRIN

Pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, as amended (sec. 408 (d) (1)); 68 Stat. 512; 21 U. S. C. 348 (d) (1)), the following notice is issued:

A petition has been filed by Shell Chemical Corporation, 50 West Fiftieth Street, New York, New York, proposing that the tolerances for dieldrin on apples, pears, and quinces; peaches, nectarines, and apricots; cherries; and onions be amended by increasing the tolerances from 0.1 part per million to 1 part per million.

The petition also proposes that tolerances for dieldrin be established at 1 part per million on the following raw agricultural commodities:

Avocados and papayas.
Berries of the bramble type.
Blueberries.
Citrus fruits (including grapefruit, lemons, oranges, and tangerines).

Grass crops (pasture and range grass, timothy, grass hay).

An analytical method for determining residues of dieldrin, referred to in the petition, is referenced: Sun and Sun—Microbioassay of Insecticides, with Special Reference to Aldrin and Dieldrin, Jour. Econ. Ent., 45, 26 (Feb. 1952).

Another method, designated in the petition as "Reduction-Phenyl Azide-Photometric Method for Dieldrin," is described in general terms as follows:

The specific determination of dieldrin is accomplished through the conversion of dieldrin to an aldrin-like compound, which is determined by the aldrin-phenyl azide procedure. This technique, known as the reduction-phenyl azide-photometric method, consists of the following essential steps: Dieldrin is heated with a mixture of acetic and hydrobromic acids which opens the epoxide ring to form a bromo-acetoxy derivative. Further heating in the presence of zinc dust reduces the bromo-acetoxy compound resulting in a partially dechlorinated aldrin-like compound having an olefinic bond in the unchlorinated bicycloheptene ring. The dieldrin reduction product is extracted into a hydrocarbon phase and is determined by the phenyl azide-photometric method as used for the determination of aldrin (O'Donnell et al.—Chemical Determination of Aldrin in Crop Materials, Agri. and Food Chem., 2, 573 (May 26, 1954)).

The method, based on the foregoing reactions and in combination with the recommended cleanup procedures, is subject to less than 0.03 part per million interference as apparent dieldrin from the presence in the crop or tissues of 10 parts per million of aldrin, DDT, endrin, heptachlor, gamma isomer of benzene hexachloride, methoxychlor, or parathion; 3 parts per million of chlordane; or 1 part per million of toxaphene.

The precision of the method is ± 0.02 part per million from the mean of the duplicated analyses. The mean of triplicate results should not differ from the true value by more than ± 0.03 part per million.

Dated: April 11, 1955.

Commissioner of Food and Drugs.

§ 50.21 Class 104 licenses. A Class 104 license will be issued, to an applicant who qualifies, to transfer or receive in interstate commerce, manufacture, produce, transfer, acquire, possess, use, import, or export under the terms of an agreement for cooperation:

(a) A utilization facility for use in medical therapy; or

(b) A production or utilization facility involved in the conduct of research and development activities leading to the demonstration of the practical value of the facility for industrial or commercial purposes; or

(c) A production or utilization facility, which is useful in the conduct of research and development activities of the types specified in section 31 of the act, and which is not a facility of the type specified in paragraph (b) of this section.

§ 50.22 Class 103 licenses. A Class 103 license will be issued, to an applicant who qualifies, to transfer or receive in interstate commerce, manufacture, produce, transfer, acquire, possess, use, import, or export under the terms of an agreement for cooperation, a production or utilization facility which is of a type found in writing by the Commission, to have been sufficiently developed to be of practical value for industrial or commercial purposes.

§ 50.23 Construction permits. A construction permit will be issued preliminarily to the issuance of a license, for the construction or modification of a production or utilization facility, and will be converted upon due completion and Commission action into a license of the appropriate class.

APPLICATIONS FOR LICENSES, FORM, CONTENTS, INELIGIBILITY OF CERTAIN APPLICANTS

§ 50.30 Applications for licenses, oath or affirmation. Each application for a license, including whenever appropriate a construction permit, should be filed in triplicate with the Commission at 1901 Constitution Avenue, Washington 25, D. C., Attention: Division of Licensing. Each application shall be signed by the applicant or duly authorized officer thereof under oath or affirmation.

§ 50.31 Combining applications. An applicant may combine in one his several applications for different kinds of licenses under the regulations in this chapter.

§ 50.32 Elimination of repetition. In his application, the applicant may incorporate by reference, with adequate citation thereto, pertinent information already on file with the Commission or contained in another application filed simultaneously by him.

§ 50.33 Contents of applications; general information. Each application shall state:

(a) The full name, address, age (if an individual), and citizenship of the applicant. If the applicant is a corporation or other entity, it shall indicate the State where it was incorporated or organized, the location of the principal office, the names, addresses, and citizenship of its principal officers, and shall furnish information known to the applicant concerning the control or ownership, if any, exercised over applicant by any alien, foreign corporation, or foreign government.

(b) The class of license applied for, the applicant's technical and financial qualifications therefor, the use to which the facility will be put, the period of time for which the license is sought, and a list of other licenses, except operator's licenses, issued or applied for in connection with the proposed facility.

(c) If the applicant proposes to construct or modify a production or utilization facility, the earliest and latest dates for completion of the construction or modification.

(d) If the proposed activity is the generation and distribution of electric energy under a Class 103 license, a list of the names and addresses of such regulatory agencies as may have jurisdiction over the rates and services of the proposed activity, and of those municipalities, private utilities, public bodies, and cooperatives, which are within transmission distance and which are authorized to engage in the distribution of electric energy within the area.

(e) Additional information, which the applicant may consider pertinent or the Commission may request. If the application contains Restricted Data or other defense information it shall be prepared in such manner that all Restricted Data and other defense information are separated from the unclassified information.

§ 50.34 Contents of applications; technical information. To the extent appropriate for the type license, each application shall state the following technical information:

(a) A description of the chemical, physical, metallurgical, or nuclear process to be performed, and a statement of the kind and quantity of any radioactive effluent expected to result from the process. The description of the process should be sufficiently detailed to permit evaluation of the radioactive hazards involved. The magnitude of the proposed operation should be indicated in terms of the amount and radioactivity of source, special nuclear, or by-product material to be handled per unit of time, and thermal power to be generated if any.

(b) A description of the facility. The description should be based on the design criteria for the facility as a whole and for those major component parts which are essential to the safe operation of the facility, and should be presented in sufficient detail to allow an evaluation of the adequacy of the various means proposed to minimize the probability of danger from radioactivity to persons both on and offsite. The description should also cover any activities, other than those subject to license, proposed to be carried on in the building which will house the facility and on the balance of the site.

(c) A description of the site on which the facility is to be located. This should include a map of the area showing the location of the site and indicating the use to which the surrounding land is put, i. e., industrial, commercial, agricultural, residential; and a scale plot plan of the site showing the proposed location of the facility.

(d) A description of proposed procedures for: routine and non-routine operations, start-up and shut-down, maintenance, storage, training of employees, minimizing operational mishaps (such as locked controls, check-lists, and close supervision), investigating unusual or unexpected incidents; and a description of such other details as may be useful in evaluating the existence and effectiveness of safeguards against the radioactive hazards in the operation of the facility.

(e) A description of plans or proposals in the event that acts or accidents occur which would create radioactive hazards. The description should relate the various operational procedures, the protective devices, and the pertinent features of the site, to such happenings as operational mistakes, equipment or instrument failure or malfunction, fire, electric power failure, flood, earthquake, storm, strike, and riot.

(f) Meteorological, hydrological, geological, and seismological data necessary for evaluating the measures proposed for protecting the public against possible radioactive hazards.

(g) An evaluation of the proposed measures and devices to prevent acts or accidents which would create radioactive hazards or to protect against the consequences should such acts or accidents occur.

§ 50.35 Extended time for providing technical information. Where, because of the nature of a proposed project, an applicant is not in a position to supply initially all of the technical information otherwise required to complete the application, he shall indicate the reason, the items or kinds of information omitted, and the approximate times when such data will be produced. If the Commission is satisfied that it has sufficient information to deal provisionally with the application and reasonable assurance that the omitted information will be supplied, it may process the application on a provisional basis without the omitted information subject to its later production.

§ 50.36 Designation of technical specifications. The Commission will indicate, by notice to the applicant, which of the items of technical information will be deemed to be technical specifications that become part of the license or construction permit if issued. In giving such notice the Commission will afford the applicant reasonable opportunity to amend or revise the technical information supplied before proceeding further to process the application.

§ 50.37 Agreement limiting access to restricted data. As part of his application and in any event prior to the receipt of Restricted Data or the issuance of a license or construction permit, the applicant shall agree in writing that he will not permit any individual to have access to Restricted Data until the Civil Service Commission shall have made an investigation and report to the Commission on the character, associations, and loyalty of such individual, and the Commission shall have determined that permitting such person to have access to Restricted Data will not endanger the common defense and security. The agreement of the applicant in this regard shall be deemed part of the license or construction permit, whether so stated therein or not.

§ 50.38 Ineligibility of certain applicants. Any person who is a citizen, national, or agent of a foreign country, or any corporation, or other entity which the Commission knows or has reason to believe is owned, controlled, or dominated by an alien, a foreign corporation, or a foreign government, shall be ineligible to apply for and obtain a license except a license authorizing export only pursuant to an agreement for cooperation.

§ 50.39 Applications open for public inspection. All applications for licenses filed with the Commission will be available for public inspection. The classified portion of any application will be made available for inspection in accordance with existing procedures and requirements for the protection of Restricted Data and other defense information.

STANDARDS FOR LICENSES AND CONSTRUCTION PERMITS

§ 50.40 Common standards. In determining that a license will be issued to an applicant, the Commission will be guided by the following considerations:

(a) The processes to be performed, the operating procedures, the facility and equipment, the protective devices, the location or place of use of the facility, and other technical specifications, or the proposals in regard to any of the foregoing, collectively provide reasonable assurance that the health and safety of the public will not be endangered.

(b) The applicant is qualified by reason of his reliability, technical competence, and financial responsibility, where these are factors.

(c) The issuance of a license to the applicant will not, in the opinion of the Commission, be inimical to the common defense and security or to the health and safety of the public.

§ 50.41 Additional standards for Class 104 licenses. In determining that a Class 104 license will be issued to an applicant, the Commission will, in addition to applying the standards set forth in § 50.40, be guided by the following considerations:

(a) The Commission will permit the widest amount of effective medical therapy possible with the amount of special nuclear material available for such purposes.

(b) The Commission will permit the conduct of widespread and diverse research and development.

(c) Where there are applicants desirous of engaging in the conduct of research and development activities leading to the demonstration of the practical value of production or utilization facilities for industrial or commercial purposes, the Commission will give priority to activities which, in the opinion of the Commission, will lead to major advances of atomic energy for industrial or commercial purposes.

NOTE. The Commission has determined, in accordance with section 104b of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, that the regulations and terms of license applicable to a production or utilization facility in the conduct of research and development activities leading to the demonstration of practical value of such facility for industrial or commercial purposes are compatible with the regulations and terms of license which will apply in the event that a Class 103 license were later to be issued for the facility.

§ 50.42 Additional standards for Class 103 licenses. In determining that a Class 103 license will be issued to an applicant, the Commission will, in addition to applying the standards set forth in § 50.40, be guided by the following considerations:

(a) The proposed activities will serve a useful purpose proportionate to the quantities of special nuclear material or source material to be utilized.

(b) Due account will be taken of the advice provided by the Attorney General, pursuant to subsection 105c of the act. For this purpose, before issuing the license, the Commission will notify the Attorney General of the proposed license, and the terms and conditions thereof, and request the advice of the Attorney General as to whether or not the proposed license would tend to create or maintain a situation inconsistent with the antitrust laws, as specified in subsection 105a of the act: Provided, That this requirement will not apply with respect to the types of Class 103 licenses which the Commission, with the approval of the Attorney General, may determine would not significantly affect the applicant's activities under the antitrust laws. Upon receipt of the Attorney General's advice, the Commission will cause such advice to be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

§ 50.43 Additional standards and provisions affecting Class 103 licenses for commercial power. In addition to applying the standards set forth in §§ 50.40 and 50.42, in the case of a Class 103 license for a facility for the generation of commercial power:

(a) The Commission will give notice in writng of each application to such regulatory agency as may have jurisdiction over the rates and services of the proposed activity, and to municipalities, private utilities, public bodies, and cooperatives which are within transmission distance and which are authorized to engage in distribution of electric energy; and the Commission will publish notice of the application once each week for four consecutive weeks in the FEDERAL REGISTER. No license will be issued by the Commission prior to the giving of such notices and until four weeks after the last publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(b) If there are conflicting applications for a limited opportunity for such license, the Commission will give preferred consideration in the following order: first, to applications submitted by public or cooperative bodies for facilities to be located in high cost power areas in the United States; second, to applications submitted by others for facilities to be located in such areas; third, to applications submitted by public or cooperative bodies for facilities to be located in other than high cost power areas; and, fourth, to all other applicants.

(c) The licensee who transmits electric energy in interstate commerce, or sells it at wholesale in interstate commerce, shall be subject to the regulatory provisions of the Federal Power Act.

(d) Nothing herein shall preclude any government agency, now or hereafter authorized by law to engage in the production, marketing, or distribution of electric energy, if otherwise qualified, from obtaining a license for the construction and operation of a utilization facility for the primary purpose of producing electric energy for disposition for ultimate public consumption.

§ 50.44 Standards for licenses authorizing export only. Where a license is sought solely to authorize the export of production or utilization facilities, the Commission will determine whether the issuance of the license to the applicant for the facility involved is within the scope of and consistent with the terms of an agreement for cooperation with the nation to which the facility is to be exported.

§ 50.45 Standards for construction permits. An applicant for a license who proposes to construct or modify a production or utilization facility will be initially granted a construction permit, if the application is in conformity with and acceptable under the criteria of §§ 50.30 through 50.38 and the standards of §§ 50.40 through 50.43.

ISSUANCE, LIMITATIONS, AND CONDITIONS OF LICENSES AND CONSTRUCTION PERMITS

§ 50.50 Issuance of licenses and construction permits. Upon determination that an application for a license meets the standards and requirements of the act and regulations, and that notifications, if any, to other agencies or bodies have been duly made, the Commission will issue a license, or if appropriate a construction permit, in such form and containing such conditions and limitations including technical specifications, as it deems appropriate and necessary.

§ 50.51 Duration of license, renewal. Each license will be issued for a fixed period of time to be specified in the license, not to exceed the estimated useful life of the facility where its operation is involved, but in no case to exceed 40 years from the date of issuance. Licenses may be renewed by the Commission upon the expiration of the period.

§ 50.52 Combining licenses. The Commission may combine in a single license the activities of an applicant would otherwise be licensed severally.

§ 50.53 Jurisdictional limitations. No license under this part shall be deemed to have been issued for activities which are not under or within the jurisdiction of the United States except insofar as the export of production or utilization facilities is authorized.

NOTE: The Commission may authorize persons to engage in certain atomic energy activities abroad pursuant to an agreement for cooperation with a foreign nation or upon a determination that such activity will not be inimical to the interest of the United States, as provided in section 57a (3) of the act.

§ 50.54 Conditions of licenses. Whether stated therein or not, the following shall be deemed conditions in every license issued:

(a) Title to all special nuclear material utilized or produced by facilities pursuant to the license shall at all times be in the United States.

(b) No right to the special nuclear material shall be conferred by the license except as may be defined by the license.

(c) Neither the license, nor any right thereunder, nor any right to utilize or produce special nuclear material shall be transferred, assigned, or disposed of in any manner, either voluntarily or involuntarily, directly or indirectly, through transfer of control of the license to any person, unless the Commission shall, after securing full information, find that the transfer is in accordance with the provisions of the act, and give its consent in writing.

(d) The license shall be subject to suspension and to the rights of recapture of the material or control of the facility reserved to the Commission under section 108 of the act in a state of war or national emergency declared by Congress.

(e) The license shall be subject to revocation, suspension, modification, or amendment for cause as provided in the act and regulations, in accordance with the procedure provided by the act and regulations.

(f) The licensee will, at any time before expiration of the license, upon request of the Commission submit written statements, signed under oath or affirmation, to enable the Commission to determine whether or not the license should be modified or revoked.

(g) The issuance or existence of the license shall not be deemed to waive, or relieve the licensee from compliance with, the antitrust laws, as specified in subsection 105a of the act. In the event that the licensee should be found by a court of competent jurisdiction to have violated any provision of such antitrust laws in the conduct of the licensed activity, the Commission may suspend or revoke the license or take such other action with respect to it as shall be deemed necessary.

(h) The license shall be subject to the provisions of the act now or hereafter in effect and to all valid rules, regulations, and orders of the Commission. The terms and conditions of the license shall be subject to amendment, revision, or modification, by reason of amendments of the act or by reason of rules, regulations, and orders issued in accordance with the terms of the act.

(i) The licensee shall not permit the manipulation of the controls of any production or utilization facility by anyone who is not a licensed operator as provided in Part 55 of this chapter.

§ 50.55 Conditions of construction permits. Each construction permit shall be subject to the following terms and conditions:

(a) The permit shall state the earliest and latest dates for completion of the construction or modification. If the construction or modification is completed before the earliest date specified, the holder of the permit shall promptly notify the Commission for the purpose of accelerating final inspection and any scheduled delivery of materials from the Commission.

(b) If the proposed construction or modification of the facility is not completed by the latest completion date, the permit shall expire and all rights thereunder shall be forfeited: Provided, however, That upon good cause shown the Commission will extend the completion date. The Commission will recognize, among other things, fire, flood, explosion, strike, sabotage, domestic violence, enemy action, an act of the elements, and other acts beyond the control of the permit holder, as a basis for extending the completion date.

(c) Except as modified by this section, the construction permit shall be subject to the same conditions to which a license is subject.

(d) At or about the time of completion of the construction or modification of the facility, the applicant will file any additional information needed to bring the original application for license up to date.

§ 50.56 Conversion of construction permit to license. Upon completion of the construction or modification, in compliance with the terms and conditions of the construction permit, the Commission will, in the absence of good cause shown to the contrary issue a license of the class for which the construction permit was issued.

INSPECTIONS, RECORDS, REPORTS

§ 50.70 Inspections. Each licensee and each holder of a construction permit shall permit inspection, by duly authorized representatives of the Commission, of his records, premises, activities, and of licensed materials in possession or use, related to the license or construction permit as may be necessary to effectuate the purposes of the act, including section 105 of the act.

§ 50.71 Maintenance of records, making of reports. Each licensee and each holder of a construction permit shall maintain such records and make such reports, in connection with the licensed activity, as may be required by the conditions of the license or permit or by the rules, regulations, and orders of the Commission in effectuating the purposes of the act, including section 105 of the act.

CREDITORS' RIGHTS

§ 50.80 Creditor regulations. For the purposes provided in section 184 of the act, the Commission consents, without individual application, to the creation of any mortgage, pledge, or other lien on any production or utilization facility which is subject to a license, owned or thereafter acquired by the licensee, or upon any leasehold or other interest in such property: Provided, That the rights of a creditor so secured may be exercised only in compliance with and subject to the same requirements and restrictions as would apply to the licensee, by virtue of the license, the act, and the regulations thereunder. In obtaining or retaining mere possession, without use or other disposition, of the facility, the creditor shall not be required to procure a license.

AMENDMENT OF LICENSE OR CONSTRUCTION PERMIT AT REQUEST OF HOLDER

§ 50.90 Application for amendment of license or construction permit. Whenever a holder of a license or construction permit desires to alter or amend the license or permit, application for an amendment shall be filed with the Commission, fully describing the changes desired, and following as far as applicable the form prescribed for original applications.

§ 50.91 Issuance of amendment. In determining whether an amendment to a license or construction permit will be issued to the applicant, the Commission will be guided by the considerations which govern the issuance of initial licenses or construction permits, to the extent applicable and appropriate.

REVOCATION, SUSPENSION, MODIFICATION, AMENDMENT OF LICENSES AND CONSTRUCTION PERMITS, EMERGENCY OPERATIONS BY THE COMMISSION

§ 50.100 Revocation, suspension, modification, amendment of licenses and construction permits for cause. A license or construction permit may be revoked, suspended, modified, or amended, in whole or in part, for any material false statement in the application for license or in the supplemental or other statement of fact required of the applicant; or because of conditions revealed by the application for license or statement of fact or any report, record, inspection, or other means, which would warrant the Commission to refuse to grant a license on an original application; or for failure to construct or operate a facility in accordance with the terms of the construction permit or license: Provided, That failure to make timely completion of the proposed construction or modification of a facility under a construction permit shall be governed by the provisions of § 50.55 (b); or for violation of, or failure to observe, any of the terms and provisions of the act, regulations, license, permit, or lawful order of the Commission.

§ 50.101 Notice and opportunity for compliance prior to proceedings. In cases where the conditions or conduct warranting revocation, suspension, modification, or amendment of the license or permit under § 50.100 may be susceptible of correction or of being brought into full compliance by action of the licensee or permit holder, the Commission will, by notice, prior to the institution of any proceeding for revocation, suspension, modification, or amendment of the license or permit, afford the licensee or permit holder a reasonable opportunity to demonstrate or achieve compliance with the requirements: Provided, however, That where the failure to be in compliance is wilful or where, in the opinion of the Commission, the common defense and security or the health or safety of the public requires, such notice and opportunity for compliance may be omitted.

§ 50.102 Retaking possession of special nuclear material. Upon revocation of a license, the Commission may immediately retake possession of all special nuclear material held by the licensee.

§ 50.103 Emergency action by the Commission. In cases found by the Commission to be of extreme importance to the national defense and security, or to the health and safety of the public, the Commission may, without prior notice or hearing,

(a) Temporarily suspend a license or operation thereunder forthwith for a period not to exceed 60 days, or

(b) Recapture any special nuclear material held by the licensee, or

(c) Enter upon and operate the licensed facility, subject to payment thereafter of just compensation for the use of the facility: Provided, That within 10 days from the commencement of such temporary suspension or action, the Commission shall initiate proceedings for the revocation, suspension, modification, or amendment of the license or shall rescind the temporary suspension or action.

TOKYO SHOKO K. K. ET AL.

ORDER TEMPORARILY DENYING EXPORT PRIVILEGES

In the matter of Tokyo Shoko K. K., Tadami Maru, No. 9 Kyobashi 2-Chome, Chuo-Ku, Tokyo, Japan, and Yonesaburo Takeno, No. 14 Hirano-Machi 3-Chome, Higashi-Ku, Osaka, Japan, as officials thereof; Fojisawa Shoko K. K., Yonesaburo Takeno, an official thereof, No. 14 Hirano-Machi 3-Chome, Higashi-Ku, Osaka, Japan; Chunichi Seiyaku K. K., Toshio Kato, Motohisa Kato, officials thereof, No. 14 Daikancho, Tate, Higashiku, Nagoyashi, Japan; Levee and Company, S. K. Lai, I. K. Lai, owners thereof, 50 Queen's Road Central, Hong Kong; Levee and Company, S. K. Lai, I. K. Lai, owners thereof, Room 604, Fukoku Bldg, Uchisaiwai-Cho 2-Chome, Chiyoda-Ku, Tokyo, Japan; Respondents.

In accordance with the provisions of § 382.11 (b) of the Export Control Regulations (Title 15, Chapter III, Subchapter C, Code of Federal Regulations) the Director, Export Control Investigation Staff of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, United States Department of Commerce, on March 24, 1955, submitted an application for an order temporarily denying all United States export privileges to the above-named companies and individuals (herein referred to as the Respondents) alleging therein that there is reasonable cause to believe that the Respondents have violated the Export Control Act of 1949, as amended, and the regulations promulgated thereunder, that such violations are serious and wilful and may continue unless the Respondents' export privileges are temporarily curtailed, that an investigation in this country and abroad is now pending into their activities relating to United States exports, and that such curtailment is reasonable and necessary to protect the public interest pending the completion of administrative compliance proceedings which are to be instituted against the Respondents when the current investigation is completed.

The Acting Director, Office of Export Supply, Bureau of Foreign Commerce, thereafter designated Compliance Commissioner Paul M. Greene to receive and consider the evidence compiled by the Investigation Staff relating to the alleged violations and to make a report and recommendation thereon and such evidence was informally presented to the Compliance Commissioner at an exparte hearing held by him in Washington, D. C., on March 28, 1955, at which the Director, Export Control Investigation Staff and the Office of the General Counsel appeared by representatives, and the Compliance Commissioner thereafter submitted his report and recommendation.

The Director, Office of Export Supply, has reviewed the evidence considered by the Compliance Commissioner and the Commissioner's report and recommendation and has concluded that such evidence furnishes reasonable cause to believe that the Respondents were uncooperative with and made false and misleading statements to United States Foreign Service officials in Japan in connection with an investigation into the ultimate disposition of two (2) shipments of borax and boric acid valued at approximately $20,000.00 which had been exported from the United States in 1954, and sought to conceal and did conceal the final destination of the borax and boric acid which are suspected as having been diverted and transshipped to Red China contrary to United States export control law; that at least one (1) of such shipments, if not both, contained on the related shipping documents the required notice prohibiting the unauthorized diversion of the commodity from the licensed destination, Japan; that one of the Respondents, Chunichi Seiyaku K. K., reportedly has been a bankrupt since early in 1954 and its business operations have been suspended since that time despite which it made written representations to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce on two occasions in November 1954 that it was the consignee for United States origin borates; that with respect to another proposed exportation from the United States of 500 tons of borates valued at $35,045.00 Respondents Tokyo Shoko K. K. and Fujisawa Shoko K. K., reportedly interrelated firms, collaborated in obtaining an order therefor from Chunichi Seiyaku K. K. in November 1954 although knowing or having reason to know that Chunichi Seiyaku K. K. was not then in business and was a bankrupt and that Tokyo Shoko K. K. made representations to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, with the assistance of Chunichi Seiyaku K. K., to induce the issuance of an export license and to facilitate the exportation of the borate to Tokyo Shoko K. K. as the purported ultimate consignee and user in Japan; and that such proposed exportation was not permitted by the Bureau of Foreign Commerce upon learning of the bankrupt status of Chunichi Seiyaku K. K. and of the wilfully evasive and misleading oral statements of the other companies to the transaction concerning the true ultimate disposition of the borates as made to Foreign Service officials.

The evidence shows also that in addition to having appeared as parties to applications for United States export licenses the Respondents may be parties to further exportations of commodities from the United States pursuant to validated and general license.

The Director, Office of Export Supply, has concluded therefrom that there is probable cause to believe that the Respondents have violated the Export Control Act of 1949, as amended, and the regulations issued thereunder, and may continue to violate the same to the detriment of the United States security and economy unless they are prohibited from participating further in United States exportations of commodities pending the ultimate disposition of administrative compliance proceedings.

The Director, Office of Export Supply, has concluded therefore that the temporary denial of Respondents' United States export privileges is reasonable and necessary to protect the public interest, is justified by the evidence considered, is in accord with Bureau of Foreign Commerce policy, and that the Compliance Commissioner's recommendation that a temporary denial order be issued against the Respondents is fair and reasonable and should be adopted.

Now, to achieve effective enforcement of the export control law and regulations: It is hereby ordered:

(1) All outstanding validated export licenses held by or issued in the names of the Respondents, or any of them, or in which they appear or participate as purchaser, intermediate or ultimate consignee, or otherwise, are hereby revoked and shall be returned forthwith to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce for cancellation.

(2) The Respondents, and each of them, their successors or assigns, directors, officers, partners, representatives, agents, and employees, are hereby denied all privileges of participating directly or indirectly in any manner, form or capacity in an exportation of any commodity or technical data from the United States to any foreign destination, including Canada. Without limitation of the generality of the foregoing, participation in an exportation shall include and prohibit said respondents' and such other persons' and firms' participation (a) as a party or as a representative of a party to any validated export license applications; (b) in the obtaining or using of any validated or general export license or other export control document; (c) in the receiving, ordering, buying, selling, using, or disposing in any foreign country of any commodities in whole or in part exported from the United States; and (d) in the financing, forwarding, transporting, or other servicing of exports from the United States.

(3) Such denial of export privileges shall apply not only to the named Respondents, but also to any person, firm, corporation, or business organization with which they, or any of them, may be now or hereafter related by ownership, control, position of responsibility, or other connection in the conduct of trade involving exports from the United States or services connected therewith.

(4) This order shall take effect on the date appearing below and shall remain in effect until the administrative compliance proceedings now under preparation by the Bureau of Foreign Commerce against said Respondents, or any of them, shall be ultimately determined and disposed of, except insofar as this order may be hereafter extended, amended, or modified in accordance with the provisions of the export control regulations.

(5) No person, firm, corporation, or other business organization, within the United States or elsewhere, and whether or not engaged in trade relating to exports from the United States, shall without prior disclosure of the facts to, and specific authorization from, the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, directly or indirectly in any manner, form, or capacity (a) apply for, obtain, transfer, or use any license, shipper's declaration, bill of lading, or other export control document relating to any exportation of commodities from the United States, or (b) order, receive, buy, use, dispose of, finance, transport, forward, or otherwise service or participate in an exportation from the United States, or in a reexportation of any commodity exported from the United States with respect to which any of the persons or companies within the scope of paragraphs (2) and (3) herein above have any interest or participation of any kind or nature, direct or indirect.

(6) A certified copy of this order shall be served upon the named respondents by registered mail.

(7) In accordance with the provisions of Section 382.11 (c) of the export control regulations, the Respondents, or any of them, may move at any time prior to the entry of a final order of suspension to vacate or modify this temporary suspension order by filing an appropriate motion therefor with the Compliance Commissioner and may request oral hearing thereon, which, if requested, shall be held before the Compliance Commissioner in Washington, D. C., at the earliest possible date.

Dated: April 11, 1955.

Director,

MOUNTAIN STATE BROADCASTING CO., INC.

ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATION FOR HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re application of Mountain State Broadcasting Co., Inc., Morgantown,

West Virginia, for construction permit; Docket No. 11360, File No. BP-9471.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 6th day of April 1955;

The Commission having under consideration the above-entitled application of Mountain State Broadcasting Co., Inc., for a construction permit for a new standard broadcast station to operate on 1470 kilocycles with a power of 1 kilowatt, daytime only, at Morgantown, West Virginia;

It appearing that the applicant is legally, technically, financially and otherwise qualified to operate the proposed station, but that the application may not comply with the Standards of Good Engineering Practice, particularly with reference to overlap of the 2 mv/m contour of the subject proposal with the 25 mv/m contour of Station WVVW, Fairmont, West Virginia; and may cause interference within the 0.5 mv/m normally protected daytime contour of Station WVVW; and

It further appearing that pursuant to sectiton 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the subject applicant was advised by letter dated October 22, 1954 of the aforementioned deficiency and that the Commission was unable to conclude that a grant of the application would be in the public interest; and

It further appearing that the applicant filed a reply on March 11, 1955 and requested that its application be designated for hearing; and

It further appearing that on October 27, 1954 the Fairmont Broadcasting Company, licensee of Station WVVW, filed a request that the subject application be designated for hearing; and

It further appearing that the Commission, after consideration of the replies, is of the opinion that a hearing is necessary;

It is ordered, That pursuant to section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the said application is designated for hearing, at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent order, upon the following issues:

1. To determine the areas and populations which will be served by the operation of the subject proposed station; and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

2. To determine whether the installation and operation of the subject proposed station would be in compliance with the Commission's rules and Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Standard Broadcast Stations with particular reference to whether its 2 mv/m contour would overlap the 25 mv/m contour of Station WVVW, Fairmont, West Virginia.

3. To determine whether operation of the subject proposed station would involve interference with Station WVVW, Fairmont, West Virginia, or with any other existing standard broadcast station, and, if so, the nature and extent of such interference.

4. To determine, whether in light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issue, the operation of the station proposed by the subject applicant would serve the public interest, convenience and necessity.

It is further ordered, That the Fairmont Broadcasting Company, licensee of Station WVVW, Fairmont, West Virginia, is made a party to the proceeding.

Released: April 8, 1955.

(b) Order. (1) The quantity of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona which may be handled during the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., April 17, 1955, and ending at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., April 24, 1955, is hereby fixed as follows:

Shipments of grapefruit, grown as aforesaid, have been subject to regulation by grades and sizes, pursuant to the amended marketing agreement and order, since October 17, 1954, and will so continue until April 17, 1955; the recommendation and supporting information for continued regulation subsequent to April 16, 1955, was promptly submitted to the Department after an open meeting of the Administrative Committee on April 7; such meeting was held to consider recommendations for regulation, after giving due notice of such meeting, and interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit their views at this meeting; the provisions of this section, including the effective time thereof, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such grapefruit; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective during the period hereinafter set forth so as to provide for the continued regulation of the handling of grapefruit; compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject thereto which cannot be completed by the effective time thereof.

S. No. 2: Provided, That (a) not to exceed a total of 20 percent, by count, of the grapefruit in any lot may fail to meet the requirements of the U. S. No. 2 grade, but such total of 20 percent may not include more than 15 percent, by count, of grapefruit failing to meet the requirements of the U. S. No. 2 grade because of serious damage by dryness or mushy condition nor more than 10 percent, by count, of grapefruit failing to meet the requirements of the U. S. No. 2 grade because of serious damage by defects other than dryness or mushy condition; and (b) no individual container of such grapefruit may contain more than 20 percent, by count, of grapefruit which are seriously damaged by dryness or mushy condition; or

(ii) From the State of California or the State of Arizona (a) to any point outside thereof in the United States, any grapefruit, grown as aforesaid, which are of a size smaller than 3$^{6}/_{16}$ inches in diameter, or (b) to any point in Canada, any grapefruit, grown as aforesaid, which are of a size smaller than 3$^{6}/_{16}$ inches in diameter ("diameter" in each case to be measured midway at a right angle to a straight line running from the stem to the blossom end of the fruit), except that a tolerance of 5 percent, by count, of grapefruit smaller than the foregoing minimum sizes shall be permitted which tolerance shall be applied in accordance with the provisions for the application of tolerance, specified in the revised United States Standards for Grapefruit (California and Arizona), §§ 51.925 to 51.955 of this title: Provided, That, in determining the percentage of grapefruit in any lot which are smaller than 3$^{6}/_{16}$ inches in diameter, such percentage shall be based only on the grapefruit in such lot which are of a size 3$^{13}/_{16}$ inches in diameter and smaller; and in determining the percentage of grapefruit in any lot which are smaller than 3$^{6}/_{16}$ inches in diameter, such percentage shall be based only on the grapefruit in such lot which are of a size 3$^{10}/_{16}$ inches in diameter and smaller.

(2) As used in this section, "handler," "variety," "grapefruit," and "ship" shall have the same meaning as when used in said amended marketing agreement and order; and the terms "U. S. No. 2," "serious damage," and "dryness or mushy condition" shall have the same meaning as when used in the revised United States Standards for Grapefruit (California and Arizona), §§ 51.925 to 51.955 of this title.

TITLE 14—CIVIL AVIATION

Chapter I—Civil Aeronautics Board

Subchapter A—Civil Air Regulations

[CAM 60, Supp. 19]

PART 60—AIR TRAFFIC RULES

CAA RULES, POLICIES, AND INTERPRETATIONS

This supplement contains a complete compilation of all current CAA rules, policies, and interpretations implementing Part 60 of the Civil Air Regulations. The following revisions and additions have been made in CAA rules, policies, and interpretations: CAA policies concerning the authorization of deviations from air traffic rules for special flight operations (§ 60.1) have been revised to be more definitive than those previously published. The general procedures relative to the issuance of certificates of waiver have been consolidated; the conditions for issuance of certificates of waiver for air shows, meets, and races, revised; and conditions for issuance of such certificate for agricultural and industrial operations, defined. New policies have been adopted to cover (1) reporting of emergency situation (§ 60.2); (2) the issuance of waivers for acrobatic flight within a civil airway (§ 60.16); (3) application of policies concerning industrial and agricultural operations conducted before sunrise and after sunset (§ 60.23); (4) procedures for obtaining permission to operate under lower ceiling and visibility minimums than those prescribed in Part 609 of the Regulations of the Administrator (§ 60.46). A new interpretation has been added which defines "appropriate authority" for obtaining permission to operate an aircraft within a prohibited or restricted area (§ 60.13).

Policies previously listed in the Flight Information Manual and now included in the Civil Aeronautics Manual cover (1) emergency descent procedures (§ 60.21); (2) issuance of air traffic clearance within control zones (§§ 60.30 and 60.31); (3) filing of VFR flight plans (§ 60.33); and two-way radio failure procedures (§ 60.49).

Editorial revisions have been made in consolidating information on radio communications procedures (§ 60.47) and odd and even altitudes on airways (§ 60.32). Sections 60.18-1 through 60.18-7 cover CAA rules regarding right-turn indicators, light signals, and traffic patterns, as published in 14 CFR 1952, and have merely been renumbered leaving § 60.18-1 as a vacant number; no substantive changes have been made. Compliance with the notice, procedures, and effective date provisions of § 3, (a) (3) of the Administrative Procedure Act is unnecessary and not required.

No change has been made to rules in §§ 60.17-1, 60.23-1, and 60.46-1, as published in 14 CFR 1952. Rules regarding air traffic clearances required of scheduled air carriers as stated in §§ 60.21-1 and 60.43-1 and published in 14 CFR 1952 have been rescinded.

The following new or revised policies and interpretations are adopted:

GENERAL

§ 60.1-1 Conditions for issuance of a certificate of waiver (CAA policies which apply to § 60.1 (b)).—(a) General. (1) A Certificate of Waiver or Authorization, Form ACA-663, will be issued to authorize noncompliance with any section of this part for a special flight operation when the operation can be conducted under the terms and conditions of a certificate which will provide a reasonable degree of safety to other air traffic and to persons and property on the ground. Deviations from the following sections of this part for special flight operations are considered routine and generally require the approval of only the local Aviation Safety Agent:

(i) Section 60.16 Acrobatic flight.

(ii) Section 60.17 Minimum safe altitudes.

(iii) Section 60.18 Operation on and in the vicinity of an airport.

(iv) Section 60.23 Aircraft lights.

(2) Deviations from other sections of this part are normally not considered routine and may require consideration and approval of authority higher than the local Aviation Safety Agent. The application for deviations should be submitted sufficiently in advance of the contemplated operation to allow time for the approval procedure to be completed. Normally, ten days is sufficient advance time to complete the approval procedure for issuance of a certificate of waiver, but requests for deviation from sections not listed above may require a longer period of time.

(b) Application for waiver. An applicant for a Certificate of Waiver or Authorization for any special flight operation should comply with the following procedure:

(1) Obtain three copies of an Application for Certificate of Waiver, Form ACA-400 from the local Aviation Safety District Office.

(2) Fill out copies of the application, as follows:

(i) Type or print in ink.

(ii) Give complete information on all applicable items 1 through 13.

(iii) In item 1, fill in complete name and name of company, if operations has a company name, e. g., John B. Jones d/b/a Jones Dusting Service.

(iv) List, under item 3, all sections of this part for which a waiver is requested.

(v) Sign all copies of the completed application on the reverse side in the space provided for the applicant's signature.

(3) Submit all copies of the application to the local Aviation Safety Agent.

(4) Arrange with the local Aviation Safety Agent for inspection of aircraft, aircraft records, personnel, etc., as appropriate for the operation involved.

(c) Authorization. The certificate will authorize noncompliance with only those sections of the Air Traffic Rules listed on the certificate. It will not relieve the holder from compliance with any State, or local law or ordinance which may apply to the operation, or from obtaining prior permission from owners over whose property the operation may be conducted.

(d) Duration. The certificate will contain an expiration date to allow ample time for completion of the operation, not to exceed one year. It may be surrendered by the holder or cancelled by the Administrator at any time for noncompliance with provisions of the Certificate of Waiver or Authorization, for operation in a careless or reckless manner, or at any time a need no longer exists for the certificate.

(e) Special provisions. (1) The certificate will contain such special provisions or conditions as the approving agent may deem necessary in the interest of safety or appropriate to good operating practices.

(2) In addition, specific instructions or precautions will be required where they are deemed necessary to insure safety during the use of special equipment, or are necessary for the particular areas or types of operation involved.

(f) Operation outside the United States. A Certificate of Waiver or Authorization is valid only within the continental limits of the United States, its territories, and possessions. It is the responsibility of the holder to obtain prior clearance from the foreign country for operation within that country.

§ 60.1-2 Certificate of Waiver or Authorization for agricultural and industrial operations (CAA policies which apply to § 60.1 (b)). A Certificate of Waiver or Authorization may be issued to operators or individuals engaging in agricultural and industrial operations when such operations involve noncompliance with provisions of this part. Application for a Certificate of Waiver or Authorization is made in accordance with § 60.1-1 (b). A Certificate of Waiver or Authorization issued for an agricultural or industrial operation is subject to provisions appropriate to the type of operation. A Certificate of Waiver or Authorization involving pest control, operations before sunrise and after sunset, photographic flights, hunting of predatory animals, or private pilot spraying and dusting operations, may be issued in accordance with the following:

(a) Pest control. Issuance of a Certificate of Waiver or Authorization for pest control operations requiring low flight over cities, towns, settlement, and congested areas is premised primarily on the following:

(1) There is no question as to the airworthiness of the aircraft. Certificated aircraft whose operating limitations state that the aircraft is not eligible for a waiver under § 8.31, cannot be used.

(2) A thorough visual inspection of the aircraft, engine, and insecticide apparatus is conducted prior to each day's operation.

(3) A planned course of action is followed with emphasis on available areas for emergency landing.

(4) Pilots used must hold a valid commercial rating, type and/or class ratings appropriate to the aircraft used, and have had at least 100 hours' experience in dusting or spraying.

(5) Application is accompanied by a letter from the mayor, chief of police, or other proper municipal authority, requesting that a waiver be granted.

(b) Operations before sunrise and after sunset. The early morning and late evening hours are recognized as being favorable times for conducting certain aerial spraying and dusting activities. The limited useful load of most sprayers and dusters is such that the extra weight imposed by a lighting system may be unwarranted. Issuance of a Certificate of Waiver or Authorization to conduct dusting and spraying operations before official sunrise and after sunset are premised on:

(1) All flights being restricted to the early morning and late evening periods when a prominent unlighted object can be seen for a distance of three miles.

(2) All flights being restricted to local areas where the dusting or spraying is to be performed.

(3) Landings and takeoffs not being made at uncontrolled airports without prior consent of the airport manager.

(4) No flights being conducted when other types of operations which require position lights are in progress.

(5) Clearance from air traffic control being obtained before taking off and landing at controlled airports.

(c) Photographic flights. A Certificate of Waiver or Authorization to permit aerial photography at low altitudes over cities, towns, settlements, and congested residential areas is issued only when the operation is in the public interest, and the applicant can show that:

(1) The photographic operation cannot be satisfactorily accomplished by the use of a telescopic lens, flying over rivers, harbors, wasteland, or other such areas adjacent to the objective.

(2) There is no question of the airworthiness of the aircraft and no restrictions on the aircraft which does not allow operation in prohibited areas.

(3) A thorough visual inspection of the aircraft and engine is to be conducted prior to each day's operation.

(4) A planned course of action is to be followed with emphasis on available areas for an emergency landing.

(5) A capable and experienced pilot holding at least a commercial rating is to be utilized.

(d) Hunting of predatory animals. A Certificate of Waiver or Authorization to permit hunting of predatory animals is issued only when the operation is in the public interest and is to be conducted by competent and experienced pilots.

(e) Private pilot privileges. A Certificate of Waiver or Authorization to permit dusting and spraying by a private pilot is issued when:

(1) The purpose is to spray or dust property owned or leased by the private pilot.

(2) The private pilot submits a written statement from the owner of the property other than his own, which contains a description of the area to be treated and a statement that the pilot or other persons are to receive no remuneration or compensation for the private pilot's services.

§ 60.1-3 Certificate of waiver for an air show, meet, race, etc. (CAA policies which apply to § 60.1 (b)). (a) Certificate of Waiver or Authorization is issued only when the air show, meet, race, or other aeronautical demonstration can be conducted in a manner which will not subject spectators and other non-participating persons or property in the air or on the ground to aircraft hazards. The certificate is issued to the person or persons directly in charge of the conduct of the show and who are responsible for compliance with all applicable portions of the waiver.

(b) All acrobatics as well as other potentially hazardous acts are to be conducted at a distance of not less than 500 feet from the grandstand or spectators. Such acts may be required to be performed at greater distances when the experience of the pilot, the terrain, location, or type of act require a greater distance for reasons of safety. Applicants for a specific act may be required to demonstrate the act, or maneuvers, to the satisfaction of the agent issuing the certificate, so that a proper determination of the safe distance from the grandstand or spectators can be made.

(c) Where a demonstration is required, it will conform as closely as possible to the act which will be performed at the air show. Demonstration of normal flying acts which do not constitute a potential hazard are not usually required.

(d) The demonstration of an act may be waived when a performer has been actively engaged in performing at air shows during the previous year and can present evidence of previous authorization. This may be a copy of the most recent certificate of waiver issued by the CAA which indicates the names of the performers and the minimum distances authorized, or it may be a letter from an agent who authorized the most recent performance of the act.

(e) Acrobatic flights are expected to be under direct control provided by the holder of the certificate of waiver. The method of communication should insure that the pilot can be informed of any hazardous situation which may occur during the flight, or informed that the air show or his act has been stopped.

(f) The Certificate of Waiver or Authorization may contain any or all of the following provisions:

(1) All acts shall be approved in writing by the local agent before they may be performed.

(2) Participants in a specific act shall, if required by the local agent, demonstrate competency to perform the act prior to approval.

(3) First-aid and fire-fighting equipment shall be immediately available at the location of the demonstration.

(4) Provisions shall be made for control of spectators.

(5) The applicant shall establish a central operations point from which activities will be directed, and he or his representatives shall be immediately aavilable at this point during activities.

(6) The applicant shall provide means to advise all participants that an activity has been halted.

(7) An activity shall be halted when unauthorized persons enter the operations area, or for any other reason in the interest of safety.

(8) No aircraft will be flown closer than (specified distance) horizontally to spectators.

(9) Acrobatics or inverted flight will not be demonstrated lower than (specified altitude).

(10) No object will be dropped from an aircraft if the object will land within (specified distance) from spectators.

(11) A closed field signal, readily seen from an altitude of 3,000 feet (large white "X"), shall be displayed on the landing area when the activities are in progress.

(12) A physical barrier shall be provided to confine spectators to designated areas.

(13) A deadline readily visible to the participants shall be provided to insure that aircraft will maintain the approved horizontal distance from the spectators.

(14) The holder shall notify the nearest CAA Airway Communications Station of the date, time, place, nature, and duration of the operations and request that an appropriate Notice to Airmen be disseminated.

(15) The course and pylons for races shall be located and spaced to provide protection to persons and property on the ground.

(16) The holder shall, prior to beginning activities, submit to the approving agent a written statement, signed by all participants that they have read and understand the conditions of the certificate of waiver.

(17) All participants shall be briefed on special field rules, and the manner and order of events before beginning activities.

(18) Clearance for all participating pilots and aircraft shall be obtained from the approving agent before beginning activities.

(19) All aircraft and special equipment shall be inspected prior to each day's operation.

(20) Any other special provisions which the approving agent may deem necessary in the interest of safety.

§ 60.2–1 Emergency situation, report required within 48 hours (CAA policies which apply to § 60.2). When a pilot has been involved in a situation for which a report must be submitted within 48 hours to the nearest regional office of the Administrator, he should describe the incident in detail and forward the report to the regional office having jurisdiction over the area in which the incident occurred.

(2) A waiver may be issued for acrobatic flight within a control zone only after concurrence of the appropriate traffic control authority, and on a showing by the applicant that the flight or flights will be conducted at such altitudes, locations, and times as not to be a hazard to other known traffic. Any waiver issued for such flight will stipulate ceiling and visibility minimums to insure safety to air traffic.

(c) A Certificate of Waiver or Authorization for acrobatic flight under 1,500 feet altitude will be restricted to air meets, air shows, and related activities.

(d) The policies and procedures of § 60.1–1 apply to an application for a Certificate of Waiver or Authorization.

§ 60.21–1 Air traffic clearance[3] (CAA policies which apply to § 60.21). (a) When an air traffic clearance has been obtained under either VFR or IFR rules, the pilot in command may not deviate from the provisions thereof unless an amended clearance is obtained or an emergency exists. Pilots desiring to make a change in altitude, route, or destination should request the change from an appropriate communications facility and receive Air Traffic Control approval prior to making the change.

(b) In case emergency authority is used to deviate from provisions of an air traffic clearance, the pilot in command should notify Air Traffic Control as soon as possible and obtain an amended clearance.

(c) In an emergency situation which results in no deviation from the rules prescribed in part 60, but which requires Air Traffic Control to give priority to an aircraft, the pilot of such aircraft should make a report within 48 hours of such emergency to the nearest regional office of the Administrator.

(d) An amendment to the initial clearance may be issued to a flight at any time Air Traffic Control deems such action necessary to avoid possible conflict between en route, landing, or departing aircraft.

(e) A flight is always cleared to a specific point or location (radio or visual reporting point), defined as a clearance limit. When two-way radio failure is experienced and the pilot proceeds according to the latest traffic clearance, he is expected to observe the following, unless other instructions to the contrary are received:

(1) If the pilot has received and acknowledged a clearance to the destination airport or the radio facility serving that point, he should continue flight at the altitude(s) last assigned by Air Traffic Control, or the minimum instrument altitude,[4] whichever is the higher, to the radio facility servicing the destination airport.

(2) If the pilot has received and acknowledged a clearance to a point other than the destination airport or the radio facility serving the destination airport, he should continue flight at the altitude(s) last assigned by Air Traffic Control or the minimum instrument altitude, whichever is the higher, to the radio facility serving the destination airport.

(3) If holding instructions have been received, the pilot should comply with these instructions until such time as it will be necessary to continue flight so as to arrive at the radio facility serving the destination airport at the expected approach time last received and acknowledged, maintaining the last assigned altitude or the minimum instrument altitude, whichever is the higher.

(4) If holding instructions have been received, but no expected approach time has been received, the pilot should comply with these instructions until the time Air Traffic Control has specified that further clearance may be expected. He should then continue, maintaining the last assigned altitude or the minimum instrument altitude, whichever is the higher.

§ 60.21–2 Emergency descent (CAA policies which apply to § 60.21). (a) Upon receipt of advice that an aircraft in flight within a control area or control zone has encountered an emergency which may affect other air traffic, Air Traffic Control will act to give the aircraft encountering the emergency priority over any other aircraft involved. Should it become necessary for an aircraft holding to make an emergency descent for a landing through other traffic, the pilot of that aircraft should so advise Air Traffic Control through appropriate communications facilities.

(b) Upon receipt of advice that an aircraft is making an emergency descent through traffic assigned altitudes over the airport, Air Traffic Control will immediately broadcast, or cause to be broadcast, on radio range frequency the following:

Emergency to All Concerned ----------
Emergency Landing at ------ Airport
All Aircraft Below ------ Thousand Feet
Within ------ Miles of ------ Radio Range/Omni
Leave ------ Courses Radials Immediately

(c) Upon receipt of such a broadcast, pilots of aircraft affected should clear specified areas in accordance with the emergency instructions. Air Traffic Control will issue further directions through appropriate communications facilities immediately following the emergency broadcast. When terrain or other factors make it impractical for an aircraft to maintain the last assigned altitude, Air Traffic Control will issue specific directions to the aircraft.

§ 60.23–1 Aircraft lights in Alaska (CAA rules which apply to § 60.23). In Alaska the lights required by this section shall be displayed when any unlighted aircraft or other unlighted prominent objects cannot readily be seen beyond a distance of 3 miles, or when the sun is more than 6° below the horizon.[5]

§ 60.23–2 Operations before sunrise and after sunset (CAA policies which apply to § 60.23). It is the policy of the Administrator to issue a certificate of Waiver or Authorization for operation before sunrise and after sunset without lights only for agricultural or industrial operations, in accordance with § 60.1–2 (b).

VISUAL FLIGHT RULES (VFR)

§ 60.30–1 Authorization by Air Traffic Control (CAA policies which apply to § 60.30). Authorization by Air Traffic Control to enter or depart control zones under VFR when the ceiling is less than 1,000 feet, and to fly closer to clouds than 500 feet vertically below, 1,000 feet vertically above, and 2,000 feet horizontally within a control zone will be issued in the form of an air traffic clearance. This clearance may be obtained by contacting the Airway Communications Station or airport control tower in the control zone concerned. An appropriate clearance for such flight should conform closely to the following example:

ATC clears (aircraft ident.) out of/to enter control zone (number of) miles (direction) of (airport) cruise not above (altitude) while in control zone.

§ 60.31–1 Air traffic clearance for takeoff or landing (CAA policies which apply to § 60.31). A VFR takeoff or landing may be made at an airport within a control zone when the flight or ground visibility is less than 3 miles only if an air traffic clearance has been received. A takeoff or departure clearance will normally contain specific instructions as to the direction of takeoff, turn after takeoff, track and altitude to be maintained, and any other necessary maneuver.

[3] An air traffic clearance is an authorization by Air Traffic Control for an aircraft to proceed under specified traffic conditions within a control zone or control area. It is issued for the purpose of preventing collision between aircraft known to Air Traffic Control and does not constitute authority to violate any provision of the CAR. A traffic clearance issued by a center and relayed through a communications facility is prefixed by "ATC clears." Other Air Traffic Control messages originated by a center for relay to a pilot will be prefixed by "ATC advised," or "ATC requests," as appropriate. Traffic clearances are issued to flights through ground-air radio communication facilities, such as radio range stations, airport traffic control towers, and air carrier and military communications stations, or on direct communications channels.

An air traffic clearance provides separation from other aircraft only during that portion of a flight conducted in weather conditions less than VFR minimums. It is the direct responsibility of the pilot to avoid other aircraft when flying in VFR conditions even with a traffic clearance. The initial traffic clearance issued to an aircraft prior to departure will normally authorize flight to the point of first intended landing, with instructions to maintain the altitude at which the aircraft enters the next control area. The pilot should request any desired altitude changes en route.

Air Traffic Control normally attempts to issue a traffic clearance specifying the altitude and route proposed in the flight plan. However, due to traffic conditions, it is frequently necessary that Air Traffic Control specify an altitude or route different from that requested by the pilot. It is important that pilots pay particular attention to the air traffic clearance and not assume that the route and altitude are the same as requested in the flight plan. It is suggested that pilots make a written record of clearances at the time they are received, and verify the clearance with Air Traffic Control if any doubt exists.

[4] The minimum instrument altitude referred to is the minimum established for that portion of the route over which the operation is conducted, regardless of the direction of flight. If deviation from the altitude assigned by Air Traffic Control is necessary in order to comply with a higher minimum instrument altitude, any subsequent descent required in order to comply with a lower minimum instrument altitude should not be made below the altitude last assigned by Air Traffic Control.

§ 60.32–1 Odd or even altitudes on airways (CAA rules which apply to § 60.32 (a)). (a) When an aircraft is operated in level crusing flight at 3,000 feet or more above the surface, within the boundaries of a civil airway, it shall be flown at the following altitudes:

(1) RED or GREEN airway—Eastbound, ODD thousand-foot altitudes (3,000; 5,000; etc.)—Westbound, EVEN thousand-foot altitudes (4,000; 6,000; etc.).

(2) AMBER or BLUE airway—Northbound, ODD thousand-foot altitudes (3,000; 5,000; etc.)—Southbound, EVEN thousand-foot altitudes (4,000; 6,000; etc.).

(3) EVEN numbered VOR airway—Eastbound, ODD thousand-foot altitudes (3,000; 5,000; etc.)—Westbound, EVEN thousand-foot altitudes (4,000; 6,000; etc.)

(4) ODD numbered VOR airway—Northbound, ODD thousand-foot altitudes (3,000; 5,000; etc.)—Southbound, EVEN thousand-foot altitudes (4,000; 6,000; etc.).

(5) Exceptions to the rules stated in subparagraphs (1) through (4) of this paragraph are:

(i) Where a color airway coincides with a VOR airway, the color airway shall take preference, and the ODD or EVEN altitude rule for the appropriate color airway shall apply.

(ii) Where no color airway is involved and an EVEN and ODD VOR airway coincide, the EVEN numbered VOR airway shall take preference, and the ODD or EVEN altitude rule for the EVEN numbered VOR airway shall apply.

(b) The odd or even altitude rule applicable to an airway is determined by the direction of the airway between its two terminal points, without regard to the direction of any segment or portion of the airway. Example: A green airway has one terminal point in California and the other in New York, but in Ohio a portion between fixes runs due north and south. In this case, the odd or even altitude rule for a flight eastbound or westbound applies to the entire flight along the airway.

(c) "Odd or even" altitude indicators for the airways are shown on Radio Facility Charts. Additional information regarding odd and even flight altitudes on civil airways appears in the Flight Information Manual.

§ 60.33–1 VFR flight plans (CAA policies which apply to § 60.33). (a) VFR flight plans may be filed in person or by telephone or radio with any Airway Communications Station or control tower operator.

(b) Good operating practices in connection with planning a flight, filing flight plan, flying the flight plan, carrying out radio communications procedures for all purposes can be found in the CAA Technical Manual No. 102, "Pilots' Radio Handbook." [6]

INSTRUMENT FLIGHT RULES (IFR) [7]

§ 60.46–1 Standard instrument approach procedures (CAA rules which apply to § 60.46). Standard instrument approach procedures prescribed by the Administrator are published in part 609 of this title.

§ 60.46–2 Instrument approach ceiling and visibility minimums (CAA policies which apply to § 60.46). Authorization for lower instrument approach ceiling and visibility minimums than those prescribed by the Administrator in Part 609 of this title may be issued for approaches at those airports where the minimums have not been revised in accordance with the new policy.[8] The issuance of an authorization is subject to the following conditions:

(a) Application. (1) Application will be made on Form ACA–400, Application for Certificate of Waiver. The application, in triplicate, will be submitted to any local Aviation Safety District Office.

(2) Arrange with Aviation Safety District Office for inspection of the aircraft equipment and instrument competency flight test for each pilot in command who will operate the aircraft under the lower ceiling and visibility minimums.

(b) Issuance requirements. The authorization for lower minimums may be issued to the owner of the aircraft, the operator, individual pilot, or pilots employed by the owner or operator, upon compliance with the following:

(1) Aircraft. Aircraft must be equipped with approved type radio equipment appropriate for the types of approaches requested.

(2) Pilots. Each pilot in command will be properly certificated, hold a currently valid instrument rating, and demonstrate to an agent his competency to execute safely the approach procedures for each type of approach to the minimums requested. This flight test will be conducted by an agent and will include pertinent items of the standard instrument rating test on the systems to be used.

[7] For information concerning instrument flight operations, see the following:

(1) The Flight Information Manual which may be purchased from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C. at 50 cents.

(2) ANC Procedures for the Control of Air Traffic, available from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.; the price including supplementary revision service is $1.

(3) Instrument Approach and Landing Charts which may be purchased from the Coast and Geodetic Survey, Department of Commerce, Washington 25, D. C., at 5 cents each.

[8] In accordance with the present policy, ceiling and visibility minimums for approaches are being revised for all airports. Such minimums are based on obstruction clearance criteria and are the lowest minimums which can be used by anyone. Ultimately all airports will have the revised minimums in effect. During the interim period minimums established under the old policy will exist at some airports. Authorization to use lower minimums may be granted for these airports.

(3) Aircraft more than 12,500 pounds. When aircraft of more than 12,500 pounds are used, each pilot in command and copilot will be required to successfully complete an equipment check to determine his familiarity with the aircraft. The equipment check is to be conducted by a representative of the Administrator, and based on the aircraft manufacturer's specifications.

(4) Pilot training program. The applicant should provide a pilot training program which should include training on instrument approach procedures, air traffic control procedures, and other subjects deemed necessary by the agent to assure continuing proficiency on the types of instrument approaches involved; and at least two instrument approaches, actual or hooded flight, every 30-day period on each type of approach for which authority is requested. Approaches made to the minimums authorized during the course of regular trips can be counted toward meeting these requirements.

(c) Operational requirements. (1) Instrument approach may not be conducted below the minimums established for air carrier use, and never lower than the minimums to which the pilots have demonstrated their competency.

(2) Current information on scheduled air carrier minimums for the airports into which operations are to be conducted are to be readily available in the cockpit at all times during flight.

(3) Each pilot in command is expected to successfully complete requalifying instrument competency checks within 6 months prior to exercising the authority for lower minimums. The recheck is to be conducted by a representative of the Administrator. When aircraft of over 12,500 pounds are utilized, each pilot in command and copilot is expected to successfully complete an equipment check each 6 months prior to exercising authority for lower minimums.

(4) There is expected to be available in the cockpit at all times during flight, current flight information data, such as Radio Facility Guide, Airman's Guide, Approach Procedures, and maps.

(5) Special provisions applicable to the type of operation and aircraft equipment may be entered on and become a part of the authorization. These may include any or all, but are not limited to, those listed in appendix C.

(d) Duration. (1) The authorization is valid for a period of 12 months, but may be surrendered by the holder or terminated by the Administrator at any time.

(2) Failure to comply with any of the conditions under § 60.46–1 (b) and (c), or the Special Provisions appended to the authorization, is considered sufficient grounds for terminating the authorization for lower minimums.

(e) Reissuance. (1) The authorization may be reissued for a period of 12 months, upon application.

(2) Requirements for reissuance are identical to those for original issuance.

§ 60.47–1 Route of flight and communications procedures (CAA policies which apply to § 60.47)—(a) Off-airway operation. If a flight is to be conducted over an off-airway route which joins or crosses civil airways, or terminates within civil airways, the route of flight should be indicated, and check points within control zones or areas over which the flight will pass are to be selected. The check points selected are to be points over which the position of the aircraft can be accurately determined or regularly designated reporting points.

(b) Change of flight plan. Any change of altitude or route of flight from that specified in the traffic clearance, should be reported to the air traffic control center or flight advisory area before the change is made. A change of flight plan should be reported and approval received before the change is made while operating within a control area; or, if outside of control area, prior to entering a control area.

§ 60.49–1 Two-way radio failure procedures (CAA policies which apply to § 60.49 (b))—(a) En route procedures. If the pilot proceeds according to the latest traffic clearance but has not received and acknowledged a clearance for an approach and if other instructions to the contrary are not received, he will be expected to observe the following, and control will be effected accordingly:

(1) If the pilot has received and acknowledged a clearance to the destination airport or the radio facility serving that point, he shall continue flight at the altitude(s) last assigned by Air Traffic Control, or the minimum instrument altitude [9] (minimum en route IFR altitudes published under Part 610 of this title) whichever is the higher, to the radio facility serving the destination airport.

(2) If the pilot has received and acknowledged a clearance to a point other than the destination airport or the radio facility serving the destination airport and

(3) Holding instructions have not been received, he shall continue flight at the altitude(s) last assigned by Air Traffic Control or the minimum instrument altitude,[9] whichever is the higher, to the radio facility serving the destination airport or

(4) Holding instructions and expected approach clearance time have been received, the pilot shall comply with these instructions until such time as will be necessary to continue flight so as to arrive at the radio facility serving the destination airport at the expected approach time last received and acknowledged, maintaining the last assigned altitude or the minimum instrument altitude,[9] whichever is the higher, or

(5) Holding instructions have been received but no expected approach time has been received, the pilot shall comply with these instructions until the time Air Traffic Control has specified that further clearance may be expected. He shall then continue, maintaining the last assigned altitude or the minimum instrument altitude,[9] whichever is the higher.

Example: A flight is cruising at 8,000 feet (last assigned altitude) on an IFR flight plan when radio failure occurs. After passing the next fix, the minimum en route altitude is 10,000 feet and climb is made to that altitude. On the last leg of the flight the minimum en route altitude is 3,500 feet. The flight descends back to 8,000 feet after passing the fix defining the termination of the 10,000-foot minimum en route altitude segment since the last assigned altitude (8,000 feet) is higher than the MEA (3,500 feet).

(b) Instrument letdown. Descent from the altitude maintained to the radio facility serving the destination airport shall be made on the final approach course and shall start at the expected approach time last received. If no expected approach time was received, descent shall be started at the last estimated arrival time specified by the pilot, or as soon as possible thereafter. A full standard instrument approach shall be executed unless a VFR approach can be made.

If a clearance for an approach at the airport of intended landing has been received and acknowledged, the pilot shall be expected to comply with any special instructions contained in the clearance or other instructions [10] and make normal descent for landing.

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interpret or apply sec. 601, 52 Stat. 1007, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 551)

New and revised material shall become effective April 15, 1955.

[SEAL] F. B. LEE,
Administrator of Civil Aeronautics.

[F. R. Doc. 55–3042; Filed, Apr. 15, 1955; 8:45 a. m.]

[9] The minimum instrument altitude referred to is the minimum en route IFR altitude established in Part 610 of the Regulations of the Administrator for that portion of the route over which the operation is conducted, regardless of the direction of flight. If deviation from the altitude assigned by Air Traffic Control is necessary in order to comply with a higher minimum instrument altitude, any subsequent descent required by a lower minimum instrument altitude shall not be made below the altitude last assigned by Air Traffic Control.

[10] Air Traffic Control may issue appropriate instructions by means of "blind" transmissions on radio frequencies directly available or may authorize "blind" transmissions of appropriate instructions over air carrier radio facilities (for air carrier aircraft), and/or over suitable radio range facilities. Instructions should not be broadcast unless authorized by Air Traffic Control.

In either case, the market administrator shall give further written notification to the handler promptly, upon the termination of the litigation or when the records are no longer necessary in connection therewith.

CLASSIFICATION

§ 1000.40 Skim milk and butterfat to be classified. All skim milk or skim milk equivalent and butterfat received within the month by a handler which is required to be reported pursuant to § 1000.30 shall be classified by the market administrator pursuant to the provisions contained in §§ 1000.41 through 1000.46.

§ 1000.41 Classes of utilization. Subject to conditions set forth in §§ 1000.43 and 1000.44, classes of utilization shall be:

(a) Class I milk shall be all skim milk (including reconstituted skim milk) and butterfat (1) disposed of in the form of milk, skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk, flavored milk drinks, cream, cultured sour cream, any mixture (except bulk ice cream mix) of cream and milk or skim milk, (2) used to produce concentrated (including frozen) milk, flavored milk or flavored milk drinks disposed of for fluid consumption neither sterilized nor in hermetically sealed cans, and (3) all other skim milk and butterfat not specifically accounted for as Class II or Class III milk.

(b) Class II milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat used to produce, or disposed of, in the form of ice cream, frozen desserts, cottage cheese and cream used in creaming cottage cheese.

(c) Class III milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat (1) used to produce any product other than those specified in paragraph (a) of this section; (2) disposed of for livestock feed; (3) in frozen cream placed in storage; (4) in skim milk dumped, after prior notification to and opportunity for verification by the market administrator; (5) in shrinkage up to two percent of receipts from producers; (6) in shrinkage of other source milk; and (7) in inventory at the end of the month in the forms specified in paragraph (a) (1) and (2) of this section.

§ 1000.42 Shrinkage. The market administrator shall determine the assignment of shrinkage to Class III milk as follows:

(a) Determine the total shrinkage of butterfat and skim milk in the pool plant(s) of the handler;

(b) Multiply the pounds of skim milk and butterfat in producer milk (except milk diverted pursuant to § 1000.6) and other source milk by 0.02;

(c) Multiply the pounds of butterfat and skim milk, respectively, determined pursuant to paragraph (a) or (b) of this section, whichever is less, by the percentage of butterfat and skim milk classified pursuant to § 1000.41 (a) and (b) and (c) which is in Class III milk. The resulting amounts of skim milk and butterfat shall be classified as Class III milk; and

(d) Assign the shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat classified as Class II and Class III milk pro rata to producer milk and other source milk.

(e) For the purpose of prorating shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, skim milk and butterfat in milk diverted directly from producers' farms to another handler shall be included as a receipt of the handler to whom such milk and butterfat was diverted, and excluded from receipts of the diverting handler.

§ 1000.43 Responsibility of handlers and reclassification of milk. (a) All skim milk and butterfat shall be Class I milk unless the handler who first receives such skim milk or butterfat can prove to the satisfaction of the market administrator that it should be classified otherwise.

(b) (1) Any skim milk or butterfat classified as Class II or III milk shall be reclassified if such skim milk or butterfat is later disposed of by such handler or another handler (whether in original or other form) as Class I milk.

(2) Any skim milk or butterfat which was classified as Class III in the previous month pursuant to § 1000.41 (c) (7) shall be reclassified as Class I milk if it is subtracted in the current month from Class I pursuant to § 1000.46 (a) (3) or the corresponding step of § 1000.46 (b).

§ 1000.44 Transfers. Skim milk and butterfat transferred or diverted by a handler shall be classified:

(a) At the class mutually indicated in writing to the market administrator by both handlers on or before the 6th day after the end of the month in which such transaction occurred, otherwise as Class I milk, if transferred or diverted in the form of milk, skim milk, or cream to another handler, subject in either event to the following conditions:

(1) The receiving handler has utilization in such class of an equivalent amount of skim milk and butterfat, respectively; and

(2) Such skim milk or butterfat shall be classified so as to allocate to producer milk the greatest possible total Class I utilization in the two plants.

(b) As Class I milk if transferred in the form of milk, skim milk or cream to a producer-handler.

(c) As Class I milk if transferred or diverted in the form of milk, skim milk or cream to a nonpool plant located more than 200 miles from the pool plant by the shortest highway distance as determined by the market administrator, except that (1) cream so transferred may be classified according to its utilization as established through the operation of another Federal order for another milk marketing area; or (2) cream so transferred with prior notice to the market administrator, and with each container labeled or tagged with a certificate of the transferor that such cream is sold as "Grade C cream for manufacturing only", may be classified as Class III milk, subject to such verification of alternate utilization as the market administrator may make.

(d) As Class I milk, if transferred or diverted in the form of milk or skim milk to a nonpool plant distributing fluid milk or cream and located less than 200 miles from the pool plant from which transferred, unless the market administrator is permitted to audit the records of receipts and utilization at such nonpool plant, in which case the classification of all skim milk and butterfat received at such nonpool plant shall be determined and the skim milk and butterfat transferred from the pool plant shall be allocated to the highest use remaining after subtracting, in series beginning with Class I milk, receipts of skim milk and butterfat at such nonpool plant from dairy farmers whom the market administrator determines constitute the regular source of supply for fluid usage of such nonpool plant in markets supplied by such plant.

(e) As Class III milk, if transferred or diverted in the form of milk, skim milk or cream to a nonpool plant, located not more than 200 miles from the pool plant, and which does not distribute fluid milk or cream, except that where such nonpool plant is operated by a person who is also a handler or an affiliate of a handler, (1) the market administrator shall be permitted to audit the records of receipts and utilization at such nonpool plant, and (2) to the extent that skim milk or butterfat so transferred or diverted to such nonpool plant shall be classified as if moved directly from the pool plant to such other milk plant.

§ 1000.45 Computations of the skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each month, the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and for other obvious errors the report of receipts and utilization submitted by each handler and shall compute the pounds of skim milk and butterfat in each class for such handler.

§ 1000.46 Allocation of skim milk and butterfat classified. After making the computation pursuant to § 1000.45, the market administrator shall determine the classification of milk received from producers as follows:

(a) Skim milk shall be allocated in the following manner:

(1) Subtract from the total pounds of skim milk in Class III, the pounds of skim milk determined pursuant to § 1000.41 (c) (5);

(2) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in series beginning with Class III, the pounds of skim milk in receipts of other source milk;

(3) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in series beginning with Class III, the pounds of skim milk in inventory at the beginning of the month specified in § 1000.41 (c) (7);

(4) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class the skim milk received from other handlers in the form of skim milk according to its classification as determined pursuant to § 1000.44 (a);

(5) Add to the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class III the pounds of skim milk pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph; and

(6) If the remaining pounds of skim milk in all classes exceed the pounds of skim milk received from producers, subtract such excess from the remaining pounds of skim milk in series beginning with Class III milk. Any amount to be subtracted shall be called "overage".

(b) Butterfat shall be allocated in accordance with the same procedure outlined for skim milk in paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) Determine the weighted average butterfat content of the Class I, II and III milk computed pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

§ 1000.50 Basic formula price to be used in determining Class I prices. The basic formula price to be used in determining the price per hundredweight of Class I milk shall be the higher of the prices computed pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

(a) The average of the basic or field prices per hundredweight reported to have been paid or to be paid for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from farmers during the month at the following plants or places for which prices have been reported to the market administrator or to the Department divided by 3.5 and multiplied by 4;

(b) The price per hundredweight computed by adding together the plus values pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph:

(1) From the simple average as computed by the market administrator, of the daily wholesale selling prices (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter per pound at Chicago as reported by the United States Department of Agriculture during the month, add twenty (20%) percent thereof and multiply by four (4).

(2) From the simple average as computed by the market administrator, of the weighted averages of carlot price per pound for nonfat dry milk solids, spray and roller process, respectively, for human consumption, f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area, as published for the period from the 26th day of the immediately preceding month through the 25th day of the current month by the United States Department of Agriculture, deduct 5.5 cents, multiply by 8.5, and multiply by 0.96.

§ 1000.51 Class prices. Subject to the provisions of § 1000.52, the minimum prices per hundredweight to be paid by each handler for milk received at his plant from producers during the month shall be as follows:

(a) Class I milk. The basic formula price for the preceding month plus $2.00 during all months of the year. To this price, add or subtract a "supply-demand adjustment" computed as follows:

(1) Divide the total receipts of producer milk in the first and second months preceding by the total gross volume of Class I sales (excluding inter-handler transfers) for the same months, multiply the result by 100, and round to the nearest whole number. The result shall be known as the Class I utilization percentage.

(2) Compute a "net utilization percentage" by algebraically subtracting from the Class I utilization percentage computed pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, the standard utilization percentage shown below:

Month for which price applies	Months used in computation	Standard utilization percentage range
		Minimum	Maximum
January	November–December	108	118
February	December–January	110	120
March	January–February	112	122
April	February–March	121	131

October	August–September	113	123
November	September–October	112	122
December	October–November	113	123

(3) (i) For each minus point from the minimum percentage listed herein, the Class I price shall be increased 3 cents during the months of February, March, July and August, 2 cents during the months of April, May, and June, and 4 cents during the months of September, October, November, December, and January.

(ii) For each plus point from the maximum percentage listed herein, the Class I price shall be decreased 3 cents during the months of July, August, February and March; 4 cents during the months of April, May, and June, and 2 cents during the months of September, October, November, December, and January.

(4) Provided, That in no event shall an adjustment made pursuant to subparagraph (3) of this paragraph exceed 23 cents per hundredweight.

(b) Class II milk price. For the months of December through August the price for Class II milk shall be the price determined pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph rounded to the nearest cent. For all other months it shall be the basic formula price or the price determined pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, whichever is less, plus 25 cents.

(1) The arithmetical average of the basic (or field) prices reported to have been paid or to be paid per hundredweight for milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content received from farmers during the month at the following plants or places for which prices have been reported to the Market Administrator or to the Department of Agriculture on or before the 6th day after the end of the month.

(c) Class III milk price. The price per hundredweight for Class III milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content shall be the arithmetical average of the basic prices computed pursuant to paragraph (b) (1) of this section, less 25 cents.

§ 1000.52 Handler butterfat differential. If the average butterfat test of Class I, II or III milk as calculated pursuant to § 1000.46 is more or less than 4.0 percent, there shall be added to or subtracted from, as the case may be, the price for such class of utilization for each one-tenth of one percent that such average butterfat test is above or below four percent (4%), a butterfat differential computed by multiplying the simple average as computed by the market administrator of the wholesale selling price per pound (using the midpoint of any price range) of Grade A (92–score) bulk creamery butter at Chicago as reported by the U. S. Department of Agriculture during the month specified by the figure specified below for each class and rounding the result to the nearest one-tenth cent:

APPLICATION OF PROVISIONS

§ 1000.60 Producer-handlers. Sections 1000.40 through 1000.46, 1000.50 through 1000.52, 1000.61, 1000.70, and 1000.71, and 1000.80 through 1000.88 shall not apply to a producer-handler.

§ 1000.61 Handlers subject to other orders. In the case of any handler who the Secertary determines disposes of a greater portion of his milk as Class I milk on routes regulated by another milk marketing order and agreement issued pursuant to the act, the provisions of this part shall not apply except as follows:

(a) The handler shall, with respect to his total receipts of skim milk and butterfat, make reports to the market administrator at such time and in such manner as the market administrator may require and allow verification of such reports by the market administrator.

(b) If the price which such handler is required to pay under the other Federal order to which he is subject, for skim milk and butterfat which would be classified as Class I milk under this part, is less than the price provided by this part, such handler shall pay to the market administrator for deposit into the producer-settlement fund with respect to all skim milk and butterfat disposed of (except to other handlers) as Class I milk within the marketing area, an amount equal to the difference between the value of such skim milk or butterfat as computed pursuant to this order and its value as determined pursuant to the other order to which he is subject. Such payments shall be made on or before the 13th day after the end of each delivery period.

§ 1000.62 Handlers operating nonpool plants. Each handler who operates a nonpool plant which is not a pool plant during a delivery period shall, in lieu of the payments required to be made pursuant to the provisions of § 1000.80 through § 1000.85, pay to the market administrator for deposit in the producer-settlement fund, on or before the 25th day after the end of such delivery period, an amount computed as follows:

(a) The product of the quantity of milk received by such handler which was disposed of in the marketing area on routes as Class I or II milk during the delivery period multiplied by the difference between the price for Class I or II milk pursuant to § 1000.51 (a) or (b) and the price for Class III milk pursuant to § 1000.51 (c).

§ 1000.70 Net pool obligations of handlers operating pool plants. The net pool obligation for milk received during each month by each handler from producers at pool plants shall be a sum of money computed as follows:

(a) Multiply the pounds of milk in each class computed pursuant to § 1000.46 (c) by the applicable respective prices (adjusted pursuant to § 1000.52) and add together the resulting amounts;

(b) Add an amount computed by multiplying the pounds of overage deducted from each class pursuant to § 1000.46 (a) (6) by the applicable respective class prices;

(c) Add a reclassification charge computed at a rate equal to the differences between the Class I and Class II prices for the current month for skim milk and butterfat in inventory which is subtracted from Class I pursuant to § 1000.46 (a) (3) and the corresponding step of § 1000.46 (b); which is not in excess of the skim milk and butterfat, respectively, remaining in Class III milk in the previous month pursuant to § 1000.46 (a) (4) and the corresponding step of § 1000.46 (b);

(d) Add a reclassification charge computed at a rate equal to the differences between the Class I and Class II prices as originally classified and the Class III price for the current month for other source milk disposed of as Class I or Class II milk during the month;

(e) For any other skim milk or butterfat reclassified pursuant to § 1000.43 (b) (1), a charge shall be computed at the difference between its values at the Class I or II price and its value at the Class III price, both for the current month.

(f) For any other source skim milk or butterfat subtracted from Class I milk pursuant to § 1000.46 (a) (2) and (b), add an amount equal to the difference between the value of such skim milk and butterfat at the Class I or Class II price and its value at the Class III price, all for the current month.

§ 1000.71 Computation of uniform prices for base milk and excess milk. For each of the months of March through August, the market administrator shall compute the uniform price per hundredweight for base milk and excess milk as follows:

(a) Combine into one total the values computed pursuant to § 1000.70 for all handlers who made the reports prescribed in § 1000.30 and who made the payments pursuant to §§ 1000.80 and 1000.83 for the preceding month;

(b) Add an amount equal to not less than one-half of the unobligated cash balance in the producer-settlement fund;

(c) Subtract if the average butterfat content of the milk included in these computations is greater than 4 percent or add if such average butterfat content is less than 4 percent an amount computed by multiplying the amount by which the average butterfat content of such milk varies from 4 percent by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 1000.81 and multiplying the resulting figure by the total hundredweight of such milk;

(d) Compute the total value on a 4 percent butterfat basis of the excess milk included in these computations by multiplying the hundredweight of such milk not in excess of the total quantity of Class III milk included in these computations by the price of Class II milk of 4 percent butterfat content, multiplying the hundredweight of such milk in excess of the total hundredweight of such Class III milk by the price of Class I or II milk of 4 percent butterfat content and adding together the resulting amounts;

(e) Divide the total value of excess milk obtained in paragraph (d) of this section by the total hundredweight of such milk and adjust to the nearest cent. The resulting figure shall be the uniform price for excess milk of 4 percent butterfat content received from producers;

(f) Subtract the value of excess milk obtained in paragraph (d) of this section from the value of all milk obtained in paragraph (c) of this section and adjust to any amount involved in adjusting the uniform price of excess milk to the nearest cent;

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN LIBRARY

(g) Divide the amount obtained in paragraph (f) of this section by the total hundredweight of base milk included in these computations;

(h) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents from the amount computed pursuant to paragraph (g) of this section. The resulting figure shall be the uniform price for base milk of 4 percent butterfat content received from producers.

§ 1000.72 Computation of uniform price. For each of the months of September through February, the market administrator shall compute the uniform price per hundredweight for milk of 4 percent butterfat content received from producers as follows:

(a) Combine into one total the values computed pursuant to § 1000.70 for all handlers who made the reports prescribed in § 1000.30 and who made the payments pursuant to §§ 1000.80 and 1000.83 for the preceding month;

(b) Add not less than one-half of the unobligated cash balance in the producer-settlement fund;

(c) Subtract if the average butterfat content of the milk included in these computations is greater than 4 percent, or add if such average butterfat content is less than 4 percent, an amount computed by multiplying the amount by which the average butterfat content of such milk varies from 4 percent by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 1000.81 and multiplying the resulting figure by the total hundredweight of such milk;

(d) Divide the resulting amount by the total hundredweight of milk included in these computations; and

(e) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents from the amount computed pursuant to paragraph (d) of this section. The resulting amount shall be the uniform price for milk of 4 percent butterfat content received from producers.

PAYMENTS

§ 1000.80 Time and method of payment. Each handler operating an approved plant shall make payment as follows:

(a) On or before the 15th day after the end of the month during which the milk was received, to each producer for whom payment is not made pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section, at not less than the applicable uniform prices computed pursuant to § 1000.71 or § 1000.72, adjusted by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 1000.81, and less the amount of the payment made pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section. If by such date, such handler has not received full payment pursuant to § 1000.84, he may reduce his total payments uniformly to all producers by not more than the amount of the reduction in payment by the market administrator. He shall, however, complete such payments pursuant to this paragraph not later than the date for making such payments next following receipt of the balance from the market administrator;

(b) On or before the 27th day of each month, to each producer for whom payment is not made pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section, for milk received from him during the first 15 days of such month, at the approximate value of such milk;

(c) (1) Upon receipt of a written request from a cooperative association which the market administrator determines is authorized by its members to collect payment for their milk and receipt of a written promise to reimburse the handler the amount of any actual loss incurred by him because of any improper claim on the part of the cooperative, each handler shall (i) pay to the cooperative association in lieu of payments pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, respectively, an amount equal to the gross sum due for all milk received from certified members, less amounts owing by each member-producer to the handler for supplies purchased from him on prior order or as evidenced by a delivery ticket signed by the producer, (ii) submit to the cooperative association on or before the 10th day of each month written information which shows for each member producer (a) the total pounds of milk received during the preceding month, (b) the total pounds of butterfat contained in such milk, (c) the number of days on which such milk was received, (d) the amount of base and excess milk received and (e) the amounts withheld by the handler in payment for supplies sold, and (iii) submit to the cooperative association on or before the 25th day of each month written information which shows for each such member-producer the total pounds of milk received during the first 15 days of the current month. The foregoing payment and submission of information shall be made with respect to milk of each producer whom the cooperative association certifies is a member, which is received on and after the first day of the calendar month next preceding receipt of notice from the cooperative association of a termination of membership or until the original request is rescinded in writing by the association.

(2) A copy of each such request, promise to reimburse and certified list of members shall be filed simultaneously with the market administrator by the cooperative association and shall be subject to verification at his discretion, through audit of the records of the cooperative association pertaining thereto. Exceptions, if any, to the accuracy of such certification by a producer claimed to be a member, or by a handler shall be made by written notice to the market administrator and shall be subject to his determination.

§ 1000.81 Producer butterfat differential. The applicable price to be paid each producer shall be increased or decreased for each one-tenth of one percent which the butterfat content of his milk is above or below 4 percent, respectively, at the rate determined by multiplying the pounds of butterfat in the producer milk of the handler allocated to Class I, II, and III, by the respective butterfat differential for each class, and dividing the sum of such values by the total pounds of such butterfat and rounding the resultant figure to the nearest one-tenth of a cent.

§ 1000.82 Producer-settlement fund. The market administrator shall establish and maintain a separate fund known as the "producer-settlement fund" into which he shall deposit all payments made by handlers pursuant to §§ 1000.83 and 1000.85, §§ 1000.61, and 1000.62, and out of which he shall make all payments to handlers pursuant to §§ 1000.84 and 1000.85: Provided, That the market administrator shall offset any such payment due to any handler against payments due from such handler. Immediately after computing the uniform price for each month, the market administrator shall compute the amount by which each handler's net pool obligation is greater or less than the sum obtained by multiplying the hundredweight of milk of producers by the appropriate prices required to be paid producers by handlers pursuant to § 1000.80 and adding together the resulting amounts, and shall enter such amount on each handler's account as such handler's pool debit or credit, as the case may be, and render such handler a transcript of his account.

§ 1000.83 Payments to the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 13th day after the end of each month, each handler shall pay to the market administrator for payment to producers through the producer-settlement fund, the amount by which the net pool obligation of such handler is greater than the sum required to be paid producers by such handler pursuant to § 1000.80.

§ 1000.84 Payments out of the producer-settlement fund. (a) On or before the 14th day after the end of each month, the market administrator shall pay to each handler for payment to producers the amount by which the sum required to be paid producers by such handler pursuant to § 1000.80 is greater than the net pool obligation of such handler: Provided, That the market administrator may withhold payments to handlers out of the producer-settlement fund to the extent that such handler is in default on payments to the market administrator under §§ 1000.83, 1000.86, and 1000.87.

(b) If the balance in the producer-settlement fund is insufficient to make all payments pursuant to this paragraph, the market administrator shall reduce uniformly such payments and shall complete such payments as soon as the necessary funds are available.

§ 1000.85 Adjustment of errors in payments. (a) Whenever verification by the market administrator of reports or payments of any handler discloses error in payments to the producer-settlement fund made pursuant to § 1000.83, the market administrator shall promptly bill such handler for any unpaid amount and such handler shall, within 5 days of such billing, make payment to the market administrator of the amount so billed. Whenever verification by the market administrator of the payment by a handler to any producer discloses payment to such producer of an amount which is less than is required by this part, the handler shall make up such payment to the producer not later than the time of making payment to producers next following the disclosure.

(b) Whenever verification by the market administrator of the payment by a handler to any producer discloses that solely through error in computation payment to such producer was in an amount more than was required to be paid pursuant to § 1000.80, no handler shall be deemed to be in violation if he reduces his payment to such producer next following discovery of such error by not more than such overpayment.

§ 1000.86 Marketing services. (a) Except as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, each handler shall deduct 8 cents per hundredweight, or such lesser amount as the Secretary may prescribe, from the payments made to each producer other than himself pursuant to § 1000.80 (a) with respect to all milk of such producer received by such handler during the month and shall pay such deductions to the market administrator on or before the 15th day after the end of such month. Such moneys shall be used by the market administrator to sample, test and check the weights of milk received from and to provide market information to such producers. The market administrator may contract with a cooperative association or cooperative associations for the furnishing of the whole or any part of such services.

(b) In the case of producers for whom a cooperative association is actually performing, as determined by the Secretary, the services set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, each handler shall make such deductions from the payments to be made directly to producers pursuant to § 1000.80 (a) as are authorized by such producers, and on or before the 12th day after the end of each month, pay over such deductions to the association of which such producers are members. Such payment shall be accompanied by a statement showing for each producer for whom such deduction is made the amount of such deduction, the total delivery of milk, and, unless otherwise previously provided, the butterfat test.

§ 1000.87 Expense of administration. As his pro rata share of the expense of the administration of this part, each handler with respect to all milk received from producers including a handler's own production and with respect to all receipts of other source milk classified as Class I, shall pay to the market administrator, on or before the 15th day after the end of each month, an amount not exceeding five (5¢) cents per hundredweight, which amount shall be determined by the market administrator subject to review by the Secretary.

§ 1000.88 Termination of obligation. The provisions of this section shall apply to any obligation under this part for the payment of money.

(a) The obligation of any handler to pay money required to be paid under the terms of this part shall, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, terminate two years after the last day of the calendar month during which the market administrator received the handler's utilization report on the milk involved in such obligation, unless within such two-year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable. Service of such notice shall contain, but need not be limited to, the following information:

(1) The amount of the obligation;

(2) The month(s) during which the milk, with respect to which the obligation exists, was received or handled; and

(3) If the obligation is payable to one or more producers or to the association of producers, the name of such producer(s) or association of producers, or if the obligation is payable to the market administrator, the account for which it is to be paid.

(b) If a handler fails or refuses, with respect to any obligation under this part, to make available to the market administrator or his representative all books and records required by this part to be made available, the market administrator may within the two-year period provided for in paragraph (a) of this section, notify the handler in writing of such failure or refusal. If the market administrator so notifies a handler, the said two-year period with respect to such obligation shall not begin to run until the first day of the calendar month following the month during which all such books and records pertaining to such obligation are made available to the market administrator or his representative.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a handler's obligation under this part to pay money shall not be terminated with respect to any transaction involving fraud or willful concealment of a fact, material to the obligation, on the part of the handler against whom the obligation is sought to be imposed.

BASE RATING

§ 1000.90 Determination of daily base. (a) Effective March 1, 1955, and the same date of each succeeding year, the daily average base of each producer who delivered milk to a handler during the preceding months of September through February shall be computed by the market administrator by dividing the total pounds of milk received by a handler or handlers from such producer during such months by the number of days within this period.

(b) The daily average bases of producers belonging to a cooperative association as defined in § 1000.11 and which requested payment from the handler pursuant to § 1000.80 (c) shall be added together for the purpose of computing the total amount of base and excess milk for which each handler shall pay such cooperative association.

§ 1000.91 Base rules. The following rules shall apply in connection with the establishment of bases:

(a) A base shall apply to deliveries of milk by the producer for whose account that milk was delivered during the base forming period; and

(b) The base of a producer may be transferred by notifying the market administrator in writing before the last day of any month that such base is to be transferred to the person or persons named in such notice. Person, as used in this paragraph, shall include a cooperative producers association as defined in § 1000.11.

EFFECTIVE TIME, SUSPENSION OR TERMINATION

§ 1000.100 Effective time. The provisions of this part, or any amendment to this part, shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare and shall continue in force until suspended, or terminated, pursuant to § 1000.101.

§ 1000.101 Suspension or termination. Any or all of the provisions of this part, or any amendment to this part, may be suspended or terminated as to any or all handlers after such reasonable notice as the Secretary shall give and shall, in any event, terminate whenever the provisions of the Act cease to be in effect.

§ 1000.102 Continuing power and duty of the market administrator. (a) If, upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this part, there are any obligations arising under this part the final accrual or ascertainment of which requires further acts by any handler, by the market administrator, or by any other person, the power and duty to perform such further acts shall continue notwithstanding such suspension or termination: Provided, That any such acts required to be performed by the market administrator shall, if the Secretary so directs, be performed by such other person, persons or agency as the Secretary may designate.

(b) The market administrator, or such other person as the Secretary may designate, shall (1) continue in such capacity until removed, (2) from time to time account for all receipts and disbursements and when so directed by the Secretary, deliver all funds on hand, together with the books and records of the market administrator, or such person, to such person as the Secretary shall direct, and (3) if so directed by the Secretary execute assignments or other instruments necessary or appropriate to vest in such person full title to all funds, property and claims vested in the market administrator or such person pursuant thereto.

§ 1000.103 Liquidation after suspension or termination. Upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this part, the market administrator or such person as the Secretary may designate, shall if so directed by the Secretary, liquidate the business of the market administrator's office and dispose of all funds and property then in his possession or under his control, together with claims for any funds which are unpaid or owing at the time of such suspension or termination. § 1000.42 Responsibility of handlers and reclassification of milk. All skim milk and butterfat shall be classified as Class I milk, unless the handler who first receives such skim milk or butterfat proves to the market administrator that such skim milk or butterfat should be classified in Class II.

§ 1000.43 Transfers. Skim milk or butterfat disposed of by a handler either by transfer or diversion shall be classified:

(a) As Class I milk if transferred or diverted in the form of milk, skim milk, or cream to a fluid milk plant of another handler (except a producer-handler), unless utilization in Class II is mutually indicated in writing to the market administrator by both handlers on or before the 6th day after the end of delivery period within which such transaction occurred, but in no event shall the amount classified in any class exceed the total use in such class by transferee-handler: Provided, That if either or both handlers have received other source milk, such milk so disposed of shall be classified at both plants so as to return the higher class utilization to producer milk.

(b) As Class I milk if transferred or diverted in the form of milk, skim milk, or cream to a producer-handler.

(c) As Class I milk if transferred or diverted in the form of milk, skim milk, or cream to a nonfluid milk plant, except that of a producer-handler, unless (1) the handler claims Class II on the basis of a utilization mutually indicated in writing to the market administrator by both the operator of the nonfluid milk plant and the handler on or before the 6th day after the end of the delivery period within which such transfer occurred, (2) the operator of the nonfluid milk plant maintains books and records showing the utilization of all skim milk and butterfat at such plant which are made available if requested by the market administrator for the purpose of verification, and (3) not less than an equivalent amount of skim milk and butterfat was actually utilized in such plant in the use indicated in such statement: Provided, That if upon inspection of the records of such plant it is found that an equivalent amount of skim milk and butterfat was not actually used in such indicated use the remaining pounds shall be classified as Class I: Provided further, That if such plant disposes of fluid cream to another nonfluid milk plant which conforms with the requirements of subparagraphs (1), (2) and (3) of this paragraph, such cream shall be classified as Class II milk.

§ 1000.44 Computation of skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each delivery period, the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and other obvious errors the delivery period report submitted by each handler and compute the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in Class I milk and Class II milk for such handler.

§ 1000.45 Allocation of skim milk and butterfat classified. (a) The pounds of skim milk remaining in each class after making the following computations for the pool plant(s) of each handler for each month shall be the pounds in such class allocated to producer milk by such handler:

(2) Subtract from the pounds of skim milk remaining in each class, in series beginning with Class II milk, the pounds of skim milk in other source milk;

(3) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk and Class I milk the pounds of skim milk contained in inventory products designated as Class I milk pursuant to § 1000.41 (a) (1) on hand at the beginning of the month: Provided, That if the pounds of skim milk in such inventory are greater than the remaining pounds of Class I milk, an amount equal to the difference shall be subtracted from the pounds of skim milk and Class II milk;

(4) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class the skim milk received from the pool plants of other handlers in the form of products designated as Class I milk in § 1000.41 (a) (1), according to its classification as determined pursuant to § 1000.43 (a);

(5) Add to the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II milk the pounds of skim milk subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph; and

(6) If the remaining pounds of skim milk in both classes exceed the pounds of skim milk contained in producer milk, subtract such excess from the remaining pounds of skim milk in series beginning with Class II milk. Any amount so subtracted shall be known as "overage."

(b) Butterfat shall be allocated in accordance with the same procedure outlined for skim milk in paragraph (a) of this section;

(c) Add the pounds of skim milk and the pounds of butterfat allocated to producer milk in each class, respectively, as computed pursuant to paragraph (a) and (b) of this section, and determine the percentage of butterfat in each class.

(a) To the arithmetical average of the basic (or field) prices reported to have been paid or to be paid per hundredweight for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from farmers during the month at the following plants or places for which prices have been reported to the market administrator or to the Department of Agriculture on or before the 6th day after the end of the month:
